Three school students were charged in city magistrate's court this morning with stealing chrome wheel discs from automobiles in the Mill and Benjamin street areas.

Magistrate T. Y. Wills placed the three youths on probation for one year and fined each of them $25 after they pleaded guilty to theft.

Inspector McLauchlan told the court that there had been a series of hub cap theft in these areas and as a result of information received, the three youths were questioned.

Mr. Coverdale 45 Benjamin street, reported three chrome wheel discs stolen from his automobile which was parked in front of his house, valued at $5 a piece. He said he saw a white car which was later learned to be owned by one of the accused, with two or more people in it. He said he was unable to identify any of them.

Inspector McLauchlan said Mr. Coverdale's hub caps have not been recovered.

Inspector McLauchlan further stated that on Saturday morning, September 16 there were five or six occasions of hub caps missing and as a result of information he received, eight of them were recovered from a vehicle owned by one of the accused. They were returned by a youth whom inspector McLauchlan said was not involved. Other discs in the car he said, were taken to the second concession of Thurlow and dumped into the bushes. Considerable damage accompanied one of the incidents to an abandoned house where 37 were recovered. They were found hidden between the ceiling and the roof of the house.

In their statements, Inspector McLauchlan said, they admitted they all went together on raiding occasions.

Transit Board Will Purchase $50,000 of New Equipment

Belleville city council yesterday gave third reading to a by-law authorizing a capital expenditure of $50,000 by the Belleville Transit Commission for the purchase of new bus equipment.

The new equipment would be used to replace old buses which are proving too costly to maintain.

Council approved the expenditure, however, over the swearing of Aldermen Ben Corke who said the matter was deserving of a "good look" before third reading of the by-law was given.

He said that during the first eight months of this year the Transit Commission had an operating deficit of about $36,000 and to this must be added over $8,000 in debenture charges.

Commission members had told him, he said, that revenues would be better for the remaining four months of the year but that alderman warned it was not beyond the realm of possibility that Belleville transit could not operate within a real possible deficit.

TWO ALDERMEN DEFENDED

City manager J. R. Reynolds agreed that if the year's debenture charges were paid how the deficit would be $25,000 but he pointed out these charges were for the full year, not just for the first eight months.

He said that revenues for the remaining months of the year could be expected to be much better as the weather worsened.

"But the debenture debt still has to be paid and the Commission still did not break even in September," reiterated Ald. Corke.

Aldermen Corke and Whalen were the only two councillors objecting to the borrowing by-law when it came up for decision.

Rally Planned For Canvassers Before Opening

The last regular monthly meeting of the Belleville United Appeal prior to its 1961 canvass was held yesterday evening at the Kiwanis Centre with president J. J. Trudeau in the chair.

It was announced that beginning on this Thursday the United Appeal would be established the campaign headquarters in the former Victoria and Grey Trust offices on Front Street opposite City Hall. These headquarters will be maintained right through the campaign from the start of the payroll, commercial and special divisions canvass on October 16th to the final residential blitz on October 30th.

Letters of appreciation from a number of the participating agencies acknowledging receipt of the recent distribution from the 1960 campaign were reported.

Mr. Ross Dowd, this year's campaign chairman, advised the board that all plans for the campaign this year are practically complete; the organization is poised, ready for the start; and the only remaining thing to be done is to enlist such further canvassers as are required to complete some of the divisions.

RALLY PLANNED

The main topic of discussion at last night's meeting was the plan for a rally of all canvassers and members of the cabinet organization — as a proposed kick-off meeting on the evening of October 16th at the Quinte Secondary School auditorium. The purpose of this meeting is to establish enthusiasm and team spirit for a good cause and to fully inform all canvassers on every aspect of the United Appeal so that when they contact their prospects they will be in possession of the necessary facts and information and will be enthusiastic in encouraging contributions which will ensure this year's campaign going over the top.

With the experience of previous giving in recent years; with the need of the agencies made known through the press and radio and with a dedicated army of canvassers Belleville is expected this year to see to it that her benevolent, charitable and character-building agencies are provided with sufficient wherewithall to enable them to carry out their good work in the community.

ASK NUCLEAR BAN

LONDON (AP) — Prominent British Labor MPs appealed Monday to President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev to speed negotiations for a Berlin settlement and declare an immediate end to nuclear test explosions. The appeal was made in a letter to the two government leaders and was signed by 39 Labor members of Parliament, including former cabinet ministers and present leaders.

Miss Margaret Anderson Accepts Post in North Africa, Will Teach English in Tunis

A little more than a week ago, Miss Margaret Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herald Anderson, R.R. 1, Belleville, had expected to return to McGill University for a final year of studies.

Today she is on her way to Tunisia in North Africa where for the next year she will be teaching English at the Bourguiba School of Modern Languages in the city of Tunis.

"I am really looking forward to the experience," Miss Anderson told the Ontario Intelligencer yesterday as she prepared to leave for Montreal on the first stage of her journey.

But her father was visibly not quite so keen on the whole idea, although he did admit Margaret had the parental blessing. "It will be a fine experience for her," Mr. Anderson admitted.

IN TUNIS TUESDAY

Miss Anderson left last evening by train for Montreal from where she will go on to Washington to pick up her visa. She will then catch a plane for Rome from New York and will be in Tunis by Friday night.

A 1953 graduate of Belleville Collegiate Institute, Miss Anderson majored in history and political science at Queen's University where she obtained her B.A. degree.

She taught high school at Geraldton in Northern Ontario during the 1957-58 school year and the next year took advantage of a Ford Foundation Fellowship to attend Institute of Islamic Studies at McGill where she studied history, comparative religion and chose Arabic as the one required Moslem language.

Last summer the Tunisian president and his Minister of Education were in Canada and it was as the result of their visit to Montreal that Miss Anderson received the invitation to teach in Tunis for a year.

HIGH CLASS SCHOOL

The Bourguiba School of Modern Languages in Tunis — named after the Tunisian president—is a school for civil servants and university students.

As far as Miss Anderson knows she will be the only English speaking teacher from Canada to go to Tunis, although she expects there will be several French speaking teachers from Quebec. French is the second language in Tunisia.

The school year in Tunis commences October 1st.

Last year Miss Anderson taught high school in the town of New Liskeard in Northern Ontario.

Salary schedules are a bit lower in Tunis than in Ontario, but so also is the cost of living, so Miss Anderson thinks it will all balance out. The Tunisian government pays 50 per cent of travelling costs.

I intended to go back to McGill for my final year studies and do a bit of private tutoring on the side, but now that is all changed," she said.

"I expect to really enjoy my year."

Margaret's younger sister, now a grade XIII student at B.C.I. also wanted to major in languages when she goes to university.

"In attending greater assistance to Canadian participation in international sporting events," said Mr. Monteith "We are merely doing what many other nations have done over the years and we recognize that this will help assure a greater measure of parity with our athletes in relation to their fellow competitors from other countries."

Mr. Monteith said the government will furnish more funds in connection with Canada's efforts to obtain the 1968 Winter Olympics.

The British Empire and Commonwealth Games Association was looking to the government for financial support in connection with the Games to be held at Perth, Australia, next year.

The minister said the national advisory council on sport, to be established under the legislation, will be asked for suggestions on the best means of making achievement awards.

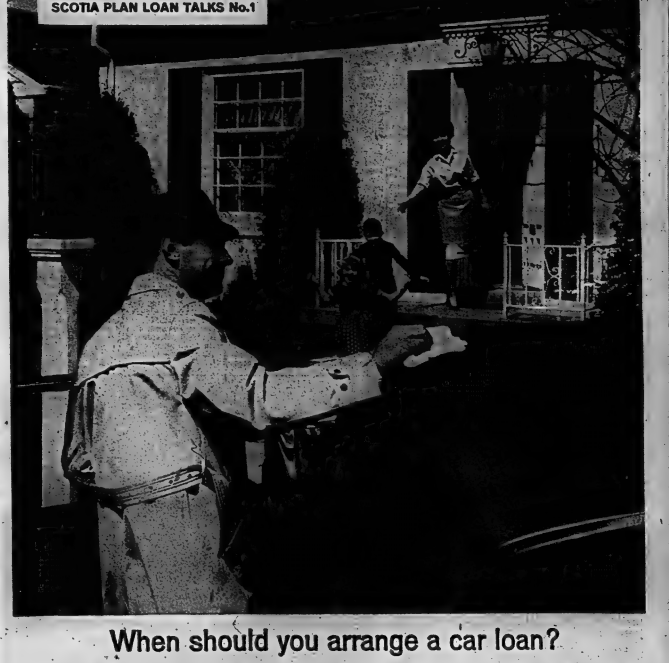
Mr. Monteith said the number of competent coaches must be increased "many times."



Courses for coaches would be established, Canadian athletes had been handicapped by lack of opportunities to obtain proper training.

Ernest Campbell (CP—Lambton-Kent) said Canadians tend to eat too much of the wrong foods, and smoke and drink too much. Older folk were especially in need of regular fitness activities and the government program should seek to encourage this.

H. B. Rynard (PC — Simcoe East) said care must be taken to distribute the program equally across the country. Particular emphasis was needed on the problem of teen - agers who lacked outlets for their youthful energy.

John Smith (PC — Lincoln) asked that special consideration be given to amateur rowing. Canadians had long been prominent in this field and it was highly rated by universities, colleges and high schools.

Alfred D. Hales (PC—Wellington South) said that "to the best of my knowledge nowhere in Canada is there a university that provides a degree in the faculty of physical education." It would be an excellent thing if the advisory council encouraged some university, possibly the University of Toronto, in setting up such a degree course.

When should you arrange a car loan?

Today the automobile has become a part of our way of life, and for many people is almost as much a necessity as a comfortable place to live. But a car that no longer suits your purpose can become a liability to your peace of mind as well as your pocketbook. The time to trade your car is before operating and repair expenses become too much of a headache. However, you may be ready to trade in the old before your savings account is ready to pay for the new.

Here's the answer! Finance your new or used car purchase easily and at low cost through Scotia Plan—The Bank of Nova Scotia's unique consumer lending program. What's more, you can arrange your Scotia Plan Loan before you shop for your car. This guarantees you the advantage of Scotia Plan's low rates, and lets you make your deal the moment you find the car you want. You can also get a Scotia Plan Loan for debt consolidation, to pay medical bills, for new furniture, etc.

Whether you're a Scotiabank customer or not, when you need money promptly, call at your nearest branch of The Bank of Nova Scotia.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Mrs. O. R. — She doesn't mix, she wasn't a man? a man?

Mrs. O. R. — I'm up here in New York visiting our daughter Peggy, who's teaching in a small private school. She lives in a nice hotel which caters to business girls living alone. But in the month I've been with her, she hasn't had one single date. She's spent her evenings and weekends with me, or with the older women she's made friends with.

She's at just this time of her life to be enjoying parties, dances and plenty of gay, mixed company. But if she refuses to budge from the two all-girl circles she finds herself in — her job and her residence — she'll lose out on male companionship, and maybe on marriage too, at this rate.

Peggy R. — I'm not going to throw myself on boys the way some of the girls do. I can't be cheap about it. And there doesn't seem to be any "nice" way to meet them in this big city.

Before coming here from Ontario, the only person I knew was the college friend who got me this job. Her husband stopped in our town on business, looked us up and found me teaching kindergarten. Nora did the rest. She was teaching up here at a school that needed a teacher with my qualifications, including my living quarters. She hasn't introduced me to any men but I'm having a pleasant time with the girls right now.

The Council — "No men in her life"; seems as if they've Peggy who likes her life as it is and considers the all-girl-combination a welcome rest. She hasn't really set about changing, but has vague hopes that someone will help her. If it's the mother, on the other hand, feels this segregation will become habitual unless Peggy strikes out on her own to meet men.

Sometimes a "romantic" like Peggy wins out. She just sits back, a man's hat hovers smack into her lap, he retrieves it, she smiles, and, hey-nonny-nonny, eventual wedding bells! But more often, the alt - or - miss method Peggy believes in keeps a miss a "miss" forever.

Once Peggy is acclimated to New York, she must decide whether to settle for the unbalanced social life that compels her way so effortlessly or whether to present herself as date bait. If she chooses to meet men, there are "nice" ways.

Above all, she must get out and go to places where men are. They're not in nursery schools or in female residential hotel. Dr. M. J. Hungerford or the American Institute of Family Relations lists the following as activities which attract single men:

Active sports such as tennis, golf, swimming, boating, fishing, hunting, horseback riding, mountain climbing, skiing.

Arts such as choral and instrumental groups, little theatres, folk-dance groups, ethnic organizations, painting and intellectual activities such as courses in civics, economics, business a d m i nistration, law, politics, sciencmanship, biology, physics and chemistry, Spanish.

Hobbies such as photography, racing cars, rockets and space ships, stamp and coin collecting, drama and dancing, music, geology, astronomy, bird watching.

Church groups.

And if all else fails, there's automation. The Scientific Introduction Service, Inc., claims to be able to match like-to-like via pencil-hole cards. No, Mrs. R. needn't worry.

Foxboro WMS Entertains Baby Band

The September meeting of the Foxboro Women's Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. A. J. Dudley with the members of the Baby Band and their mothers as special guests.

Mrs. C. R. LaRue opened the meeting with a reading and prayer. She then turned the meeting over to the Baby Band leader, Mrs. A. J. Dudley and Mrs. H. S. Elliott.

Mrs. Dudley introduced Mrs. Thompson, a former president of the Foxboro United Church W.M.S., who took charge of the meeting. Mrs. Dudley read the Baby Band purpose, and Mrs. Elliott read the Scripture lesson.

The offering which was taken by Mrs. Elliott was dedicated by Mrs. E. Tummon.

The theme was "What Do We Get Out of Life", read by Mrs. Simmons gave much food for thought.

The hymn "Jesus Loves Me" was sung by members of the Baby Band, accompanied on the guitar by Mrs. Dean Dafoe, who also accompanied the Baby Band for "When He Cometh". "What a Baby Can" written by Edgar Guest was read by Mrs. J. Ewing and followed by the singing of "Jesus Bids Us Shine", by all accompanied on the guitar by Mrs. D. Dafoe. Mrs. P. P. Kilpatrick read another of Edgar Guest's poems "Story Telling" and this too was followed by the singing of a children's hymn "God Sees the Little Sparrow Fall" accompanied by Mrs. Dafoe.

The Mizpah Benediction was repeated to close the meeting.

During the preparation of lunch by the Beatrice and lunch committee Mrs. D. Goodfellow, Mrs. J. R. Read, Mrs. D. Dafoe and Mrs. W. L. Johnston entertained the little people with a few games and treats.

Holloway W.A. Plans Fall Bazaar

The Holloway Street United Church Women's Association met Thursday p.m. for their regular meeting and entertainment. The Young Missionary Society ladies acted as hostesses for the afternoon.

Organization is had the basis of any successful party, and most hostesses can get through the evening in a self-contained manner. Such is not the case with us.

At times, guests can be too helpful, and they'll whip canapes into the living room before the tray is completed, or take down the fire under the roast before its even halfway rare.

There are, of course, times when a hostess welcomes a little pair of hands, but this is time should be of her own choosing. A willing guest may be delegated to help put the food on the sideboard, serve coffee or even rinse glasses if there's danger of a shortage.

But, generally, most hostesses prefer that their guests mingle in the living room and sort of encourage her actions as she slips into the kitchen from time to time to make sure the party machinery is going as planned.

The same applies to cleaning up. Women guests too often jump up from the table, and immediately start piling dishes and left-overs into the kitchen in complete disorder.

Naturally, the poor hostess then has to tackle the supreme task of sorting things out immediately. Chances are, she'd rather do it later and, in the meantime, sit back with a quiet cup of coffee and enjoy some uninterrupted conversation.

Actually, the most cherished guests are those who help keep a party moving, but without taking control away from the capable hands of the hostess.

Pies That Scored

By Mary Moore

Influenced by my English daughter-in-law Margy and by the European guests we were expecting, I made a Lattice Plum Pie. Incidentally, I had a bowlful of yellow plums that were not being eaten quickly enough. To give me a little English fillip I made some pseudo Devonshire cream. Because I am a little smug about these two things, I am giving them to you today and hope you serve them to appreciative guests.

LATTICE PLUM PIE:

Three and three-quarter cups sliced, unpeeled, sliced yellow plums (measured after draining through sieve); ¾ cup plum juice, 3 tablespoons arrowroot flour (or 2 tablespoons instant tapioca), ¾ cup white sugar, ½ teaspoons lemon juice, ¼ teaspoon mace, ¼ teaspoon cinnamon, Mix together the sugar, arrowroot flour (or tapioca) and spices. Stir in the plum juice (drained from cut plums and you have just enough more if up with water) and lemon juice and then stir over heat until thick. (The arrowroot will make this very thick immediately; tapioca will not and it should be stirred while it boils for 3 minutes). Stir prepared plums into this thick syrup. Pour into deep pastry-lined pie plate. Cover with lattice pastry topping, sealing to edges. Bake at 450 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes then reduce heat to 375 and bake 40 minutes longer. Ten minutes before baking time is up brush lattice top with glaze made of 1 tablespoon each milk and white sugar.

PSEUDO DEVONSHIRE CREAM:

Beat one 8-oz. package white cream cheese until soft, then gradually with electric beater add milk beating until it forms peaks. Pass at table when plum pie is served. Delicious on cereal or fruit, pies or tarts.

ELEANOR'S BUTTERSCOTCH APPLE PIE:

Bruce drooled over this so it must have a place in this pie column.

Note: Eleanor uses lard in her pastry.

Six Duchess apples, washed, pared, cored and sliced, ¾ cup white sugar, ½ tablespoon brown sugar, cinnamon, butter. Sprinkle pastry-lined pie plate with half of the ¾ cup white sugar. Arrange sliced apples over sugar. Sprinkle with remaining white, then brown sugar, then cinnamon. Dot with butter — about 2 or 4 teaspoons. Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for 30 minutes.

Not the Jealous Type

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS:—I've been going with one boy for over a year now. He keeps teasing me about boys I can't stand. I don't get mad, but what is he leading to? Is he trying to get me mad in a way?

I read your article on Monday and you said that this other girl should accept the other boys, but when I fool around with them he just turns around and does the same thing. I'm not the jealous type but naturally this would get anyone mad! Have you any suggestions?—L. L.

DEAR L. L.—He wants to get a rise out of you. When he teases, just laugh it off.

As for the other boys, my suggestion was that the girl should not narrow herself down to one boy too soon. Neither should you. But if you can have other friends, does it make sense that he can't?

DEAR DORIS:—I am working in a country club now but in October I shall again be back in the city and I find it very lonely there. How does one of 48 find friends? I would like to meet someone of the opposite sex who would enjoy the same things.

I know there must be many lonely people such as I but how can you meet them respectably? And where? Do you know of any mixed clubs of the working class?

I heard about an introduction service which cost $25.00, but I would be afraid to go out with a total stranger the first time. How would one know but what he was married or something?

Hope you can help me. I hate to spend another lonely winter.—DOMESTIC.

DEAR DOMESTIC:—At 48 the supply of unattached males is skimpy, to say the least.

Where to look? In a church or "Y" group; in a camera club or bridge club. There are community centres which have mixed groups getting together regularly all winter.

It's the first plunge that's the hardest. Look for a group, not a person, you enjoy being with. If you eventually find a kindred spirit there, male or female, gone will be your winter of discontent.

IVANHOE

Beulah United Holds 79th Anniversary

IVANHOE — The 79th anniversary services held at Beulah United Church, Ivanhoe, on Sunday were largely attended both in the morning and evening. Autumn flowers in profusion adorned the nave.

The services were conducted by Rev. Harry Stobbart. The guest minister was Mr. Arnold Creamer of Wyevale, a former minister of Ivanhoe charge.

The theme of the morning service was "Keeping Abreast of the Truth," with the text from Acts 16:14: "Peter said, not so, Lord, for I have never eaten anything that is common or unclean."

Special music, under the direction of Mrs. George Wood, included the junior choir anthem, "Singing Along the Way"; quartet, "The Solid Rock," with Elaine Wickens, Judy Wood, Karen Bray and Linda Reid; and a solo, "I believe in Miracles."

Evening services included the theme "The vision of the Plumb Line," with text from Amos 7:7-8: "And the Lord said to me, Amos, what do you see? and I said, 'a plumb line.' Then the Lord said, 'Behold, I am setting a plumb line in the midst of My people, Israel'."

Music included Frankford men's quartet with Miss Judy Whitmore at the piano; "Jesus Grows Dearer to Me"; "Beautiful River of Life"; and "Heartaches."

BLUE 'FLU

People who are easily depressed take far longer to recover from attacks of influenza.

Those subject to the blues, as determined by psychological tests before a "flu epidemic struck, complained of symptoms and weakness for three weeks or more. But "flu victims with high morale recovered in an average of eight days, psychiatrists of the Johns Hopkins University report.

TOOTHPASTE FOR PAIN

Heat or cold, sweets or acids, often cause pain in sensitive teeth, especially when the cementum has been exposed. A new dentifrice contains strontium chloride banished or significantly reduced the pain in a majority of 81 patients, says Dr. Abram Cohen of the University of Pennsylvania Dental school faculty.

FORTUNE IN BLOOD

It is extremely rich in a chemical factor used to test whether blood is RH negative, and blood like his has a current market price of $14 per 10 cubic centimetres.

In the course of treatment, says Medical World News, the doctor estimates enough blood may be withdrawn to equal 700,000 cubic centimetres, or almost 50,000 pints, worth of blood. Dr. E. Richard Haldeman of Fort Worth's Carter Blood Center, says the patient has agreed to supply his blood to the centre — "We help him. He helps us."

LUMP IN THE THROAT

The sensation of a lump in the throat is a fairly common complaint, but usually simply reflects tension, and it disappears when the cause is explained, says Dr. H. B. Lockhardt of Vancouver.

A medical checkup can determine whether there really is a physical cause. Dr. Lockhardt tells of diagnosing 327 patients with the meaningless lump — called globus hysterics — in the last six years.

British House to Be Called Back Week Earlier, Oct. 17, To Debate Developments

By DAVID OANCIA

LONDON (CP)—The turbulent international climate has disrupted the usually quiet but steady buildup for Britain's annual political party conferences.

Participants ushered in by cries stretching from the Dallas Nations to Berlin and the Congo can hardly be expected to display the exuberance they usually reserve for the fall feast of party politics.

Instead, both Labor and Liberal party leaders have urged an early resumption of parliamentary sessions to give urgent consideration to a serious international situation.

Their appeals may have had some effect. The government has announced that Parliament will be called back from its summer recess Oct. 17—a week earlier—to debate international developments.

The Liberals, seeking to increase party strength, have called for greater efforts and a drive for new members.

FOG CLEARS

"Under the new management, the fog of well-meaning incompetence that used to envelope these assemblies has cleared," said The Times of London in an editorial on the first of the conferences.

"The atmosphere now is brisk, purposeful. . . ."

The Liberals, however, have a tough climb to return to a prominent position in the nation's political life.

Their problem simply is to achieve a following large enough to put more members in the House of Commons. Some supporters banked on a weakening of the Labor party to do this.

"How Liberal dreams of a dramatic collapse of Labor's empire must be returned to store," observed the Independent Times.

LABORITES UNITED

The party's left wing, which last year drummed up enough support to adopt a resolution calling for unilateral nuclear disarmament, appears to have been neutralized.

Gaitskell now can count on Macmillan's support at the coming conference for the party's official line on defence. This basically is a pledge to maintain and strengthen Western alliances to meet the Soviet threat as long as it exists.

The Conservatives, who gather next month, will have plenty of grist for their mill as a result of the government's economic program.

The fall wage - talks season will provide an acid test for Chancellor of the Exchequer Selwyn Lloyd's austerity measures.

He now is struggling on two fronts a wage pause in an effort to keep the nation's products competitive on world markets and to fight the threat of inflation at home.

WANT PAY BOOST

The country's teachers, first to feel the restraint, have launched a major offensive to "break the government's pay pause policy," says The Financial Times. There will be plenty of occasion on which its determination to fight will be severely tested.

"Any sign of weakening at this stage would be disastrous."

Marmora

MARMORA — The W.A. of St. Andrew's United Church met at the home of the president, Mrs. Granville Mahaffy-Jeffon on Monday morning when Mrs. James Thomson was presented with the usual going away gift of a cup and saucer. Mrs. Mahaffy-Jeffon served lunch and coffee.

The Rev. and Mrs. Bushell of Crown Bound, visited Mr. and Mrs. H. Vassieux over the weekend and attended the Harrington-Vandine wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Shaw, daughter Saundra and her friends, Miss Anne Mass and Miss Joan Douglas, all of Sault Ste. Marie, visited Mrs. Shaw's sister, Mrs. F. Grant and Mr. Grant on the week-end. The three girls are enrolled at Queen's University, Kingston, and started their studies there this week.

Mr. and Mrs. James Thomson are leaving shortly to reside in Kingston. They will be greatly missed in the community. "Jim" has always been a Marmora resident and they have always taken an active part in the work of the community.

Marmora girls attending Queen's University at Kingston this year are: Miss Jean Provost, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Provost; Miss Joanne Bertrand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Bertrand, of Marmora township, and Miss Jane Grover, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan Glover of town. Miss Glover took her 13th grade in Switzerland last term.

Mrs. George Emsey was hostess on Thursday evening at a miscellaneous shower for Miss Fay Burke of Port Hope, whose wedding has been announced. Miss Burke is a native of Marmora and lived here until the family moved to Port Hope.

Mr. Thomas Pearce, who has been a patient in Civic Hospital, Peterborough, for the past few weeks is home and is able to carry on his lumber business at Bobcaygeon.

Circle 3 of St. Andrew's WA met at the home of Mrs. Roy Jackson with 17 members present. Reports of the summer's work was given and plans made for the ministerial dinner. Coffee parties will again be held, morning or evening, as the hostess wishes.

Profit-Sharing Plan Based On Company's Success

By RICHARD FYLE

DETROIT (AP)—Within a few days, United Auto Workers union locals at American Motors Corporation are expected to ratify the new three-year contract with its history-making profit-sharing plan.

The program has been praised in some quarters as a milestone in labor-management relations.

AMC President George Romney, generally given credit for originating the plan, has been lauded for bringing what he himself termed "a fresh new approach" to employee-management relations.

But others have condemned the plan as being naively based on future success that American Motors cannot guarantee itself. They have challenged the contention of Romney and President Walter Reuther of the United Auto Workers that it is "non-inflationary."

Some say it isn't really "profit - sharing" in the true sense because the benefits to AMC's 23,000 hourly workers are extracted before instead of after taxes.

HOW IT WORKS

Under the agreement signed by AMC and the UAW on Sept. 15, the "progress-sharing" plan works this way:

An amount equal to 15 per cent of profits before taxes and after removal of 30 per cent for stockholders' investments shall be set aside in each fiscal year (Oct. 1-Sept. 30). It's to form a "progress sharing fund."

Of this amount, 10 per cent will be applied to the costs of increased pension and insurance benefits granted to the UAW workers in the new contract.

The other five per cent will be paid to workers in the form of common stock, to be held in trust by the company for an as-yet-undetermined time (there is a minimum of two years under law), dividends going into the fund.

Thereafter, the stock will be turned over to the workers with full voting rights and dividends. (Ultimately, in theory, the workers could gain control of the company—but according to the only scratch pad estimate available — this would take about 60 years.)

GET FIRST CALL

Of the original 10 per cent to be placed in the fund, the cost of pension increases in the new contract get first call. If there is money left over, it will go to the second priority—employer insurance — by providing that portion of the insurance which the workers themselves now pay through paycheque deductions.

Any money left in the fund after both priorities are fulfilled will be placed in a special reserve for supplemental unemployment benefits or otherwise distributed as decided by the progress sharing fund administrators—a joint company-union committee.

All of the above works well on paper, and should work in actual practice, if American nature.

Reds Can Wrap Up Pennant Tonight

Sport Slices...

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Time's a-wastin'—and Roger Maris hasn't hit that magical "61" yet. Meanwhile the controversy over "records" still rages with Commissioner Ford Frick stating that if Maris passes the Ruthian mark it will go into the records as a record but will not erase the Babe's mark of 60 in 154 games.

Joe Cronin, president of the American League and every member of the Yankee organization stubbornly insist that "a season is a season." They would ignore the eight extra games as inconsequential—although obviously they are not.

Suppose the Babe had had eight extra games in 1927. He hit homers with greater frequency than any other man in the sport, one in every 11.3 times at bat. Next best was Jimmy Foxx with 11.3. Hence any calculated person would have to award the Bambino at least three extra shots into the seats for the bonus games the 162-schedule would have given him.

Perhaps a truer appreciation of who the Babe was and what he meant can be gleaned from his 1921 statistics. That was the year he, too, hit 59 homers. He made 204 hits, drove in 170 runs and had an average of .378. In the sixty-homer campaign he batted a neat .356.

Meanwhile, Commissioner Frick sticks to his ruling that if Maris equals or tops the Ruthian figure of 60 in the remaining games, it will go into the record book as a season mark for a 163-game schedule.

But, he elaborates, it would not be considered as having broken Ruth records. The Babe's name will remain in the record book as having hit 60 homers in a 154-game schedule, because Maris was stopped at 60 in the Yankees 154th game.

Frick asserts there will be no star or asterisk next to either name to disparage either record performance. "It is as simple as that," he says.

"My position today," he told New York sportswriters, "is the same as it has been when I first made my ruling and I don't know how I can make it more clear-cut. If Maris in those remaining games hits sixty, sixty-one or any number of more home runs, that record certainly will go in the book and it will be the record other players will attempt to top as long as the schedule prevails."

"That new mark performance made at any time in the future cannot be considered to have broken the Babe Ruth record—unless it is made within the 154-game limit," the commissioner said.

Frick denied the "asterisk business." "I don't know how that could be ever attributed to me because I never said it. I certainly never meant to belittle Maris' feat should he wind up with more than sixty. Both names will go in the book as having set records, but under different conditions."

The commissioner said he believes the 162-game schedule is a temporary set-up and it won't be long before the leagues revert to the 154-game arrangement.

"It would therefore be very unfair to wipe out season records set in the 154-game schedule which has prevailed for the past sixty years, with those made in 162 games. Why that could frame records for years after we returned to the 154-game schedule."

Maris failed to do anything homer-wise against the Boston Red Sox in tough Fenway Park, but the Mick connected for his 54th. Roger will play in every game of the last five in his beloved Yankee Stadium. He couldn't be expected to pass up those inviting right field stands.

He was tired after that gruelling pressure grind down the stretch but reports say he was happy. He had a right to be as the man who clouted more home runs in a season than any other player in history aside from the Babe.

Tigers Clinch Second Place

By JIM MACKLEMAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

A wall of more than two decades, may have dwindled into the final few hours for Chicago's Hank Sauer. Tonight could behind them their first National League pennant since 1945.

With the magic number at two, the race is at the wire. The Reds play the Cubs at Chicago this afternoon and the Los Angeles Dodgers are slated for a twi-night doubleheader at Pittsburgh against last year's surprise flag winners, the Pirates.

Any combination of two wins a Cincinnati victory plus a Dodger defeat, or a pair of Dodger losses—would give the Reds their another but-to-boom champion, and send the Reds into the world series for the first New York's home-run-blasting Yankees.

Monday night Cincinnati was idle while the Dodgers and Pirates were rained out, setting up their twi-nighter tonight. In other National League games San Francisco defeated Philadelphia Phillies 10-2 with an 18 - hit offensive and Milwaukee Braves cut down the potential tying run at the plate in the ninth inning as they edged St. Louis Cardinals 3-2.

RAPPED IN NINTH

In the American League action, Bob Shaw pitched eight no-hit innings but was rapped in the ninth as Kansas City gained a split with Detroit, 6-3. The Tigers clinched second place by winning their ninth in a row in the doubleheader opener, 4-4.

The Reds, streaking and slumping by turns this season, are in a position to continue the latest National League trend toward the up-from-nowhere winner.

The Dodgers began it in 1959, taking the pennant in a playoff with Milwaukee after finishing seventh the year before, then downed Chicago White Sox in the series. Pittsburgh, fourth in '59, won the title last season and followed with a dramatic series triumph over the Yankees.

Cincinnati's pitcher against the Cubs today will be Bob Purkey (16-12), with either Jack Curtis (10-13) or Glen Hobbie (7-13) going for Chicago. The seventh-place Cubs have been Cincinnati's sternest opposition this year, winning 12 of 21 games so far. After today, the Reds have two days off before moving into Pittsburgh for a three-game windup against the Pirates.

The Dodgers will pin their last-ditch hopes tonight on Don Drysdale (12-9) and Stan Williams (13-12) against Pittsburgh's Bob Friend (14-13) and Joe Gibbon (11-10).

TRIES AGAIN FOR 60TH

Tonight at Yankee Stadium Roger Maris, physically and mentally strained in his personal race with a record, will try again for his 60th home run in the first of five games which will wrap up the season for the champions. The blond outfielder faces Baltimore right - hander Jack Fisher tonight.

The Classic free-swinging assault against the Phils Monday night was spearheaded by Orlando Cepeda and rookie catcher Johnny Orsino, with Willie Mays and Felipe Alou adding sturdy support.

Cepeda had four hits and drove in four runs, boosting his league-leading RBI total to 108. Orsino homered twice and singled, while Mays and Alou also contributed homers for each. Left - hander Mike McCormick (13-10) was lapped for 10 Phillie hits but won in a breeze. Don Ferrarese (5-11), belted out early, was the loser.

The Braves saved their earned decision over the Cards by cutting down Ken Boyer when he tried to score on an almost-wild pitch by Don McMahon on a walk. Boyer's double and an infield out by Stan Musial gave St. Louis the early lead. But when Boyer attempted to come in before the game's final out, Eddie Mathews (6-1), in his first big league start, gave up a first baseman Bill Skowron's throw and walked across the decisive run in the ninth. Milwaukee starter Carl Willey (6-12) collaborated on a five-hitter with McMahon.

Shaw (13-13) reached the ninth inning before his first hit—a slow batter blew up. Dick McAuliffe led off the Tiger ninth and was safe on Dick Howser's wild throw. Then Bubba Morton clipped the Kansas City right fielder for a solid single. An infield out, a sacrifice fly, Larry Osborne's homer and a single by Jake Wood followed. Ron Kline (8-9) was the loser.

A Detroit burst in the eighth brought Detroit from behind in the nightcap. Wood, Jim Bunning batters Al Laline and Vic Wertz, Bill Bruton and Morton knocked in the runs in the Tiger rally. Hank Aguirre (4-4) was the winner in relief, with the loss going to Jim Archer (9-14).

DON'T INTEREST FANS

NEW YORK (AP)—Six of the eight major league baseball teams which completed their home attendance had a total attendance declines during the 1961 season.

The Cincinnati Reds and Detroit Tigers were the only clubs to finish ahead of 1960. The Reds, with 1,117,869 paid, had a gain of 454,317. The Tigers, who pulled in 1,600,769, increased were up 433,029. Los Angeles Dodgers were second up 443,631 under their National League record total of 2,353,887 in 1960.

The New York Yankees are the only other team certain to finish with an increase. The Yanks, with 1,537,031, already have surpassed last year's aggregate of 1,455,439 figures, compiled by The Associated Press, include Sunday's games.

Ron Stewart Tops Scorers

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Little Ron Stewart, one of the lightest halfbacks in the Eastern Football Conference and one of the hardest ball-carriers to stop, is churning along at a touchdown-a-game rate to lead the conference scorers.

The 178-pound Ottawa Rough Rider counted his seven touchdowns in as many games and his 42 points are six up on Gerry McDougall of Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Don Clark of Montreal Alouettes.

Clark, fast developing into the East's finest halfback, scored two touchdowns in Montreal's 29-7 upset of Hamilton Saturday and moved up from eighth place.

Eskimos Hand Saskys 16-1 Defeat

REGINA (CP) — Edmonton Eskimos whipped Saskatchewan Roughriders 16-1 Monday night in the Western Football Conference. It was Eskimos' second lopsided win over the 'Riders this season.

Quarterback Jackie Parker and halfback Bobby Walden grabbed the scoring honors Monday night, while halfback Ron Quillen, who had three touchdowns last Aug. 14 in a 38-8 win over 'Riders, failed to click.

Parker and Walden each had two touchdowns, both converted by Parker. Walden also kicked two singles.

The 15,262 fans who turned out in a 46 - degree temperature and a 20 - mile - an - hour wind saw import fullback Fred Burbet kick Saskatchewan's single point.

Regina, with six points, are tied with Calgary Stampeders for third place, eight points behind Winnipeg.

PLAY RES-SAWS

Walden kicked his first single at 3.31 of the second and Parker set him up for the first touchdown at 11.06 by firing a 30-foot pass. Parker converted to make the score 8-0.

A pass interception by Pat Dye was nullified by an Edmonton offside penalty as the second quarter opened. Then, after fullback John Reid downed in the Saskatchewan three, Parker sped around right side for 21-5 touchdown's second touchdown and again converted to make it 15-0.

Burbet kicked his single at 1:22 of the fourth quarter from Roughriders' 51. Walden's second single came on a 10-yard kick in the end zone at 11.36.

Says Strike Will Blight 'Cup' Fun

TORONTO (CP)—The Royal York Hotel strike will blight festivities on Grey Cup day this year if the strike isn't settled before then, Richard Browne, Toronto Junior Board of Trade member in charge of this year's football festivities, said Monday.

"One simply cannot hold an event at the Royal York and ask people to decide whether they want to cross the picket lines," he said.

Alternate reservations at Canadian National Exhibition buildings have been made for the Dec. 2 championship game but, said Browne, "the Royal York is the only place that has the facilities we need."

The Hotel and Club Employees Union (CLC) went on strike at the hotel April 24 over a contract dispute. The hotel, largest in the Commonwealth, is operating with new employees and some 200 defectors from the approximately 1,700 original strikers.

College Football

KITCHENER (CP) — standing champion University of Ottawa Gee Gees and McMaster University Marauders from Hamilton appear to be the teams to beat this season in a stronger Ontario Intercollegiate Football Conference.

Three of the other four teams —Waterloo University Warriors, Royal Military College Redmen of Kingston and Carleton University Ravens of Ottawa figure to be tougher than last year.

Only Ontario Agricultural College Redmen from Guelph admit to no great improvement. They may even be weakened by the loss of several veterans through graduation.

Consensus - Here to Stay

Clubs Like Interlocking Schedule

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Canadian Football League's East-West interlocking schedule introduced to fans this season is here to stay. But changes likely will be made after the two-year partial interlocking plan ends in 1963.

This is the consensus of officials in the nine CFL cities who were questioned on the subject by The Canadian Press. Most figured it was a good thing for football and president John Gaudaur of Hamilton Tiger-Cats said he is "ecstatic" about it.

The big problem, most admit, has been the scheduling which called for 30 interlocking games —12 each in the East and West during the opening six weeks of the season. Teams making eastern or western swings played two or three games over a period of five or six days and this, officials said, was too tough to take.

With two more East - West games remaining, attendance figures bear out officials' optimism. Record crowds were set at Ottawa, Hamilton and Edmonton. The East won 16 games in the West etc and two were tied.

EXPLAINS ENTHUSIASM

Gaudaur said the interlocking schedule "will build up rivalries between easterners and western clubs and at the same time the traditional rivalries between teams in their own leagues will be added to because they won't be meeting each other as often as in previous years."

Here's what other general managers said:

Ken Preston, Saskatchewan Roughriders: "It is the best thing that has happened to Canadian football in a long time. I don't think we'll ever discontinue the interlocking schedule if the fans would be in an uproar."

Jim Finks, Calgary Stampeders: "It has added an awful lot to our football in Canada but it hasn't shown a great increase in interest here (in Calgary)."

Herb Capozzi, British Columbia Lions: "It has been a wonderful experience so far and has been well received by the fans.

"We would like to see the games spread out across the season and not all in the first few weeks as was the case this year."

PLAYERS LIKE IT

Ben Ambler, Winnipeg Blue Bombers: "We are generally happy with the result so far The fans are the most important people in this thing and they seem to be happy with it here. The coaches and players like it fine."

Joe Ryan, Edmonton Eskimos: "While the interlocking worked out as well as some hoped, we are satisfied. The interlocking schedule is here to stay, but there will have to be some changes."

George Trerup, Ottawa Rough Riders: "It is too early to assess it completely. It's good variety for the fans and good for the country to bring the East and West closer together. The schedule was not ideal—scheduling always will be a problem."

Lew Haymas, managing director of Toronto Argonauts, said that "so far I have been satisfied with the way the schedule has gone. He has distributed a questionnaire to season-ticket subscribers asking their opinions.

Bisons Take 2-0 Lead

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Kenny Farrell of the Buffalo Bisons today was halfway towards becoming the first manager in Junior world series history to win the title for both represented leagues.

His hard-hitting International League Bisons turned defensive giants last night to move into a 3-0 lead in the best-of-seven series with a 3-0 victory over Louisville Colonels of the American Association.

In 1956 Farrell's Indianapolis club of the AA defeated Rochester in four straight games for the minor league championship.

Ken MacKenzie a native of Gore Bay, Ont., received starter and loser Moe Drabowsky to begin the eighth inning and Ted Savage blasted his first pitch 340 feet over the fence for Bob Saily's insurance run.)

MacKenzie, who has pitched for Milwaukee Braves, Louisville and Detroit, ails in the National League, gave up another hit in the one inning he worked but got out two set walked none.

A crowd of 10,406 brought the two-night attendance to 20,286.

Cecil Butler is expected to pitch for Louisville Colonels in the third game. His opponent will be Wally Bernard. Action then moves to Louisville for the remainder of the series.

BUCS SELL HURLER

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pittsburgh Pirates sold left-handed pitcher Fred Green to Washington Senators Monday for the waiver price of $30,000. Green appeared in 13 games with the Pirates this season, but had no record.

Bruins, Wings, Hawks Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Detroit Red Wings, Chicago Black Hawks and Boston Bruins were the only National Hockey League teams to see action in exhibition games Monday night.

The Red Wings were held to a 4-4 tie by Edmonton Flyers in their Western League farm club, in a game at Brandon, Man. Hawks defeated Providence of the Eastern Professional League, 5-2 at Kingston, and the Bruins beat the EPHL Wolves 5-1 at Sudbury.

Detroit, playing without Gordie Howe and Norm Ullman, had 4-3 with one minute left to play, but Edmonton's coach Jimmy Skilled goaltender Dennis Hig- and Lou Fisher scored the tying marker. The other Edmonton scorers were Ed Joyal, Cesare Maniago and Lee Leach.

The Stanley Cup champion Black Hawks were outshot 38-21 by the Providence Reds superior goaltending by Glenn Hall and Denis Dejordy kept the Hawks in weather the storm.

Hawks were without Bronco Horvath, Pierre Pilote and Stan Mikita. Bobby Hull and Red Hay played despite injuries.

COUNTING TWICE

Andre Pronovost scored a pair for Boston and Maurice Oliver, Terry Gray and Johnny Bucyk contributed singles. Neil Forth got the Wolves' only reply in the third period as the Bruins outshot Sudbury 33-20.

Inflamma continued to plague Toronto Maple Leafs in their Peterborough camp. Johnny MacMillan, seeking a full-time job with the Leafs, and defenceman Bill White of Rochester, American affiliate of the Leafs in Hockey League were absent.

Despite a record of four wins in seven exhibition games played in nine days has boosted morale in the camp, Thursday the team leaves for Edmonton for the first of seven exhibition games in seven days.

New York Rangers have sent Dave Balon, Ralph Backstrom to his contract home from their training camp. They have released five players to AHL-affiliated teams in the Western Hockey League.

Hatalla, centre with Guelph Royals last season and second in the scoring in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series, was unable to reach a contract agreement with the Rangers.

Danny Belisle, Les Binkley and Ralph Keller were moved to Los Angeles Blades' camp at Saskatoon. Paul Andres, former Coach Bryan Hayes, and Wally Chevrier, formerly of Kitchener-Waterloo Beavers of the EPHL, will report to Vancouver Canucks.

Montreal Canadiens' scoring star Dickie Moore left the Montreal Forum's training camp Monday night to fly to Montreal for medical investment. Coach Toe Blake said Moore hurt a pelvic ligament, but said the injury didn't appear serious.

THREE MORE GO

Three more names were lopped off the Canadiens roster. Defenceman John Hanna will report to either Hull - Ottawa or Quebec, and forward Bill Masterton will join the Habitants' Hull-Ottawa farm club. Jacques Laperriere, 19-year-old defenceman, will spend another season in the junior ranks.

In an American Hockey League exhibition game Monday night at Niagara Falls, Ont., Pittsburgh Hornets defeated Buffalo Bisons 4-3 after taking a 3-0 lead in the second period.

All Quarters Targets

"Rifle" Not Picked Out Griffiths Paret Meet Saturday

NEW YORK (AP) — Emile Griffith is a polite, effervescent young man who works as a millliner's assistant and designer and wears the latest continental clothes.

But nobody bothers Emile. In addition to working on milady's latest modes he is the welterweight boxing champion of the world — the title he defends against ex - champion Benny (Kid) Paret Saturday night.

The fast, hard-hitting 23-year-old champion won the 147-pound title by knocking out Paret in the 12th round at Miami Beach April 1 in his first defence, he stopped Gaspar Ortega in the 11th round at Los Angeles June 3 and is a 3-to-1 favorite for Saturday's bout.

The odds indicate his phenomenal improvement. He has developed a knockout punch to go with his boxing skill and stamina. His record is 25-3 with nine knockouts and he has never been stopped.

Griffith was born in Pontevverry, the Americas-born veteran of Canadian football who now quarterbacks St. Louis Cardinals, says he's no more 'set' a target for opposing linemen than any other quarterback.

That goal, Gain said Monday, for the National Football League as well as the Big Four, where he starred nine years for Montreal Alouettes.

The subject of zeroing in on quarterbacks came up Sunday when the 31-year-old Etcheverry had knocked senseless in the Cardinals' 20-17 loss to the Browns at Cleveland. He was felled by a heavy Browns' charge early in the third quarter.

"He was completely knocked out when I got to him," said Cardinals trainer Jack Rockwell. "He regained his senses quickly but he couldn't put things together for a while."

"I guess all quarterbacks are targets," said Etcheverry. "That's the way it is in pro ball."

COACH AGREES

Pop Ivy, the St. Louis coach who had pilloted Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Interprovincial Football Union, said: "I don't think they're ganging up on Gain. He's hard, no more than on anyone else."

The Cardinals held a 14-13 lead when Etcheverry was bounced, but Ivy said the turning points were an interception thrown and a fumble in the same quarter, both times when St. Louis had a chance for a touchdown or a field goal.

Etcheverry, who last week bolstered St. Louis' sieve - like defence and his passing arm is improving all the time and he felt no pain Sunday. His completed nine of 18 passes for 94 yards and both Cardinals touchdowns.

It was reported after Sunday's game, Etcheverry's second in the NFL, that he missed most of the second half because of an arm injury. His statement Monday disproved the report.

Before he was sidelined, Sam threw five - and - seven - yard scoring passes to Sonny Randle. However, he also saw Walt Michaels intercept one of his passes deep in Cardinals territory and run in the four-yard line from where Lou Groza kicked a field goal for Cleveland.

Etcheverry had led the Cardinals to a 23-10 victory over New York Giants in the season opener Sept. 17. He sent fullback Mal Hammack on a 36-yard scoring jaunt to overcome a 10-7 Giants lead, then fired a five-yard scoring pass in the final quarter.

His two-game totals now read 19 completions in 43 attempts for 191 yards and three touchdowns.

Sam said he didn't seem to have enough time Sunday on his passing patterns, but he refused to blame the offensive line. However, Ed Cook, veteran tackle and offensive captain, asserted that, the pass blocking forward wall.

Etcheverry's verdict after two NFL games:

"The defences are much stronger in the NFL than in Canada. The accuracy is quicker. The players on the average are bigger, on both offence and defence."

CONTRACT RENEWED

CHICAGO (AP) — Al Lopez signed Monday to manage Chicago White Sox for a sixth season. His salary was reported to be nearly $50,000 a year.

The Sox finished fourth in the American League this season, currently 20 games behind the winning New York Yankees.

New Series, 87th Precinct, Styled Along Same Old Line

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Coincidence has a long arm and NBC's new cops - and - psychos series, 87th Precinct, twisted it like a pretzel Monday night.

Musical cases, the almost completely replaced old fashioned robbers in TV's police action theatre, so we've been turned now to lonely hearts killers with sadistic impulses. Monday night's sick, sick mash was a fellow who fancied blondes... and fiddled the fuses, twisted it. Her. He penchant for having his victims-to-be publicity trained was the important clue to his capture.

We also had the dead movie wife of a police sergeant suddenly deciding to have herself tattooed. What in the needle-artist's parlor she just happened to run into the killer the husband was after. Now there's a rare coincidence.

Then the British girl actually followed the killer and his drugged victim to the end of the deserted pier at night. Now you know that no girl, even one who could beat the system, would do that, let alone one seriously handicapped. But the writers had to work out something for suspense and fighting chance.

Of course, it all turned out well at the end. The husband and his fellow officers arrived in the nick of time to save the two girls.

Pretty Gena Rowlands played the dead mute, and is a member of the regular cast, tattoo and all.

Sugar Ray Defeats Greaves

The five-time former middleweight king launched another of his many comebacks Monday night and earned a 10 - round split decision over aggressive Wilfie Greaves of Edmonton. Robinson got off the canvas after a low blow in the eighth round to notch his first victory in nearly 18 months.

As soon as he's ready, he said he'd like to fight Gene Fullmer, NBA champion who defeated him last March, or Terry Downes of England. Downes is recognized as the champion in New York, Massachusetts and Europe.

The fight attracted 5,423 and drew a gross of $20,707.50. Robinson earned 35 per cent of the net.

Why is this tire different from all other brands?

Why do we know it's different from all other brands in the same price range? Look at these facts.

Improved safety tread design puts more gripping power on the road. Precision built with the latest electronic equipment, for greater road stability . . . longer, even wear . . . made with Goodyear's exclusive 2-P cord for superior body strength.

Think about this big difference when choosing new tires. Goodyear tires offer better value than any other kind. See us today!

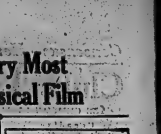
West Side Story Most Expensive Musical Film

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Previewtime—

For the superlative - minded, West Side Story is the most expensive ($6,000,000) musical film ever made. It's also one of the best.

Truths are by no means sure. Any musical is a shaky entry in today's market; the public seldom dig them. And while West Side Story was electrifying on the stage, many playgoers found the theme downbeat and depressing.



The theme seems forbidding for a musical. It is the story of a power clash between a native New York City gang and another of Puerto Rican newcomers. Two lovers, one from each side, are caught in the middle. West Side Story is really a dance opera. The powerful dances of Jerome Robbins and the highly - charged music of Leonard Bernstein are perfect for the violent, exciting world the New York gangs.

West Side Story is a standout making film. Natalie Wood comes through as a top dramatic actress. Richard Beymer, as her ill-starred lover is exciting and effective; he'll be around for a long time.

NICKNAME

Pericopolis was a nickname applied to Toronto in the days when its chief fame was meat packing.

"That's how the boss shoots on Whitey's contract. Bonds is guy to flirt with his girl!"

Astrological Forecast

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 27

General Tendencies: This is a day to keep a level head on your shoulders or you can be driven by surrounding pressures to upset and to have a bad time. So, make no changes but utilize the influences at hand to make a more satisfactory course for yourself in a well-organized manner, slowly taking any chances can bring big loss.

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — Thoughtlessly spending money today or entertainment could really be detrimental to your best interests, especially if you neglect your business or other important duties. Impress others with practical good sense instead. P.M. budget.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) —Although you resent the attitude of someone under your roof and are tempted to lose your temper, this is not the best way to handle the situation. Think where you might have erred instead and make the first gesture for conciliation.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) —It is better to face whatever problems you may have instead of blithely going off to some good time or other and getting further into trouble. You can easily solve them if you put your mind to it. Then the evening is fine for fun.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21) — You can make a most wonderful impression at social affairs today and tonight, provided you don't think you have to spend a great deal to do so and increase popularity. Dressing in good taste and having a ready smile works wonders.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — You can get assistance you need from influential people easily now if you forget that attitude of knowing it all and be alert to their ideas and suggestions, too. Improve financial affairs and be sure your credit rating is highest.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) —If you forget any worries you may have and concentrate upon bettering your life and associates after by adopting a more workable philosophy as well as better systems of operating, this can be the turning point in your career. Grow.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23)—Avoid that know-it-all associate of yours today and seek the advice of real experts, then you are sure to succeed. P.M. hiring loved one fine gift. Excellent novelties follow.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) —Steer clear of that higher-up who is very demanding now and instead co-operate with sensible partner who best can give you a solution to current problems. Go out to dinner in P.M. and regain your lost composure. Be happy.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — It is best to forget having a good time until you have completed duties facing you. Get the co-operation and ideas of co-workers for best results. Evening is then fine for stepping out a little while, but don't be extravagant.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — You are very anxious to follow some intuition you have in A.M., but this would only lead you in the wrong direction. Stick to regular duties instead and then the day is also fine for enjoyment in the company of interesting people.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Take care you are not coerced into some big investment because an associate wants you to go overboard on some get-rich-quick scheme. Maintain present security and if you want to make some investment, first discuss matter with kin.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — Regular work is apt to be irksome today and you get little done, so be sure you get out where you can make new contacts and progress in this fashion. Be friendly and you will be able to meet many worthwhile individuals. Grow.

If Your Child Is Born Today—there is every indication of much success in this chart due to the fact that your youngster has fine, practical sense and clear logic. You must early teach your progeny to discriminate wisely, otherwise the wrong type of individuals are apt to lead him, or her, in the wrong direction. The philosopher and trouble-shooter are strongly in this chart, too.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or hospitalization.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

To find, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoidal conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a famous research institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for Internally sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

FRANKFORD

Full Gospel CA's Enjoy Corn Roast

FRANKFORD — Frankford Full Gospel Tabernacle C.A.'s held a social gathering on Friday evening when they journeyed, by car, to Wallbridge, to the home of Sunday School Superintendent, Mrs. Albert Fisher. Mr. Albert Fisher drove the tractor and the C.A.'s with their pastor, the Rev. and Mrs. Fred Spring, enjoyed a hayride through the countryside.

Following the hayride the young people congregated at "Paul's Gravel Pit" and around a blazing bonfire sang a number of rousing gospel choruses led by Mr. Jerry Wager of the EPSC, Peterborough, and the Rev. F. Spring.

Announcements were given by Pastor and C.A. president K. Helm; also testimonies.

Everyone enjoyed the corn roast and coffee and a time of fellowship.

"Just a Second"

"I'll give you something tomorrow."

"Sorry sir, I don't allow credit."

Foxboro

FOXBORO — Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ketchabaw were guests at the Savage 'n Cooke wedding which took place at Trinity Anglican Church, Frankford, on Saturday, September 9, and also attended the reception in Trinity Hall.

Friends of Mrs. Lorne Brough are sorry to hear she is a patient in Belleville General Hospital. All wish her a speedy recovery.

Mr. David Skinner left on Sunday to enter Queen's University, Kingston.

Mrs. Harold Stewart returned home on Sunday after spending the past week with her daughter, Mrs. Milton Watson, in Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stewart and Danny were in Peterborough Sunday visiting the former's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Watson and family.

Mrs. Percy Reynolds called on Mrs. Harold Elliott on Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Tweedy by Rod Reis

"That's funny—I had four when I started back."

Tyendinaga Twp. Council

Tyendinaga Township Council at the regular September meeting passed a by-law to license plumbers and a by-law to provide for an inspection fee of the plumbing installations. The by-laws provide that the clerk shall issue the plumbing licence and that Mr. William Belleghem shall inspect the plumbing installations.

The council authorized a petition for interim payment of the statutory grant under the Highway Improvement Act on expenditures of $32,915.19 made on Township roads during the period January 1 to August 31 of this year.

W. J. Walsh, Clerk.

Frankford

FRANKFORD — The Rev. and Mrs. A. Cowan spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Reynolds and family in Madoc.

Mr. Steve Plevak has returned home after a month's vacation with relatives in Czechoslowakia.

Pastor and Mrs. Rod Solmes and baby daughter, Ruth, of Gaspe, Quebec, and Mr. W. F. Solmes of Kitchener, were Wednesday visitors with Mrs. Mary Patrick and son, Richard.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Treasure and son Billy, Mr. and Mrs. W. Cleveland and family of Kingston, were Sunday supper guests with Mr. and Mrs. H. McLeod and family.

Sorry to report that Mrs. Howard Conley's father is very ill in the Oshawa General Hospital.

Hunt Four Men Adrift In Boat On Lake Ontario

Sighted by RCAF Plane But Contact Later Lost

OSHAWA (CP)—A water and air search was on today for a small boat missing on Lake Ontario with four men aboard.

The boat, a 14-foot white craft with a 40-horsepower engine, has not been seen since it was sighted, then lost again, by an RCAF plane Tuesday morning.

The RCAF at Trenton said the pilot was unable to establish whether anyone was aboard the craft with it was sighted Tuesday. Visibility was hampered by haze and high waves whipped by winds up to 30 miles an hour.

An RCAF Dakota from Trenton was circling the area this morning and a marine crash boat was sent out. Also in search was a helicopter from HCMS launch and a tug from Oshawa owned by McNamara Construction Company.

The search was being concentrated in the Bluffs area west of Bowmanville towards Cobourg where winds and currents might have carried the boat. The lake was calmer today as winds moderated.

The four occupants of the boat were last seen on the Oshawa pier Monday morning. They were identified, as Sam Sicilia, 24, Oshawa, the owner; Ross Prescott, 21, of Bowmanville; Len Boyd, 25, of Oshawa and Donald Terry, 23, of Hampton.

Bullets Found In Body of Man On Dag's Plane

STOCKHOLM (CP)—Experts disagree on the question of whether bullets may have been fired into the body of one of the victims of the plane crash that killed UN Secretary - General Dag Hammarskjold.

The theory that bullets found in the body came from ammunition exploded in the plane was advanced by Lt.-Col. M. C. M. Barber, Rhodesian air and aviation director, after examining the burned wreckage.

But Arne Svensson, chief of the Stockholm police technical department, said the bullets must have passed through the barrel of a weapon.

In an interview in the Stockholm newspaper Svenska Dagbladet, Ma j. C. Westrup, an explosives inspector, said that in his experience bullets from exploding aircraft ammunition would not penetrate cloth-ing, let alone a human body.

Parliament At a Glance

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

TUESDAY, Sept. 26, 1961

The Commons passed the Pine Point Railway bill by a vote of 105 to 19 after debating 136 to 36 a Liberal motion for a non-confidence hoist.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker accused the Liberals of opposition to northern development; then the Liberals had "convenient" amendments passed from 8:26 to 10:41 the line.

J. W. Pickersgill (Lon-Saint-Laurent) said the line was being built with taxpayers' money for a company which was getting a "big piece without putting up a thing."

The Liberals also launched an attack on the government's new dominion - provincial tax agreement, stowing its progress from the Commons.

The Commons took only four minutes to pass Bill 60—Ross and Newfoundland divorce bills. Some of which had been piled on the order paper for nine months.

Liberal Leader — Montreal Laurier) charged — and the government denied — that Canada had "backed" on Nassau at the Ghana conference on the Commonwealth Secretariat question.

Trade Minister Hees said more than two - thirds of Canada's exports to Britain will be seriously affected if the U.K. adopts the Common Market tariff system.

The Senate gave approval in principle to the Pine Point Railway bill, after hearing details and passed the housing, civil service and centennial bills.

WEDNESDAY, Sept. 27

The Commons meets at 11 a.m. on the 37th day of the session to debate rules and deal with provincial tax relations. The Senate sits at 3 p.m.

SUGGESTS TALKS

RENOIRE (Reuters) — The Archbishop of Canterbury suggested Monday a resumption of theological conversations between the Eastern Orthodox Church and the Church of England, last held in 1931. The suggestion was in a message the Archbishop, Dr. Michael Ramsey, read to the Pan - Orthodox Conference here.

Angry Senate Forced to Pass Big Money Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first congressional session of the Kennedy administration wound up in an angry whirlwind today with the Senate having to accept a big money bill which the House of Representatives bounced back on a take-it-or-leave it basis.

The House passed the $1,325,-000,000 supplemental appropriation and then quickly closed up shop. With that it left in adjournment and no chance for compromise, the Senate was forced to go along with the bill providing money for a wide variety of federal agencies.

The slightest Senate amendment would have killed the measure and forced President Kennedy to call a special session to get the needed funds.

"We have taken a shellacking, and I think it's outrageous," protested Senator Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.).

The session which ended in the flare of tempers had run up its propriations totalling about $82,-000,000,000, a record high.

Since convening last Jan. 3, Congress approved many major points of President Kennedy's "New Frontier" program. It also received almost all of the major requests particularly aid-to-education, health, and medical care for the aged.

Democratic congressional leaders said today that Congress will recess with the record of the 1961 session and predicted that many Kennedy proposals which failed this year would be passed in 1962.

Say Army Would Have to Rescue Million Persons in Target Cities

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Army would be faced with the herculean task of rescuing 1,000,000 persons if all 16 target cities in Canada were hit during a nuclear attack.

That was the estimate given Tuesday night by Brig. Gen. J. A. Wilnot, head of the army's civil defence survival program, in a two-hour talk to Ottawa area civic officials, members of the armed services clubs.

His outline of the army's role in national survival preceded a three-day joint army-defence research board symposium which is to start here today.

Maj-Gen. Wilnot said the government's decision earlier this month to train 100,000 men in civil survival would enable the army to save many more lives.

"While it would be physically impossible to save the total army of all needing rescue . . . we believe we would be able to save pretty well all of those who could normally be considered to be in reasonable danger."

He said ignorance and misinformation were being "lessened. Our damage to the defence and led to "a great deal of support from the public."

"But the more you study this problem, the more you realize that much of it has to do with save lives and property and so minimize the effects of these horrible weapons."

Fallout shelters alone could save millions of lives. Adequate planning at all levels of government, coupled with intelligent use force, properly trained and adequately equipped, could save hundreds of thousands more.

DAIRY COUNCIL LIKELY TO ASK BUTTER SUBSIDY

Claims It Needed To Increase Sales

HALIFAX (CP) — The National Dairy Council was expected to make an official bid today for direct federal subsidies to help the industry.

Council President Pierre Cote of Quebec City, re-elected for a second term, said in an interview Tuesday night the council feels a 10 - cent subsidy recommended four years ago will not be enough.

Horace Lamarche of Lachute, Que., said the problem is one of "under - consumption rather than over - production." Canadians now consume about 16 lbs. pounds of butter per capita, down 10 years ago they ate 21 pounds. The comparable figure was about 180,000,000 pounds.

BUTTER WORLD DRUG

Under the farmers' proposed system, the floor price on manufactured butter would be dropped to 50 cents from 68 cents with the producers being compensated for the subsidy. However, producers might be asked to absorb some costs of the cut by May 1, 1962. The farmers' group asked for the subsidy payments immediately.

A lack of marketing research and dairy products promotion appears to have dropped butter the biggest internal topic among the 200 delegates.

Dairymen say that because their businesses generally are small it is difficult to ensure they are unable to compete in advertising with big dairy subsidiaries manufacturers.

MAY HAVE CONTROLS

Dr. R. Goodwillie, merchandising chief of federal agriculture department's dairy products division, said that unless the industry "can increase the merchandising of its products better than it has done, rather than funelling increasing quantities into channels of cheap mass handlers" it may have to come under production and marketing controls.

No plan was proposed on how the proposed 10-cent dairy plant representatives might subsidize a combined promotional scheme.

Frederick E. Lister of the Dairy Farmers of Canada said the lack of sufficient funds prevents any effective advertising.

Lyle Alkenson of Fraser Valley, B.C., presented packages similar to those used by margarine manufacturers more attractive on the market.

CLAIMS BUSINESS OFF

MONTREAL (CP)—The Quebec transportation board Tuesday ordered the province's private city-owned trucking firms have to charge the same minimum rates in business because of competition from the CNR's trucking subsidiaries. Robert Rouleau, general manager of Abitibi Power & Paper Co., told testimony at a hearing into the transfer of shares of Midland Superior Express Limited to Canadian National Transportation Limited, a CNR subsidiary.

Katanga Regime Demands All UN Forces Withdraw

ELISABETHVILLE (Reuters) — The Katanga cabinet today appeared to be back where it started following demands by the Katanga regime for the withdrawal of all UN forces from the Congo's breakaway province.

Following the meeting, Foreign Minister Evariste Kimba of Katanga issued further decisions of the commission "point-less" and declared that the Katanga demands are received from UN headquarters.

The commission was set up last week after a cease-fire agreement was reached between President Moise Tshombe of Katanga and the UN after eight days of fighting which ended the world body's attempt to end the secession of the province.

The latest Katanga demands seemed to put the situation in Katanga back where it started.

In another development Tuesday, Conor O'Brien, the chief UN official here, said that Tshombe had agreed to send a delegation to start talks with the central Congolese government at Leopoldville.

Tshombe and the central government have been reported recently to have been exchanging messages via Brazzaville, capital of the former French Congo.

Tshombe has in the past stood firm against appeals to send a delegation to Leopoldville on the grounds that the Katanga officials would be arrested by the central government Premier Cyrille Adoula's regime.

Meanwhile, the threat of an invasion of mineral-rich Katanga by the armed forces of the central government continued to hang over the scene.

In the Commons today, Tshombe called on Adoula to "stop this quisling-some neocolonial point.

Tshombe said he would be willing to talk with Adoula, he self suggested Sidzo, in nearby Rhodesia, where a cease-fire was agreed upon last week.

Possibility Seen UN to Play Some Role in Berlin Crisis

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The possibility that the United Nations might be drawn into efforts to settle the Berlin crisis appeared to be gaining headway today.

If the United States and Russia in the coming weeks fail to agree on a formula for starting negotiations, the word is that the matter would become an issue of prime concern to the United Nations General Assembly when it convenes Oct. 17.

If negotiations can be agreed on, both Russia and the Allied powers would be free to call on the United Nations take a hand in carrying out any plan they can devise for the future of West Berlin. Indications are that Soviet and Western diplomats are thinking along these lines.

U.S. Secretary Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko scheduled a meeting today on the East - West deadlock over how to get negotiations started.

The meeting was to be kept secret.

On that basis Western diplomats found little encouragement in the Soviet policy speech Gromyko delivered to the General Assembly Tuesday dealing largely with the Berlin situation.

In their view the speech contained nothing new in substance on Berlin policy, but that had been expected. If the Soviet government is willing to engage in a wide negotiations recommanded by the United States, Britain and France, the first indication is likely to appear in the position almost certainly would be shown by Gromyko not in a speech but in his discussions with Rusk.

Today's session was arranged by Gromyko. He invited Rusk to lunch at his headquarters in mid-afternoon. It was the first time two previously met last Thursday at Rusk's institution.

Diplomats noted Gromyko's report on the Berlin crisis was presented mainly as an argument for Soviet demands which as a distinct against the Western position although he accused them as usual of threatening war. Speech Monday German peace treaty plan. Some encouragement for hopes that a basis for negotiations can be found in the relatively mild tone of Gromyko's speech.

Gromyko placed heavy emphasis on UN interest in the disarmament and while accusing United Nations might take an active part in a settlement. He said the United Nations might serve as a "guarantor of the status of West Berlin" which Russia has been demanding for West Berlin and which the Western powers have rejected.

Kennedy Bitterly Criticized By West German Newspaper

BONN (Reuters) — President Kennedy today was bitterly criticized in a West German newspaper for his UN speech while East Germany's main Communist newspaper declared he was ingenuous to negotiate on Germany.

Communist Neues Deutschland attributed the president's acceptance of the possibility of negotiations to the "firm attitude" taken by the Communist bloc.

The West government Bild Zeitung in West Germany, however, warned that Kennedy's speech, in an editorial asking sold questions about the president's speech Monday.

Bild Zeitung said: "President Kennedy spoke of a solution on Berlin and Germany which would take into consideration the legitimate security interests of others . . . what does Kennedy mean by this?

"Does Kennedy mean the right to support a free Berlin as claimed by Moscow?

"Does Kennedy mean the right to split up Germany which the Russians have been claiming since 1945?

"We view this in a different way. Up to now the boundaries are fixed in the treaties which our allies have concluded with us in 1952, 1954 and subsequently. Those treaties say that re-unification is the aim of Western politics. We are bound by these treaties—and our allies are bound by these treaties.

Flyers of Jet Closely Guarded In Katanga

KILWEZI (Reuters) — The two, most closely - guarded men in Katanga province today are the Belgian pilots of the little Fouga jet which single - handedly has driven the United Nations forces during recent fighting here.

Reporters saw one of the flyers in this West Katanga mining town today but were not permitted to speak to him.

He is a trim, spare Belgium-Brevillo, Paul Jacques Gerard. He is about 45, has iron-grey hair and a moustache. . . .

Brevillo, who is also a South African Air Force during the Second World War, is in charge of the French - made Fouga twin - seater jet.

The plane is the mainstay of the Katanga forces during the fighting of the little force by the UN 12 days ago in a bid to end Katanga's secession from the Congo Republic.

The little plane flew sorties against UN troops in Jadotville, against the UN-held Kamina airbase, and twice strafed UN headquarters in Elisabethville, the Katanga capital, causing UN representative Conor Cruise O'Brien of Ireland to dive for cover a ditch.

Brevillo sits in the back seat of the plane, navigating and commanding the flights. In front of him sits a scar - faced Frenchman called Magalo, who actually handles the controls.

TWO POLITICAL POTHOLES HIT DURING SESSION

Prorogation Not Likely Till Thurs.

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons hit two political potholes on the road to prorogation Tuesday.

One was the bill financing the Pine Point Railway — passed over Liberal objections that public money will be risked in a way that will benefit the private - owned CPR without any solid assurance of return of the money.

The other was the bill financing the transmission and distribution and equalization of electricity — known as "a political dodge" that will benefit Ontario at the expense of other provinces.

Inconclusive debate on the Pine Point Railway — projected 260 - mile line to open a new lead zinc area in Northwestern Ontario — lasted 136 hours and 36 minutes and ended with a 105 to 19 vote against a Liberal amendment to have the bill sent back to committee.

Opposition spokesmen argued the project is uneconomic and will not benefit the country as a whole.

Other opponents charged the bill is a "dodge" to get around a Supreme Court decision that power projects must be approved by provinces before they may be exported.

The Trade Minister Hees, in a bare-bones summary of what he said recently in Ghana, told the Commons that three-quarters of Canada's export market in the United Kingdom will be "seriously affected" if Britain adopts the Common Market tariff system.

2. Final approval was given to the Quebec and Newfoundland divorce bills which for months had been awaiting consideration while the parties negotiated in a unique custody battle that reaches its way to the House of Commons.

Gromyko emphasized the Soviet plan on general disarmament was based on a Soviet - U.S. accord between the East - West countries or by an enlarged group.

READY

"My government stands ready to take part in reasoned multilateral negotiations on this basis," he asserted, "and would be glad to see them in the most effective forum that can be selected."

The British leader also declared his readiness to help arrange negotiations on the Berlin crisis, but he stressed that the West must have guarantees to protect the right of access to West Berlin.

"We have to be negotiators about the rights of the free and its people," he said, "settlement must be reinforced and accesses to the city, and suitable guarantees that the free life which its people have chosen will be preserved."

The United States, Soviet Union there are three ways to peaceful coexistence:

No Chance $5 Million Can Ice Amateur Hockey Team - - Senator

OTTAWA (CP)—Is there any chance of Canada developing a hockey team capable of beating amateurs for Olympic competition?

The query was posed, and answered with a flat "no," in the Senate health committee by Senator C. G. (Chubby) Power (PC—Quebec) and Canada's Olympic hockey entries of recent years have been made up "Galloping Amateurs" who have gone back to professional hockey.

He wondered if the government's bill to grant $5,000,000 a year to amateur sports and fitness activity might remedy the situation.

"Is there any chance of developing a team of pure amateurs such as we had in the old days?" Senator Power asked.

"No, absolutely not," said Senator Arthur W. Sullivan (PC—Ontario), who played on Canada's Olympic championship hockey team in 1928. "The only amateur hockey players left today are at the high school level."

He said Canada might as well send a team from the National Hockey League into Olympic play as the most amateurs have been selected in recent years.

Nephew Slew Woman Says Coroner's Jury

SARNIA (CP) — A five-man coroner's jury ruled Tuesday night that a middle - aged mother and her 10-year-old son were murdered Sept. 9 by the woman's nephew.

The jury's verdict said Mrs. Evelyn Moore, 45, and her son Danny died at the hands of Donald Ross Terry, of Sarnia, who later committed suicide.

Guarded Hopes Threat Of War May Be Eased

Gromyko Gives Soviet View on World Issues

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Britain called on the Soviet Union today to seek an "honorable deal" with the Western powers on Berlin, disarmament and other critical problems threatening to throw a nuclear cloud over the world.

Foreign Secretary Lord Home told the UN General Assembly in policy speech that the Russians are playing with nuclear fire by trying to force issues against his neighbors."

Home accused the Soviet Union of deception and double-dealing in the collapsed nuclear test-ban talks.

"Let her co-operate in keeping the peace," he said, "by strengthening the collective will of the United Nations instead of trying to drive the organization by threat before, through the whole fabric of our collective effort.

This was a reference to Premier Khrushchev's attack on U Thant's plan to replace Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold with a three-man troika.

Lord Home praised what he called the Soviet disarmament proposals of President Kennedy and urged that they be put to drive hard at negotiations after by the Soviet - West countries or by an enlarged group.

Urges City Obtain Rights To Land It Will Create

The city of Belleville should take immediate action toward obtaining gateway rights for any reclaimed land that will result from the sanitary land fill program shortly to be commenced on a large scale on the east side of the Bay Bridge Road.

This was advocated Monday at city council by Aldermen Walter J. Elliott, who said that a municipally acquired property for private individuals was "for the birds".

The alderman said that land created as result of the, perhaps disastrous program on the east side of the road leading to the bay bridge could eventually bring a value of anywhere up to $100,000.

Mayor J. A. M. Hall replied that that's were legal aspects involved and suggested the matter be referred to the city public works committee.

The city's entire garbage disposal program will be shifted to the east of Bay Bridge Road as soon as the present area west of the road is filled in. At present only heavy fill is being dumped on the east side.

10-Mile Stretch To Be Opened By Minister

When the honorable Fred J. Cass, Ontario minister of Highways, opens the newest section of Highway 401 on the 29th September, the total mileage of this transprovincial superhighway will be 840.

The section to be opened runs from the Kingston interchange to Brockville and is about 10 miles long. The section has been built at an estimated total cost of well over $3,000,000, and will afford a thirty-minute time saving for those who have been making Belleville a portcall during their summer cruising. Plans by the seventeen have been approved at a recent meeting between the club directors and the architect and a bank loan to complete the project has been arranged for.

Tenders for the project have been requested of five contractors in the district, and it is expected to commence once the bids have been received by the architect and the contract awarded. The project, the first of four phases of the expected to be undertaken once the club has the ways and means of effecting them will in hand.

Parks Board Is Opposed To Dixon Rd. Sub-Station

TRENTON — The Trenton Board of Parks Management will advise the Ontario Water Utilities Commission "that the board is not in favor of the sub-station being placed in the triangle at the corner of Dixon Road, Dundas East and Sidney Street," and recommend that the commission find another location for the new electrical repair equipment.

The board had turned over in the board the request of the PUC to be allowed to build a sub-station on the triangle.

Miss Marion Baker, board secretary, told the board members that the parks board had not been aware that this strip of land was under board jurisdiction until a short time ago. She said that a by-law had been passed by council which left the land had been conveyed to the Ontario Water Resources Commission by the ex-yet-unformed Junior "C" hockey team.

Don Sexton, member of the Gardens board, told council that the board had given everything in its power to juggle its times around to suit the association, but that board members felt they should not "subsidize" any group by lowering the rate of ice for any group.

Mr. Senik said that the board were prepared to offer the association the hours from 6 a.m. to 7 a.m. or after 11 p.m. at $2.50 an hour, which would barely cover the cost to the board.

"It cost the citizens of Trenton $11.50 a day for 365 days to cover the deficit of debt last year," said Mr. Senik. "If they want to make money they had been about hockey, they'll get up early and practice at 6 a.m. Otherwise, refuse to subsidize them' until they're 16 and the board has to look into the wide world," said Councillor Ross Burtt, "but I personally won't be in the decision of the board."

The board council offered to turn any profits over to the Garden's board," said Mr. Senik. "The new public skating is our own money. We're willing to arrange any time for practice or games, but I don't think the board should get involved in hockey."

Mr. Wesse told council members that last week members of Garden's commission the week before that he considered it unfair that the Junior hockey teams, which are sponsored by service clubs, should be given the use for half price, while the board insisted that the junior "C" team pay the regulation price of $13 an hour.

Plan Barrier On Mount Pelion

TRENTON — Trenton's police chief, F. J. Taylor, has asked the Park's Board to put up a barrier on the hill in the area surrounding the pump house on Mount Pelion. The chief said that it would be easy for a motorist to drive too close to the edge of the hill in the semi-darkness in this area and this could result in death or serious injury.

Since the board has paved the mountain road up to the parking area below the water tank, there has been a great increase in the traffic in the area.

At a board meeting last night it was decided to place a barrier and a danger sign near the dangerous area.

Chief Taylor said that his officers had been warning the dangerous practice of young children riding down the newly paved road on bicycles, tricycles and wagons, and that necessary action would be taken.

Practice Rates Left to Board, Hockey Club

TRENTON — At a special meeting Tuesday morning, the members of town council decided to let the Trenton Community Gardens Commission and the Trenton Amateur Hockey Association settle a long argument over the cost of hockey practices at the gardens, and to take no action on a request made by Howard Wesse, Gardens president, that council "direct" the gardens board to make concessions to the ex-yet-unformed Junior "C" hockey team.

Don Senick, member of the Garden's board, told council that the board had been everything in its power to juggle its times around to suit the association, but that board members felt they should not "subsidize" any group by lowering the rate of ice for any group.

Mr. Senik said that the board were prepared to offer the association the hours from 6 a.m. to 7 a.m. or after 11 p.m. at $2.50 an hour, which would barely cover the cost to the board.

"It cost the citizens of Trenton $11.50 a day for 365 days to cover the deficit of debt last year," said Mr. Senik. "If they want to make money they had been about hockey, they'll get up early and practice at 6 a.m. Otherwise, refuse to subsidize them' until they're 16 and the board has to look into the wide world," said Councillor Ross Burtt, "but I personally won't be in the decision of the board."

The board council offered to turn any profits over to the Garden's board," said Mr. Senik. "The new public skating is our own money. We're willing to arrange any time for practice or games, but I don't think the board should get involved in hockey."

Mr. Wesse told council members last week and members of Garden's commission the week before that he considered it unfair that the Junior hockey teams, which are sponsored by service clubs, should be given the use for half price, while the board insisted that the junior "C" team pay the regulation price of $13 an hour.

Santa Claus Parade Comm. Calls Meeting

The Santa Claus Parade committee will be holding an organizational meeting the evening at No. Two Fire Hall on West Moira Street commencing at 8:30 o'clock. All persons interested in assisting this outdoor Christmas attraction as an annual community event are requested to attend.

A lack of interested people to date has made it impossible that more assistance in the form of workers be obtained if the event is to be continued, Fire Chief Gerald Vance, parade committee chairman said this morning.

The parade has grown beyond the scope of the group of the firemen who originated the event and the few citizens who helped them in the preparation during recent years, he said. More interested citizens to serve on the various organizing committees and to assist in the building of floats are required.

Money is also another requisite to the success of the parade. Although in past years the event has never gone in the red, it has rarely done more than just break even barring the accumulation of a number of "permanent" floats in the course of these years.

The local event has grown in past years to be the finest Santa Claus parade in this part of Ontario and regularly draws a large number of spectators into the community to view it.

Approve Renovation At Police Station

TRENTON — The Trenton police station will soon take on a new look if town council has approved contractor's plans to install new floor in Magistrate's and office area, and other work which will include the relocation of the women's cells and the re-location of toilets.

The letting of the call block will provide room for the construction of a lunch room for the police officers.

Cost of the projects will be $2500.

COMEDIAN DIES

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The death of Billy House, rotund comedian of stage and screen, was disclosed today. House died Saturday at the age 71 at Motion Picture country hospital. From 1925 to 1953 he appeared in 75 movies and 30 shows as No, No Nanette, Tone of Fun and White Horse Inn.

All But $9,000 Already Spent On Division St.

TRENTON — Town engineer J. E. Addison told the Department of Road council yesterday that the total cost of the Division St. project would be $106,343 of the allocated $106,343 for construction work; on Division St. from Dundas to Bridge leaving $6,343.62 for engineering and land purchase. With the addition of gas and a half inch of asphalt next spring Mr. Addison said the total cost would be approximately $115,000.

Mr. Addison told council members that the project was completed under budget estimates and been overspent; other, the council would be asked to vote the additional $9,000 of the cost.

Tenderfor application around catch basins and manholes, placing top soil on Victoria Street, sidewalks between the Dundas and Victoria Street walks and the placing of traffic signs are still on the "not done" list.

Sentence Suspended On Charge of Theft

TRENTON — In magistrate's court at Trenton yesterday Richard Pringle, 30, who pleaded guilty to the charge of theft was given on a one year's suspended sentence by Magistrate Wm. Ponton. Pringle will be required to report to the probation officer at set intervals.

The court was told that a Smithfield Motors employee had the theft of his electric razor after he had given Pringle a ride to Trenton. The razor was recovered, unharmed.

"Are you employed?" the magistrate asked the youth.

"I'll be painting the inside of the new public washrooms for a week," stated the accused.

In spite of the recommendation of a local lawyer that the government look could not be considered as coming under the heading of a "highway" under the Highway Act, Michael White of Toronto, charged with careless driving was fined $10 and costs of $10.50 by Mr. A. J. MacDonald of Trenton told the court that on Aug. 19 he had been driving his car on the wrong at the south side of the dock, when his car was struck by a car driven by White.

Dennis R. Gunter, charged with careless driving, stated that the license number on his automobile was incorrect and he asked if the three speed device took a change to secure the proper registration.

"It doesn't seem quite right" said the accused.

"You can appeal to the legislature" advised the magistrate levying a fine.

thod of doubling private members' bills and resolutions."

Then it's back to the Dominion-provincial tax bill.

WOULD LEVY TAX

The bill would require the provinces to levy their own personal and corporation income taxes, with Ottawa doing the collecting at their related, during the five - year period that starts next April 1.

Main objection of J. W. Pickersgill (L—Bonaventure - Twillingate), chief opposition critic of the new deal, was on a change in equalization formula by which the less - wealthy provinces are subsidized.

Mr. Pickersgill called it "another travesty of equalization." He said the transfers of the provinces have been unanimous in condemning it.

The new formula would cost the federal treasury an extra $17,000,000 next year, he said. Ontario would get $13,000,000 more and the other provinces a proportionate share of $4,000,000.

This was far from what Ontario had expected in extra revenue. The result was that retiring Premier Frost announced a three-province conference in Ottawa on the Diefenbaker-Fleming government."

BLAMES DIEFENBAKER

Only reason for the new system is Mr. Fleming's "monumental blunder" in 1957, Frost said charged. It would change nothing to have the taxes collected by the provinces or Ottawa, Frost said, and collected by Ottawa.

But Mr. Fleming would be able to say he had saved the taxpayers $4,000,000, "The minister will go around boasting that he has cut taxes, when in fact it is nothing of the kind. It is a cheap political dodge."

Walter Gilbertson, Liberal member for Grey North, said the Conservative government in the new proposals had "thrown the provincial apple cart" from the days when Mr. Fleming was "a mere stripling" in the provinces as merely big municipalities.

He said the federal government has given up certain fiscal powers to the provinces and may be in a "very serious position" when it comes to adjusting the economy, and that the necessary policy would not be forthcoming.

John R. Matheson (L—Leeds) said the over-all gain of the four provinces and the collective governments would be $11,- 283,000 while the other eight provinces would lose as a group $4,308,000.

He questioned whether the new system was based on any principle other than political expediency.

CITIES PROGRAM

Labor-Minister Starr (L—Yorkton) said the federal government's program is aid vocational training will "change the face of trade and technical education in Canada within five years. He spoke at the turning of the first sod for a vocational school to serve the western area of Prince Edward Island. Ottawa will pay 75 per cent of the cost.

"Oh, you would like to know why the local branch of the local Boy Scouts Association is an agency of the Belleville United Appeal . . .

Well, being an organization concerned entirely with our Community's growing youth — their aim being to create good citizenship among our boys by development of character—this Association is worthy of the same type of support as is given by many other communities throughout Canada.

Their leaders, serving voluntarily and without reimbursement, require assistance to carry out their dedicated work in our interest. Funds are required to help finance training of leaders, provide camping equipment and assist in underwriting various activities of both Cubs and Scouts. In the past, these funds were obtained by the Association's own annual public appeals.

Through United Appeal, this assistance is still given by public generosity, but our Community has one less fund raising campaign to deal with. This benefits everyone, the donor, the canvasser and the agency.

TORONTO (CP)—Speculative interest continued high on the Toronto stock market in heavy morning trade today.

Lake Dufault was again the main source of news as it leaped ahead. The stock moved as high as $2.50 a share, a gain of $1.95, before settling back to $2.37, up 70 cents. Wilsey-Coghlan, which has property adjoining Lake Dufault, moved ahead 7½ cents to 54 cents a share on a volume of 269,484 shares. Area Mines gained 15 cents at $2.35 on 87,138 shares.

On the industrial board prices were mixed. Great Lakes Paper and Texaco-Canada each gained 1½.

Senior base metals were on the downside. Denison dropped 30 cents at $8.20.

On the exchange index, industrials lost .26 at 383.86, base metals .36 at 188.43 and western oils .39 at 94.39. Golds gained .34 at 97.32. The 11 a.m. volume was 1,782,000 shares compared with 847,000 at the same time Tuesday.

On Tuesday trade had a field day as speculative fever ran high.

Memories of the speculative heydays of 1928 were recalled as Junior base metals swelled to the day's trade of 3½ highest mark in five months.

Lake Dufault Mines was again the main feature as it advanced $1.85 to $4.85 a share. The complex announced Monday night that it had found copper, zinc, silver and gold deposit on its Norbec field property in Quebec's Rouyn-Noranda area. At Tuesday's open it shot up from $2.50 as high as $5.00 before settling back to $4.85.

The market's volume totalled 3,984,000 shares, heaviest since May 3, when it was 4,113,000. Monday's was 3,314,000 shares.

Volume was also heavy on the industrial board but there was a general decline in the higher priced stocks. Papers and financial issues led the way down. Minnesota and Ontario Paper and Abitibi each dropped 1¼. Industrial exceptions were Loblaw A 1½ and Loblaw B 1¼.

Gains were few and far between, best of the day was by Ford of Canada which advanced 2 at 135. Imperial Life and Eddy were each ahead 1.

Among senior metals, Consolidated Mining and Smelting and Noranda each dropped ½, Hudson Bay ¾.

Western oils traded quietly.

On index, industrials dropped 1.75 at 384.17, base metals .57 at 188.79, golds gained .35 at 94.39. Golds gained .36 at 96.98.

Open Winter Works Program In Hastings on October 22

October 22nd has been set as the official opening date for the winter works program in the Hastings County area.

This was the date agreed upon yesterday at a meeting of the local winter works committee held at the national employment office in Belleville to plan for their program. Attending the meeting were government, municipal and welfare representatives.

The local manager of the National Employment office, Mr. Cecil Hinner, noted there seemed to be an increased interest on the part of county municipalities in winter works. The municipal winter works program gets underway, October 15th.

Soon available for showing in the Belleville area will be a new film on winter-time home building. The purpose behind the film is to encourage home building during the winter months.

Mr. Hinner noted that actually there were many advantages to be had in carrying on home construction during the winter, these possibly outweighing any disadvantages.

One of the advantages is that there is a better selection of tradesmen to do the work and that the work can be done when planned rather than being held up for lack of workers.

Four-Way Stop at Herchimer And Bridge St. Suggested

Only a few years ago Herchimer Ave., was but a little traveled road on the outskirts of the city.

But with the building boom of recent years in the east end the same street has become an important artery in the city.

Farmers of Tyrone, a village of 1,100 on the slopes of Kitanea, were ready to evacuate if lava threatened.

Monday afternoon Alderman W. E. Jarvis suggested that Herchimer Ave. be made a highway link as heavy traffic were constantly using the artery as he sought to avoid more congested streets in the downtown area.

And Alderman Barlow suggested the intersection of Herchimer and Bridge streets be made a four-way stop to give motorists driving on Bridge street an opportunity to get across Herchimer.

He said that traffic along Herchimer is becoming so heavy during rush hours that it was almost impossible for motorists on Bridge Street to get across.

The alderman noted that the four-way stop system at the corner of Bridge and Herchimer seemed to be working out satisfactorily and he suggested the same be tried at Herchimer.

Mayor Haig told Aldermen Jarvis the city had little say in what streets would be named highway arteries as this was determined by the department of highways, adding, however, that the city did have a say in what streets were to be determined truck routes.

Both matters were transferred to the traffic committee.

WARN SHIPPING

MONTREAL (CP) — Shipping masters using the St. Lawrence Seaway were warned Tuesday to keep the speed of their vessels low enough not to set up large waves. The department of transport said there has been a "serious risk" to the lives of children playing on or near seaway beaches as well as an increase in damage along the seaway locks.

READY TO LEAVE

HILO (AP)—Lava spurted up 15 to 100 feet Monday from Kilauea Volcano in Hawaii. It was the third eruption in three days.

Farmers of Pahoa, a village of 1,100 on the slopes of Kilauea, were ready to evacuate if lava threatened.

Trying to Avoid Dog on Road Cause of Crash

Seven persons were injured in a two-car collision shortly after 9 o'clock Tuesday morning one mile east of Marysville on Highway 502.

Information received from the Ontario Provincial Police was that a Toronto car was proceeding east on Highway 502 and a car from Quebec was proceeding west. It is said the driver of the Quebec car swung sharply in an attempt to avoid hitting a dog which was crossing the road, and veered into the path of the eastbound vehicle.

Four of the occupants of the Toronto car were business associates of the Colgate Palmolive Company in Toronto and the fifth passenger was the president of Grants Advertising in Toronto.

Those who were admitted to Belleville General Hospital yesterday morning as a result of the accident, in the Toronto car, were: president of the Colgate Company, Henry Bartlett, 200 Avenue Road, Toronto; marketing manager, Harold Hammond, age 36, of 737 Obed Crescent, London; general sales manager Leslie Hunt, age 43, of 12 Banburry Road, Don Mills; assistant sales manager Mr. McPhail, 34, of 48 Charnia Drive, Toronto, and the president of Grants Advertising Company in Toronto, Robert Grant, age 46, of 9 Downwood Drive, Toronto. Mr. McPhail was not admitted to the hospital.

Occupants of the Quebec car were Conrad Gelt, 31, of 5686 Delormier St., Montreal, and Adrian Ouillette, 32, of 2401 Belanger Street, Montreal.

The extent of their injuries are as follows: Mr. Hammond suffered a fractured right leg, chest and shoulder injuries; Mr. Carpenter required 120 stitches to his head and suffered a fractured pelvis and fractured right arm; Mr. Hunt is suffering from chest injuries and fractured ribs; Mr. Cauley suffered fractured ribs and Mr. McPhail, who received only minor abrasions, was not admitted.

Mr. Cote, who was an occupant of the Quebec car, suffered a fractured left leg, multiple lacerations and a possible fractured skull. Mr. Ouilette suffered lacerations and pain on his chest and right shoulder. The dog was killed as a result of the accident.

Costing Canada Too Much To Exist as Trading Nation Says Ont. C of C President

Although Canada is the fifth largest exporting nation in the world it is the largest customers almost five times as much as either the United Kingdom or West Germany and more than twice as much as the United States according to Edward Bayly, president of the Ontario Chamber of Commerce, speaking to the Kiwanis Club of Toronto.

"Canada now ranks second to Belleville in the number of persons killed in traffic accidents in proportion to population," Mr. Bayly declared.

"The reason for this is due to the lack of productivity on the part of Canadians mostly in secondary industry and creates a handicap in Canada's international trade transactions.

Canada can benefit greatly from increased productivity on the part of her primary and industries, Mr. Dryedale said.

Such a move will serve to lower the cost of goods and services both at home and abroad and will bring Canadian manufactured products more readily to market-able.

Increased productivity will also allow greater profits to be made by industry; profits which can be used to expand Canadian industrial facilities, provide greater tax revenue to be used for government services and increase the standard of living through increased wages, he suggested.

Canada's industrial development is very great indeed. To date but 36 per cent of her potential hydro power has been developed the local Canada Cement plant superintendent cited as an example. With the development of low cost power and the expansion and development of primary industry, many more new-jobs for a rapidly expanding Canadian labor force in the secondary and service industries can be created.

Canada's current unemployment is also a great grade but that Canadians enjoy the second highest standard of living in the world today is due to the main, to the stagnation of industrial development, the McGill University graduate suggested.

STEADY INCREASE

Although there has been a steady increase in industrial expansion, especially in Ontario since World War II, it has not kept up either with Canada's birthrate or with the other major trading nations of the world. Whereas Canada's productivity has increased some 31 per cent in the past 10 years, West Germany's has increased by 64 per cent and Japan's has increased 120 per cent, he said.

Although Ontario presently has over two million jobs available, there are some two million children of under 15 years of age who may be expected to become a part of the workforce in the next 20 years. The current rate of expansion of increasing productivity cannot accommodate future needs, the speaker indicated.

It is up to Canadians to remedy the situation and put every person involved in people and equipment on increasing productivity. They farmers have been foremost in this task, Mr. Dryedale said, with transportation and industry running a poor second and business and commerce coming in a very poor third.

The government can create a favorable atmosphere, via physical and monetary measures, but it is up to industry and labor to actually produce as much as possible at as small a cost as possible in as short a time possible in order to create competitively priced products for both foreign and domestic markets, the man of which will ensure good profits and sufficient jobs for both employers and their children, he concluded.

The speaker, a Kiwanian himself, was introduced by his local club member Roy Dalgeish and thanked by Kiwanian Kiwanian Ralph Graham presided over the meeting, with the assistance of Kiwanian George Tripp, in the absence of president Bob Brain and president-delegate George Gordon both of whom are attending a Kiwanis International convention in Quebec.

CBC Will Give Programs From Tent on Grounds

Two well-known Belleville singers will be guest artists for one of the radio programs originating from the Centennial Showboat this year at the International Plowing Match.

Robert Reid and Haselance Sisters will be featured performers on the Carl Ogg and Scott Singers when they present their popular program on Wednesday, October 4. On that date the 11 a.m. listeners from coast to coast will hear the broadcast on the CBC's Trans-Canada radio network.

The CBC programs to originate from the CBC Showtent will be Rawlsbc; Audio, heard each week-day on CBC Toronto; the daily Farm Broadcast with George Atkins broadcast live direct from the Showtent on the CBC's Trans-Canada radio network (with a visit in person Friday, October 6 from the CBC farm family; the Craigs); Ontario Roundup Saturday, October 7 featuring Bill Beasley and broadcast live direct from the Showtent; reports from the weekly newspapers published in Kingston with Arthur Phelps, October 7; the Ontario-Quebec Garden-er, Bob Keith, on October 7 and the Tommy Hunter Show with special guest comedian Gordie Tapp, October 7.

The CBC Broadcasting Mobicum will again be on display, featuring significant and unusual pieces of equipment collected from far and near by the communications industry. This exhibit unit hitched items as a 1932 TV set a tap recorder weighing half a ton, the gold microphone used in England in 1939 by King George VI, and the microphone used to talk with the victims of the Moose Mine disaster of 1936.

Too Late, Too Late

Science—It's wonderful.

An experimental house, built by the National House Builders' Association at Rockcliffe RCAF Station, Ottawa, needs no sewer connection nor septic tank to dispose of human waste.

Instead it has what is termed a re-circulating sewage disposal unit. In this system a quantity of water is used for flushing purposes and is able to support the bacteria required to destroy human waste. If the system can be extended or modified so that all organic matter can be handled, no sewer connection nor septic tank would be required.

It would also be a boon to a great many municipalities which have not yet equipped themselves with sewage disposal plants.

The scientists, though, are a little late as far as Belleville is concerned. With our luck, it is not surprising that the same page of The Ontario Intelligencer which outlined the details of this new marvel also carried a story announcing that the Ontario Municipal Board had approved the first contracts in the city's two and a half million dollar sewage disposal project.

However, there are other possible benefits. If the water used in the home disposal plant can be reconditioned, the need for a water main would be eliminated too.

This is getting a little too wonderful for wet stomachs. But heeds must when the devil drives and perhaps there will yet come a day when the residents of Hillcrest do not have to walk blocks to procure water.

The Right to Emigrate

An Associated Press despatch refers to "the sheer contempt for human dignity" implicit in the construction of the wall dividing West Berlin from East Berlin.

What we are apt to forget is that this wall is just the most monstrous example of a right which many governments claim, the right to prevent their citizens leaving for another land.

What is needed is an international convention giving every person the right to move to, and reside in, any land which will accept him.

A few decades ago there would have been no need for any reservations regarding such a right.

Today, though, many states are spending a major part of their national incomes to prepare their young people to serve the state tomorrow They might reasonably demand a proviso that the state be reimbursed for such expenditure. Perhaps it could be agreed that a primary and secondary education should be regarded as the right of all, but that a free university education should require a person to work at home for a certain number of years. States which now permit their citizens to leave freely need not impose any barrier by reason of such a clause, while its inclusion would make it plain that states which refused to sign such a convention, and abide by it, indeed regard with contempt the idea that each individual is entitled to live anywhere he is welcome.

Too Many Young Smokers

Too many teen-agers are smoking.

No middle-aged slave of the tobacco habit who retains any interest in the welfare of the young can fail to be dismayed by the hold this habit has on the rising generation.

It is the exception, rather than the rule, to see a high school student in a restaurant without a cigarette dangling out of his or her mouth.

Only a non-user can watch a young girl or woman who has smoked cigarettes continuously for a quarter of a century or more can grasp the full extent of this undesirable habit.

It is not a tragedy of dissipation, as some puritans would have us think, or even of the threat of disease, such as scientists may forecast, but of utter and complete futility.

A cigarette satisfies nothing but an acquired taste and the satisfaction of that acquired taste does no more than duplicate that state of relative well-being which is universal amongst those who have never acquired this taste.

The schools, like the homes, appear to have surrendered in what was always a uphill battle against the misconception that there is something manly, or womanly, about an addiction to tobacco.

There is no prospect that war will be the preferable, the beneficial, the real answer to any question in the modern world. But, on the other hand, neither is surrender — Dean Rusk.

Computer Debunks Salmon

Dexter Peel

Comes now a high - speed digital computer that thinks like a fish. After doing some "mathematical migrating," the electronic brain has come to reveal the salmon's secret.

The fish — among the most puzzling dumb animals — spend only a few years of their lives in the ocean. Then, with unerring instinct, they head back through the ocean to the home stream.

So crash goes another long-cherished theory. For generations men have believed that salmon, the homing pigeon of the deep, possess some mysterious sense of direction which takes it back to the home river after years spent among schools of hungry herring. But the computer says no.

It's children, of course, to resent a machine. Still we'd feel more kindly toward these modern wonders if they weren't such iconoclasts. Old ideas are their only fodder. We hate to see 'em busted.

Dr. Saul B. Saila, a Rhode Island marine biologist, reported yesterday to the American Fisheries Society at Purdue University that a mathematical analysis of the Atlantic salmon migration indicates it probably just happens by chance.

On the basis of his studies, Saila said, the "navigation is necessary" that salmon have special abilities to guide them 1,000 miles or more from sea to stream.

Information on migration distances, swimming rates, orienting mechanisms and salmon endurances were taken from published scientific reports and from the literature. Also fed to the computer was a program which, in a moment of speculation, set up this entire migrating salmon.

The program chosen was a theoretical model called the Monte Carlo method.

So what happened? The machine, in hundreds of mathematical fishings struck out for others from the home ocean.

"By combining random movement . . . with a very low degree of orientation in an outside stimulus", says Saila, "a realistic return probability of more than 90 per cent results from a distance of 1,500 miles or more."

Then, neither navigation nor precise orientation is needed to explain large-scale salmon migration. Largely by chance, one fish in five finds its way back to its river of origin.

All right, suppose we buy that. The computer may not told us yet is how that certain salmon, fighting its way upstream, will turn suddenly off to take as the main river branches into two smaller streams and these lesser streams in turn branch out into multiple brooks and freshets.

Biologists believe this remarkable fish has a peculiarly sense of smell — something a computer still hasn't developed.

TollwayTremor Has Finally Got Sydney

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

As a motorist, I appreciate the speed and safety of these throughways as I do ways that are unwinding all over the American landscape these days.

But, as a middle-aged man whose eye and brain are not as quick on the draw as his foot is on the pedal, I feel myself getting a little tense and panicky on these super-monster roads. I am suffering from a new malady, which I shall for ease know as "Tollway Tremor."

The other evening, for instance, I drove out to a distant suburb to make a speech, and almost wound up near the Grand Canyon. As I approached the juncture of a new tollway and an older superhighway from my experience, I was forced to keep grinning green sign beckoning me into as many drivers' lanes.

I felt for a moment as if I were being sucked up by some man-eating plant. "Rockford," beckoned one sign. "Aurora," said another. A third invited me to visit Toledo. And yet another winked me seductively up to Milwaukee.

Along with these were a number of signs for emergency travel information incredibly faster than I could absorb it at 55 miles an hour. I couldn't slow down or I would surely be rammed from the rear.

"Make Your Right Turns To Go Left," said one. "Take Right Lane Just Ahead." Still a third, "Watch Your Tollway," proclaimed another. "Toll Booth A Mile Ahead," warned a third. There were arrows, branching lines, dividing lanes, and at last count four vertical layers of traffic intertwining like some fantastic vehicular maypole.

Not long ago, I made a prediction that the Age of Anxiety would be a thing of mileposts and spills.

Tollway, Throughway or Expressway, I had found myself in Gary when I really meant to be 40 miles west of it. Gary's ominous play No Exit has a nightmarish application to modern traffic — one gets out at a high road there is not getting off for 22 long, bitter, frustrating miles.

No doubt as I become more used to it all I'll be able to fight off the mounting sense of panic when I am suddenly confronted with a dozen exits all at once. But right now Tollway Tremors has me in its grip, and as the speaker of the evening is late for your next club meeting, I just want you to know why I'm cruising down U.S. 204, near Cape Hatteras.

What About School Kids?

H.L. McPherson in the Windsor Star

That was a good question Premier Frost asked this week, but the government must tell us if it keeps its promise.

Has the government, he wanted to know, plans to evacuate school children in case of war? Presumably it hasn't, or school boards would have been informed. But it's now a sound, state-smallke out to say something is "under active consideration."

This is an awkward question because it has no other solutions. If the schools are to be evacuated, then obviously arrangements are being considered for the continuing education of those children. What kind of safeguards would share up that alternative?

Don't expect more than official words on this issue unless the international situation becomes worse than it is. Evacuation plans haven't advanced far beyond the stage when municipal and provincial offices were to evacuate places. And no can bet that in a sudden emergency even this operation would be a thing of mixcues and spills.

STRENGTH for the DAY

—DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

NATURE OF GENIUS

The word "genius" is derived from a Latin word which means "to beget." A genius, therefore, is a person who brings something new into being. He begets this new truth. He does not create this new thing any more than a father creates a child. He only begets a child. Parenthood only makes it possible for new life to come into the world.

The genius, therefore, is a person who begets a new thing. Columbus was a genius. Phidias in sculpture was a genius. So were the medieval painters because they brought forth (begat) something new. Bach, Beethoven and Wagner were geniuses — that is, they brought forth something new.

There are very few geniuses born in any age. There are millions of well-informed persons in the world today, and this abundance of information has existed in some form or other in certain past ages. But genius are something more than well-informed persons. They are people who can use their information in such a way as to produce something new. The Wright Brothers were geniuses. Albert Einstein was a genius. There may be a few geniuses living in the world today, but we can be sure that they are not numerous.

Don't go asking yourself whether or not you are a genius. Just go along doing what you are set to do, bit do it well. If you are a genius, both you and the world will find it out in its outlet.

Genius is rare, almost superhuman. Talent is not rare. If you are humble and teachable, God will see to it that you are taught much.

Letter To the Editor

Ban-Bomb March Disturbs Reader

Editor,
The Intelligencer

I read as article in your Friday afternoon paper by Pat Hennessy. The article by Jack Hutton entitled "Teenage Canada" "Ban-Bomb Marchers Here March on Ottawa," dealt mainly with the feelings of modern day youth about nuclear war and what they planned to do about it.

I am sure that every thinking Canadian would agree with the teenagers that nuclear war and their wish for nuclear disarmament. The section which disturbed me was their feelings that the Canadian Government is not doing enough toward nuclear disarmament. I quote a Montreal student, "Adult and those in charge, don't seem to be doing a good job. We just cannot sit still any longer without doing something to help." A Toronto student said, "We will not be banging our heads on a brick wall. We will just stand by while things get worse we felt we had to do something."

I am happy to see that they are concerned about the state of the world today. However I think that their planned march on Parliament Hill is a waste of time and energy in the wrong direction. They would not be banging their heads on a brick wall, but they would be banging their heads against an iron curtain, the same iron curtain that all the peace loving nations of the world have been running into for the past sixteen years.

It appears the schools and parents are allowing these students to be used as pawns in politics without the proper guidance or judgment. If these students were to assist in the struggle for world disarmament they might parade their signs and posters in front of the Soviet Embassy. Or better still try writing letters to their penpals in Russia explaining our anxiety over their nuclear testing.

Perhaps our schools could devote an hour per week to current affairs so that our students would understand what is to blame for current world problems. But for the time being I think they have their valuable time to their studies, so that we may have a better world to live in when these youths are adults.

Mrs. M. Morrison,
25 Highland Ave.

African Success

Intrigued by the phenomenal success in Nigeria of the film classic "Elmer V", it has been playing for months on end in movie houses across the land, a film distribution executive finally came up with the following delightful explanation:

"We learned that every third reel they were running in Nigeria needs repairing. The natives loved it, especially because the splicing always brought them more and arrows. To them that was really a modern scrap".

To Your Good Health

Molner Aids Cosmetic Her to Seek Diagnosis

By Joseph C. Molner, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Your article on diverticulosis prompts me to the doctor for diagnosis, as I've suffered without knowing the cause.

"He learned from X-rays that I have calcification of an enlarged heart, chronic abdominal ecrts, and also of the splenic artery.

"I know now that it's age and arthritis. But — what causes calcification?

"The X-rays show diverticulosis, three sacs pouches.

"I am indeed grateful to you for your writings, and to Roscoe for investing the X-ray.

Mrs. M. B.

"P.S.: I am active and alert, and sorry the family go on for me — I am a young 74."

Sorry, but shouldn't I give you a verbal spanking for your postscript? If you're a active, alert, young 74, there isn't any reason I can see why you shouldn't be an active, alert 75, 76, and so on.

True, you have some calcification of important arteries. But calcium is gradually deposited with the years in all arteries, and it's a natural occurrence as we grow older, just as our bones stiffen, our hair gets white, and we spend more time worrying about the younger generation. It's natural, but there isn't any justification for your note of pessimism.

This calcification causes the arteries to be harder and stiffer. But it doesn't necessarily encroach on their inside and impede circulation. It may be the case with other forms of arteriosclerosis, or hardening of the arteries.

It is refreshing to learn that my article prompted you to write to your doctor. And you found out what so many others have: that the symptoms of diverticulosis are quite common. In fifteen cases, they don't usually cause any harm or discomfort. If a pouch becomes irritated or inflamed, that's another matter. We might compare one of these pouches, to the appendix, which is left alone unless irritation or inflammation dictates action.

Many of these diverticula are discovered as a result of X-rays of the lower colon for other purposes. In today's instance the reverse seems to be true. X-rays were taken to search for diverticula led to exposing some calcified arteries.

The really important point is that it doesn't matter how much what a doctor is looking for in an examination, provided he keeps his eyes open to see what is there. If he sets out looking for something but actually finds something else, that's all right, isn't it?

Medicine pays off finding out, accurately, what the real facts are, after which correct care, medication or maybe merely advice keeps the patient healthier and happier.

THE PACKSCAK

By GREGORY CLARK.

There was a fashion show in the restaurant on the fourth floor of the big department stores of where I usually lunch. There were twenty or thirty beautiful models parading not only down a central catwalk but also all around the tables of the dining room. The thing that struck me was the seeming sameness of the models. They were all frail, fragile, rather brittle looking girls. Well, to be frank, they were skinny and undersized. Not one of them but was ill-favored to the hundreds no the thousands of girls and women that crowded the room. As contrasters and clerks, or swarmed on the streets.

My wife and a couple of the waitresses tried to explain to me that the purpose of models is not to show off clothes, and to inspire in the minds of the female audience the notion that that is what they would look like in those clothes.

All I might have in the direction of reality, two or three of the models were not girls, but rather in their thirties or early forties, showing off waht matrons should wear. But they, too were frail, frail and fey.

I venture the opinion some modern could have no finding sucess by staging a fashion show with real-life girls and women from the parade: normal, round, short, tall, fat, lean, lumpy, bumpy, sverage. The only people you see every where.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS.

A BETTER DAY

Few of us are ever satisfied, and few of us become degree, with any of our days.

One reason for this, I believe, is that we measure the average of our days by our yesterdays.

If we could enter each day as though it were to be our last, or was to be held up as an example of our best, what a day we would key to make it!

I like to think of each new day as something new and a choice, something that won't be here again. I like to say that this day is a small edition of life itself — a limited edition de luxe.

I believe that more happiness comes out of the simple effort to make today a better day than from anything else. The day is our field, our battle ground, our chance.

If we could awake each morning with the fire to hold, gold before before our bede — "A Better Day," I believe — it

Chas. E. Wilson, Former Head Of GM, Dies

NORWOOD, La. (AP) — Charles E. Wilson, former president of General Motors who became defense secretary in the Eisenhower administration, died Tuesday at his plantation home in southeast Louisiana. He was 71.

Dr. C. S. Toler, coroner, attributed death to coronary thrombosis. Wilson died in his sleep.

Though a millionaire many times over, he summed up his philosophy in four words—"Get along with people."

His term as defence secretary was full of personal cries, many brought about by his free-flowing oratory.

One of his remarks that rang a bell across the United States was a reference to "what's good for" in commenting on unemployment. He said they were to be respected more than kennel dogs because in a pinch they would fetch for themselves.

He later apologized and said he meant no offence.

GETS IN TROUBLE

Another "Wilsonism" that got the then defence secretary into hot water was his crack about General Motors and the United States. It went in part "What's good for General Motors is good for the United States."

Wilson always insisted that this was taken out of context.

What he actually said, he claimed, was "What's good for the United States is good for General Motors and what's good for General Motors is good for the United States."

He put General Motors for 11 years and under his leadership the vast automobile firm was converted into the world's largest producer of war material.

Wilson and his wife would have celebrated their golden wedding anniversary next month. Three sons and three daughters survive.

Members Will Be Cut in Time For Speeches

OTTAWA (CP) — MPs in future sessions may have to do some time talking on their private members' bills and motions in the Commons.

The House rules committee proposed Tuesday to shorten the periods for such debates, without reducing the total time, and to limit speeches on such occasions to 20 minutes instead of 40.

One effect of the change would be to permit at least some debate on private members' bills and motions often found down on the agenda, where they die at prorogation without ever having been discussed in the House.

Specifically, the proposed would wipe out the eight special days now earmarked at the start of each session for private members' business — six Mondays and two Thursdays.

The equivalent amount of time would be provided in 60 one - hour periods between 5 and 6 p.m. on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays. This would not affect the other private members' hour already existing on Friday, but would absorb the present Tuesday hour.

Bills and motions would continue to fall to the bottom of the list if debated inconclusively in any one session. But with more periods of debate provided, conceivably many could be debated more than once—something which rarely happens now.

This system would be used on a trial basis at the next session if the report of the committee, headed by Speaker Roland Michener, is adopted by the House.

The report also proposes continuing for another session the trial reduction in the throne speech and budget debates. The throne speech debate was cut this session to eight days from 10 and the budget debate to six days from eight.

By WILLIAM HARTLEY

MONTREAL (CP)—A Montreal teen-ager will spend a year in London as understudy to Pierre Monteux, the octogenarian dean of modern symphonic conductors.

Boris Brott, 17-year-old son of composer - instrumentalist Alexander Brott, has been given a Canada Council grant which enables him to study with "Monsieur Monteux" as expected that he will occasionally conduct the London Symphony Orchestra, of which Monteux is director, named permanent conductor.

Boris, who made his concert debut as a violinist at the age of five, had originally planned to study in Vienna, but a letter from Monteux, an old friend of the family, changed his mind.

"Monsieur felt the time had come for me to devote myself to conducting, to work with a first-rate orchestra," says Boris.

FANCIED ARCHITECTURE

Conducting was not always Boris's primary interest. There was a time when he planned to give up music in favor of architecture.

A violin student at three, he made his debut two years later with the Montreal Symphony Orchestra under his father's direction.

Next he turned to the french horn, but his interest waned and for a time it appeared conductor Brott and his cellist wife would have to carry the family's musical reputation unaided.

It was enough of the musical way of life in the family circle to discourage me for some time," Boris recollects.

But at the age of 15 he was persuaded by conductor Igor Markevitch, another family friend, to attend Pan-American conductors' course in Mexico. Boris won second prize there and followed it up with several summers of study with Markevitch in Hancock, Mc.

LED ORCHESTRA

Last year Boris helped organize the Montreal Philharmonic Youth Orchestra, made up entirely of students from the Montreal area. This group won three first prizes at the National Festival in Ottawa and the National Festival in Toronto, other Extra award in Montreal.

The orchestra had about 35 permanent members, about half of whom now are professional musicians. It was sponsored partially by a Montreal radio station and received instruments from the Montreal Protestant School Board. But in the end it had to disband because of financial difficulties despite the conductor's critical acclaim it received.

"I'd love to return to Canada," he says, "if the opportunity is made available.

"However there are so few places here where a young conductor can develop. We spend money to develop young conductors and then give them no place to work. As a result young musicians are forced to leave. I hope that won't be the case with me."

Police Report Four Accidents, No Injuries

A car driven by Thomas Joseph Coulton, 63, Assumption Street, Windsor, and a car driven by Glen Thomas Helm, 18, of 12 Bell Street, Belleville, collided at the intersection of Bridge Street East and Pinnacle Street, Tuesday evening.

Police said Mr. Colton was proceeding north on Pinnacle St. and was attempting to make a left hand turn onto Bridge Street when his car was struck in the side by a vehicle driven by Helm, who was also proceeding north on Pinnacle St.

Helm told police he was going to go straight north on Pinnacle and did not see the other vehicle in time to avoid the accident.

Mrs. Mee Colton was with her husband at the time of the accident at the Ted Butcher of 325 Coleman St., Belleville was a passenger in the car driven by Helm.

Damage to Mr. Colton's car was estimated at $50 and $15 to Helm vehicle. No charges are being laid.

SLIGHT DAMAGE

A car driven by Meiba Mirian Cleaman of Marmora St., Madoc, and a car driven by John Peter Karavos, of 333 Dundas Rd., Peterborough, came into collision yesterday at the intersection of North Front St and College St.

Police said Mrs. Chapman was proceeding south on North Front St. and was slowing for an amber traffic light at the intersection of North Front St. and College St. when her car was struck from the rear by a car driven by John Karavos, which was proceeding south on North Front St. Police said the latter failed to see Mrs. Chapman's vehicle ahead of him.

Damage to the Chapman vehicle was estimated at $200.00. There was no damage to the Karavos vehicle and no charges will be laid.

BOTH CARS MOVED

Two vehicles collided at the intersection of Dundas and Station St. yesterday, one driven by John George Muller of Avonmore, and the other by Frank Poste of 82 Foster Ave., Belleville.

Police said vehicle one was proceeding east on Station St. when Foster St. vehicle two proceeded out into the intersection. (from Bettes St.), failing to yield the right-of-way, resulting in an accident.

The investigating officer said both vehicles had moved from the point of impact prior to his arrival.

Damage to the Muller vehicle was estimated at $150 and $50 damage to the vehicle driven by Poste. No charges are being laid.

LITTLE DAMAGE

Police said a second car, driven by Glenn St. Louis, 51 Orchard Drive, backed into the front of the Chalmers' car causing about $25 damage. No charges are being laid.

DAMASCUS, (AP) — Travelers arriving from northern Iraq said Tuesday there have been heavy casualties in bloody fighting between Iraqi armored forces and rebellious Kurdish tribesmen led by the so-called pro-religious leader Mustafa Barazani. Baghdad has blacked out most news of the revolt. Unconfirmed reports said the revolt had cost the Iraqis 250 miles of Iraq's mountainous border with Turkey and Iran.

U.S. Losing Patience Over Canadian Delay in Ratifying Treaty to Harness River

WASHINGTON (CP) — The United States is slowly losing patience with Canadian delay in ratifying a joint treaty to harness the huge Columbia River for power and flood control.

Qualified informants said that if a Canadian parliamentary quorum over the $439,000,000 project is not settled within a few months, the U.S. may insist the Canadian government complete its side of the bargain and obtain ratification of the pact early in 1962.

This ratification, they figure, will allow the United States to proceed with construction of the long - delayed Libby Dam in northern Montana even if it is delayed and bogging between Premier W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia and Prime Minister Diefenbaker's administration.

While the U.S. may seek to employ the most influential means possible to get Canada to complete its side of the Columbia bargain, informants emphasized this would not be an open ultimatum. Officially and publicly, the U.S. government maintains a hands-off policy on Canadian internal politics.

However, it would be made clear to the Canadian government that unless Canadian ratification is maintained, the United States would withdraw from the treaty and seek to develop alternative projects to harness the growing power shortage in northwestern U.S.

Before such a step is taken, U.S. officials would make a last - ditch effort — probably through President Kennedy—to urge Diefenbaker to accept conferences with the B.C. administration and prevent destruction of the treaty.

Among some U.S. experts, opinion seems to favor a settlement on terms proposed by Bennett — a revision of Canadian federal policy to allow long-term export of surplus Canadian power to U.S. markets. But Diefenbaker administration is opposed to this, maintaining Canadian power should be developed mainly for use in Canada.

Dodge newness goes a whole lot deeper than its great new looks. Dodge for 1962 is a low price, full size car that'll out-run and out-economize most any car around. It accelerates quicker, yet gets five per cent more miles per gallon than the '61 Dodge. It goes twice as far between oil changes—drives 32,000 miles between grease jobs. Its brakes adjust themselves automatically. The body is rustproofed. Want more? Dodge gives you more! Things like an improved gearshift for smoother, crisper shifts; a smaller transmission hump that gives the man in the middle more legroom; and deep-sprung chair-high seats. There's never been a Dodge like this one. There's never been any car like this one. There's a new lean breed of car for '62 and its name is DODGE

MARSHALL — LEWIS

White gladioli and blue delphiniums adorned the sanctuary and altar in St. Thomas' Anglican Church, Belleville, on Saturday, September 23rd, at 4.00 p.m., for a lovely autumn wedding, when the Reverend Canon A. S. McConnell, rector, united in marriage Heather Snowdon Lewis of Belleville, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Stanley Lewis, to Flying Officer Thomas Henry Marshall, of Calgary, Alberta, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dougall H. Marshall of Kingston.

Mr. George Maybee, organist of St. George's Cathedral, Kingston, formerly of Christ Church, Belleville, rendered the wedding music and accompanied the choir of men and boys from Kingston Cathedral choir as they sang, preceding the entrance of the bride, "Christ Is Made Our Sure Foundation," to the tune of Westminster Abbey; during the ceremony, "The Wedding Psalm," with Versicles and Responses, and at the signing of the register, Blessed Are Those Righteous Ones Who Fear The Lord's Law." Flying Officer Marshall was a member of St. George's Cathedral choir.

Given in marriage by her father, the radiantly lovely bride wore a bridal gown of white peau de soie, featuring a fitted bodice with sweetheart neckline and long sheath-like sleeves ending in "V" points over the wrists. A front panel of appliqued French Alencon lace accented the full-length skirt which gracefully cascaded into a chapel train. She wore a waist-length veil of white baby mums and short bouffant veil of silk tulle illusion, and carried a ring-bouquet of white Catalina orchids and white mums with trailing ivy streamers.

She was attended by Miss Eleanor Kidd of Ottawa, as maid of honour, and by Miss Judith Anderson of Kingston, as bridesmaid. Both were gowned alike in sheath-like imperial blue peau de soie, fashioned with pleated skirts, and Queen Anne collars. They wore matching headdresses and gloves, and carried ring-bouquets of white Shasta 'mums.

The bridegroom was attended by Flying Officer Murray Ramsbottom, of Montreal, Quebec, while Mr. Peter John Marshall of Kingston, brother of the bridegroom, and Mr. Frederick Deacon, of Belleville, and Mr. Terrence Stafford of Toronto, ushered.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents at which was beautifully adorned with white and pink gladioli and pale pink Sweetheart roses.

The bride's mother, wearing a pale amethyst gown with mink-toned accessories, and corsage of cymbydium orchids in brown and green shades, received the guests, assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who was dressed in peacock blue with matching accessories, and corsage of ivory Cymbydium orchids.

For the wedding trip, by motor and air, to Banff, Jasper, Vancouver and Victoria, the brids travelled in navy blue ensemble with matching accessories, and white orchid corsage.

Guests were present from Kingston, Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa, London, Hamilton, and Chatham.

Christ Church C.C. Discusses Coming Bazaar

Christ Church Contact club members spent another busy evening in preparation for their Christmas bazaar. Dorothy Sinclair's group was in charge of the mass production of dainty doll clothes.

A meeting of the bazaar committee had been held the previous Thursday at the home of convener Florence Lennox, following will be in charge of arrangements: convenser, Florence Lennox; bazaar, Mary Fletcher; refreshments, June Fisher; bake table, Trudy Sandy; decorations, Marg Wiggins and Doris Stewart; treasurer, Myra Cresswell; tickets, June Woodley; publicity, Barbara Cooke.

Each group will be in charge of one product for the bazaar. Dorothy Sinclair's group, dolls clothes and gift boxes; Mary Rompen's group, decoratibns; Barbara Jane's group, novelties and Marg Bunnett's group, felt work.

Next week's meeting will be devoted to felt work.

Over 100 Guests at Trousseau Tea

TRENTON — On Monday, more than 100 guests attended a trousseau tea held in honor of Miss Carol Frost, at t he home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Frost, 73 Wilkins Street, Trenton. Miss Frost will become the bride of Kenneth C. Ross, RCMP of Toronto, on Saturday, September 30.

The guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Frost and asked to sign a guest book.

Pouring tea throughout the afternoon were: Mrs. D. Dewery, of Cobourg and Mrs. H. R. Pollock of Toronto, aunts of the bride-elect.

Mrs. Frost displayed her trousseau and the many beautiful and useful wedding gifts in the recreation room, which was decorated with white streamers and wedding bells. Among the many gifts were two oil paintings by local artists.

Eastminster Couples Club Names Officers

On Monday evening, the Eastminster Couples Club held its first meeting of the fiscal year with approximately 100 couples in attendance.

The past presidents, Helen and Stan Dier, opened the meeting with a short devotional service and then turned the meeting over to the new presidents, Allan and Betty Boate.

Assisting Allan and Betty on the executive for the new year will be Helen and Fred Valentine, as secretaries, Lillian and Bob Walton as treasurers and group leaders, Madeline and Harry Brodie, Lillian and Tom Thompson, Phyllis and Bruce Diamond and Mildred and Bob Grattan.

As the group lacked a qualified successor, Allen Boate persuaded Helen Dier to remain as pianist for the new year.

After an animated, but orderly hour devoted to the business portion of the meeting, the president introduced Lillian Walton, a club member, as guest speaker.

The following hour was a most enjoyable one during which Lillian Walton transported the group to England and Switzerland with an interesting and informative talk based on her trip to Europe this summer.

The humorous incidents Lillian related, coupled with a lovely display of souvenirs, served to make the first meeting of the year an unqualified success.

Following the speaker, a delicious lunch was served by the past executive and following the benediction by Allan Boate, the meeting was adjourned.

AGAIN ACCUSES U.S.

HAVANA (Reuters)—Premier Fidel Castro has again accused the United States of preparing mercenaries for armed aggression against Cuba. "But we are organizing all methods of modern warfare, and will win because we are defending our sacred rights," he said in a speech here Tuesday night. "The invader will be annihilated."

'Politics, Education' Topic At Women's Study Guild

"Politics and Education" by Dr. Frank McKinnon was summarized and reviewed at the monthly meeting of the Women's Study Guild held on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. H. C. Sebridge, Bleecker Ave.

During the business part of the meeting, conducted by the president, Mrs. Beresford, a letter was read from the Tuition gift sponsored by the club under the "Save the Children Fund", and also a letter of thanks for a donation to the Unitarian Service Committee.

The worship service, led by Mrs. A. Wills and based on 2 Timothy2:1-7, provided a fine introduction to the topic of the evening. Facts were quoted to prove that Russia is a literate nation and comparisons was placed on the statement. The lecture belongs to the disciplined", with all modern sophistication, learning and progress there is no substitute for truth, modesty, integrity, truth and fair play.

Mrs. J. R. Reynolds and Mrs. Jerry Cochrane summarized alternate chapters of "Politics and Education." Dr. McKinnon, a native of Prince Edward Island, is now principal of Prince of Wales College in Charlottetown, and a member of the Canada Council."

EDUCATION'S SAKE

The topic of chapter 1, "Politics and Schools," expounds the theory that education should function for its own sake.

Chapter 2, "Back-Seat Drivers," declares that education in Canada today consists of too much system and not enough school.

In chapter 4, "Teachers As Civil Servants," it is explained that no one can "give" education and it is impossible for everyone to "get" an education. That depends on the learner.

In chapter 5, "The Twelve-Year Plan," this is the approximate ages 6 to 18, is dealt with.

PERSONNEL RIFE

To this point the book has dealt critically with present ills in the systems. The remaining chapters suggest as a solution that education should be put under a public trust as with the county schools in England. Improvement would come, not by administration only, within the public trust there would be a faculty council for academic matters only. The barrier between universities and teachers' training colleges would be abolished and more recognition made of professional competence.

In closing, Mrs. Reynolds read a personal letter from the author.

As so much material for discussion had been presented it was decided to postpone membership discussion until the October meeting, when the same topic will be dealt with again.

VISITS MOSCOW

LONDON (AP)—Henry Winston, deputy chairman of the American Communist party, and his family arrived in Moscow Tuesday for rest and medical treatment, the official Soviet news agency Tass reported. It said the Winstons were met at the airport by Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, chairman of the American party's national committee, and representatives of the Soviet party.

Slightly Shaped Suit

By VERA WINSTON

There's a suggestion of shaping in the eight-button, double-breasted jacket of a smart suit that should see plenty of wear come fall.

The notched collar is satin-bound, as are the curved pockets. The skirt is straight.

This is a suit that takes to an overblouse or a tuck-in with equal aplomb.

Frankford YPU Plans Fall Rally

Frankford United Church Young People's Union met for the first time this season on Saturday evening in Rose Lowery Hall, with Sandra Morrow in the chair. Colleen Chase opened the meeting with a reading, "Recipe for Today." Marilyn Hall gave an interesting account of a ball game and corn roast on September 5th which a large number of young people enjoyed.

The business meeting resulted in quite a few decided to attend the fall rally at Alamonte in October. A special bus will be chartered for the occasion.

Ten dollars was donated toward the expenses of the delegates to the teen conference at Anne Harbor, Michigan.

The minister conducted the worship service and followed with a round-table discussion and Bible study which covered a lot of ground including evolution, inspiration, temptation and dedication.

Sprackett, Potter Clans Hold Reunion

GILMOUR — After an absence of 25 years the family of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Potter, formerly of Gosier spent the weekend of September 15th at a cottage at Chafer Lake and visited relatives.

The Potters are nephews and nieces of the late Mrs. James Sprackett (Maude Potter).

On the Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. James Sprackett held a family reunion for his family and the visitors. Those present were: Alberta, Prince George, B.C.; Stella, Manville, Alta.; Eva, Edmonton; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Potter, Manville, Alta.; Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Potter, Detroit, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Potter, Windsor, Ont.; Gerald of Calgary was unable to come.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sprackett, Coe Hill; Mr. and Mrs. Ross Sprackett, Mr. and Mrs. Don Sprackett and Bonnie, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton McKenzie, and Mrs. Alex McKenzie, all of Gilmour, met them for the first time and all spent a pleasant evening together.

Friends Hold Euchre Euchre Party

BONARLAW — On a Friday evening recently, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Kitchener of Campbellford held a card party for their friends from Bonarlaw, in their new home, when 35 persons attended.

Progressive euchre was played and Mrs. Charles Gordanier was winner for the ladies and Mr. Bill Neal was winner for the men. Mrs. Wellman won the consolation award, and all received lovely prizes.

Mrs. Kitchener served dainty refreshments consisting of sandwiches, cake, cookie and coffee; also a beautiful birthday cake was served in honor of Rosedale Wright who was celebrating her birthday and was presented with a lovely gift from her friends present.

Mr. Stanley Mansell and son of Toronto were present and all joined in thanking Mr. and Mrs. Kitchener for an enjoyable evening.

Women's Activities

ST. ANDREW'S W.M.S.-W.A.

IVANHOE — The regular monthly meeting of St. Andrew's W.M.S. and Ladies Aid was held at the home of Mrs. Lindsay Sills on Wednesday evening with several members in attendance.

Mrs. David Fargey presided. The program opened by singing "Hiding In Thee"; Scripture, John 13:1-11 was read by Mrs. Harry Thompson.

A number of thank-you letters were read.

The chapter in the study book — "Together We Distribute Christian Literature Around the World" was given by Mrs. Chester Sills; a piano solo by Mrs. H. Benson; readings "The World's Bible" and "My Ship" by Mrs. Milton Shaw; solo — by Mrs. William Donnan and a reading 'Faith Brings a Horse" by B. Fleming.

Women's Institutes

FOXBORO W.I.

The September meeting of the Foxboro Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Lorne Brough with a good attendance. Mrs. L. Lewis in the absence of Mrs. Bamber was in charge of the meeting which opened in the usual way.

The motto which had been well prepared by Mrs. W. Rosebrough was read by Mrs. R. Hollinger. The motto "Principles of Good Citizenship" was in keeping with the rest of the meeting which was on "Citizenship", conveyed by Mrs. M. J. Waller.

During the course of her remarks, Mrs. Waller said, "In order to live as most of us try to live today, with a T.V., clothes dryer and dish washer which are considered by many as necessities but which in reality are luxuries, the wage earner must have a weekly wage of at least $80.

Mrs. H. Ladore was in charge of the program and called on Mrs. Simmons who read, "One Day at a Time's Edgar Guest's "Rich Boy's Envy" was read by Mrs. F. Prindle, followed by "Laugh It Off" read by Mrs. W. L. Thompson. "September" by Mrs. L. Carter and "When Mother Makes a Dress" by Mrs. J. Ewing and "Occupation Housewife" by Mrs. La Rose bringing to a close the interesting program.

Mrs. L. Trupp and Mrs. L. Lewis are the leaders of the 4-H Girls Club "Cotton Accessories for the club girl's bedroom.

Mrs. C. Hobbs and Mrs. W. L. Johnston are to be the leaders for the short course "145 pounds of meat".

Following the usual closing of the meeting, a most delicious lunch was served by the hostess and lunch committee.

B.C.I.V.S. H-S to Open Fall Meetings

On Monday, October 2nd, p.m. in the "gym" of Belleville Collegiate Institute the Home and School Association invites the parents of its over 3,150 students to come out to its opening meeting.

Members of the various school societies will briefly outline the activities of their respective groups giving the parents an idea of what their child would be doing should they join one of said groups.

Is there a question? Then come out to this meeting and see if the question is answered. Bring the questions written out or ask them directly, but do ask. It's the only way to get the answer.

Meet the staff informally and form a closer link between student, teacher and parent.

The H.-S Association plans a rummage sale in October and asks parents to help by saving rummage for this great October 27th will be B.C.I.V.S. Commencement. November 6th the Home-School-Association is meeting for all to hear Mr. Lorne Johnson, Secondary School Inspector explain further the reorganization of Secondary School curriculum.

By attending Home-School parents help themselves, their school, their community, their child and the Association.

OPEN ANTARCTIC PROJECT

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (Reuter)—Two United States Navy planes landed in 33-below-zero weather at the Antarctic base of McMurdo Sound today to open the 1961 - 62 season for Operation Deep Freeze, the American scientific and exploratory project in the polar continent.

Polish Army Veteran Opens Continental Beauty Salon

Hair styling with a continental touch is offered by Jan Szczerba, Belleville's newest hair dresser who this week opened the new Continental Beauty Salon at 125 Foster Ave., just north of Dundas.

Customer satisfaction leading to continued visits will be the aim of the new salon, the proprietor explained.

Opening of a beauty salon of his own has been a lifelong ambition for Mr. Szczerba whose first experience in the hair dressing business dates back to the pre-war years in Poland.

But the dream was interrupted by the war and he was caught up in the Polish Army to fight for the Allied cause.

After the war he emigrated to Canada where he completed his training as a hair stylist, but always the lack of finance seemed to stand between him and realization of his dream.

"I didn't want to start in just any place, I wanted the best," Mr. Szczerba explained.

Now that he has made the plunge, nothing has been spared to assure everything at the Continental is the best.

The new salon occupies the frontal section of what could easily pass for a better type glazed brick tri-level residence. But instead of looking into a family living room, the big frontal curved bay window, framed by planter and flowers, looks into the salon waiting room.

That set serves to make for a more homey atmosphere which is further carried out in the furniture and decorations of the salon. Comfortable chairs are provided in the waiting room, while the salon equipment is the most modern and best obtainable.

The eagle and crown are a reminder to Mr. Szczerba of his days in the Polish Army. The Eagle still remains as the Polish Army insignia but the Crown is gone, dispensed with by the Communist overlords.

"But I am a royalist at heart, I still like the crown," Mr. Szczerba says.

Luxurious Fur Coat

By TRACY ADRIAN

From Mr. John's "society collection" of beautiful furs comes this handsome street-length theatre coat designed on wrap-around lines.

Made of soft mole dyed the deepest, richest diamond blue, the pelts are worked in horizontal stripe. The coat has bell-shaped elbow length sleeves and is trimmed with a lavish diamond blue fox collar. A turban of peru de soie is in matching blue.

SPEAKING of MANNERS

SHOWERS FOR THE BRIDE

Now that the Fall bridal season is in full swing, many brides-to-be are being deluged with showers and their friends all but swamped with invitations.

While the bridal shower is a gay and festive tradition, hostesses often get carried away and let the guest list get out of hand.

As one budget-strapped young woman wrote: "I've been invited to a half-dozen showers this month, and I scarcely know two of the girls."

Padding a guest list to include acquaintances and friends of friends is hardly in good taste. The startled recipient of such a long-range invitation usually isn't too keen on the idea, either.

The object of a bridal shower is to set up the bride-to-be with household goods, or contribute some frills to her trousseau. And since an invitation spells "gift," only her closest friends should be invited.

Actually, the best idea is to clear guest lists through the mother of the bride, who's in the best position to know if a proposed guest is in her daughter's inner circle and would be happy to attend a shower in her honor.

By taking the bride's mother into her confidence, the hostess can learn exactly what the bride needs, and plan the theme of the shower accordingly — whether it's linens, kitchen item general, personal, or whatever.

It's also wise to check with mother to find out if any other showers are planned, so that dates won't conflict. Very often, it's possible then for several friends to pool resources and give one or two sizable parties instead of a string of three or four.

This, of course, saves friends that can be an expensive round of showers for the same bride. As far as most mothers are concerned, they'd rather keep the social calendar as light as possible during the hectic month before the wedding so daughter won't be worn to a frazzle when the Big Day comes.

Club Activities

PR.-BEL. BELLEVILLE LADIES' CLUB

The regular monthly meeting of the Prince Edward-Belleville Ladies' Club was held at the "Y" on Wednesday with 26 members and five visitors present. The president opened the meeting and expressed the regret of the club in the passing of two of the club members, Mrs. Bellamy and Mrs. Ellis, since the last meeting. Two minutes of silence were observed and the hymn "Abide With Me" sung in their memory.

Several letters of correspondence were read and the treasurer gave a detailed report on the finances of the club.

The corresponding secretary reported she had sent six get-well cards and four sympathy cards and had taken personally flowers to ill members. Letters of thanks were read from, Mrs. Weese, the Bellamy family, the Ellis family and Mrs. Prentice.

A paper, "Personality and God," prepared and read by Mrs. C. Walters, who also read the poem, "Tapestries" was enjoyed by everyone.

Community singing consisted of several well known hymns.

The president closed the meeting and a social half hour enjoyed with Mrs. Bedell and Mrs. Trumpour and their group serving lunch.

Red Cross To Hold Blood Donors' Clinic

CAMPBELLFORD — Monday, October 2, will be 'D' day in Campbellford and it is expected that some 90 gallons of blood will flow that day.

Campbellford branch of the Canadian Red Cross is hoping the blood will flow during two periods, from 3 to 4.30 p.m. and from 6.30 to 9 p.m. when they hold their half-yearly blood donor clinic at the Masonic Temple on Front Street.

A spokesman for the Red Cross said Thursday that the situation regarding blood in eastern Ontario is actually "desperate", because blood reserves have been used so low.

A total of 150 pints of blood are required from the Campbellford - Seymour branch of the Red Cross, and this amount could easily be reached if local people respond.

Blood is used at Campbellford hospital in many emergencies, accidents and operative procedures, and since emergencies could occur at any time to anyone, the Red Cross said it was imperative that reserves be kept on hand.

The blood is supplied free, and the services depends entirely on donors.

TRAPPED FURS — Mrs. Lodema George has led the life of a fur trader and trapper in northern British Columbia and the Northwest Territories since 1920, travelling extensively by dog team, river boat, bush plane and automobile. Now keeping house in Fort Nelson, the 71-year-old widow recently took her first helicopter ride. (CP Photo).

Outdoor Life Has Kept Mrs. Lodema George Younger Than Her 71 Yrs.

By JIM PEACOCK

FORT NELSON, B.C. (CP)—Mrs. Lodema George went for a helicopter flight the other day.

It was just for kicks. But it added another chapter to the interesting and often exciting life of this onetime Idaho housewife who has followed the advancement of this north country for more than 40 years.

The 'copter is the most modern transportation means now in use in the north and it is perhaps fitting that Mrs. George has added it to the many other modes she's used since she came to the Peace River country with her husband and eight-year-old son in 1920.

Dog sled, river boat, bush plane flying boxcar, automobile —all these have served her at one time or another when she wasn't hiking on foot.

Mrs. George used somehow frequently and at length when she was younger, having tramped her traplines of the Laird River region in the northeast corner of British Columbia and southern corner of the Northwest Territories where her husband was a fur trader.

KEEPS HER YOUNG

Maybe it was this outdoor life that has kept her much younger in appearance and activity than her 71 years. You'd guess she wasn't much more than 30.

After 14 years of trapping, she and her husband settled in old Fort Nelson, across the Nelson River and three miles away from the present townsite at Mile 300 on the Alaska Highway. They set up a free-trading post in competition with the Hudson's Bay Company there.

Mr. George was an invalid and when he could no longer carry on the business, Mrs. George bought furs for three years.

They moved their post across the river in 1947 to the new townsite, which sprang up when the United States Army pushed through the Alaska Highway in 1941-42.

Today, Mrs. George, a widow for several years, keeps house for two men running a supermarket here, but she finds time frequently to discuss the past.

She remembers making her first plane trip in 1932 or 1933 with Wop May, one of the most famous of the adventurous northern bush pilots. She flew with May again into the North-west Territories' Nahanni Valley in 1936 to stake mineral claims.

LOST RUM

When the U.S. army came to build the highway, she flew in flying boxcars, two-seater scout cars and "anything we could get."

"Priority was so fierce then," she said, "that we little traders didn't have a chance. If we wanted to get into Edmonton for some shopping, we just took whatever came along."

During the trapping years, Mrs. George and her husband and son had their main camp on the Laird River at isolated Grounded Snye, 120 miles out of Fort Simpson, N.W.T. and they had to make down-river trips to secure their winter's food supplies.

On one such trip a great tragedy occurred. One of the scows struck a beaver dam on the river and overturned — and the winter's supply of rum was irretrievably lost at the bottom of the icy river.

The life was seldom easy, she said, and often it was lonely. Occasionally it was fun.

"We'd go down river in summer on a scow with an outboard motor to Fort Simpson and stay there for a couple of months, going to parties and dances and visiting.

"But I don't think I'd do it again knowing what I know now."

She hesitated a moment, emphasizing her memories, then added:

"But I don't think I'd want to have missed it."

Many Enjoy Pie Social At Wellmans

RAWDON—On Friday evening Wellmans Church sponsored a pie social at the church with visitors from several points in attendance including: Springbrook, Stirling, Mount Pleasant, River Valley and Hoards.

Mr. Jack Dunham was in charge of the program and spoke briefly. Mrs. John Carlisle gave a message of welcome to all on behalf of Wellmans W.A. The program consisted of two items each by the following artists. Duets with guitar accompaniment by Mr. Howard Hutcheon and son Terry, Springbrook; cornet solos by Bill Bell, Stirling with Mrs. Craig Watson as piano accompanist; vocal duets by the Misses Nancy Tompkins and Sharon Mathews which included "Bless This House"; vocal solos by Miss Linda Ann Morrow of River Valley, with her mother Mrs. Harry Morrow as accompanist; Ed and Jack Svoboda, Stirling contributed two piano duets.

GUEST SPEAKER

Mrs. W. C. Fletcher introduced Mr. A. G. Austin, Wooler, well-known naturalist and he gave a most interesting repertoire of his hobby of bird watching. His nature scenes began with lovely colored views of sunrise, scenes in the woodlands and the various pictures centred around different homes of the day and ended with sunset views, filled with magnificent colors. One set of pictures was centred on birds and how they can be tamed by one who loves them. A unique scene in this group was a collection of ribbons won by Mr. Austin and a large silver trophy and perched on top of the trophy was a real live bluebird. The speaker told the story of his efforts to procure this picture. There were also many scenes of owls, grasshoppers, wild flowers, weeds, butterflies and small animals of all kinds that inhabit the woodlands and marshes.

Mr. Austin has won many awards since his retirement from telephone duties and his hobby is most rewarding. He has shown his pictures in many parts of Canada and the United States and has won recognition for his ability to catch nature at her best.

Mrs. Jack Dunham president of the W.A. voiced appreciative thanks to all those who had made the evening a success. Following the National Anthem the ladies served sandwiches, pie and coffee and all enjoyed a fellowship hour.

This closes another year of church history at Wellmans.

Successful Living

Questions Loyalty!

DEAR DORIS:—We were married six years ago and have three small children. In many ways my husband is a model. But he never kisses me or says he loves me.

He goes out with friends, both men and women, to a baseball game or some other sport, leaving me at home with the children. I would not mind this if he would sometimes take me out, but when I ask him to, he makes some excuse. He leaves me at my mother's (when we have a baby sitter), saying he will be too late, for instance.

DORIS CLARK

I have even overheard his friends kidding him about how the women set when he is around, and reminding him that he is married now. His answer was that didn't make any difference.

This bothers me. I have always trusted him and know he trusts me. Am I being blind?—QUESTION MARK.

DEAR QUESTION MARK—Another married bachelor. The woods are full of 'em.

Whether or not you can trust him, your presence with him is the best way of helping him to resist temptation.

One woman said she hung onto her rugby-loving husband by making herself the world's greatest living authority on rugby. An exaggeration—but there's a moral.

If you can't beat 'em, join 'em! Learn about baseball, football, ping pong, tiddly-winks, or whatever. The TV can help you. Line up a sure-fire baby-sitter and be seated in the car when he takes off.

Then so he gets the picture, take up bridge or mill-finery, nights, and leave him home with the young ones a time or two, so he'll know how it feels.

* * *

DEAR DORIS:—I am the mother of five children. Would you please give me a work schedule? I seem to be working all day long and never finished. If I had a schedule I don't think this would be necessary.—MRS. J.

DEAR MRS. J.—With five children, you surely need a schedule—and some helping hands.

I talked to a home economist about this and she suggested the following (only as a rough idea, as each household is different): Monday—weekly house cleaning, and clothes mending (ready for washing); Tuesday—washing; Wednesday—ironing; Thursday—weekly shopping and meal planning; Friday—sewing, baking; Saturday—house tidying.

There are beds to be made every day, dishes to be washed, meals prepared. Children should hang up their clothes, make their own beds, the older helping the younger. As soon as possible, they should be responsible for washing all dishes, with turns being taken by boys as well as girls and definite times written down for all to see and agree on. The breakfast table may be set the night before, on a turn-taking basis.

Saturday morning is a time to share household chores with your youngsters: dusting, cleaning the bathroom, vacuuming rugs, some simple ironing which has been saved for them to do. Gradually they should be learning to do a little baking and meal preparation.

Your household may not quite adjust to this particular arrangement of time. The principle is to have a set time to do each chore, and a set time when each chore should be finished. To provide opportunities for your children to work with you and to make them times for companionable talk, or singing-on-the-job.

This is not to make drones of your boys and girls. They need time for play and for homework as well. But they will thank you later for teaching them some of the arts of homemaking, boys as well as girls. And they will take great pride in helping mother, when you praise them for it.

Women's Activities

U. C. W.

HALLOWAY — The September meeting of the Halloway United Church Women was held on Wednesday evening last, at the home of Mrs. Alvin Donaldson with a fair attendance.

The devotional service was taken by Mrs. C. Townsend, the theme being "No Man Can Serve Two Masters." The Scripture was chosen from Matthew 6: 24-34 and read by Mrs. P. Dixon and the meditation given by Mrs. Townsend.

Mrs. Freddie Wellman presided over the business portion of the meeting which consisted mainly of dealing with matters pertaining to the coming International Plowing Match. Ladies are to meet next Wednesday at the church basement to quilt and prepare food. It was decided to put in for a date in 1962 at Hoards. Several cleaning supplies for the church were to be purchased. Also it was decided to purchase at once a 40 cup percolator.

The meeting was closed with the Benediction by Mrs. Wellman.

W. A.

WHITE'S DISTRICT — Mrs. William Yateman was hostess to the ladies of White's Woman's Association on Thursday last afternoon with a good attendance.

The president, Mrs. Yateman presided over the meeting.

Mrs. Eric Joses was in charge of the devotional service, singing, "Dear Lord and Father of Mankind" with Mrs. W. Jeffery as pianist. Mrs. Joses also gave the story of Daniel and of King Darius. Mrs. Jermyn Palmer read, "I Saw God Wash the World." Mrs. Yateman gave the thought for the day, "One of our greatest blessings in life is the radiant Christian witness of others".

There was a discussion on work in the church. Flowers were promised for decorating the church for anniversary service. It was decided to have a speaker for a united W.A. meeting of the three churches on the circuit.

Mrs. Yateman, Mrs. Curtis and Mrs. Palmer sold doughnuts, aprons and a china tea service for their talent money.

A tasty lunch was served by the hostess and a social time was enjoyed.

New Brownies

By Mary Moore

A fresh pair of brownies is welcome in almost any kitchen. This new one, that we made is a little more economical than the regular brownies for it calls for peanuts instead of walnuts.

This is a simple straightforward recipe that you could hand to your teenage daughter to make.

WEDNESDAY

Dinner Menus

Stuffed Spareribs; Pickled Crabapples; Baked Rhubbard Squash; Green Beans; Sliced Cucumbers and Tomatoes; Eleanor's September Apple Pie (see Tuesday) with Cheese; Coffee.

PEANUT BROWNIES

¼ cup butter or margarine, ¾ cup creamy peanut butter, 2 squares (2 oz.) unsweetened chocolate, 2 eggs, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup sifted flour (preferably cake), ¼ teaspoon baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 cup coarsely chopped peanuts (preferably unsalted), 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Combine butter, peanut butter and chocolate in top of double boiler. Cook over hot water until chocolate melts stirring to blend. Remove from heat. In another bowl beat eggs and add sugar gradually, while beating. Add chocolate mixture; beat hard 1 minute. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt; stir in. Add peanuts and vanilla. Pour into greased 9" square pan. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 40 minutes or until done. Cut into squares while warm.

If you want to be a little bit extravagant you could spread these when cooled with this Rich Chocolate Icing: Melt 2 squares unsweetened chocolate in top of double boiler, and add to it 1 cup icing sugar, 1 egg beaten, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Remove from heat at once and cool a little before spreading on brownies.

If you want to carry this topping idea a little further you could sprinkle finely chopped peanuts over the frosting.

The following recipe is 25 years old and when I first gave it in this column it caused a sensation. Over the intervening years, it has been such a favorite with readers and relatives I've yielded to temptation and am repeating it.

CHOCOLATE NUT DIAMONDS:

2 squares unsweetened chocolate, ½ cup butter or margarine, 2 eggs, 1 cup chopped walnuts, ¾ teaspoon baking powder, ¾ cup flour, 1 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ¼ teaspoon salt.

Melt chocolate in top of double boiler. Remove from heat. Add the eggs beaten with the sugar; sift in dry ingredients, then add walnuts and melted butter last. Mix well, and spread thinly on pan 8" x 16" or on two 8 x 8" pans, spreading to about one-quarter inch thickness. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. about 25 minutes, and then allow to cool. Leave in pan for frosting.

The above Rich Chocolate Frosting belonged to Chocolate Nut Diamonds originally so make it and spread on when cool. Allow to cool before cutting into diamond shapes with sharp knife.

See tomorrow's column on Mary Moore's visit to Victoria.

CAMP IS MUSEUM—The German concentration camp at Oswiecim in southern Poland where millions of Jews died during the Second World War has been preserved as a museum by the Polish government. Called Auschwitz by the Germans, the camp has been left almost exactly as it was when Russian troops liberated it in January, 1945. The camp is shown in this photo taken during the winter of 1960. (CP Photo).

Four Million Persons Died In Oswiecim Prison Camp, Ovens Worked Day, Night

By ALAN HARVEY

OSWIECIM, Poland (CP)—The iron gate outside the museum of horror at Oswiecim has a three-word inscription in black letters. It must be the most grimly sardonic devised by man. It reads:

"Arbeit macht frei" — work brings freedom.

For some 4,000,000 persons from 38 countries, it was the freedom of death — death by starvation, by torture or wild nightmare experiments, by beatings, overwork or infection, by hanging or by gas chamber.

Oswiecim used to be a pleasant little village in southern Poland, noted for its beer. During the war, it became the biggest concentration camp of them all, with its brick extermination ovens working night and day to liquidate the enemies of Hitlerism.

BURNING FLESH

"Night after night the sky was red and the air was polluted with the smell of burning bodies," recalled Wieceslaw Kieta, a newspaper man in Cracow.

"Sie sind doch Tieren," the Germans said, meaning that Jews after all are just animals, and then proceeded to treat them worse than animals. Oswiecim was renamed Auschwitz, and the victims came from all over Europe, making the death ride in unheated cattle cars without food or water.

Those who could work were herded into barracks, sleeping eight or 12 to a bunk, living on black bread, ersatz coffee and soup. Children and the unfit went straight to the gas chamber.

On the last walk, they were told they were going to have a bath and, pushed naked into a room, sobbered with signs instructing them not to forget their soap and towel. From the gas chambers the bodies—stripped of gold teeth and hair—were shuttled along miniature railways for cremation.

Auschwitz now Oswiecim again, was liberated by the Russian army in January, 1945. Two thousand survivors limped out of the camp, including 180 children. Most of these were twins, considered especially useful for medical experiments.

The poles have preserved the camp almost exactly as it was, a grim reminder of man's inhumanity to man. Last year some 300,000 visitors filed past the relics of the sad, unbelievable past, the mountains of human hair, the wooden shoes, the pale grey uniforms, the pond glazed over with a film of grey scum formed by the ashes of victims, the piles of spectacles and watches, all tickated and numbered with Teutonic precision.

I toured the camp recently with Danuta Brzeska, a reporter on the Cracow Echo, some of whose relatives died in Auschwitz. On the way out after seeing a Russian film of the camp's liberation she spotted a group of Polish - Canadian visitors, headed by Walker Michlewicz of Hamilton, Ont.

At this most macabre of all "tourist attractions," initial curiosity is quickly overlaid with something akin to boredom, and the visitor has to keep reminding himself that these atrocities really happened, summoning up the pity that does not come as spontaneously as expected. . . .

Perhaps the most haunting memory is of the faces of the victims, carefully photographed by the Nazis in full face and profile. Almost equally vivid is the picture drawn from life by a survivor, showing a group of workers lining up for an evening parade after a day in the fields.

As a ghoulish prank, the captors have decked one of the victims out to resemble Christ. In a corner of the picture two green - uniformed soldiers smiger at the scene.

That is the picture this reporter remembers, and will see again in the mind's eye when the big trial of Auschwitz commandants starts next year.

Abitibi Power Plant Opened

TORONTO (CP) — Northern Ontario's turbulent Abitibi River flowed smoothly into harness today as the first unit at the Hydro-Electric Power Commission's new Otter Rapids station began feeding electricity into the provincial grid.

Capacity of the unit is 43,000 kilowatts, enough to serve almost three times the peak electrical needs of the city of North Bay.

Construction of the $39,000,000 project 90 miles north of Cochrane started in 1958. The station will have a capacity of 172,000 kilowatts by 1963.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Gustave N. — This can't go on. Let him cry it out a few times.

* * *

Viola N. — We've just moved to a city apartment from a quiet two-family house in the suburbs. The first few nights after Jr.-hood was terrified by the strangeness and the echoes of the elevated trains that a block away. So we brought him into our bed to comfort him.

Now he refuses to stay in his crib. He cries himself into a hysterical sweat at bedtime and only calmed down when I let him fall asleep in our bed. Then, after I've carried him back, whenever he stirs and realizes where he is, he calls to be brought to our room again. At 4 a.m. I can't let him wake up the neighbours. So I give in.

* * *

Gustave N. — How do we get off this merry-go-round? I give in, those first nights after we moved, to Vi's moving the baby into our bed. But it's a mouth now and, as far as I can see, both she and he think it's a permanent arrangement.

I want Vi to reverse matters fast. We never had any trouble about Ray's sleeping in our bed first. It looks as though now he's discovered a sweet racket, he's not going to let go of it easily. Well, Vi must make him stay in his crib, no matter how he and he think it's a permanent arrangement.

I'll help, for, even if-it means moving into his bed! He must learn that's where he belongs. But Vi can't stand his crying.

* * *

The Council — Gustave is suddenly right in whatever language babies use to talk to themselves. Young Ray must be saying: "Why didn't someone tell me about this long ago? This is what I call a perfect design for living!" Together his parents must make him accept (and appreciate) the old Army command: "As you were!"

It's natural that big decrees of reassurance were required by Ray during the transitional days of moving. Not only were the familiar walls gone, but Mommy and Daddy were in a preoccupied dither with no time for the usual play. But the reassurance ought to have been supplied on Ray's "home territories" — his room and his crib. The path back to status quo is easier from the "direction."

Now what? All's fair that will restore Ray's love for and faith in his crib. Depending upon how real his panic, the perverts can do anything from having the crib, at first, in their room, to hovering near it (taking turns in his room.

Then come the props, both physical and emotional. The former lookede a small light in Ray's room, the door slightly ajar and the normal sounds of "home" as music to fall asleep to. The latter category covers a frequent look-in and love-up during the first few sleep-alone evenings.

One common aid to bridge the gap between the familiar and the strange is a favorite toy. Surely there's a battered stuffed animal or an old rag doll that can symbolize "continuity" for Ray — life as usual. We know a thoroughly well-adjusted 5-year-old who still enjoys his wee-blanket wherever he goes, even though by now after loads of washings it's more holes than blanket. A swatch of it was at camp with him last summlior.

Night fears can be allayed constructively here. While they're not to be discounted callously, neither should they be the family bugaboo.

Roslin

ROSLIN — Mrs. Jack Palmer and infant daughter returned home from hospital last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Barker and children have moved into the house formerly owned by Mrs. B. Clare, in the village. Mr. and Mrs. Barker have been staying with Mr. and Mrs. Palmer since their home was destroyed by fire.

A number from here attended Tweed Fair on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mowat and children spent the week-end with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bates.

Roslin United Church held its anniversary service on Sunday morning with service at 11 a.m. conducted by the Rev. R. Nichols, with the Rev. Oscar Wagar of Belleville as guest speaker.

The church was suitably decorated with fruits and flowers. A large congregation was in attendance. Special music was rendered by the choir.

and West collapse.

Delegates noted that in discussing possibilities for the future status of Berlin, Gromyko said the Russians would agree to the use of troops contingents of neutral states or United Nations troops as guarantors of the status of the free city."

The German question could mean peace or war. "No state, no responsible government, no responsible statesman can view such a question impassively. There can be no neutral states in this question. Neither can or should the United Nations, as a whole, be a neutral, indifferent onlooker."

Many delegates felt that Gromyko's speech contained little new. Neutrals felt encouraged by what they viewed as a moderate tone. Disarmament was the major exception, for the Russians stood firm on this question.

Gromyko rejected Kennedy's appeal for an immediate nuclear test ban treaty—he wants the question hinged with all disarmament problems — and defended the Soviet resumption of tests.

"Yes, the Soviet government is conducting nuclear tests, is creating new kinds of such weapons, is displaying and will display concern for strengthening of the defensive capability of the Soviet state and our allies which, together with the Soviet Union, pursue a policy of peace and, like ourselves, stand for general and complete disarmament," Gromyko said.

Frankford United Marks Anniversary

FRANKFORD

The Rev. Horace Burkholder, general secretary of Ontario Council of Christian Education, Toronto, was guest preacher at the anniversary services of Frankford United Church on Sunday. His morning theme, "Hills to Remember," was based on the New Testament story of the Transfiguration.

Miss Bonnie Rowe sang "Spirit of God Descend Upon My Heart" as a solo number.

In the evening, with his rare gift of intimate communication, Mr. Burkholder brought into vivid relevance the 2,000-year-old story of the prodigal son. The Frankford quartet Messrs Harry Slingerland, Francis Lyons, Erale Wallace and Ron Mitts, and the Frankford United Church choir with Miss Mary Johns as soloist, made the service a happy occasion."

The mass of gladioli in front of the altar was a gift of Mr. William Love.

CAMPBELLFORD

C. C. Investigates 'Cleaning-Up Town Program', Free Theatre Shows Replace Santa Parade

CAMPBELLFORD — The Campbellford Chamber of Commerce this week named two delegates to the Rice Lake-Trent Valley area organization meeting in Port Hope, next month.

The chamber also decided to investigate a program of cleaning up the town by installation of refuse containers at strategic points of town.

The chamber will ask the town council to consider placement of the containers, with the chambers conducting an educational program in local public, separate and secondary schools to educate children and parents against littering the streets.

DONATE PRIZES

Under this plan, the Chamber will donate prizes to school children for ideas, expressed in essays or speeches aimed at making the town more tidy and attractive. P. G. O'Sullivan was chosen to head the committee.

The Cook Chocolate Company of Chicago, who operate a branch in Campbellford, commended the Chamber for its action in donating the company's products as a goodwill gesture to visitors to the town.

The Company said it was aware of the action of the chamber in providing local items to a Toronto newspaperman on a recent visit to Campbellford and was making concessions to the chamber in this regard for promoting the area and local industry.

The chamber provides bars of locally made chess, chocolate and other items to visitors whenever possible.

TWO FREE THEATRE SHOWS

Plans were made for two free theatre shows to be held in December for children of the district, instead of the Santa Claus parade held in years previous to 1960. The shows received so much favorable comment last year that the chamber decided to continue them.

The group also voted to hold a public meeting between nomination night and election day, at which candidates would be offered the opportunity of presenting their views to the public.

Such a meeting, it was decided, was the only way in which a candidate could express his views to the ratepayers, said the chamber, after holding such a meeting for the first time last year, has been asked to repeat the venture.

Although the date of the meeting was not fixed, the motion to hold it carried unanimously.

TO ADVERTISE

The Chamber decided to take an advertisement on behalf of the town in the Lake Ontario Development Association publication "The Outdoorsmen" which is being published this year by Pen-Reid publications of Campbellford.

It was also decided to ask the town council to consider an advertisement in the magazine, as has been done by several other town councils in the area, promoting the town.

The magazine will be distributed by LODA at sportsmen's shows in Canada and the United States, and copies will be available free of charge at chamber of commerce offices throughout the area covered by LODA.

Here's Why Men's Suits Will Cost More Soon

By STEPHEN BRANCH

MONTREAL (Staff)—Prices of men's suits, slacks, sports jackets and coats are going up by $2.50 to $5 soon because of higher labor and cloth costs.

Made-to-measure men's clothing price hikes are scheduled at retail lists in August or early in September.

Part of higher cloth costs is due to the effect of devaluation of the dollar on import prices.

Canadian worsted manufacturers increased prices 20c-40c yd. several weeks before the Pressing budget knocked the pounder of the dollar. The higher prices for domestic-cloth garment manufacturers.

Should wool prices leave-loss edging up by last six months.

A men's garment manufacturer today said: "Cotton cloth is now going 45c-50c more for the 50% yds. needed to make one worsted."

Higher labor rates in Montreal and Toronto garment industries—which produces about all of Canada's men's suits, coats, sports jackets and slacks—will mean hikes in price of made-to-measure suits from Victoria to St. John's, Nfld., for the holiday season.

Toronto Daily Star July 28, 1961

Men May Pay More for Clothes

Men's clothing prices are expected to rise in the autumn, according to Tom Aplin, executive director of the M en's Clothing Manufacturers Association of Ontario.

Devaluation of Canadian currency and an industry-wide wage increase effective July 1 are the causes, he says.

Sault Ste. Marie Star July 13, 1961

Clothes Prices Rising

An executive director of the Men's Clothing manufacturers' Association of Ontario has predicted an increase in the price of men's fine clothing this fall.

He has based his prediction on the devaluation of the Canadian dollar plus an industry-wide wage increase which went into effect July 1.

The director expects that a suit of clothes, a sports jacket, and slacks or a top coat will cost between $2.50 and $5.00 more at the retail level.

"The increased Canadian dollar value of the pound sterling following the recent Canadian budget plus wage increases in England will result in a substantial increase in the cost of all imported fabrics to Canadian manufacturers, director Tom Aplin has stated.

Even Canadian mills are increasing their cloth prices since they are faced with higher English yarn prices, he said.

"Added to this is a five-cents an hour across the board wage hike and increased fringe benefits negotiated with the Toronto-Hamilton fine cloth manufacturers by the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America," Mr. Aplin said.

Tip Top Tailors

ONE PRICE HAS NOT CHANGED

A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT:

We are proud to announce that our famous one price of $69.95 for a custom tailored TIP TOP suit will not be increased this Fall.

A substantial rise in the price of a fine men's suit was forecast by many clothing manufacturers for this season. This was felt to be necessary because of industry-wide, across-the-board wage increases effected in July, rising costs of imported woollens, and other growing business costs.

Significant sales increases, our huge buying-power, plus new and scientific tailoring methods enable TIP TOP to MAINTAIN OUR PRICE and YET FURTHER IMPROVE OUR QUALITY.

Our new Fall fabrics are now in from Britain. Plan to look them over soon. Remember—a TIP TOP made to measure suit, handcut and tailored to your measure at our one price, $69.95, now represents a better than ever value to you!

First Railway to Northwest Territories Approved, Main Customers CPR Companies

OTTAWA (CP)—The Liberals were unable to sidetrack government legislation in the Commons Tuesday for the first railway to the Northwest Territories but their Senate colleagues signalled more criticism of the measure.

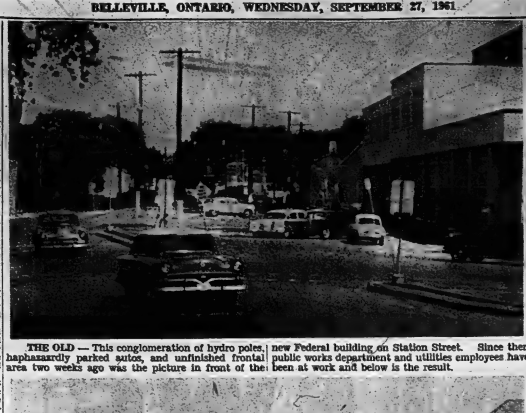
Agreement in principle, but reservations on details, materialized in the two houses, both highballing along toward the prorogation expected in the next day or two.

Liberal MPs were defeated 136 to 30 in an attempt to suspend legislative action on the Pine Point Railway bill.

They then lost 135 to 30 in the vote on third and final reading. The CCF-New Democratic Party group, after siding with the Liberals in many of the earlier arguments on the issue, voted with the government.

In the Senate Tuesday night, second reading — approval in principle—was given with reservations by Liberal members who hold a big majority in the upper chamber. The bill goes to Senate committee study today.

Opposition centred on expressed fears that the $39-million railway, from Grimshaw in northern Alberta to Hay River and Pine Point on Great Slave Lake, will provide more benefits to the Canadian Pacific Railway than anyone else.



The line will cost from $75,000,000 to $86,500,000 on present estimates. The government will loan the publicly-owned Canadian Railways the funds to build it and the main immediate customer will be two CPR companies.

Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada Limited at Trail, B.C., which is controlled by the CPR, holds a majority interest in Pine Point Mines Limited which has huge lead-zinc ore deposits at Pine Point.

"It's a calculated risk that the people of Canada will feel that the government should enter into," said Transport Minister Balcer, engineering the bill through the Commons.

Lionel Chevrier (L—Montreal Laurier), a former Liberal transport minister, listed four main objections including the one that the railway will build the line themselves.

The four - party agreement with the mining companies, the CNR and the government gave clear advantages to the companies. There was to be no return on the public investment of millions of dollars.

THE OLD — This conglomeration of hydro poles, haphazardly parked autos, and unfinished frontal unfinished appearance of the area. The street has been straightened and widened and paved, and new new Federal building on Station Street. Since then public works department and utilities employees have been at work and below is the result.

THE NEW — Gone are the hydro poles and the sidewalks have been constructed. Council Monday approved installation of parking meters in front of the Federal building.

How Various Issues Treated By Kennedy and Gromyko

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Here is what President Kennedy and Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko said about various issues Monday and Tuesday in the United Nations General Assembly.

German Peace Treaty

Kennedy—"It is absurd to allege that we are threatening a war merely to prevent the Soviet Union and East Germany from signing a so-called treaty of peace."

Gromyko—"The leaders of certain Western powers" often pledge "a test of strength" in case a German peace treaty is concluded — "in other words they will reply by force to the peace which the Soviet government is proposing."

West Berlin Crisis

Kennedy—The "dangerous crisis in Berlin" arose from threats against the freedom of West Berlin and the West's interests and commitments, which it cannot fail.

Gromyko—Today West Berlin has become the hotbed of a "great war danger" because of "subversive, sabotage and espionage centres." It is "a cesspool constituting the incorrigible rotten occupation regime," West German and NATO "subversive centres" and "mobs of West German militarists and revenge-seekers."

Berlin Settlement

Kennedy—"For a city of people to be truly free, they must have the secure right, without economic, political or police pressure, to make their own choice and to live their own lives . . . established rights are to be respected." The Western powers will defend their access to West Berlin.

Gromyko—"We are firm advocates of the West Berlin population being guaranteed the right to live and work under the social system which suits it . . . There is no question of banning access to West Berlin . . . The free city would have the right to establish some "community," through "appropriate agreements" with East Germany on land, air and water communications.

Disarmament

Kennedy—The United States proposes a new program of "general and complete disarmament under effective and international control."

Gromyko—The Western powers must say whether they will accept Soviet disarmament proposals if the Soviet Union accepts their control proposals.

UN Secretariat

Kennedy — However difficult it may be to fill the place of Secretary - General Dag Hammarskjold "it can better be filled by one man than three. Even the three horses of the troika did not have three drivers all going in different directions. They had only one and he must be a neutral executive."

Gromyko — "The United Nation structure has not yet been brought into line with the actual balance of power in the international arena."

31 DIE IN CRASH

ISTANBUL (Reuters) — Thirty-one workers were killed and 15 others badly injured Tuesday near Dorgi southeast Turkey when their truck plunged over a cliff, police said.

Production Costs Can Be Cut If Manufacturers Can Combine Says Industrialist

OTTAWA (CP) — Toronto industrialist E. P. Taylor said Tuesday many Canadian manufacturers cut costs if they combine their facilities without running afoul of anti-combines laws.

He made the statement at a press conference in explanation of an announcement by the National Productivity Council that the government is willing to advise competing industrialists on whether they can consolidate without breaking the law.

Mr. Taylor, president of Argus Corporation Limited and a member of the council representing the field of industry and commerce, said it was conceivable that 20 plants might be producing substantially the same article. They could produce more efficiently if they were amalgamated into five, and still retain the competitive factor."

Mr. Taylor's conference was called by the council's chairman, H. George De Young, president of Canadian Canfotied, Welland, at the conclusion of a two - day council meeting.

He said in a prepared statement that the council had consulted Justice Minister Fulton and his staff on the application of combines legislation and that the government was willing to work with industry in "improving productivity for the national good."

Mr. Fulton and the justice department were prepared, Mr. De Young said, "to study proposed plans put forth by industry for the rationalization of productive facilities and to advise on their position with respect to combines legislation."

When asked what "rationalization of productive facilities" meant, Mr. De Young turned reporters' questions over to Mr. Taylor.

"What the manufacturers would like to do is arrange among ourselves so that fewer of us would concentrate on one product, and bring costs down," Mr. Taylor said.

Mayor S. L. Bucknall of Saskatoon said the council was not seeking any change in the combines legislation, and Mr. De Young emphasized that the purpose of the Productivity Council is to encourage competition in the Canadian economy.

The National Council, Mr. De Young said, will work with provincial productivity councils and other interested groups in disseminating research information, helping in the expansion of the formation of labor - management committees, promoting labor - boys training and retraining, and training instructors in the techniques of method improvement.

The 25 members representing labor, primary and secondary industry appointed G. Keith Cowan, 49, administrator of communications and training for the Chrysler Corporation of Canada, as its program director starting Oct. 1.

Kennedy Appears Willing To Compromise on Berlin

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

President Kennedy's maiden speech before the United Nations appears to have contained a willingness to compromise with the Russians on the vital German issue.

Kennedy had to speak cautiously for two reasons. He did not want to give away his bargaining position before the East-West negotiations get under way and he did not want to give the Republicans a chance to accuse him of appeasement.

But, in fact, some elements of appeasement may be involved.

Despite all his warnings that the United States would be willing to escape even in nuclear war to protect the freedom of West Berliners, it is hard to be aware that the average American family doesn't want very much less a war that doesn't result from any direct threat to American territory.

Those close to him say he also is aware that, despite talk of Nortik co-operation and strength, there is no cohesion and determination within the alliance to fight a war simply over German political boundaries.

NO ENCOURAGEMENT

Thus, while Kennedy emphasized that the west is prepared to use all its strength to protect West Berlin he carefully refrained from giving any encouragement to West German hopes for eventual reunification.

Kennedy's personal representative in Berlin, Gen. Lucius Clay, has already made clear to the West Germans and Berliners to understand two German states exist and will continue to exist for years ahead.

But most of what he had to say was obscured in the language of off-the-record remarks which became common property secured by weak diplomatic attempts to deny them when they were directly attributed to Clay.

In line with Clay's remarks and with a rather significant use of the word recognition, Kennedy in his UN speech said: "We recognize that troops and tanks are for a time, a temptation divided against its will, however unwise that policy may be."

INFORMAL RECOGNITION

Despite the West German agreement in 1954, in part, to agreed to make West Germany the sole German voice in international affairs, in 1956, as part of a NATO membership deal, the government has given consent along the lines of informal recognition of two German states.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev wants more, of course. He wants to cut off West Berlin from a possible closer link-up with West Germany and, therefore has suggested turning it into a "free" city with freedom guaranteed by the presence of token Soviet and Western troops.

Judge to Rule On Evidence Given Earlier

BRANDON (CP) — The judge conducting the trial of Hugh Paton and D. Hubert Cox, Toronto businessmen charged with conspiring to steal $460,000 from Brandon Packers Limited, will rule today on evidence given by a witness now in the United States.

Mr. Justice A. M. Monnin of the Manitoba Court of Queen's Bench said he would rule concerning evidence given at a preliminary hearing earlier this year by George A. du Cane, formerly of Toronto and now living in Bethal Park, Pa.

Crown counsel A. S. Dewar of Winnipeg proposed Tuesday that the evidence be read into the record because the witness now is in the United States.

Norman Cox, chief investigator of the Ontario Securities Commission, was the first witness to testify directly on the five counts of conspiracy, theft, fraud and publication of a false prospectus involved in the charge against the seven men.

He quoted extensively from notes on an interview with Paton and Cox in their Toronto offices on March 20, and said the interview resulted from a Manitoba Securities inquiry into the operation of Brandon Packers and a request for assistance from Manitoba authorities.

The judicial inquiry was ordered by the Manitoba government as a result of a six-month strike at the Brandon Packers plant in 1960. The strike became notorious by a special investigation resulting in the arrest of the men in Toronto last Jan. 12.

Name Victims

TORONTO (CP) — Two 34-year - old RCAF pilots were killed Monday night when their T-33 jet trainer crashed in a wooded field 10 miles north of Manitoulin Island.

RCAF officials in Trenton Tuesday identified the victims as Flt. Lt. James H. Johnson, whose parents live at Montreal, Sask., and Flt. Lt. Clifford L. Snell, whose wife and three children live in Ottawa. Johnson was RCAF public relations officer for the Toronto area. Both were stationed at nearby Downsview, the destination of their flight from the Lakehead.

TALK ON JAMAICA

LONDON (AP) — Leaders of the West Indies federation conferred Tuesday with Colonial Secretary Iain Macleod on Jamaica's decision to quit the Caribbean group. The meetings will continue.

Speech Sparks Differing Views From Factions

SUDBURY (CP) — A speech at Halifax last week by George McClellan, deputy commissioner of the RCMP, has sparked two differing views from warring factions of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.).

From the west coast Tuesday the district office received denunciation of the speech by a CCF member of Parliament.

From Sudbury the women's auxiliary of Local 598, whose leaders are at odds with the national executive, wrote the deputy commissioner commending him for his views and urging more RCMP action.

Mr. McClellan made several references to the strife within Mine-Mill and said it is one of several unions whose leaders and policies are identified with the Communist movement. Not enough is known about what is going on in Mine-Mill, he added.

The letter sent to Mr. McClellan by the local 598 auxiliary said:

"It is particularly evident in the International Union of Mine Mill and Smelter Workers that the promoters of the foreign conspiracy are hard at work to undermine our Canadian way of life.

"We commend you and the RCMP for realizing the extreme danger in the last of the Sudbury district . . . We would call on the RCMP to intensify its investigation."

IS 'SHOCKED'

H. W. Herridge, CCF MP for Kootenay West, said he was "astounded and shocked" by the McClellan speech.

"Trade unionists regardless of affiliation should strongly protest this interference in trade union dispute," Mr. Herridge told James Flanagan, president of Trail, B.C. Local 480, who forwarded the message to the Mine-Mill district office here.

Mr. Flanagan said the CCF member sanctions him of full support in Mine-Mill's fight against "the steel rail."

Woman Admits Being Friendly With Accused

TORONTO (CP)—A smartly dressed woman of 30 testified Tuesday that she kept up a friendly relationship with a younger man after the man had been accused of killing her dasher.

Mrs. Dorothy McDougall appeared at the trial of Lowell Glen Widdifield, 26, charged with capital murder in the rifle slaying of Donna McDougall, 14, at Mrs. McDougall's summer cottage south of Keswick last June 26.

Mrs. McDougall, who collapsed at one point in her testimony as counsel a brief adjournment in the trial, said she received letters from Widdifield while she was in hospital recovering from wounds in the chest and left arm.

She said she had visited Widdifield regularly until August, when that her relationship with him since the slaying had been friendly.

Mrs. McDougall testified that she lived with Widdifield, 26, earlier this year but they had split up and decided to live together again about a week before her daughter was shot.

She said she wanted her daughter to live with her but that Donna had refused if Mrs. McDougall "continued to keep that man" under her roof.

On the night of the shooting, last June 25, Mrs. McDougall said she was awakened by the sharp crack of the .22 rifle.

"I sprang from the bed," she said. "Tom was standing in the room. His eyes were wild."

Mrs. McDougall was wounded the same night at the Keswick cottage.

She testified she was told that Widdifield had a drinking problem but that she had never seen evidence of it.

The trial continues.

ESCAPE FROM JAIL

COLEMAN, Tex. (AP)—Two prisoners awaiting trial on burglary charges escaped from the Coleman County Jail Tuesday. The sheriff said all the jail attendants were at an ice cream party.

TURN FIRST SOD — Construction has already begun on the new addition to the Royal Canadian Legion building on Pinnacle St. This new two-storey structure will be built on the front of the present building, with six to eight feet of the old building being removed. Shown turning the first sod is Les Digby, branch president; J. N. Colotti, vice-president The Tabham Company, contractors for the building and Len A. Taylor, chairman of the building committee.

MOVIE HEROINE DIES

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Juanita Hansen, 66, heroine of early-day movie serials, died at her home in West Hollywood Tuesday. Miss Hansen suffered from a heart ailment. She began her silent film career in 1913 in Keystone Cop comedies, succeeded Pearl White as the queen of Hollywood's serial thrillers, then retired after she was scalped in a New York hotel accident in 1931.

Immigration Changes Picture Of Toronto as a Strongly Anglo-Saxon Corporation

Ten years ago the city proper —Toronto without the 12 suburbs that are included in the metropolitan area—was 70 per cent British. Today people of British descent account for only 40 per cent. And the city's population remains at 640,000, close to what it was in 1951.

The figures are contained in the Toronto Planning Board's report of a 1960 study of ethnic groups. The study was undertaken to determine to what degree ethnic origins should be considered in physical plans for various districts.

In the Metro area, with a population of nearly 1,500,000, British stock still predominates for more than 60 per cent—900,000 compared with 135,000 Italians, 80,000 German, 80,000 Jews, 50,000 Ukrainian, 50,000 French, 35,000 Polish, 40,000 Hungarians, 23,00 Greek and 25,000 Dutch.

During the nine years 385,500 persons are estimated to have moved into the metropolitan area from foreign countries. The reason for the change in the complexion of the city proper is that most of the European immigrants have chosen to settle initially within the corporate limits of Toronto.

Although 23 per cent of the immigrants were of British origin, a larger proportion of these made their homes in the suburbs.

The study shows the city's west end, which historically has been the main area of immigrant settlement, experienced substantial increases in the density of ethnic populations in the nine-year period.

In one section of the west end, Italians accounted for 6.6 per cent of the population in 1951. By 1960 they made up 14 per cent. In the same section Germans had represented 4.1 per cent and last year had risen to 14 per cent.

Ethnic changes were less pronounced in the east end, and northern districts felt only slight influences of the change taking place.

HALIFAX (CP) — The National Dairy Council heard varying answers Monday to why the country's dairymen are having trouble selling their products.

President Pierre Cote of Quebec City blamed "excessive and ever - increasing governmental intervention and control."

Dr. A. B. Blakeneship of Canadian Facts Limited a marketing research firm, Toronto, said dairymen are responsible, at least in part, because they have failed to make full use of market research.

Mr. Cote was re-elected president.

Regional directors named included:

Ontario—S. G. K. Ault, Winchester; Ronald H. Clark, Ottawa; Roy Gildner, New Durham; J. M. Hartwick, Wellington.

W. Huntingdon

WEST HUNTINGDON—Anniversary services were held on Sunday, at the United Church. The Rev. Louis, of Tweed, was the guest speaker, and brought some helpful messages. Mr. George Dyson attended the evening service. Special music was provided by Mrs. Woodley, giving two solos at the morning service. The choir also gave several selections which were much appreciated.

Mr. and Mrs. George Series attended the anniversary services at the United Church and were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mac Series.

Jack and Georgia Pitman, of Belleville, were also anniversary guests and dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Moorcraft.

The Ivanhoe W.I. catered to the Board's sale on Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Bates, of Roslin, Zada Cummings, of Toronto, and Mrs. Gertrude Crowley, of Belleville, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Wright.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Donnan on the arrival of a baby girl at the General Hospital, Belleville, on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Adams spent Monday evening with Mr. and Mrs. T. Trumble.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bilsson of Midland were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Allen.

SERVICE FEATURE — Shown above is the Bean Visualiner recently installed at the Canadian Tire service garage on Coleman St., being operated by mechanic Bruce "Bud" Fox. Mr. Fox is operating a part of the Visualiner which houses a mirror system used to transmit a light beam onto a wall unit which measures the precise degree of deviation or alignment of the wheel. The multi-thousand dollar machine is used to precisely align automobile front ends and to check the delicate operation of frame realignment amongst other things.

The new machine required a special concrete base to be constructed in the garage before it could be installed. It now in operation as one of the many service features offered by the local Canadian Tire Corporation store operated by Don Hill.

Damage Suit Filed in Death Of Screen Hero

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — A $1,500,000 damage suit in the death of screen hero Jeff Chandler—alleging negligence, malpractice, wrongful death and assault and battery — was filed Monday by his children and his estate.

It named as defendants six doctors, the hospital where he died June 17 after a series of operations and 30 unnamed persons.

Chandler, 42, underwent surgery at Culver City Hospital May 23 for a slipped spinal disc.

A few days later he suffered severe internal bleeding and was given 25 pints of blood by transfusion. His later death was attributed to general blood infection.

The suit accused the hospital of not being fully equipped to render service under proper conditions of sterilization. The hospital issued a statement saying it has absolutely no responsibility in the death and that medical records would confirm this.

The suit did not elaborate on the assault and battery allegation.

Wallbridge

WALLBRIDGE — Mr. and Mrs. Don Garrison of Prescott and son Don were recent guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Garrison.

Wallbridge W.I. ladies are busy preparing for the plowing match as each member is making eight apple pies and everyone will meet in the church hall to make a sandwich.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harris were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hilton Shorey, Belleville.

Next Sunday service in Wallbridge church will be at 3.30 a.m. Mr. Cooper is the minister.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Chapman of Murray and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Grills of Harold, called on Mr. and Mrs. Edward Spencer on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Champaign, Trent Road, were Sunday evening callers of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harris.

"Jest a Second"

"Looks like his honeymoon has started."

Bisons Lead Series 3-0

BUFFALO (AP)—Bobby Sadowski smacked a three-run homer in the eighth inning to give Buffalo Bisons a 6-5 victory over Louisville Colonels in the third game of the junior world series Tuesday night.

The triumph boosted the International League champions' margin in the best-of-seven series to 3-0.

The American Association Colonels broke a 3-3 tie in the eighth on three singles, a walk and a Buffalo error for a 5-3 edge.

Louisville losing pitcher Cecil Butler walked pinch-hitter Wally Shannon to start the Bisons' eighth. Then Ted Savage cracked a sharp single through short. Sadowski hit Butler's first pitch for the game - winning homer.

Favor Moss In Canada Grand Prix

By HARRY CALNEK

TORONTO (CP) — The first sports car Grand Prix of Canada scheduled for Mosport Park Saturday, is shaping up as a battle between Italy and Britain.

The two countries, arch rivals for decades in motor racing, will be represented on the grid of the $150,000 track by the most powerful selection of racing machinery ever seen in this country.

In numbers, Italy holds the edge, with eight Ferraris. The red cars from Modena this year won the Constructor's Championship for both sports and Formula One competition.

They will face three British Lotus 19s. Only one, that driven by Britain's Stirling Moss, will bear the British racing green. One will be Belgium's yellow with Olivier Gendebien in the cockpit while the third will be the white and green of Canada with Peter Ryan of Mont Tremblant, Que., behind the wheel.

FAVORS MOSS

Recognized as the world's best by his rivals, Moss is favored to take the winner's share of $10,000 for the 100-lap race. Ferrari, however, presented a stiff challenge Tuesday by announcing they would enter their three Mire rear - engine Dino model with Ricardo Rodriguez of Mexico driving.

Moments in History

In 1856 — On October 27 — the Grand Trunk Railway made its first scheduled trip from Montreal to Toronto, passing through Belleville en this historic journey. Great crowds were on hand to meet the train as it puffed slowly into the station.

Some forty years later, the predecessors of the Schuster company first began supplying Belleville homes with wood and coal for winter heating.

Today, Moira - Schuster Limited continues this important community service with fast, modern delivery trucks . . . delivering fuel oil for use in modern, economical heating units . . . Throughout the Windsor season, Moira-Schuster maintains a highly efficient service department, on call for your heating needs 24 hours every day. Call WO 2-4500 for all your heating needs—fuel oil, coal, new furnace installation — or drop in next time you're downtown.

The Training Camps

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

All three National Hockey League teams which played exhibition games Tuesday night came out on top, two of them with victories over Western League clubs.

Montreal Canadiens overpowered the Canucks 5-1 in Vancouver and Detroit Red Wings defeated the Stampeders 4-3 in Calgary. New York Rangers beat Rochester Americans of the American Hockey League 3-2 in Hamilton.

With Ralph Backstrom scoring two goals and an assist, Canadiens led throughout their game. Henri Richard, Jean Beliveau and rookie Bob Rikely contributed singles. Vancouver's only goal came from playing-coach Phil Maloney in the third period.

Forward Parker MacDonald scored three goals in Detroit's win. Since starting their pre-season exhibition tours to the West six years ago, the Red Wings have not lost a game against a WHL team.

ALSO COUNTS

Another three - goal man was New York right - winger Ken Schinkel. Bob Cunningham and Camille Henry fired the other two for the Rangers. Gary Jarret scored one Rochester goal and assisted on another by Ron Faulkner.

In the American Hockey League exhibition game at Port Colborne Springfield Indians avenged Pittsburgh Hornets 5-3 to take their second straight win.

Floyd Smith scored two goals for the Indians. The others came from Jim Anderson, Norm Price and Bill Sweeney. Bo Elik came up with both Hornet goals.

Another AHL club, Buffalo Bisons, announced the signing of four players. General manager Fred Hunt said at the team's training camp at Welland, that contracts were signed by defenceman Ron Ingram and winger Billy Dea, both regulars last season, Ian Cushenan, with Springfield last season, and Dave Creighton, formerly with Toronto Maple Leafs of the NHL and Rochester also signed.

Kitchener-Waterloo Ranger of the Eastern Professional Hockey League Tuesday named as player - coach George Jeneo (Red) Sullivan, centre with the Rangers for the last five seasons. He succeeds Frank Currie of Lethbridge, Alta., who piloted the Rangers to the league finals last year but was dropped between seasons.

Bruce Kidd Named for 3 Awards

TORONTO (CP)—The central Ontario branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada has nominated distance runner Bruce Kidd for three annual awards.

Kidd, sensational two - mile and three-mile star for Toronto's East York Track Club, was nominated to receive AAUC trophies for: OutstandIng junior sportsmanship, for the best athletic achievement and for contributing to the continuity and betterment of track and field.

The nominations go to the annual meeting of the AAUC in Edmonton in November.

Parker Tops Western Point Race

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Versatile Jackie Parker continued to add to his lead atop the Western Football Conference scoring race during the past week.

The Edmonton Eskimos' quarterback picked up 12 points in two weekend games, to run his total to 78. He is 16 points ahead of teammate Johnnie Bright.

Parker has scored in every one of the 11 games his club has played this season.

Maris Clouts History-Making Homer

Sport Slices . . .

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

Larry Soden will go to the mound and the Kenmore will be all full-strength. That's Manager Ken Soden's fondest word on the "rubber" match next Sunday between the Junior "A" champions and Kingston.

The Kenmore clobbered Kingston in the first game of the best-of-three major junior "A" semi-finals but struck a snag in their quest for a two-straight sweep last Sunday when they dropped a close 6-5 decision to the Limestone City youngsters.

With four or five of his key players either at college or tying out with hockey clubs, Soden was forced to take a makeshift lineup to Kingston. This weekend, he says, the boys will be home and the club brought to full strength.

To clear up a misunderstanding in some quarters, the winner of the Belleville-Kingston series has drawn a bye into the Ontario junior "A" championship series.

In the other half of the series the strong Oshawa club, stimulated the Hamilton Juniors, 1958 champions, and runners-up to the Kenmore last season. The Oshawans turned the trick in two straight games.

Down Western Ontario way the Kitchener club shellacked the Chatham juniors 18-2 in their first clash, but like the Tartans, struck a roadblock in the second tilt, dropping a 5-4 decision.

Oshawa has been scheduled to meet the winners of the Kitchener-Chatham series for the right to meet the eastern Ontario champions for the provincial title.

"With Fellwell, Asceline and other key players back in the lineup I'm sure we can beat the Kingston team," Soden said today. "The boys had a bad inning last Sunday and kicked the ball around too much. This Sunday it will be different."

The game will be played on the Kingston Cricket Field and is slated to start at two o'clock.

THE DUCKS

There were not too many wild-duck dinners on Sunday but they bestrik last weekend. Around this district the shooting was poor, a consensus reveals. Even hunters said warm weather, light duck population for this year and the fact that ducks decided to linger a while in northern haunts accounted for the slimness of the bags.

Hunting was supposed to start at dawn Saturday, but this reporter pushing his way through the cemetery-like hush on Front Street before six o'clock had the last cobwebs of sleep brushed away with the staccato reports of shotguns from the Bay of Quinte.

What those trigger-happy nimrods were popping at, I do not know unless they were getting in some target practise at ghostly ducks.

Hitting in the northern haunts was much better, reports Gash. Barry ranged from four to the limit with wood-ducks, blacks and mallards predominating. Teal was said to be scarce.

MISTAKEN IDENTITY

The recent controversy between the Belleville Joyces and Cobourg Merchants softball teams, has resulted in some embarrassing moments for a county official.

Mr. W. N. Hurst, 348 Church Street, the Hastings County registrar, is not the "Bill" Hurst, president of the Belleville District Softball League, although they are related.

It seems the softball "Hurst" is not listed in the telephone directory and the result has been a number of telephone calls to the registrar.

Those have proved embarrassing since Registrar Hurst is in no way connected with softball.

Softball president Hurst is a post office employee and can be contacted by telephone through that medium.

"Like Just One More"

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Roger Maris hit the home run he wanted most Tuesday night—his 60th of the season. Now he wants No. 61 even more.

"I was beginning to wonder whether I'd ever get it," he said after belting the historic fourbagger in the third inning off righthander Jack Fisher of Baltimore Orioles.

"Now that I have it, I'd like to get one more, just one more." He has four games in which to do it.

The shy New York Yankee slugger equalled Babe Ruth's output of 60 homers in a season and it embarrassed him when he was introduced to Mrs. Ruth, the Babe's widow, after the game.

"I'm glad I didn't break Babe Ruth's record in 154 games," he told her. "That record is enough for me."

But it is not enough, and Roger knows it.

Maris admitted the nervousness the anxiety and the mental strain of battling Ruth's image were "getting" him.

PRESSURE STILL ON

"I don't think the pressure has changed," he said. "I think it will continue. That last month has really been no picnic for me. I keep thinking of what I have now and I know that what I've got my 60th. I have to go through it again."

Maris is assured of a financial bonanza. Home run No. 60 is expected to bring him $50,000 in endorsements and royalties during the next three years.

Maris undoubtedly will be rewarded by the Yankees It was speculated he will receive a 1962 salary in the neighborhood of $30,000. His 1961 salary is estimated at between $35,000 and $40,000.

Maris said he couldn't explain his feelings after hitting his big homer.

"I'm still bewildered. I know I'm happy, happier than I've ever been before. It's a feeling I've never had before and never will have again.

"I know it's a thrill but it's not as great a thrill as when I hit my 59th. Maybe that's because I still can't quite believe it. I hope I don't wake up tomorrow and find it's not true."

CROWD CHEERS

A crowd of 19,401 cheered when Maris connected with a 2-2 pitch and the ball sailed into the upper deck in right field. The cheer became a deafening roar when the ball landed dangerously close to the foul line, about three feet and first base umpire Ed Hurley signalled a home run.

A standing ovation greeted Maris as he touched home plate and trotted into the dugout. It continued until the 27-year-old outfielder emerged minutes later, took off his cap and waved it.

"I didn't know what to do," he said. "It was the first time such a thing happened to me and I felt silly. Some of the players pushed me out and there I was.

"I have to give Harris (Baltimore manager Lum Harris) and his pitching staff credit. They pitched to me. They weren't out to walk me.

"Fisher wasn't fishing around. He tried to get me out. He was moving the ball in and out. I think he was trying to hit the outside corner with that pitch but it slipped."

CURVE THAT HUNG

The disgruntled Baltimore pitcher, who threw home run No. 331 to Ted Williams of Boston Red Sox—the last one of Williams' career—said the pitch was a curve that hung.

"I knew it was a homer the minute he hit it," Fisher said. "Yeah, I also knew it was No. 60. That doesn't bother me particularly. All I cared about then was it cut our lead to 3-2. I have no real feelings about being the guy who threw him No. 60. The only thing I'm sorry about is losing the game (Baltimore won 3-2)."

To officials in or break Ruth's mark set in 1927, Maris had to do it in 154 games. The American League now is on a 162-game schedule.

Maris got his 60th homer in the Yankees' 159th game. He hit No. 59 in the 154th.

Mrs. Ruth told him: "Congratulations, Roger, and I mean that sincerely. If the Babe were here he would have wanted to congratulate you, too."

Commercial Finals Postponed

Darkness has forced a change of plans in the Belleville Commercial Softball League finals between Lightfoot Construction and Trudeau Motors.

The teams were scheduled to play the eighth game of the best-of-seven series last night and if a seventh was necessary it was to be played Thursday evening.

Lightfoots lead the series three games to two.

Last night's game lasted until the fifth inning when darkness forced the game officials to call a halt to activities. Trudeaus led in the fifth inning and Lightfoots had the bases loaded with none out at the time.

The teams had agreed earlier that all games must be played to the full seven innings.

Thursday's game has also been postponed since it was felt that it was useless to try and get a full game played in the evenings at this time of year.

Last night's game will be replayed on Sunday afternoon at 2:00 p.m. on CHEA Park. Should Trudeaus win that game the seventh and deciding game will be played as the second part of a double header immediateyi following the first game.

Four Games to Go

Yankees Clip Birds, Tigers Lose

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Staff Writer

And now for No. 61.

Roger Maris, who hit his 60th homer Tuesday night as New York Yankees beat Baltimore Orioles 3-2, has four games remaining in which to get the home run that will make him the most productive one-season homer hitter in major league baseball history.

He gets his first shot at No. 61 today against the Orioles' Steve Barber (17-12). He takes a day off Wednesday before resuming his efforts to surpass Babe Ruth's 60-homer total of 1927 with a three game set against Boston Red Sox that closes out the 162-game schedule.

After grounding a single to centre in the first inning, Maris fouled off the first two pitches by Fisher in the third, took two balls, then fouled one into the dirt before connecting with a drive that sailed into the upper right - field stands about three feet fair.

It was the Yanks' first run off Fisher (10-13) who led 2-0 going into the third but lost the game on Johnny Blanchard's run-producing single in the sixth.

Ralph Terry, who defeated Jackie Brandt in the seventh that let in the clincher following Maris' homer, was winner and Tom Tresh, Reliever Rollie Sheldon (15-5) was the winner.

Kansas City Athletics beat Detroit Tigers 8-5, Cleveland Indians defeated Minnesota Twins 7-3, Washington Senators nipped Los Angeles Angels 3-2 despite a five-hitter thrown by Ieer Ted Bowsfield of Penticton, B.C., and Chicago White Sox and Boston Red Sox split a doubleheader. Chicago won the first game 5-4 and Boston took the nightcap by the same score.

Rocky Colavito hit homer No. 44 for the Tigers but the Athletics rapped rookie starter Ron Nischwitz (0-1) for six runs in the first three innings. Jerry Lumpe, who got two hits and drove in three runs, led Kansas City's 12 - hit attack that gave the win to Norm Bass (10-11).

59th Brings $500
61st Ball Worth $5,000

BALTIMORE (AP) — Bob Reitz has made his decision.

The 32-year - old Baltimore fan won't make a nickel on the $5 a ticket Harmon Killebrew slugged here last week for his 39th home run of the season. Maris hit his 60th Tuesday night.

After six days of weighing various offers, Reitz has decided to auction off the ball by sports boosters of Maryland — and turn the money over to Associated Jewish Charities of Baltimore.

"Although I could use the money," the unemployed machine operator said, "I never had illusions of accepting cash for the ball.

"I realize the ball is not the same as any other. It doesn't belong to me. It belongs in the Baseball Hall of Fame—where all the people can see it. After all, it's been 34 years since someone has hit 59 homers, and that one tied when it will be done again.

Reitz said he was offered $5,000 from a television station in Sacramento, Calif., Sam Gordon offered to put the money on deposit and Maris agreed to fly there to accept the ball in a presentation from Gordon and the fan.

Maris would be permitted to keep the ball, then turn it over to baseball's Hall of Fame.

Look for 'Banner Year'

Minor Hockey Lays Plans

Plans for the 1961-62 Belleville Minor Hockey Association were made at a meeting held last night at the Recreation Centre and according to President Bill Brennan "it could be a banner year".

Brennan announced that more ice time has been secured for the minors and also said that the association is ordering some new sweaters. The youngsters will have 16 hours per week this season as compared to 13½ hours last year.

It is expected the same number of team will be formed although there is some possibility that more teams will be necessary if enough boys register to play.

Forty teams are expected to take part in the five divisions. This number will be divided into 12 squirt, 10 pewwee, 10 bantam, six midget and two juvenile teams.

Games will be played on Tuesday and Wednesday nights and on Saturday mornings.

On Tuesdays, the squirts will play from six to eight p.m. and the midgets will have the ice from eight to ten o'clock.

On Wednesdays, the bantams will play from seven to ten p.m. and the juveniles from 10 to 11 p.m.

On Saturday mornings, the peewees will have the ice from 8.30 to 11.30 a.m. and the bantams from 11.30 to 1.30 p.m.

Conveners were named at last night's meeting. Fred Jones was elected squirt convenor, Joe Adams and Harry Rollins peewee, Roy Foran and Neil Hallar, bantam, Dick Ellis midget and Fred Poole juvenile.

TO DEFEND TITLE

HOUSTON Tex. (AP) — Joe Brown will defend his world lightweight boxing championship in a 15 - round bout against Bert Somodio Oct. 26 in Manila, the Phillipines, Lou Viscusi Brown's manager announced Tuesday. Somodio is the fifth reaching lightweight.

Eastern Senior Hockey

May Adopt 4-Team Loop

By GEO. H. CARVER
Sports Editor

Bombshells, a Robin Hood complex and the possibility of a four-team if not five circuit marked the eastern senior hockey meeting here last night.

With four Oshawa representatives present, pre-meeting prospects looked bright for the proposed five-club circuit.

The bombshell fell when it was announced that Greg Currie, of the Toronto Maroonians, had informed the meeting that his sponsor had failed him and he needed an interpreter.

Up to this point it was believed the Toronto club was a solid entry.

It looked like the end of senior hockey in this district for this season. Both Kingston were adamant in their stand and Oshawa representatives were adamant in their stand not to play in a four-club circuit.

Oshawa asked for subsidization from other clubs claiming it had the heaviest transportation costs of the league. Its representatives stated the club had secured the Bowmanville arena and ice commitments had been made.

The stalemate was broken when convener Lorne Cook, OHA past president called for discussion on a league pool.

Later the meeting endorsed a motion that each club pay ten percent into the proposed pool with teams being paid 80 cents a mile for mileage over 80 miles.

RICH HELP POOR

The Robin Hood complex ("the rich helping the poor" as one delegate put it, came when it was stated that Belleville and Napanee would draw the larger crowds, thus paying a larger percentage into the pool.

Kingston's Harold Langshaw holding out for a five-team circuit said "we won't throw peanuts with a four-team loop what with pro opposition".

Oshawa representatives claimed they would be playing second fiddle in the Bowmanville Intermediate club.

However the motion to adopt the proposed pool system was carried unanimously. Lorne Cook was named pool trustee.

All this, of course, was contingent up to this point, on the entry of a Toronto club.

Previously the meeting had decided to give Currie and Toronto until Saturday night to enter a club. OHA member Jack Devine said he would contact OHA secretary-manager Bill Hanley this morning in an effort to expedite the Toronto entry, if any.

they would play in a four-team league".

"Why should eastern Ontario hockey be governed by Toronto actions" said Gibbard. Lamichaude said "we should be willing to sacrifice something in order to get hockey started here again. Next year will be different if we lay the foundation now".

Kingston and Oshawa representatives went into a huddle at this point.

The outcome was they decided to consider a four-team set-up if different financial or pool structure could be made.

This was agreeable to Belleville and Kingston and the group conveners.

The outcome was a meeting will be held in Oshawa Monday night to make final arrangements for a five-team circuit if Toronto enters, or to discuss a pool rearrangement in the case of a four-team league.

Representatives present were Belleville J. P. Lamichaude, Kingston, Harold Langshaw and Joe King; Napanee, Ernie Gibbard and Les Douglas and Oshawa, Vince Brashley, Erv. Edwards, George Westfall and Bob McClimond.

Whip Cubs as Dodgers Lose

Reds Clinch Flag With Pirate Help

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Staff Writer

"Reds si, Yankees so."

That was the main theme as Cincinnati fans celebrated the Reds' first National League pennant in 21 years with a rash of superlatives for their heroes and a deep bow in the direction of pitcher Joe Gibbon of Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Reds beat Chicago Cubs 6-3 Tuesday, earning a tie for the pennant, then had to wait for Gibbon to clinch things by eliminating the second - place Los Angeles Dodgers with a one-hitter.

The victory, an 8-0 shutout after the Dodgers had remained in contention with a 5-3 win in the first game of a night doubleheader, sent the Reds into the world series against New York Yankees of the American League. The best - of - seven series starts in New York, next Wednesday.

Ace reliever Jim Brosnan (10-5) won the honor of nailing down Cincinnati's pennant. Brosnan set the Cubs down on one hit over the final three innings, while Jerry Lynch provided the winning runs with a two - run homer in the eighth that snapped a 3-3 tie.

DEFENCE COLLAPSES

The Reds' long day started in the first inning when Chicago scored against starter Jim Purdy on Don Zimmer's single, a passed ball and George Altman's double. The Cubs added two in the fifth when the Reds' defence collapsed following a two - out single by Cub starter Bob Anderson.

Richie Ashburn's roller went for a hit when second baseman Don Blasingame failed to rush in, and Don Zimmer was credited with a hit when Gene Freese allowed his tap down third to roll batted of making the play. The ball stayed in fair territory.

Ernie Banks then bounced to shortstop Eddie Kasko but his throw to Blasingame for a forceout was wide. Anderson scored and the bases remained loaded. Altman's walk forced in the other run before the side was retired.

Then the Reds battled back. Held to one hit over five innings, they scored their first run in the fifth on a leadoff homer by John Edwards and put it away when Frank Robinson hit a two - run homer in the seventh off Anderson (7-10) and Lynch connected in the eighth.

In the only other league game Milwaukee Braves beat St. Louis Cardinals 8-3; with Joe Adcock's three - run homer in the first inning off Ray Sadecki (14-10) giving Lew Burdette (18-10) a cushion he never relinquished.

Cincy Goes Wild When Reds Cop Flag

CINCINNATI (AP) — The heart of Cincinnati's downtown area erupted Tuesday night into a seething, howling mass of humanity as Cincinnati Reds clinched their first National League pennant since 1940.

The crowd began building up in government and fountain squares late in the afternoon as the Reds clinched at least a tie for the pennant by beating Chicago Cubs 6-3. It was jammed with people by the time Pittsburgh Pirates beat Los Angeles Dodgers in the final game of a twi-night doubleheader 8-0 to make the Cincinnati peanant a certainty.

Downtown Fountain Square was crowded — crowded it was hard to walk. Everybody seemed happy. Many were drinking beer as they wandered around. Others were yelling, as loudly and as often as they wanted to. Cars went past the square, horns blaring.

There were plenty of policemen around. But this was no baseball fans' night, so the men in uniform just looked on.

Senate OK's Fitness Bill

OTTAWA (CP)—Those Canadians who are no good at sports and never were—have an outspoken champion now.

He is Senator Leon Gouin, 69, who made a passionate plea in the Senate Tuesday for the thousands of Canadians who have no hope whatever of becoming champions.

"Physically speaking, I have always been much taller par," he confessed.

"A large proportion of the pupils in our colleges and schools are in the same miserable class as myself. They must be given a chance of partaking in physical culture and engaging in sports which are not as strenuous as others."

OTHERS SPEAK

He made the case for his kind after the Senate heard from a former Olympic hockey player and the president of the Montreal Canadiens' hockey club.

Playing the game and abiding by the rules will build healthy bodies, healthy minds, sportsmanship and character, said Senator Joseph A. Sullivan, who played for the 1928 Canadian junior hockey champions as well as Stanley Cup hockey, who won the Olympic title in 1928.

A young athlete who is a sportsman will not be guilty of shady dealings when he grows older, he said.

Senator Sullivan, 59, a surgeon who sits in the Senate as an Ontario Conservative, sponsored the government sports bill in the Senate.

Senator Hartland Molson, president of Montreal Canadiens, said the bill will help foster the idea that being physically fit is a commendable achievement. He did not worry if there was an emphasis on making champions because the stars helped raise fitness generally.

"I am convinced that champions and fitness go hand in hand and side by side," said Senator Molson, a Quebec independent.

BOCHARD FINED

MONTREAL (CP) — Former hockey star Emile (Butch) Bochard was fined $100 and costs Tuesday for infractions of the liquor laws in his east-end cafe. The judgment was the first test of a new amendment allowing Sunday and holy day serving of alcoholic beverages, providing substantial meals are served along with them.

Sessions Judge Emile Trottier said provincial police inspectors who drank on two consecutive Sundays in Bouchard's cafe were never served a menu, much less a meal.

Bouchard, former defenceman with Montreal Canadians of the National Hockey League, was given the minimum fine allowed for infractions.

NBC Anthology Series Gets off to Good Start

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Dick Powell's new NBC Anthology series off to a smooth start Tuesday night with a gloomy detective story which could easily be developed into an attractive weekly series.

Who Killed Julie Green? was the opening show, and Powell shrewdly made it into a special sudience-builder by having such stars as Ralph Bellamy, Norman Reagan, Mickey Rooney and Nick Adams playing small colorful parts.

The story itself was a rather uncomplicated one: Somebody strangled a pretty playgirl — somebody whose name was in her little black book. Police Inspector Amos Burke, played by Powell, headed the investigation to find which of her admirers it was. The windup, unfortunately, was rather easy to predict. But the interesting and attractive character was the one Powell played, a millionaire career policeman who rode around in a chauffeur-driven foreign limousine with built-in bar and telephone, jauntily solving crimes.

The series, which will not be chiefly an western, will cover many areas of drama. Perhaps Powell will occasionally bring back Inspector Burke the way he used to recall Willie Dante to brighten up his old Four-Star Theatre anthology.

"Master of the World' is Jules Verne's fantastic story of one man's plan to outlaw war and armies. The American International film is the screen version of the Verne classic with Vincent Price in the title role. Also starred are Charles Bronson, Henry Hull, Mary Webster and David Frankham. William Witney directed the Color film and James H. Nicholson produced.

Doug Ford Replaces Sam Snead

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP)—Sam Snead has been dropped from the Ryder Cup team and replaced by Doug Ford, officials of the Professional Golfers Association said Tuesday night.

Contacted in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Snead said he had not been contacted by Strong and as far as he knew, he still was on the Ryder Cup team.

Snead was dropped for playing without permission in a pro-amateur tournament at Cincinnati last Saturday. Tommy Bolt, Dick Mayer, Chick Herbert, Lew Worsham and Walter Burkemo, along with Snead, were fined $500 and suspended for six months for playing at Cincinnati while the PGA-sponsored Portland, Ore., open was under way.

Of the six, only Snead had been chosen a member of the 10-man Ryder Cup squad, which plays the top professionals of Great Britain in England next month in their biennial matches.

La Canadienne, ridden by Keith Robinson, paid $36.10, $11.60 and $15.60 when she defeated Penetang by 2¾ lengths. Queen's Cherry finished third.

It was wet, cold and windy afternoon and the crowd totalled 5,908. Total wagering on the eight races was $335,716.

Ponder On, mud - running son of Ponder, defeated two stakes winners in outrunning the featured Mayfield Purse, Kickimoon, which won the Woodstock Stakes earlier in the season, was second and Golden Turkey, winner of the Maple Leaf Stakes, third. Ponder On paid $18.60, $6.60 and $3.70 as he ran the 1 1-16 miles in 1:50.

Groucho Marx Will Not Do Any Comedy in TV Play

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Groucho Marx, in a dead serious TV drama?

"This is the first time in my career I've ever played a serious role," Groucho said, "unless you count that last comedy I made.

"They took away all my trade marks. I can't even smoke a cigar. I can't go like this (wrapping his eyebrows). Once I went like this (wrapping his eyebrows) and the director said 'cut!' He told me not to do it."

He explained his reasons for taking the dramatic role, which will appear on GE Theatre:

"I always thought that comedy was much harder to do than drama. And I wanted to see if I was right. I think I am.

"Besides, I didn't want to spend the rest of my life knocking at Hillcrest every day and looking at the same eight faces."

He referred to the famed comedians' table at Hillcrest Country Club, where he matches quips with such chaps as Jack Benny, George Jessel, George Burns, Danny Kaye, Danny Thomas and others.

"And," he added, "I think this show has something to say."

The show centres around two fathers and their concern for their college-age children who plan to marry.

ARMY CALLS HURLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Steve Barber, second year star of the Baltimore Orioles pitching staff, has received notice to report Oct. 13 for one year of active duty with a United States Army reserve unit. Barber made a request previous to his trade for transfer to a Baltimore reserve unit. If it is granted, he may not have to serve on active duty at this time.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RICHTER
Thursday, September 28, 1961

General Tendencies: Until 4 p.m. you are able to get pretty much whatever you want from those in powerful position by cooperating with them and letting them see that you are willing to go along with their precise plans. The rest of the night is adverse for forcing anything. Avoid that restless nerve urge now yours. Take it easy. Relax.

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — A fine morning for co-operating with associates in any sphere and getting their full support. Later be sure you come through with any promises you have made. Avoid acting impulsively or thoughtlessly because you may feel tired, nervous.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — An ideal day for light entertainment of beautifying your office or home. Later, take treatments that will improve health and see that your wardrobe is in order. Handle all property matters. Take it easy in p.m. Retire early.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — Look into your paper and other printed media for excellent ideas until 4 p.m. Sit down and write to those out-of-town, wire if necessary. P.M. avoid spending too much for entertainment —enjoy simple pleasures. Get to bed early, too.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — Ideal day to contact close ties or advisors and discuss personal, private matters and problems. Take care in the evening you do not get into any arguments with family. Be alert and cheerful and benefits will follow instead.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Get in touch with associates and close ties for the ideas you need to help you advance in your career. Be very conservative. Care should be exercised later that you do not alienate some good friend by an unfortunate choice of words.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Financial affairs can be handled very wisely until 4 p.m. Improve others with your good business sense, astuteness. Be sure later that you keep strictly within your budget. Any extravagance at this time would be very distressful.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — You can progress very nicely until 4 p.m. since others are aware of your ability and cooperate with you. Later, take any health treatments you need and then plan to rest, relax.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Take time until 4 in the afternoon to understand the needs and desires of clients of kin and do your utmost to assist them. Later, do not permit some private anxiety to interfere with your activities or chance to have fun.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — If you peruse your paper thoroughly in a.m. you will be able to get the ideas and information that is vital to your interests at this time. Steer clear of that gossipy individual this evening and attend to own affairs.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You are able to impress favorably some influential individual until 4 p.m. and also to get the support you need at this time. Be very careful this evening that you act circumspectly or you lose much of the prestige now enjoyed.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) An ideal day for new beginnings in business or personal life that auger well for the future. Be sure modern and co-operative than you have in the past. Avoid those who are ultra-modern or downright strange this evening. Retire early.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) Every opportunity is yours now to garner the information you require about the individual who truly knows what he, or she, is talking about. Do this during the day and then analyze what you have learned in the evening. Be thoughtful.

If your child is born today—be sure to plan a most thorough course of education because your progeny is truly inspired and will learn easily as well as have the ability to put knowledge into active use at a very tender age. The born diplomat is also in this chart and education should be slanted along professions that require tact and diplomacy, system. Let your youngster be with large groups often.

NOTE THIS !

What for? Believe it or not, this is the full price on a split-level home with almost one thousand square feet of living space and complete in every detail and under construction now. This includes three newly bedrooms, a living room, full basement, 4 pce. bath with lots of cupboards, all for $11,450.

You might wonder how this can be done — it is because only $11,450. Oh yes, the land is included in completing the purchase. — a builder of over 300 homes in the area has advised that this is what he can offer. We have seen the plans — we must confess we were amazed with this offer — you will be amazed with the quality of construction of these two mortgages, but only ONE MIA mortgage for the balance.

Hon. J. Robarts Will Address Convocation

KINGSTON — Hon. John P. Roberts, Ontario Minister of Education, will deliver the convocation address at Queen's University, Friday, Oct. 20, when the Rev. Dr. Alexander Corry is installed as principal of the university. Dr. Corry succeeded Dr. Wilfrid Jay Mackinnon who continues as vice-chancellor of Queen's on Sept. 1. Dr. Mackinnon will receive an honorary doctor of laws degree.

The installation ceremonies between honorary degrees will be awarded to men who have achieved distinction in education, science and their professions.

Those who will be receiving degrees are: Rev. H. F. Legge, rector of the University of Glasgow and president of the National Conference of Canadian Universities who will receive an honorary Doctor of Laws degree; Rev. W. F. Banister, D.D., minister of Chalmers United Church, Kingston, an honorary Doctor of Divinity degree; Professor Alexander Ewing, University of Toronto, Doctor of Laws; Dr. John C. Hammett, New York City, president of the Alumni Association of Queen's University, Doctor of Laws; Otto Holden, D.Eng., distinguished engineer, Toronto, Doctor of Science; Arthur Ellis, Q.C., former Dean of the College of Law, University of Saskatchewan, Doctor of Laws, and Mr. Robarts.

Following the installation ceremony in Grant Hall at 3.45 in the afternoon there will be a University Dinner in the dining room of Leonard Hall in the evening in honor of Dr. Corry, followed by a reception to the new Queen's principal and his wife in Grant Hall.

TIMMINS WILL USE NDP

MONTREAL (CP) — Michael Chartrand, leader of the Quebec province wing of the CCF party, said Tuesday the provincial branch probably will adopt the name New Democratic Party.

ENJOYS YACHTING — Derick Heathcoat Amory, former chancellor of the exchequer, is coming out of retirement to become United Kingdom high commissioner in Canada. A bachelor, Mr. Amory, 61, enjoys sailing and yachting and hopes to bring his yacht with him to Canada. He enjoys an outing in his yacht Allanthus with his cadets acting as his crew for the day. (CP from UKIO.)

Viscount Amory Is Coming Out of Retirement to Become U. K. High Commissioner

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON (CP)—The Commons came grudgingly over the wire.

"Amory," growled Winston Churchill, "you owe it to Britain's reluctant politician.

Today, almost 10 years from the time when Churchill rummaged him to ministerial of. fice, and Amory thought there must have been a mistake somewhere, the "man with the moustache" is answering another call.

RETIRED FROM PM

At 61, he is coming out of retirement to succeed Sir Saville Garner as United Kingdom high commissioner in Canada, convinced that a crucial time is approaching for Britain's wealth as British grapes toward a new realization. The Tory party is due in Ottawa early in October.

He is taking the job at the personal request of his friend, Prime Minister Macmillan. As usual, Amory's ideal of public service is involved.

"It would be unthinkable on my part not to respond to the personal request of a friend," he said in an interview at his comfortable, book-lined bachelor flat on the eighth floor of a building a few blocks away from the Houses of Parliament.

"When I retired, I told him I would come back if he needed me. And if I can be of use, there is no place I'd rather be than Canada."

RETIRED AT 60

After appointments at positions, board of trade and agriculture, he surprised many by become chancellor of the exchequer, often a stepping stone for the ultimate office of prime minister. He presided over three budgets, one of which included a reduction of ninepence in the pound in income tax, the biggest cut since the war.

He was that rare thing in politics, a man without an enemy. Even the opposition acknowledged him to be a "splendid chap." He was also much too late for the cut and thrust of Westminster.

"Winston thought I was a very odd fish," he chuckled, recalling the lack of appetite for power or position.

"I've always had a horror of old men going on and on in office. So, when I reached the age of 60, I simply decided to retire. I suppose it is true that I am less ambitious than other men."

Now, he thinks there is an important job to do. With British hovering on the brink of Europe, and old Commonwealth associations in danger, he thinks it is "important that we should know Canada's mind, and she should know ours."

COMPLIMENT TO CANADA

Scattered around the office as he spoke were volumes of "homework" on North America, including Alden Drury's Advise and Consent, a novel taking the lid off the American Senate, and a book about Canada by Alistair Horne.

"But there's so little time to read," he said, reeling off a catalogue of activities. He has been chairman with top jobs in corporations, Imperial Chemical Industries and the Steel Company of Wales, and does voluntary work for half a dozen organizations, mainly involving education.

His appointment is regarded here as a compliment to Canada. A top politician has never before held the post. And he goes at a time when some leading British ministers are piqued over what they deem to be a dog-in-the-manger attitude by Canada toward Britain's moves toward membership in the European Common Market.

Political friends say the European decision is in the final analysis Britain's to make, with no muss and they do not like the veiled suggestions of "reprisals" that they say seem to be current in Ottawa.

Amory is a tall, friendly-looking man who, when shopping, travels on the "tube," is interested in youth clubs, fishes and counts yachting and sailing as his principal hobbies. He has a big family and wants to take it to Canada when he goes at the end of September.

NEVER MARRIED

He already knows Canada. He made his first visit as a young man and still cherishes a stiff-upper lip. Smoke curiously different, when shown himself a man of steel when a crisis comes along. speeches are polished, and pitted with a dry humor.

In brief, he is a man of character. Three years ago parliamentary expert Harry Boardman wrote:

"The Commons is the great exposer . . . to stand high in its estimation, as Amory has regarded in itself as a considerable reward for a public man."

"Mr. Heathcoat Amory stood aside as high in that respect as any man in recent parliaments, and as high with the Labor party as with the government's supporters."

Ben-Gurion Awaits Call To Head Govt.

JERUSALEM (AP)—Israel's David Ben-Gurion observed his 75th birthday today, hopeful he will get another call to head his tiny country's government.

The odds are that eventually he will get it. For even at his age the stubby little prime minister with the fringe of white hair remains Israel's strong man.

Ben - Gurion—whose Hebrew name means "Son of a Lion"—has headed nearly every cabinet in the Jewish state's 13-year history.

When his mildly socialistic Mapai party lost five of its 47 seats in the 120-member parliament in recent elections, he declined to try to form a new coalition government.

But a member of his party undertook the task for him and apparently seemed little put out when the political haggling ended. Ben-Gurion will be back heading his 10th cabinet.

Hunter Rescued From Wet Bush

CRYSTAL FALLS, Ont. (CP) David Gardiner, 38, of North Bay lost in dense wet bush since Sunday, was rescued Tuesday by a helicopter after he was spotted by a search plane.

Gardiner disappeared Sunday while on a duck hunting trip with a neighbor, Gerald Thibeault, 35. Gardiner was found in a state of collapse, wet from two days of rain.

Search parties led by experienced backwoodsmen and trackers fought their way through bush. Several attended Picton Fair this week. heard Gardiner's faint cries and raised the helicopter when they found him.

Gardiner said he had nothing to sleep under but a jacket which he received Sunday morning as a birthday gift from his wife and two sons, Mark, 6, and Craig, 1.

It's AWAKE Nights vs ASLEEP Days...

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They toss and turn as bed, then are dull and listless during the day. When kidneys slow down trouble can occur while they're in the system. Disturbed rest, tired feeling and backache may follow. If you feel run well at night — if you feel dull in the day, try Doan's Pills. Used the world over. Then you feel better—you! Insist on Doan's. You can depend on Doan's Kidney Pills.

PLYMOUTH CARS ALL NEW IN 1962

The 1962 Plymouth passenger cars from Chrysler of Canada feature a clean, crisp design that is new from the attractive grille treatment to the sweptline rear deck. The design of this series of Plymouths also is enhanced by a reduction in the wheelbase to 116 inches, although there is no appreciable reduction in passenger space. Pictured is the Plymouth Fury two-door hardtop.

WELLINGTON

Large Crowd Enjoys Citadel Band Concert

WELLINGTON — A large crowd enjoyed the "Earlscourt Citadel Band" concert on the Park on Sunday afternoon. The program was as follows: All joined in singing "O Canada"; prayer by Band Sergeant George Russell; a march, "The Veterans' Delight", by the full band; introductions by Bandmaster Gordon Dean, and Reeve Clair Platt, who acted as chairmen, and spoke briefly; air variety, "The Old Weir" by the band; cornet solo, "A Happy Day," by Bandsman Gary Dean; the Earlscourt Male Chorus sang, "A Way for the Children of God."

Bandsman T. Boon gave the Scripture reading; a selection, "Army of the Brave", by the band; euphonium, "A Starry Crown", by Deputy Bandmaster A. Millward; two items, "A Norwegian Folk Song", and a march, "Divine Love", by the band; cornet trio, "Cheer Up", by Bandsmen G. Sharp, A. Dean and G. Dean; a march, "The Onward Journey", by the band was followed by the benediction.

The bandsmen were all invited to the Town Hall where the members of the Wellington Women's Institute served a delicious supper. Bandmaster Dean extended a hearty vote of thanks to the ladies, to which Mrs. Tripp, the president, responded.

WHITE'S DISTRICT

White's United Observes 120th Anniversary

WHITE'S DISTRICT — The 120th anniversary of White's United Church, Bayside, was observed on Sunday with morning and evening services. Baskets and vases of flowers were tastefully arranged around the altar. The Rev. J. T. Irwin of King Street United Church, Trenton, was the guest speaker at both services.

At the morning service Mr. Irwin spoke on the A-B-C's of Christianity. He stressed love, and the confession and forgiveness of sin by God.

He spoke to the children under the heading, "The Most Important Finger." "Little Feet Be Careful" was sung by the children's choir. The adult choir rendered "The Lily of the Valley" with Mrs. W. Jeffery as pianist.

At the evening service, Mr. Irwin spoke on "The Disciples of Jesus and the Great Missionaries of Today." The choir rendered, "My Savior First of All," accompanied by Mrs. W. Jeffery as pianist. Mrs. T. F. Townsend contributed "Consider the Lily" with Mrs. Woodward as accompanist.

Visitors were present from Centenary, Wesley, Trenton, Bellleville, and surrounding district.

Rusk Will Meet Gromyko Again On Berlin Crisis

Still Has Not Learned If Compromise Possible

NEW YORK (AP) — Seven days and two meetings after the start of his talks with Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, State Secretary Dean Rusk does not know whether the Soviet government has any intention of negotiating a compromise settlement of the Berlin crisis.

But he still hopes to find out and will make another attempt Saturday morning.

Gromyko for his part appears to be playing the classic game of Soviet diplomacy. In private talks he is sticking to the hard line of Premier Khrushchev's public statements for a change in the status of West Berlin. If he intends to give ground in order to get agreement in negotiations, he is expected to wait a long as possible while pressuring Rusk for all possible concessions.

There is now is apparent that both Rusk and Gromyko are as interested in sounding each other out on the results of possible negotiations as they are in finding a formula to get negotiations started.

Rusk wants to know, for example, what part of Khrushchev means to offer when he talks about "guaranteed access" to West Berlin after he signs a peace treaty with Communist East Germany.

APPLY PRESSURE

Gromyko evidently is trying to determine whether the Western powers will be pressured into modifying their Berlin stand to accommodate some or all of Khrushchev's demands.

The two men first met a week ago today when Rusk invited Gromyko to lunch. They met a second time Wednesday when Rusk was host at lunch and dinner at Soviet headquarters. They were together four hours.

When Rusk emerged, accompanied by Gromyko, he said the talks had been "very good and a very good talk." He declined to say whether any progress had been made toward arranging on negotiations, remarking only that "we will see."

Both men, who appeared relaxed and smiling, said they had agreed to meet again Saturday.

Later it was learned that Rusk pressed Gromyko for an explanation of precisely what Soviet leaders mean when they talk about guaranteeing Western access to West Berlin. The question is a crucial one because Khrushchev has never indicated they will not tolerate a Communist blockade of Berlin.

Parliament At a Glance

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

WEDNESDAY, Sept. 27, 1961

The Commons approved the principle of the new dominion-provincial tax deal by a vote of 127 to 34, one Quebec Conservative siding with the opposition.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker said the government is prepared to fight in the next election on the issue of its new tax deal for the provinces.

Paul Martin (L — Essex East) said the tax bill is reason enough for "throwing the present government out of office."

CCF Leader Hazen Argue, declaring "this will be an election issue," said the tax plan appears designed to help governments sympathetic to the Diefenbaker administration.

Mr. Diefenbaker announced the government cannot accept the Senate's amendment of the "clam or klam" tariff bill and it will be allowed to die.

TUESDAY, Sept. 26

The Commons spoke at 11 a.m. on the 30th day of the parliamentary session to debate the last bill to find dams and transport estimates. The Senate sites at 3 p.m.

Heard Man Say His Wife Was Running Around

TORONTO (CP) — Mrs. Selby Forbes, mother of actress testified Wednesday she had never had any reason to suspect her husband was having an affair with Mrs. Margaret Lorraine Wells.

Mrs. White is being sued for divorce by her husband, Duncan Lewson White, 46, of Toronto.

Mr. White is also suing for damages from Selby Forbes, 53, a Lion's Head farmer, for alienating his wife's affections.

Mrs. Forbes testified she and her husband were friendly with the Whites but visited them in Toronto only when invited by Mr. White.

She said she never heard Mr. White call Mrs. Forbes at the proper conduct with Mrs. White, but, she said, in 1958, he did call his wife was running around.

Mr. White has accused his wife and Forbes of committing adultery in 1946. He denied being the father of Mrs. White's 14-year-old son.

He is seeking custody of a 15-year-old son.

NOTED PLAYWRIGHT DIES

Fell From Pier

BRANTFORD (CP) — Alton Hoover, 49, of Port Dover, was pronounced dead after he fell from a pier at the Lake Erie Fisheries plant in Nanticoke, seven miles east of Port Dover.

Hoover was carrying water in pails to a fishing cruiser when he fell into the water.

ELECTION TALK BURST ON HOUSE DURING DEBATE

P.M. Prepared To Fight on Issues

OTTAWA (CP)—Election talk on truly combative terms burst on the House of Commons Wednesday.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker left no doubt that he would be prepared to fight an election on the new Dominion - provincial tax scheme as well as on the controversial "clear or klan" tariff issue.

On the latter issue, Mr. Diefenbaker said the government cannot accept the Senate's amendment of the tariff bill and the measure will die. Action will be allowed to die with the end of the session. He said the Liberal-dominated Senate will have to accept the blame for "the thousands of jobs which will remain unecreated" by its action.

Defending in eloquent terms his government's proposal on the tax-revenue split with the provinces, Mr. Diefenbaker said it will restore their rights to levy their own taxes and end the "gimmie - gimme" approaches to Ottawa. He added:

"The Canadian people are now, ever the opportunity comes, will I am sure not listen to the whining and the wailing that has indicated they will not tolerate acquiescence on behalf of all Canadians."

FAVORS TAX BILL

He spoke before two days of consideration of the new tax deal ended with a vote of 127 to 34, to approve the principle of the measure on second reading.

The Conservative MP joined the Liberal and CCF groups in voting against the tax bill. Robert Lafleneire, member for Edmonton - Strathcona, was the only Conservative who failed to vote.

Two New Weapons Fashioned Against High Blood Pressure

NEW YORK (AP)—The surgeon's knife and the chemist's test tube have fashioned two new weapons against high blood pressure — a disease said to claim 175,000 lives each year in the United States.

A surgeon reported Wednesday a new way to repair kidneys damaged by high blood pressure. And the repaired kidneys are then capable of reducing pressure to normal in 80 per cent of the patients.

Pharmacists reported a drug called Metolazatone, cousin to a common tranquilizer, which returns blood pressure to normal in mild and moderate cases of high blood pressure.

Dr. Michael de Bakey of Baylor University told of a technique to reconstruct the plumbing in kidneys damaged by high blood pressure. The technique, he said, makes it effective functioning. The kidneys, which filter the blood to remove waste products and water, also need blood for nourishment.

Dr. de Bakey used different methods to make sure the kidneys were getting an adequate supply of blood. In some cases, he used a plastic tube to detour the blood around the stenosed (narrowed) arteries he was able to enlarge the artery for blood, vessel by sewing in a patch along the narrowed section. Sometimes the narrowed area was removed out.

Dr. de Bakey made his report to a symposium of hypertension. In other reports, doctors said Metobarzanide, by apparently acting on a control centre in the brain, lowers blood pressure in patients who have no other symptoms of hypertension except the elevated blood pressure reading.

Russia Places Before UN Its Own 8-Point Peace Plan

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The Soviet Union sought today to counter President Kennedy's peace appeal with an eight-point program billed as a cure-for-international tensions.

The Soviet proposals, mainly a restatement of earlier offers, put out by the Kremlin—were submitted to the UN Wednesday night with two other memoranda dealing with the nuclear test issue and Germany.

The eight - point plan, promised by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko's policy when he spoke to the General Assembly Tuesday, included such Kremlin favorites as:

A non - aggression pact between the NATO and Warsaw powers, renunciation of use of atomic weapons, withdrawal of foreign troops from alien soil and measures to lessen the dangers of surprise attack.

Kennedy's statement to the United Nations Monday on "general and complete disarmament in a peaceful world" contained several ideas which the official said could be acted on at once. They included an offer to sign a nuclear test ban treaty.

The Soviet memorandum on the nuclear tests repeated Russian insistence that under the present conditions its proposal to resolve the question of a nuclear test cessation on the basis of general and complete disarmament is the "correct and practical suggestion."

Compulsory Medical Care Plan Ordered by Sask. Govt.

REGINA (CP)—The CCF government of Saskatchewan has been authorized by a government-appointed committee to set up and administer a comprehensive, compulsory medical - care for the province.

The recommendations, made Wednesday in a 150-page interim report by the Thompson advisory committee on medical care, probably will form the basis for medical-care legislation to be introduced at a special session of the legislature starting Oct. 11.

The plan will cover almost all Saskatchewan's 930,000 residents and will cost an estimated $49,970,000 to $51,570,000, the committee said.

The per-capita cost will be from $50.43 to $56.18 for the first year. The lower figures are based on the assumption that municipal utilization fees would be charged to limit costs and discourage frivolous or unnecessary requests.

The utilization, or deterrent, fees would be paid by patients to doctors on a basis of $1 for an office visit, $2 for a day home call and $3 for a night home call.

The committee expects costs to rise three to five per cent annually for the first few years. It does not expect to receive support of all 12 members of the committee, formed in 1960 to study the province's health needs.

Financing would be by direct premiums and supplemented by public funds.

The government, a close source says, is considering four means of paying for the plan: increased income tax, increased corporation tax, an increase in the three-per-cent education and hospitalization (sales) tax and personal premiums.

The only recommendation by the committee was for premiums, to be levied in a similar manner to premiums now paid under the compulsory Saskatchewan hospital services plan. Premiums under this 16-year program are $48 yearly for a family and $24 yearly for a single person.

Benefits would include almost all medical care, except eyeglasses, wheelchairs, appliances, drugs, special duty nurses, vaccines and most dental care.

Canada's Economy Quickens Due to Higher Spending

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's economy quickened during the past second quarter of the year under the impetus of higher spending by consumers and governments.

Gross national product — total of goods and services produced — hit an annual rate of $36,380,000,000, up 1.7 per cent from the first quarter, the bureau of statistics reported today.

The renewal of growth, following a decline of more than two per cent in the first quarter, pushed national output close to the peak rate of $36,-

EIGHT OF FAMILY PERISH IN FIRE AT PORT DOVER

16-Year-Old Girl Sole Survivor

PORT DOVER (CP)—Fire engulfed a frame and tarpaper home near here early today and wiped out all but one member of a family of nine.

Mary Rosewell, 16, escaped with serious burns to give the alarm as her father, mother, three brothers and three sisters were dying.

The blaze devoured the crowded home that Port Dover Fire Chief Alex Spain called "a tarpaper shack." The bodies were found lying on their burned-out beds.

Joseph Rosewell, 51, his wife Pauline, 45, and children Mary, 13, Joan, 11, Ella, 9, Joseph Jr., 6, and Terry Allan, four months, died in their sheep.

"We'll probably never know exactly what caused the fire," said Chief Spain, head of the eight - man volunteer brigade that fought the blaze.

Joseph Rosewell turned 51 today and the family had planned to celebrate the birthday, neighbors said.

GIRL IN HOSPITAL

Mary was reported to be in "only fair" condition in Simcoe hospital here. She suffered third degree burns on her hands, arms, shoulders and right thigh.

The blaze broke out shortly after midnight and levelled the 1½-storey house on the Radical Road, four miles west of this Lake Erie community and about 25 miles south of Brantford.

The five-room Rosewell house was erected about 25 feet square, Chief Spain said the roof was burned away by the time his men arrived.

There was no water available at the site and it had to be tructed out from Port Dover.

Health Minister Gives Reason For Running

OTTAWA (CP) — Health Minister Matthew Dymond told a gathering Wednesday that he is seeking the leadership of the Ontario Progressive Conservative party as a "progressive" faith in this province's future.

Dr. Dymond, here to represent the province at the public hearing of the royal commission on health services, was guest of honor at a luncheon in a downtown Ottawa restaurant attended by 200 provincial party officials and supporters. Host was Senator William Brunt (PC — Ontario).

The 1-year - old health minister is one of seven candidates for the Ontario leadership.

Labor Minister Starr, who represents the riding of Hamilton-Wentworth federally as Dr. Dymond provincially, spoke briefly in support of Dr. Dymond's candidacy. The leadership convention is in Toronto Oct. 20-21.

Eight Nuns Engage in Bitter Brawl, Monk With Stick No Help at All

VENICE (Reuters) — Eight Roman Catholic nuns, including a former mother superior, fought a bitter battle over their order after engaging in a free-for-all that ended in a police interrogation.

Magr. Angelo Tomasini, Archbishop of the Bishopric of Venice in north Italy, said the nuns had been reduced to lay status after "grave acts of disobedience" at the Immaculate Heart of Mary Convent near Venice.

The police commandant at San Donato di Piave, home of the convent, told reporters a fight broke out at the convent Tuesday between nuns of two orders.

One of the convent's nuns, Sister Elisabetta Pulignano of the Franciscan Order, said a monk who witnessed in the quarrel hit her and two other nuns with a stick.

Sister Elisabetta said the trouble arose out of a long-standing disagreement between Franciscan nuns and nuns of the Clarisse Order at its convent.

A few hours after Damascus Radio announced the revolt, a communique broadcast quoted by the Associated Press from the Syrian capital indicated opposing military factions might attempt to negotiate.

It said the revolutionary command had met with Field Marshal Abdel Hakim Amer, the Egyptian who commands all U.A.R. forces, and worked out an understanding. Damascus broadcasts said the situation had returned to normal, but did not explain what that meant.

Cairo newscasts ignored the communique, however, leaving in doubt whether anyone had yet gained a victory.

FIGHT IN STREETS

Fighting was reported to have taken place in Damascus' streets. Telephone communications with Damascus were cut immediately after the revolt broke out, and gates were shut at the Lebanese-Syrian border.

Observers believed the revolt was aimed at ending Egyptian domination over its partner in the U.A.R. It followed unrest in Syrian army circles among farmers and traders over anti-capitalist policy and U.A.R. nationalization measures.

Reuters news agency flatly said Damascus Radio announced the Syrian army officers had ended their revolt after the Lebanese-Syrian border. It promises items from Amer that he would take immediate measures to meet their demands.

The broadcast said Amer showed "full understanding" of the situation and that an agreement had been reached for the benefit of Syrian troops and the U.A.R. government. It was not known what demands the rebels made of Amer.

BROKE WITH NASSER

The revolt broke out only two days after Syria's President Nazim al-Kudsi-al-Hamawi, a former Syrian intelligence chief with strongman ambitions, broke with Egypt's President Nasser to Damascus from Cairo, where he had been "self-exiled" in the U.A.R. government.

His resignation left but one Syrian in the cabinet of the U.A.R. government, emphasizing the growing dominance of the union of the two countries established in February, 1958. The two countries are separated by 160 miles of Israeli and Arab territory.

Serraj was reported to have resented being "kicked upstairs" to the vice-presidency last month, because it involved a loss of power. He was also reported to be opposed to Egyptian

Nasser Terms Revolt Worse Crisis Than Suez

CP from AP-Reuters

BEIRUT, Lebanon—Army officers in Syria dominated today in an apparent attempt to break away from Gamal Abdel Nasser's 24-month-old United Arab Republic.

Reason called the revolt more serious than the 1956 British-French-Israeli invasion of Egypt.

Calls for End Of Liquor Permit

GUELPH (CP) — Liberal Leader Wintermeyer has called for abandonment of Ontario's $1 liquor permit.

He told the Guelph Liberal Association Wednesday night the government also should drop the local option veto and license restaurants and resort factions might attempt to negotiate.

It said the revolutionary command had met with Field Marshal Abdel Hakim Amer, the Egyptian who commands all U.A.R. forces, and worked out an understanding. Damascus broadcasts said the situation had returned to normal, but did not explain what that meant.

Cairo newscasts ignored the communique, however, leaving in doubt whether anyone had yet gained a victory.

He said a province-wide law is preferable to a patchwork of local options. However, public hearings on applications for liquor outlets should be a part of the licensing process so that the views of all persons in an area could be expressed.

CITY AND DISTRICT NEWS

DOG CROSSING STREET CAUSE OF REAR-END CRASH

A dog which ran across the intersection of Victoria and Dufferin Ave., was the cause of a two-car rear-end collision early this morning.

Police said a car driven by Robert Algieson, 261 Dufferin Ave., was proceeding west on Victoria and at the intersection the driver had to slam on his brakes in an attempt to avoid hitting a dog crossing the street. Ronald Sammuel Polster of 96 Hastings Drive also proceeding west on Victoria, directly behind the Algieson car, was unable to stop his vehicle in time and as a result collided with the rear of Mr. Algieson's car.

Damage to the radiator hood, bumper and grill of Mr. Polster's car was estimated at $150

Police said no charges will be laid.

Two Arrested After Hastings Store Entered

Two Trenton youths have been arrested and a warrant has been issued for another following a break-in at the Hynes drugstore in Hastings early Tuesday morning.

Ronald Slauenwhite, 17, was apprehended in Hastings Tuesday morning. Gary Ibbotson, 18, was picked up later the same day in Trenton.

Two men were seen in front of the liquor store shortly after 5 a.m. by John Bell, who lives nearby. He phoned Police Chief William McIlmoyle who arrived in time to see a man crawling out of the store through a window. He and another man escaped through fields.

Nothing was stolen from the store. Although a door was damaged and several bottles of liquor were thrown through the open window.

Damage similar to that in the L.C.C.O store was discovered in the brewers retail store across the street, when manager Gordon Hindle arrived at work Tuesday morning.

Nothing was stolen from the beer store.

25 Cannifton Cubs, Scouts Attend Camp

The Mothers' Auxiliary of 1st Cannifton Cubs and Scouts held its annual summer months day School rooms on the evening of September 18th with Mary F. Furmidge presiding. Mrs. Brownson read the secretary's report and Mrs. Hanna read the treasurer's report for the summer months.

It was decided Mrs. Furmidge reported that gifts had been given to Cub and Scout leaders and helpers who had assisted at camps, that 25 boys had attended Cub and Scout camp. Mrs. Furmidge also requested that a letter of thanks be forwarded to Mr. Clarence Bird for the use of his land for camping; also a letter of appreciation to Mrs. Luffman for her generosity.

Mrs. F. Holgate reported spending many cards and flowers during the summer months.

Mrs. Brownson read the correspondence, one being from the Belleville and District executive board, for Scout Auxiliary, urging all members to attend their annual meeting at Holloway St. Church on September 28th at 8 p.m. which Mr. A. Curiette will install the officers for 1961-62. There will also be a "Penny Auction" at this meeting in order to raise funds.

A lovely reading by Mrs. Furmidge. "Carry On." was given.

Brantford Man Named Governor

QUEBEC (CP) — Franklin Richardson of Brantford Wednesday was elected governor of the Ontario-Quebec-Maritimes district of Kinsmen International.

A member of the Brantford Kiwanis club since 1949, he was elected over Harold Burns of Toronto at the closing session of the district's annual meeting.

A provincial boilermaker and former divisional lieutenant-governor of Kiwanis, Mr. Summerhayes will have jurisdiction over 132 clubs in eastern Canada, with a total membership of some 4,700.

EXCITING MONTH

Santa Claus Parade Will Be Held on December 2nd

"By the turnout here tonight, surely someone is interested in having a Santa Claus parade," declared Fire Chief Gerald Vance, chairman of the Santa Claus parade committee.

Earlier predictions indicated that there would be no Santa Claus parade unless more interest was shown by citizens of the city, when only thirteen have received a lot of disappointed youngsters, ——

The emergency meeting was called by Chairman G. Vance. He said "at the meeting held over week ago, it was decided that unless the crowd was bigger than this time, there would be no parade. However, we are not quitters by no means." However, the crowd big enough, he warrants a Santa Claus parade as attended Wednesday night's meeting. It will be held on Saturday, December 2.

Reports of committees was held, new members being elected, some being re-elected from last year.

Chairman Vance stated that there was $1,000 in the bank, all of which was not left over from last year's fund, but, they still need the support of the local merchants. When city council passed its budget this year, the committee was given the same grant as last year, which was $300.

Candy was another problem. The purchasing of the candy this year was left in the hands of Chairman Gerald Vance. He said that 15,000 had purchased about 7,500 small chocolate bars. "This year," said the chief, "I made a contact and if all are in favor, I would like to purchase miniature bars, costing 1½ cents each. 15,000 Samples were passed around, and they were approved. Chief Vance said: "If we get 12,000 or 15,000 of these, surely we will have enough to go around as other years we have always run short."

It was felt by all those present that the parade should commence at 11 a.m. this year as in previous years it had started earlier and very few came around at 11 a.m.

WILL HAVE HORSES

Chief Vance said the reason for the parade starting until 11 a.m. was because some of the children travelled quite a distance.

It was also decided to have the mounted police, horses from Meaford center in the parade again this year, with three bands leading the parade carrying the flags.

A Bellevile-Trenton representative stated he thought the ten-town members could give an important part in this years parade, as last year they went to the hospital and staged a little show for those on the children's ward. They also visited all of the institutions were in the hospital, that day. He said they would like very much to do the same thing again this year.

Thirteen bands have been asked to participate in the parade this year, but it is unknown at how many will soon be able to attend.

Chairman Chas Vance said the parade would be filmed again this year, the same as it was last, by Percy Hamilton of Kingston. He said the parade was filmed for the benefit of those in the old people's home or some community organization who wished to see the parade.

It was suggested that honorable mention be given to those placing first, second and third in the floats and walking personnel. The selection of the judges was left in abeyance until the next meeting which will be held on Wednesday, November 11.

Committees appointed from the Retail Merchants Division; R.C.I. & V.S.; Quinte and Moira Secondary School Athletic Association and Navy; City Council; Industrial Commission; Associated Odd Fellows; Ontario School for the Deaf; Public Works and Police. The floor committee was to discuss this and report back at the next meeting.

City Hall staff members and Odd Fellows Committee were also asked to attend last night's meeting.

Student Groups Visit Museum

History was made recently at the Hastings County Museum in the city when the first school class tour took place.

The students are pupils of the pupils of Mr. Fred Bradley of the BCI.

Among articles of particular interest to the students in the collections of local and European antiques were the large wheeled "Penny Farthing" bicycle, the collection of early school books and other school relics; the household and farm implements, and the 19th century European dolls.

Other student tours are being planned. For groups of 15 or more students, conducted tours will be provided for five cents per person. Arrangements for tours should be made by contacting the museum, 240 Church St., Belleville, at least one week in advance.

The Hastings County Museum is also offering special adult group rates of only 15 cents per person for groups of 15 or more.

To date, more than 700 persons have visited the museum —already acclaimed as one of the finest small museums in Ontario.

Renfrew Wants Champlain's Astrolabe

RENFREW (CP) — Renfrew County, rich Ottawa Valley farming community, has appealed to the secretary of the United States state department for the return to Canada of the astrolabe died by explorer Samuel de Champlain 350 years ago.

Renfrew Peter McConnachie, chairman of the county's publicity committee, said Wednesday no reply has been received and it appears likely the instrument, formerly used for taking altitudes, will remain in the New York Historical Society's museum.

The brass astrolabe, dated 1603, was found by a 14 - year - old plowboy in 1867 near Green Lake on Rose Township on the route taken by Champlain in 1613 on the Ottawa Valley in search of the northern sea. An ornate monument today is commemorated by a cairn on Highway 17 near Cobden, about 90 miles northwest of Ottawa.

Navy League Will Be Headed By 'Pete' Wills

H. F. "Pete" Wills was re-elected to a second term as president of Belleville Branch of the Navy League of Canada at the branch's annual meeting yesterday evening at the Sea Scout "ship" on South Frost Street.

Also elected to office were Dan Adamson, vice-president and chairman of the Navy League Cadet committee; Gerald Pinkston, secretary; Ross Silver, treasurer; Jack Donovan, chairman of the Sea Cadet committee and Bill Judge, chairman of the property committee.

Discussed during the evening's agenda was the acquisition of equipment for the "ship" from the firm currently wrecking lake freighters in Deseronto. Davits, which could be installed on the new dock and used for hoisting and lowering the Corps' boats, bridge equipment, such as binnacle, ship's wheel, navigation lights, telegraph, and sundry other gear which would be valuable as training aids in the Sea Cadet Corps' work were considered.

It was pointed out Sea Cadet committee chairman Mr. Donovan and the Corps' commanding officer, Lt. Pettapiece, RCSC, should make a trip to the wrecking yards and investigate the possibility of this equipment to the Corps.

Plans for the coming year's activities is the Navy League Cadet Corps were announced by Lt. Pettapiece and Petty Officer of the junior corps. Including in the activities is the development of a band, a guard and an extensive sports program.

This weekend the Cadets will be taking a weekend cruise aboard the harbor craft "Ship Ahoy" Deseronto. Kingston, Cadets from the Sea Cadet Corps at Picton and Trenton will be their guests. The local Corps' own power boat, which is also used on weekend exercises which begin Friday evening.

TORONTO STOCKS

Lake Dufault, which started off it all last week, was down 55 cents at 84.25 a share. The stock began to say after results of the second section of the company's first drill hole in Quebec's Normbec field were released. At the close Wednesday it was off five cents; and at the open today earlier this week, it had dropped to 84.45, down 35 cents. It came back to 84.70, then declined rabidly to 84.15 before advancing to 84.25, down 55 cents.

Wiltsey was unchanged at 20 cents on 567,800 shares and continued looked a certainty to trade over the million share mark for the third consecutive day. Area was down seven cents at 81.85 on about 50,000 shares.

On the industrial market there was a slight advance. Great Lakes Power climbed ¼ and Eddy Paper one point. Gains of ⅜ went to Traders Finance A, Interprovincial Pipe Line and Dominion Bridge.

Industrials were ahead 50 on shares, the exchange's index at 108.10, up .10 at 87.44 and western oils .10 at 94.90. Base metals were down at 107.83, off .04.

Great Plains Development and Pacific Petroleum bested western oils with gains of ¾ and ⅝ respectively. Asamera led junior issues with a 15-cents gain at 90 cents.

Speculative fever gripped the market Wednesday as junior base metals swelled volume to the highest in two years.

In a wild trading session junior issues turned over shares in the millions and many showed minor gains.

Lake Dufault Mines, which started it all last Wednesday, dropped for the first time and closed at 84.80 a share, down five cents on the day. It had gone as high as 85.80 earlier. However, assay results on the second section of the drill hole sunk by the company last week were revealed and the stock lost ground. Results were not as good as in the first report but about 14 miles southwest of Cobourg.

The body of Ross Prescott, 21, of Bowmanville, was found about two miles from the boat. He was wearing a lifejacket.

The RCAF was to continue to search today for the three other men, Lon Boyd, 31, and Samuel Sellick, of Oshawa and Donald Terry, 33, of Hampton.

The four left Bowmanville in spite of a small craft warning at dusk Monday. The boat was last seen Tuesday morning but an RCAF plane searching for a crashed T33 jet trainer.

Wiltsey—Coghlan, which has property adjacent to Lake Dufault in Quebec's Norbec field, was the most active issue Wednesday over 1,517,015 shares. It gained 3½ cents at 20 cents. Bidal traded 381,700 shares and advanced 5½ cents to 19 cents.

Volume for the day was 4,681,300 shares, heaviest since March 1956 when it was 6,928,000.

Tuesday's volume was 3,974,000.

Dominion Life led the higher-priced industrials up with a gain of nine points at 129. Loblaw B was the most active issue in the list

Last of Three Imperial Ties

The recipe for empire is simple. Ideally its ties are three-fold, a common allegiance to one monarch, trade and a common religion.

The ideal, however, is seldom achieved in this world. Even in ancient times, imperial ties often fell short of this ideal. Generally the shortcoming was in the realm of religion—conquered people clung to their own gods. Sometimes allegiance was divided, local rulers retaining large measures of autonomy. Almost without exception, however, trade linked the outposts of empire to the heart.

Though missionaries often preceded the flag, the British Empire never came close to achieving any solidarity in religion or culture.

In the British Commonwealth today common allegiance to one monarch is either purely nominal, based on nothing more than sentiment though this may be strong, or officially nonexistent, some of the member nations being republics. From the earliest days, the foreign policy of the Empire and later of the Commonwealth has been determined in London. Insofar as the Commonwealth can be said to have a common foreign policy, it is still drafted in Whitehall. But the growth of the independent Commonwealth countries, and particularly their individual participation in such international bodies as the United Nations, has greatly weakened this tie of "the flag" and must inevitably in the course of years, weaken further.

Of the ancient three-fold ties of empire there remains but one, trade. This, too, has been weakened by economic growth. The day when the extremities of the imperial body depended solely on the imperial heart for their supply of life-preserving economic blood has long since passed. Trade remains a tie, but it has loosened. The heart has suffered more than the limbs from this reduction of circulation.

Britain is now seeking a new source of "blood." The Commonwealth countries, which have failed to provide the demands necessary to keep the heart pumping at a healthy rate, nevertheless are alarmed at the prospect of being deprived of the right of receiving priority when the heart needs a supply of the blood of trade.

Some compromise, acceptable to all, may be reached in the current controversy regarding Britain's proposed entry into the European Common Market.

That, though, may only obscure, for a time, the really important problem facing the Commonwealth.

In the natural course of events, the advanced countries of the Commonwealth will gradually come to depend less and less on the products of Britain's factories and mills, as they themselves acquire modern industrial facilities.

Unless we are to see a period of world-wide economic recession, or unless we are entering an era of economic chaos, Commonwealth trade tie will grow steadily weaker.

Common religion never existent, common allegiance in the form of a common foreign policy already practically non-existent, trade ties weakening—what remains to hold the Commonwealth together?

The only possible effective substitute for these ancient ties of empire is something new—a common political philosophy, not imposed from above but welling up from below. Strange though it may seem, there is a solid trace of this already in existence and some hope that it may grow strong enough, soon enough, to hold the Commonwealth together.

The future years, though, may produce some strange paradoxes. The countries which may appear to have the strongest ties with Britain, by reason of a common language and political and legal institutions which are copies of Britain's own, may not prove the lands in which the ties with Britain remain strongest.

Two of the greatest cohesive forces for today's Commonwealth are the might of Russia and the might of the United States. But countries like Canada and Australia, for example, while forced closer to Britain by fear of communism, do not share the uneasiness over the power of the U.S. which is evident in some eastern lands. If the threat of communism should ever be removed, and if by this time the inevitable weakening of the tie of trade should be far advanced, the English-speaking Commonwealth lands might be much more likely to cut adrift from their Commonwealth associations than would India or some of the newer nations of Africa.

Meanwhile the very wealth of English-speaking lands within the Commonwealth cannot help but make their protests against any change in the existing pattern of British trade sound selfish to the British themselves, whose whole future may very well depend on the decisions which must shortly be taken.

Millionaire Gives Secret

Brantford Expositor

Mr. William P. Lear, Sr., described as one of America's surprising "do-it-yourself" millionaires", has announced he will give up his "secret", which, he says, can make us a million dollars.

A lovely thought, so let's see.

As he sets the rules forth in This Week magazine, they look delightfully simple — at first glance.

(1) Learn to communicate. Learn how to handle the language especially the written, effectively. (This should answer those who fret that it "don't really matter" because "everyone knows per knuckle or not.)

(2) Learn how to quit a job. Having mastered one, go to a better one. (This is fine, provided you have strong enough to escape that too-old-at-30 dilemma.)

(3) Build a Nest Egg. If you want to make money, he says, you've got to have it to invest. (He started with only $300, by the way, so it can be done).

(4) Work an extra hour a day. (Me, I don't count the hours to quitting time, demand a four-day week, insist on a long vacation, worry about an extra coffee-break).

(5) Go into business for self, for a business or a new product don't be afraid to borrow money within reason.

(6) Don't forget common sense. Be sure the new product rifle on paper may be a dud on the market. Ask yourself if you would buy the new product or service you have in mind. Also use a bit of foresight.

Mr. Lear touches on a cardinal rule. Don't be afraid.

The lazy fellow is easy to describe, and easy to recognize. "He's first in line for the coffee break; first to punch the clock, at 5 p.m. and he will probably getting flabby. As soon as he gets home from what he calls "an hour day's work", he collapses in front of the television set. He's reading beer and begins to complain about how tough it is to support a local boy does. "It's those luxury taxes, he often complains."

This, Mr. Lear says flatly, is so much nonsense. Money can be made, is being made. There are 30,000 millionaires in the United States right now, and 90 per cent of them are "new" ones.

Of course, if you are concerned only with "security", raises, pension plans, profit-sharing plans, company hospitalization, you are not really interested in the job, but only want the company to see us a Big Daddy who will coddle you when you are ill, look after you, to your children, care for you in your doddering old age and then bury you — with decorum from petty cash", don't pay any attention to Mr. Lear. In fact, it will be surprising if you have read this far.

Erase Error By Hard Work

Fort William Times-Journal

Chalk up a credit mark for Constable A. H. Harbottle of Vancouver. He is a man who admit he can make a mistake and set things right.

He gave Karoly Lakos, a newcomer from Hungary, a traffic ticket for going through a 30-mile-an-hour zone at a speed of 50 miles an hour.

Lakos was fined $15 and had his licence suspended for a month. It was his second driving offence.

A few days later Constable Harbottle found out that he had really stopped the Hungarian in a 30-mile zone. He was clocked not in a 30-mile zone. He could not locate Lakos.

Harbottle quickly notified the traffic superintendent of his error. The superintendent advised the city prosecutor, who got in touch with the traffic committee in Victoria, and returned the suspended licence and the $15 fine.

STRENGTH for the DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

THE NEW AGE

The society amid which we live today is a fluid society. Individuals and families move often from place to place. Young people sometimes have to associate themselves with several different social groups before they reach their early twenties. We change jobs frequently today. We change our places of residence. We change our friends and our social groupings.

This means that today we must have a policy which we relentlessly pursue. We are meeting new people, new situations, and being reclassified in to different groups all the time. This means that we must have principles upon which we operate and especially principles upon which we choose our new friends.

We shall make a great mistake if we simply take people as they come. There are some ways in which we have to take people as they come, but in the matter of our close friendships we can be, and we need to be, most careful in our discrimination. When we move to a community watch out for the high-rolling set. Be not of their crowd. In business line up with the people who play the game straight. Have as many acquaintances as you can make, but remember that true friendship is very rare. Let your choice of friends be thoughtful and wise. Keep your confidences largely to yourself and share it only with those when you have through considerable experience learned to trust.

"But the invitations say, talk to be warm."

CLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

September 23th, 1941.

Government statistics show that the Hastings County Children's Aid Society was responsible for a total of 333 individual cases throughout 1940, which is far in excess to the number recommended as the maximum. "We would not be not be expected to do justice to this number of cases and look after them adequately, as one hundred children are considered a fair estimate for one worker for which to be responsible," the Provincial Superintendent of the Department of Public Welfare reported to Mr. H. R. Peberty, President of the Hastings County Children's Aid Society. The report showed that Inspector Hutton and Miss Robbins are called upon to look after 49 families receiving Protection Service, 79 unmarried parent cases and 255 children who are in the care of the society, which makes the total of 383 children.

Travellers returning from the northern sections of Hastings and adjoining districts report a plentitude of deer. On several occasions the animals were seen in and about their native habitats, and in numbers that exceed those of other years. Trainridge hunters who will take off for the firing grounds in early October need have no fear of a scarcity of game. Several birds were shot on the new weekend in places other than their usual haunts indicating, in the opinion of veteran sportsmen, a decrease from the partridge population of a year ago.

Invitations have been issued by Warden W. J. Davis, of Hastings County, to attend the annual warden's dinner which this year will be held in the Village of Maynooth on Wednesday, October 1st.

Astronomers' Fear Curtain

New York Herald Tribune

The astronomers seemed justified in raising a protest to the prickly idea of placing 350 million reflectors in space.

In theory the copper needles would create a reflecting band around the earth, careful-for bouncing radio waves in jamproof communications. A rocket launched from Cape Air Force would spew the needles into orbit. After they had, according to the American plan, they'd be would fall back to earth and vanish.

Some celebrated astronomers —including Lyman Spitzer, Princeton, Australians and Belgians —have expressed doubt that the plan will work perfectly. They fear that the band of reflectors could set up enough to block the view of radio telescopes, those new and revolutionary instruments whose sensitive antennae are beginning to collect evidence of cosmic events, such as colliding galaxies far beyond the range of optical telescopes. It is radio astronomy which seems to have the power to unlock the secrets of the universe.

While we do not wish to become involved in the dispute between the radio men and the astronomers, we believe that the International Astronomical Union which met in California recently took the right attitude. Rights in discussing such a project, and in drawing its own conclusions.

We have a feeling that space, vast as it is, is becoming cluttered. The United States and the Soviet Union, now monopolists in the field, will eventually be joined by other nations—all wishing to send their own private packages into space. As yet, there is no rule of law in the cosmos. And the danger exists, as it does in every pioneering venture, that blazing a trail may unwittingly be creating a path of despoliation.

What if the needles prove to be valuable? Finding a needle in a haystack is nothing so difficult as finding one in space.

Salty Mother-in-Law Unharmed by Briny Drinks

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

"Dear Doctor: Is salt good for a person? My mother-in-law in her late 70's says the doctor told her to drink hot salt water. She drinks glasses of it all day, a teaspoon of salt or more in a glass. I've heard of drinking a glass of warm water after breakfast, but never glass after glass of hot salt water all day. Mrs. E. T."

Salt is essential. In varying amounts, it is present in most of the foods we eat. Generally all use more salt than we need. The principle exception, of course, is when in hot weather hard exercise and heat combine to cause so much perspiration that the body loses too much salt.

In today's letter, however, I'd assume that mother-in-law has taken the doctor's advice (whatever it was) too seriously. Nevertheless she's in her late 70's and still able to lift a glass, so obviously her briny drinks haven't hurt her.

Persons with Addisons Disease, a not very common ailment require extra salt. Those with heart, liver or kidney disease usually require a low-salt diet. (A no-salt diet is severely restrictive since many foods naturally contain at least traces of it.

Most of us, even f, as is usually the case, we eat more salt than we need, get rid of the excess without difficulty. In the case of a mother-in-law in the late 70's, I doubt that it is necessary to do anything. And the habit evidently is fixed

"Dear Dr. Molner: Does tension cause pain? Is there a lasting effect on facial skin? C. T."

Yes, slight.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Do you tie in kissing with venereal disease? Can one become infected in this manner? Mrs. J."

"We had a discussion on the subject, and disagreed. I say it is possible, but the chances are very remote. — J. McK."

It's possible to contract syphilis from kissing.

Let me put it this way: If as is remotely possible also, somebody with the disease happened to develop a sore from it as the above, and he or she happened to rub elbows with somebody with a recent cut, abrasion, sore or scratch there, the disease could be so transmitted. It is apparent that the mouth is somewhat more likely to have little breaks in the skin than the elbow. Therefore it is safer to rub elbows than to kiss. Likewise there's the fact that the mouth is sheathed in mucous membrane as other elbows are not. The germ can transmit through a mucous membrance rather than a cut.

Such a venereal disease Can be transmitted by kissing — but the odds are 1,000 to 1 or more that it is transmitted otherwise.

Note To F. J. S.: The basic essential in combatting hay fever is to know the allergist make tests to determine its cause. Avoidance is the usual one, but it is not the only one. Pollen from other weeds, plants and grasses can cause trouble. Hay may also be increased sensitivity to some foods during the hay fever season. Between that time, one is lucky enough to be able to go to a climate where there is little pollen. That's wonderful. But for most of us, desensitization with pollen extracts is more practical. Immunization helps to some degree; sometimes it helps a great deal.

Profit Is Essential

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

A radio and TV commentator of my acquaintance has made interesting observations.

"There are, of course," he told me, "those who don't like me. You can't be in the public eye and not have some who disagree with the majority. And the majority must like me, or I wouldn't be employed for long. But do you know what? I don't like the people who don't like me! No, I'm not being childish. I don't like them. I've met enough of them now, before I knew they disliked me, to satisfy me that the kind of people I don't like don't like me."

There is no doubt that there is a definite pattern of each type has its sympathies and antipathies. Aggressive, masterful men, Bossy women do not usually have a very high regard for timid, retiring persons. Shy, introverted people do not easily warm to other, more aggressive types.

As we can see all around us every day, the best and deepest friendships are between dissimilar types. This is possibly one of nature's little mechanisms for making us support and complement one another.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

ASK ALL OF LIFE

You don't always take out what you put into a situation. But you do take out every bit you put into life.

And the same rewards go to him or her who puts in most. Modern doctrine runs counter to this. Life is not a matter of getting the most for the least. Life is for all, too. Life ripe fruit they hang upon the trees of the Hesperides that one may pick only reach and pick.

Dare to be fearless. Take the gifts and give again. Again and again.

Not the things you can lose are those which have never become a part of you. Learn to live life strongly. Put your life into the very warmth of your heart all that is clean, beautiful and strong.

Ask all of life — then take it.

Potato Salad Made Too Easy

Wall Street Journal

There's no denying it; we just don't view with equanimity all the signs of progress in this world. Certainly not the prospect that our summertime thing is going to be full of instant potato salad.

Real potatoes are a real man's meal, but instant ones they are palatable, if you can escape the fact they disappear to them with salt, pepper and butter. And when they are baked long and lovingly in the oven, or finely sliced and fried back to the ragged edges in a big pot of deep fat, then they are truly delectable.

But in summertime there is some deep affinity between the female spirit and potato salad, which is a concoction of tired spuds which have slumbered long in the refrigerator and are cemented with mayonnaise to odds and ends of old celery, cucumbers and radishes. That the sum is less than the whole of its part makes it a rarity in the culinary arts.

The saving grace, at least at our house, is that what it is some trouble to prepare, it tends to be eaten up. It can be whisked out on a moment's notice; it required a bit of foresight. So when we've been nagged nights this summer ("It's 10 o'clock and you've a day in the kitchen") when we enjoyed instead a juicy man-sized hamburger!

So now, we see by this newspaper somebody has thought up "instant potato salad". All you have to do is drop it in boiling water, and there you are. The very thought made us shudder. We leapt in our house and at long last, invite her out to dinner.

ELECTION TALK

Quebec Monsignoresy, said he regrets the discarding of a formula in which Quebec received federal grants to universities by being given leeway to levy a higher corporation income tax.

Before the vote Lionel Chevrier (L — Montreal Laurier) said that as he listened to Mr. Diefenbaker's speech "a feeling grew within me with increasing intensity that perhaps there is an election in the air."

"This would be a good election issue," said CCF Leader Argue. "It will be an election issue and we shall take it to the people of Saskatchewan to demonstrate that this government has overlooked them, forgotten about them."

Paul Martin (L—Essex East) said the bill is good reason for "throwing this government out of office and putting someone else in who can govern."

There was less chance for comment on the prime minister's statement that the government will not accept the Senate's amendment to the controversial "class or kind" bill.

CALLS IT STRANGE

There was no immediate Liberal reaction but Mr. Argue said the prime minister made a strange statement after "having led the nation to believe that a particular course would be followed" in the case of an amendment by the Senate's Liberal majority.

Through all of this there was not the slightest mention by anyone in the house of a possible election date. There has been published speculation of general federal election in November.

The two issues cited could hardly be more complex.

The tariff bill was designed to provide stronger protection for certain Canadian industries —notably machinery manufacturers—where the law now provides two tariff rates: A high duty for goods of a class or kind made in Canada" and a low rate for others.

One provision would have given the revenue minister power to decide such classifications without having such decisions subject to appeal. After bitter opposition in the Commons, a Senate committee wiped out the no-appeal provision and this was accepted in the Senate, except where the Liberals hold the majority.

OUTLINES TAX SPLIT

The bill setting out the tax split between Ottawa and the provinces for the five years collecting next April 1 is even more complicated.

In brief, it would end the tax-rental system whereby in most provinces the federal government has occupied exclusively the personal and corporation income tax fields, paying the provinces rental for a field which is constitutionally theirs.

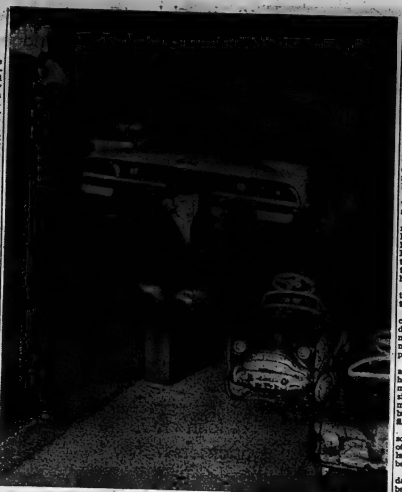
Mr. Diefenbaker stressed that federal guarantee under the new plan that no province will receive less than it already is getting from Ottawa.

"The changes that have been made hurt no one," Mr. Diefenbaker said. "The changes that have been made will actually assure to each of the provinces at least the amount they are receiving today."

He noted that the federal government has offered to collect taxes levied by the provinces provided they are on the same tax base that is used by Ottawa. Freedom for the provinces to vary their rate of taxation was "a prime objective."

CCF DISAGREES

Mr. Argue attacked the government measure as "a retrograde step." With provinces levying taxes at varying rates, it would be "a return to the tax jungle of bygone days." The plan "appears to be designed in some measure to help government sympathetic to the present administration."



Mr. Martin said finance minister Fleming must bear "primary responsibility" for Ontario's new three-per-cent retail sales tax because retiring Premier Frost couldn't get from Ottawa what he was promised in 1959 by Mr. Diefenbaker.

"Utter rot," said Mr. Fleming.

KIDDIE CAR CAREER CURBED — Flagged down by police in Boston at 4.30 a.m. were James Dargan, 5, and his brother, Mitchell, 7. The charge? Horseshoe Pitching Contest Will Feature Plowing Match

This ancient "Sport of rings" is revived during the 1961 International Plowing Match being held next week north of Belleville.

This event to determine the Horseshoe Pitching champion will be run off, or pitched off Friday afternoon, October 6. The rules governing the contest are just about the same as those worked out when the first two neighbors drove a couple of stakes in the ground and started flinging the iron semi-circles around someone in the dawn of social history.

Each Plowing Association in Ontario is allowed one entry made up of a two player team and they must provide their own horseshoes without the horse attached to them.

For those who may want to get in a little practice in the backyard the official distance between stakes is 40 feet; the horseshoes themselves should be 7½ inches in length and 7 inches wide and should weigh 2½ pounds. Peak horseshoes are mechanically out of the game. To score, a shoe must be within seven inches of the stake and the closest shoe scores 1 point. A ringer scores three points — and to hit the jackpot, the shoe must encircle the stake far enough to permit a straight edge to touch both heels of the shoe simultaneously.

Contestants will require late breakfast or an early lunch — the contest starts at 12.30 p.m. and the entry list is expected to be a long one. Officials of the International expect it to be "a really big shoe . . .

EIGHT OF FAMILY

neighbor, Harry Kent whose house is about 300 yards away, said he noticed the fire shortly after he arrived home from work about 12:15 a.m.

"I looked out of the window but didn't see anything when I arrived home," he said. "I went downstairs and almost lay down and when I came up I saw a glow in the sky. I said to my wife, 'It looks like the town dump is getting on a show tonight.' Obviously it sometimes burned on the dump."

"The glow grew brighter. I went outside and saw Mary running up the road screaming."

Kathleen said the girl was naked and burned about the head and shoulders. He hustled her into his car and drove to Port Dover police, who called the fire department while he took the girl to hospital. Kathleen has no telephone at his home.

By the time the eight volunteer firemen reached the scene the house was well ablaze.

Fire Chief Alec Spain sent a call for assistance to the fire department in Simcoe, seven miles to the northwest, while his men tried to rescue the occupants.

The fire was not put out until about 5 a.m., and by that time hours it was not known how many persons were trapped inside. Chief Spain said the remains of all the victims were brought out shortly after the flames were doused.

Early reports said nine persons died. Constable Tom Myers of Simcoe provincial police said later, however, that the total had been established at eight.

Police said two married daughters of the Rosvells are believed living elsewhere.

There was no immediate indication of the cause of the blaze, the chief said. He said it was not possible to determine whether any of the victims were years of the blaze'and if so, the escape, or whether they died in their sleep.

Rosvell was believed to have been employed by the Norfolk County roads department.

Polish Seaman Asks Asylum Before Board

OTTAWA (CP)—A 26-year-old seaman asked the immigration appeal board Wednesday for political asylum in Canada, claiming he might be shot for refusing to join the Communist party and deserting his country if he were deported to Poland.

"You have given us something to think about," said Board Chairman J. C. A. Campbell in reserving judgment.

Franciszek Tobias, who left the Polish passenger liner Batory in Montreal Sept. 7 and was ordered deported by the immigration department for illegal entry, said he knew the risk he had taken.

His hands shook and he spoke haltingly when asked about the 20-year-old wife he left behind.

She will probably be taken to police and interrogated, and she will be denied my pay," he said. "She is living with her family but she will be kept under police surveillance."

Tobias said he became dissatisfied with life in Poland when he began to grow up and saw "what oppression my country was in."

"The people were afraid to talk."

Installation of Equipment To Fluoridate City Water Stalled for Lack of Money

Belleville city council certified this year approved fluoridation of city water supplies, but installation of the necessary equipment is stalled because of the lack of money.

Cost of the fluoridation equipment has been estimated at about $7,500, but the utilities commission say they have no room for its installation.

As result a new building at the filtration plant property to house fluoridation equipment and equipment for the addition of alum to the water has been recommended. The building would also provide storage space for fluoride, alum and chlorine.

Total cost of the building plus the necessary equipment, has been estimated by Gore and Storrie, consulting engineers, at $53,500.

"We just haven't got that kind of money and the cost would have to be debentured," states utilities commission chairman J. A. Weese.

WOULD RAISE RATES

Also, Mr. Weese's feeling on the matter is that the city should assume some of the capital costs involved.

"Without the city assuming some of this cost, the water users would have to pay the shot and this would mean an increase in the water rates," he said.

Mr. Weese points out that if the fluoridation program was not put into effect the water utility could get along with its present storage and other facilities for another ten years.

Following receipt of Gore and Storrie's estimate of costs city council two weeks ago referred the matter to its finance committee which in turn has directed city manager J. R. Reynolds to go into further details with the utilities commission.

There the matter of fluoridation of the city's water supplies rests.

Mrs. Stanley McFarland is a patient in Belleville General Hospital.

Women's Activities

CORONATION W.A.

The first fall meeting of the Coronation W.A. of Bridge St. United Church was held in the church parlor on September 2.

The president, Mrs. G. Shaver, opened the meeting, and expressed a warm welcome to members and guests.

Mrs. R. E. Casey group was in charge of the devotional. Mrs. Ross Gordon read the lesson and Mrs. D. Maddocks led in prayer after which she gave a reading entitled "Responsibility" and also read a poem, "Your Mission."

In the absence of Mrs. S. Ackerman, who has left for Switzerland, Mrs. Casey read the secretary's report; Mrs. D. McLintock gave the financial report, and Mrs. T. Brown thanked the members for their assistance in making the social party a success.

Mrs. A. MacMillan reported on cards sent to members during the summer months, and Mrs. G. Greatrix reported that the rummage sale had been most successful.

Mrs. S. Loynes advised that a homebaking sale would be a feature of the next meeting.

After the business part of the meeting, the ladies adjourned to the auditorium where an interesting film, "The Masters in Art and Play," was shown. This was provided by Stroud's of Belleville and was a travel film about "Spode China." It showed the making of china from the preparation of the clay through the many stages to the final glazing and hand-painting.

Following the film, Mrs. C. O. Summers invited the members to examine the display of Spode plates.

A social half hour and the serving of refreshments by Mrs. Ross' group brought the meeting to a close.

U.L.C.W.

The first meeting of the United Lutheran Church Women was held on September 21, at the parsonage, 27 Melrose Crescent.

The meeting opened with the hymn "May We Thy Precepts, Lord, Revere," which was followed the Scripture lesson taken from Acts 16, followed by a prayer by Mrs. Swance.

Mrs. Wodzak gave her report on the Provincial Convention of the U.L.C.W. held at St. Peter's Lutheran Church, Williamsburg, Ontario. The convention theme was "Pride of Our Fathers".

Mrs. Lloyd Shous, Synodical president gave an address of early women's organizations. Slides were also shown accentuating the U.L.C.W. with the ways and customs of the British Colonial people.

During the summer, an interesting and fulfilling afternoon was spent visiting the Consul Home and the society is planning and hoping to be able to finish another Consul soon.

The program followed with a short skit, "Bringing in the Sheaves", which was performed by Mrs. Wilmes, Mrs. Swance, Mrs. Beecher and Mrs. Pearsem giving an amusing account of the right and wrong ways of inviting ladies to attend the meetings.

The missionary benediction closed the meeting which was followed by lunch.

Safety in Talk

No Disarmament Until Peace Pact Signed Says Stursberg

Last evening the Women's Canadian Club was privileged to have at its initial meeting of the season, in Quinte Alumnae School, Mr. Peter Stursberg, noted writer, foreign correspondent and broadcaster, who spoke on the world situation, mentioning the Berlin question and the disarmament prolonged talks.

During the war he was the first CBC correspondent to cover the Canadian troops in action, and many of his war recordings are in the National Archives. For six years he was CBC correspondent for the United Nations in New York.

One of his books, which took six months to find a title, is called "Agreement in Principle," which he said had engendered many disagreements between the line. Another book, entitled "Journey into Victory" from which he took excerpts for his evening's address, is outstanding in its scope and insight of the troublous times today.

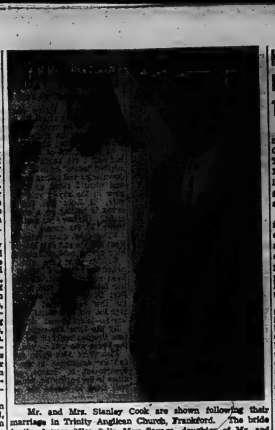
LOVING CORRESPONDENT

In a roving correspondent, Mr. Stursberg visited many strange places; India, where he failed to see its Taj Mahal; Ceylon, but did not see the Tower, not because of inclination, but he just didn't get around to it. However, he did see the Colosseum in Rome, Italy by moonlight, which seated 50,000, where his Italian guide told him of the gladiatorial combats, the gladiatorial combats, the Vestal Virgins, and the burning of the Christians. One of the guide were enjoying the beautiful scenery, two G.I.'s came by, one of whom remarked, "Got a bigger place in Philadelphia!" showing in a variance of public opinions and emotions.

Another excerpt told of his conversation at The Hague where he and his guide were given a public reception, mistaking him for General MacArthur and how they had had to hang up a sheet-covered by singing of all the national songs of the 21 nations, by massed school children.

In speaking about Berlin, Mr. Stursberg said it was an amazing thing about it was the Western powers were in control there for all the years since the war, which would have changed the trouble. Other things had been done, maps showing the destruction lined between the east and west Germany but no attempt made to fang over what he termed "a horrible example of procrastination" the division of Berlin occurred with the division of Germany when the West was allowed to take over the west half of the city.

In mentioning Russia's threat to sign a treaty with East Germany, the speaker felt that such a treaty will eventually be signed and East Germany recognized. In order to save West Berlin, it should be a closed city under a guarantee. He felt Berlin could be the headquarters for the International United Nations as it is better centralized than New York because of its geographical assets.



In speaking of colonialism Mr. Stursberg said it was the cause of breaking up of two empires, and remains a real issue in the world today and the first time a representative has and is becoming a racial issue. Communism exploits the East Dispute and the Hungarian uprising.

Discussing the disarmament question, the speaked stated that these talks had gone on for years and years. Like the League of Nations in the First World War the United Nations, with their Geneva conferences have failed to bring about peace. But the talks are fulfilling a deep public need, and are highly publicized by both sides of Iron Curtain because they give the impression that something is being done, and allay public anxiety by causing the public to view things through colored spectacles, making things appear less grim. The archives are stacked with millions of words in many languages dealing with the reduction of armed forces.

"Disarmament is a scare, and a delusion dealing only with outward manifestos, and not the inward trouble. There will be no disarmament till peace, sort of peace is outlined, and will not cure the pain of a cold war. There have been all kinds of talks, committees and sub-committees, and commissions formed but nothing has been done in the 15 years, with hundreds of meetings. The bright side remains, however, that as long as the talks continue, there will be no war and as long as they keep on talking, continued Mr. Stursberg, there will be no shooting."

A most interesting question and answer period followed, bringing out salient points in connection with the Berlin situation, and other points of interest.

The speaker was introduced by the president of the club, Mrs. Ray Ketcheson, and by Mrs. A. B. McConnell on behalf of the club members.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Cook are shown following their marriage in Trinity Anglican Church, Frankford. The bride is the former Miss Julia May Savage of Frankford. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Cook of Lethbridge, Alberta.

COOK — SAVAGE

FRANKFORD — A lovely wedding was solemnized on Saturday morning, September 9th at 11 a.m. in Trinity Anglican Church, Frankford, when Rev. J. E. Downing of Stirling, Ontario, united in marriage Julia May, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Savage of Frankford, Ontario and Stanley Cook of Oshawa, Ontario, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Cook of Lethbridge, Alberta.

The church was decorated with pink and white gladioli.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a floor length organza over taffeta with fitted bodice, accented by a scalloped neckline and lily-point sleeves with dropped and pointed waistline with full gathered waltz-length skirt. A dainty pearl tiara held her waistleigh synthon tulle veil. She wore a single strand of cultured pearls, and carried a cascade of pink carnations.

Her maid of honor, Miss Shirley Livingstone, of Belleville wore a street-length gown of rose floral chiffon over white taffeta, the fitted bodice had three-length sleeves, a flower of dress was material gathering a small face veil formed the headdress with white accessories. She carried a nosegay of pink roses and tinted small 'mums.

The bridesmaid, Miss Jean Catherine Savage, sister of the bride, was similarly attired in a dress of turquoise floral chiffon over taffeta with matching hat, white accessories and carried a nosegay of pink roses and tinted small 'mums.

Her flower girl, Miss Carolyn Kiddie of Codrington, Ont., wore a dress of pink chiffon over taffeta with white accessories and carried a nosegay of pink roses and tinted 'mums.

The groomsmen was Mr. George Steven of Campbellford and the ushers were Mr. David Gean of Roslie and Mr. Jack Waller of Codrington.

The reception dinner was held in Trinity Parish Hall, Frankford.

The bride's table was decorated with a beautiful three-tiered wedding cake set in white gladioli and-pink carnations with a beautiful low centre pieces designed by Mrs. Gordon Hutchinson of Frankford and pink gladioli and purple perennial asters adorned the tables.

The bride's mother received in a blue lace printed silk sheath with three-quarter length sleeves, accented with a pink carnation corsage, white gloves and blue black shoes and purse.

For the wedding trip to Niagara Falls, and Mr. Grimsby, she bride chose a two-piece double breasted brown plaid dress of cotton acred with brown accessories.

The happy couple will reside at 201 Dearborne St., Oshawa, Ontario.

Showers honoring the bride were held at home of Mrs. Blake Hearns, Frankford. The staff of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, Trenton, Ont., where the bride was employed presented her with a beautiful blanket.

Weddings

McGUINNESS—COURNEYA

TWEED — A pretty autumn wedding took place in St. Carthagh's Roman Catholic church on Saturday, September 2nd, when Irene Mary Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Courneya was united in marriage to Leonard James, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack McGuinness and Mrs. McGuinness, of Read, Ontario.

The ceremony was performed by Reverend Father Baker of Tweed. The bride was loved by Sister Mary Carmel Theresa. The soloist was Miss Sharon Courneya of Tweed.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of silk organza with lace trimmed bodice. The full skirt fell in three-tiered flounces at back.

She wore a crown of rhinestones and pearls with four-tiered shoulder length veil and carried a cascade bouquet of red roses.

The altar was beautiful with candelabra and white gladioli.

Miss Margaret Courneya, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Miss Mary Rita Courneya, also a sister, was bridesmaid. They were in identical dresses of mauve chiffon over taffeta with matching flowered head bands. They carried bouquets of white and mauve tinted 'mums centred with yellow roses.

The groomsmen were John McGuinness, brother of the bride and Gerald Brennan, and the ushers were Messrs. Augustine and Raymond Courneya, brothers of the bride.

The reception was held at Hotel Tweedsmuir where Mrs. Courneya, mother of the bride, received in rose coral and fallis with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The bridegroom's mother wore light blue silk with rose accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

The young couple will reside in Read, Ontario.

ATTEND DREW LUNCH

LONDON (CP)—Viscount Amory, Britain's high commissioner-designate to Canada, was guest of honor Tuesday at a luncheon given by George Drew, Canadian high commissioner to London. Guests included Dorothy Roblin, premier of Manitoba, and Marshal Earl Alexander of Tunis and Lord Tweedsmuir.

Kinette Club Installs 1961-2 Officers

TWEED — The first fall meeting of Tweed Kinette Club was held at Hotel Tweedsmuir on September 18th. There were 18 members in attendance as well as two guests, Mrs. Virginia Batchilder and Mrs. Helen McCallum.

The installation of officers for the coming year was in charge of Mrs. Alice Thompson. Mrs. Kathy Moffatt succeeds Mrs. Janet Whitfield as president, Miss Margaret Rupert is the new secretary and Miss Anne Rashotte the treasurer.

Plans were made for a rummage sale, which is to be held in October. The Kinettes will be selling tickets on a $100 Christmas basket. They will be asking the public to save used toys to be repaired and distributed to needy children at Christmas.

The draw prizes were won by Mrs. Marion Hubbard and Mrs. Janet Whitfield.

The next meeting will be held in October at Hotel Tweedsmuir and will be in the form of a Halloween costume party.

Capacity Crowd Attends IODE Dessert Bridge, Hat Fashions

The Officers' Mess at the Belleville Armouries was filled to capacity yesterday afternoon when the Argyle Chapter of the I.O.D.E. held their annual dessert bridges and showing of "Hats by Woodlee".

Graciously receiving the large number of guests at the door were Lt.-vice-regent Mrs. Hubert Campbell, who acted on behalf of the regent of the Chapter, Mrs. A. Cunningham, who was unavoidably absent due to illness in the family, and Mrs. Gordon Miller.

Chairman of the Argyle Chapter, Mrs. Kathy Moffatt succeeds Mrs. Janet Whitfield as president, Miss Margaret Rupert is the new secretary and Miss Anne Rashotte the treasurer.

Plans were made for a rummage sale, which is to be held in October. The Kinettes will be selling tickets on a $100 Christmas basket. They will be asking the public to save used toys to be repaired and distributed to needy children at Christmas.

Graciously receiving the large number of guests at the Chapter, Mrs. A. Cunningham, who was unavoidably absent due to illness in the family, and Mrs. Gordon Miller.

The Officers' Mess was appropriately decorated for the occasion with numerous arrangements of fall blooms including colourful snapdragon, varigated marigold and bouquets of pink and white colored asters. The serving table situated on the balcony, was attractively appointed with a lace table cloth and centred with a lovely display of white baby 'mums interspaced with tiny red candles.

The guests were served luncheon style where Mrs. Angus Duffy was in charge assisted by committee, Mesdames H. Keller; D. Riordan; L. Digby; E. Bennett and Miss Jean McQuaid, who poured the tea.

Mrs. Hugh Meadowcroft, Mrs. R. Hart; L. Shiels; and Mrs. Smith.

FANCY DESSERTS

There was a huge array of fancy desserts from which to choose including ice cream, jellied fruit salads, luscious squares, fluffy angel and chiffon cakes and all sorts of delicious pies.

The highlight of the afternoon was the showing of "Hats by Woodlee" which was charmingly conveyed by Mrs. Charles Bristol and eloquently narrated by the commentator Mrs. A. S. McConnell, who gave a most descriptive commentary on each of the 15 models shown after warmly welcoming the guests. Mrs. L. Pritchard provided at the piano throughout the showing with a lovely rendition of appropriate background music.

The attractive models who displayed the numerous creations in professional-like manner were: Mrs. Cec Burtt; Mrs. Joan Elliott; Mrs. Marilyn Bristol; Mrs. Vera Fairman; and Mrs. Rayma Smith.

HEAD-HUGGING HATS

It appears that the millinery picture this fall will be built on hats that hug the head, or rise high — either snuggling the hair, or completely covering it. They are shown in such dressy fabrics as velvet, fur or "fabric" fabric and made trest fabulous by velvet bands or rhinestone trimming. The trimming provides interest and dazzling names from a single jewel to a beaded strand from one festoon to a bridal, and from a touch of fur, to more expensive proportions. Contrasting color trimmings provides the accent, at other times there is a contrast in fabric. Hat veils are also always numerous in fall collections will appear in even greater numbers this year and in a wider selection of furs. The trend will be to finely angora-type felts which are toned and shedded to make them almost indistinguishable from natural furs. Most of the styles will have that pulley look but are decidely light in weight.

LOVELY HEADDRESSES

A few of the lovely headdresses shown through the courtesy of Woodlee's and in charge of Miss Heidi Smith were: a rest profile hat in peacock green with tone and green leather trimming; a black fur pill-box style, attractively finished and topped with black satin; a high crowned furry Italian import, of black velvet ed pile and trimmed with brown ribbon; also another import of white fur, strategically veiled with black net; another was a high crowned toque style, in the popular new magenta color; also a white furry deep cloche in the 1930 styling. One of the most unusual shown was a white moose imported from Norway with black feathers and narrow black velvet brim; and perhaps one of the most eye-catching was a Dior creation of pretty rose petals in shades ranging from shocking blue velvet bend. Along with the showing of these various fall creations and meeting much applause was the popular sweater styled hats, which are being sold for the fast approaching ploughing match, by the Belleville Hoppy Club.

At the conclusion of the showing of hats, Mrs. McConnell expressed sincere appreciation after which bridge was enjoyed for the remainder of the afternoon.

'Lines on Life'

By Dr. Stuart R. Rosenberg

It sometimes comes as a great shock to parents to learn that their adolescent children actually prefer the Centre School on September 25.

President Ron Lee welcomed all present and made a few remarks about Home and School Association. In his remarks he stated that a Home and School Association should not be looked upon as a "social club" but as a constructive teacher-parent organization working together for the benefit of the children, both parents sharing the responsibility equally.

Principal H. R. Moorcraft was introduced and spoke briefly about the importance of the child and of individual differences. Often there is a lack of understanding and communication between the school and the home. It is the close cooperation between teachers and parents, through Home and School, which bridges this gap. Other members of the staff were introduced.

GUEST SPEAKER

The guest speaker for the evening, Mrs. Pat Downes, the kindergarten teacher, was introduced by Mr. Lee.

Mrs. Downes' topic on informative talk on the principles and purpose of a kindergarten program. She stated that kindergarten gives a child a sense of security and teaches him to share things with others. Usually, she said, it was found that the child who did not attend kindergarten had a more difficult time during the first few years of school than a child who had. Mrs. Downes outlined a day's program in kindergarten and some of the activities.

The program was handed over to Miss Ann Spotts, program committee chairman, who, with the assistance of Mrs. Shirley Calkin, vice-president, introduced some entertaining and get-acquainted games.

Refreshments under the convenorship of Mrs. Barbara Dowbyhus and Mrs. Jenny Taylor, were served by the members of the executive.

The next meeting will take place on Monday, October 16th, when the guest speaker will be Deputy Mayor Robert Temple.

Kindergarten Purposes Given at H-S

The King George Home and School Association held its annual "Get Acquainted Tea" for the parents of new pupils to the George School on September 25.

Province-Hopping

By Mary Moore

Between Albert Head and William Head west of Victoria on Juan de Fuca Strait is the one of the most beautiful and picturesque spots in Canada and I am there.

After twelve years' absence I have been looking for this cherished place and for seven days I have been heading here.

Last Spring on Cyprus Island I was bewildered and perplexed at the U.S. tourists who were doing what they call "island-hopping." Why couldn't they be satisfied with the beautiful place they were on for more than one day?

Dinner Menus

THURSDAY

Veal Scallopini; Fluffy Rice; Green Peas; Celery Hearts; Sliced Peaches; Peanut Brownies (see Wednesday); Tea.

SUNDAY

Roast Sirloin of Beef au Jus; Crisp Yorkshire Pudding; Carrot Dice with Kernel Corn; Marinated Sauerkraut Pickled Tomatoes; Lettuce Cream Pie (see Tuesday); Pseudo Devonshire Cream (see Tuesday); Coffee.

But now I am province-hopping and am able to rationalize my one-day stops just fine. In seven days I have been in seven plans starting from Mallon and stopping at Port William, Winnipeg, Brandon, Regina, Lethbridge, Calgary and Victoria — the last two flights being in super de luxe Vanguards.

I know that there is a great deal of mining and lumbering and other business activity in northern Canada but it was a revelation to me to see Canadian businessmen alight from our big plane and walk across the tarmac to a waiting company plane and take off for the North almost before my luggage was delivered.

If it is fair to describe a province by its color from the air, Manitoba could be described as gold and brown; Saskatchewan was tan and brown dotted with frozen-over lakes (first 141); and Alberta was a neat geometric design in brown and silver green, with the glorious foothills with frosted tops looming into view. If I watched carefully I often had glimpses of the trans Canada highway below.

The most sophisticated flying passengers never get the thrill of flying over the Rockies that I had. As for me, it was good stuff. With a map on my lap marked with our air route, I ticked off each range and river and lake as we flew over. On the Alberta side the peaks were snow-covered (Sept. 16) Over Kootenay valley the shorelines painted the Kootenay Lakes when she brought us a grapefruit and ham — and complete breakfast. After we passed Penticton we caught sight of Mount Baker in the state of Washington. We were then requested to fasten our seat belts for landing in Vancouver. The flight from Calgary had taken only one hour and thirty-five minutes.

I was impressed with one of the desserts that were served between Regina and Lethbridge so much so that I asked my stewardess, Margaret Murphy, for permission to try out my idea on her seat belts for landing in Revelstoke. It looked like an inclusive Oatmeal Date Square (Multitmontial Cake) but I detected a different flavor in the filling and I discovered walnuts and orange in it. I produced a reasonable facsimile from the following:

AIRLINES DATE SQUARES:

Dough: One cup sifted cake flour, ½ cup brown sugar (light), ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup shortening, 1¼ cups quick rolled oats, ½ teaspoon milk. Sift the flour with the sifted sugar and salt. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles meal. Add rolled oats and mix, then milk and blend. Pack half of dough into 8 x 8" greased pan. Spread Date-Orange-Walnut Filling (below) over evenly. Cover with remaining dough, patting it down evenly. Bake about 40 minutes at 350 deg. Fahr. Cut into pale cold on top. When cool cut into bars or squares with sharp knife, while still in pan. Date-Orange-Walnut Filling: 1 1-3 cups sugar, 1 cup water, 2 tablespoons butter, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 1-2 cups sliced dates (well-packed), juice and grated rind of 1 orange, ¼ to ½ cup chopped walnuts. Combine all ingredients in order and cook over low heat, stirring frequently until of spreading consistency. Cool somewhat before spreading on unbaked cookie dough.

4-H Leaders School Plans Activities

STIRLING — A training school, for the leaders of the various 4-H Homemaking Clubs in South Hastings was held in Stirling on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week. LEADERS' LUNCHEON

On Tuesday the various leaders were guests at a luncheon provided by the Ontario Department of Agriculture with Miss Lane as hostess at Martha's Tea Room.

Coordinated Twosome

By VERA WINSTON

A good find is the coat and dress that go together beautifully but can be worn separately.

The loose, full coat of this twosome is of brushed wool, inch-wide seams down each side and for collar trim are interesting details.

The woolknit dress is of the same beige tone as the coat but has an over-check of taupe. V-shaped seaming at the hip yoke and slit pockets continue from the slanting line of the dress.

DENIES CHARGES

LA CORUNA, Spain (AP) — Bishop Eduardo Boza Marvidal said on his arrival Wednesday night he and 131 Roman Catholic priests were expelled from Cuba purely because they defended the cause of their religion. He denied Castro accusations that he and the priests were involved in Cuban politics or plotted against the Castro regime.

Will Write Master's Thesis On Economic Geography

MONTREAL (CP) — Michele Jodoin, slim, dark-eyed and 22, has gone to Senegal to work on a thesis and, she hopes, to help Africa.

"I am going to write my master's thesis on economic geography," she said. "I will have to do some original work for it which, I hope, will help the country eventually."

Michele, a graduate in geography and also studied geology at McGill University, has a year's scholarship at University of Dakar.

"I seem to feel a responsibility towards these people," she says of the Africans. "They have had riches grasped from them and received nothing in return."

Miss Jodoin approves of the Peace Corps and of Operation Crossroads Africa—"they show we are aware of these things." After consideration she added:

"I hope they don't just mean we are afraid of these people, or afraid that others will get there first."

She believes the West is not making the most of its wealth.

"The technical advantages we enjoy should free people . . . so they can advance intellectually. But many just spend their time looking at television."

Such interests won't do for Michele. She has mapped out a future for herself which includes study of the economics of underdeveloped countries for her doctorate and then possibly service with the United Nations.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Andrew E. — They don't care what I become of me.

Mr. T. E. — He resents my remarriage.

* * *

Andrew E. — My father is suddenly pretending he cares about me. But it's only because the Court is forcing him to. I'm not going to be in his custody.

I'm 16 now. My mother died when I was 14 and food then on, different relatives turned up at the house to take care of me. There were my grandmothers, aunts, a great-aunt and some cousins. But they stopped coming last year when my father got married again. As far as I'm concerned his new wife is just another person around the house. She's nothing to me.

He was sure in a hurry. We never discussed his getting married again. He just brought her to and we were to see as a stepmother. I don't need her. Neither of them really care a hoot about me.

* * *

Mr. T. E. — What does a man do, left alone with a teenage son? Andy resents my marriage and has been trying to hurt my wife and me. That's the only way I can explain his recent unrest. He invited a friend into a fancy restaurant, ordered a big meal for both, ran up a substantial bill and then pulled his joke. "I have no money," he told the waiter. Of course, I made good to save him from jail.

Now I wonder whether it wouldn't have been wiser to let him sit in a cell and meditate a little about how good he has things.

I thought having a woman in the home again would be perfect. My wife isn't a typical stepmother. She really tries to win Andy. She urges him to bring his friends home and always takes his part.

* * *

The Council — Here we see the expected trip-ups when the cart is put before the horse. Believing Mr. E. in error to figure out his mixed-up son and "get close" to him, he might have helped prevent the present impasse if he had taken his son into confidence long ago. Evidently the abrupt "foisting" of a stepmother upon Andrew was the climax of a series of emotional shocks. The help of a skilled third party was needed here to prepare the boy, his father and the second wife for the complex design for living Mr. E. was planning.

The "third party" could have been a pastor, a lawyer, a doctor or a club youth-worker. Now unfortunately, it's a probation officer. But the good work can still be done, namely, by really introducing these three people to each other in terms of who they are and what they mean to each other.

Nowadays much attention is paid to "orientation." This means acquaintance with new surroundings and requirements. Yet, Mr. E. attempted to bring the second Mrs. E. into "social" with no warm up, plunk into the heart of Andrew's life. Evidently the rest or edges of his recent bereavement were still paining him and this added salt provoked to a higher degree. Then he got into trouble, both as a means of striking back, and as a desperate appeal for help.

Perhaps with a patient arbiter calling the shots, these three well-meaning people can start all over. Each must be helped to understand the other, and then to accept the other's role in his life. Limits, of course, must be defined. The new Mrs. E. can aspire to being a friend, not "mother", to this 16-year-old. Together with his father, and the "third party" And new trusts—she can prove that part of caring for each other is caring what becomes of him.

Once Andy joins the team, instead of opposing it, the journey to a restored home can resume.

S.S. Holds Rally Service

RAWDON — On Sunday morning Mount Pleasant-Rawdon United Church was decorated with potted geraniums, autumn blooms and a basket of roses for the annual Sunday School Rally Day service.

Mr. Orno Sharp presided and the theme was "The Church is There". The service opened with "O Lord of Heaven" and a special responsive selection followed by "God of Grace and Glory". Shirley Potts led in the responsive prayer; Janet Fletcher read the Bible lesson and a special hymn was sung "Our Church Proclaims God's Love and Care".

Kenneth Smith, Allen Wrightman, Fred McAdam and Don Potts gathered the offering which Kelvin Sharp dedicated.

Barbara Williams read a story on the theme, "The Church is There". Judy Cooney contributed a vocal solo with Mrs. Kenneth Weever as accompanist.

The pastor, the Rev. W. G. Fletcher gave a special message. Several children were presented for baptism. The service closed with "From Ocean Unto Ocean", being sung.

SPEAKING of MANNERS

PATRICIA LEWIS

MAIL CALL

Question — When a young man gives his fiancee a diamond engagement ring, should his mother give her an engagement gift, if so, what would be appropriate?—W., Chicago, Ill.

Answer — It's customary for the man's mother to give his fiancee a gift as a way of welcoming her into the family. Usually, it's a piece of heirloom jewelry, like a pin, a watch, a necklace or bracelet, or a prized possession that has been in the family for years and which you'd like to pass along to your sons bride.

* * *

Question — I'd like to give my husband a surprise party for his fiftieth birthday. He has several close friends in his office whom I'd like to invite, but, since they've never been to our home socially, I was wondering if this would be correct. — Mrs. C. S., Philadelphia, Pa.

Answer — Since they're good friends at the office, they probably would like to help celebrate this milestone with your husband. It would be proper to invite them along with their wives.

Question — We're giving a party soon, and, the way the guest list shapes up, there will be one bachelor and an unmarried girl from my office. The rest are married couples. I'd like to ask the man to escort my friend, but, since they've never met, I'm not sure if this would be the proper thing to do. — Mrs. A. S., Chicago, Ill.

Answer — Most bachelors are used to this sort request, so you needn't be reluctant to ask. The woman would probably rather be escorted than attend alone. If both are agreeable, give him her phone number and let him make arrangements about when and where to pick her up.

* * *

Question — How soon after a dinner at another's home should one issue a reciprocal invitation? — Mrs. C. V., Duluth, Minn.

Answer — It doesn't have to be the following week, but an invitation shouldn't be allowed to lag to the point where it's completely forgotten. A month to six weeks later would be time enough to get together again.

Quinte F.N. Enjoy Wild Bird Slides

Mr. Alden Strong of Westport, was the speaker at the September meeting of the Quinte Field Naturalists.

After the business and reports had been dealt with, Mrs. Watson introduced the speaker who spoke of his interest in nature and told of raising two young owls to maturity this past summer and showed slides of birds that summer in the Westport area or spend all year there. There were chickadees, woodpeckers, nuthatches, red winged blackbirds, prairie warblers, scoup, canvas backs, red headed, buffer heads and mallard ducks. The most beautiful birds were wood ducks.

The evening closed with refreshments.

ANCIENT RULE

The rule that women should not appear in church bareheaded led to universal use of the headcloth or kerchief in Roman Catholic Europe.

Woman Steer-Riding Champion for 25 Years

CALGARY (CP) — For 26 years Mrs. Charles (Bertha) Whyte has been the undisputed cowgirl steer - riding champion of Canada.

In 1921 Mrs. Whyte—she was Bertha Larraway then—finished in top place in the women's steer-riding event at the Calgary Stampede. That was the last year such a competition was held.

Mrs. Whyte began riding steers in 1884, a year in which the then governor-general, Lord Byng of Vimy, and his wife attended the stampede. They saw Bertha tossed from a Brahma Bull's back. When Bertha emerged from the first aid room Lady Byng was there to give her the bouquet which had been presented to the governor-general's wife earlier in the day.

Born in Killarney, Man., Bertha came with her parents to Calgary 52 years ago, when she was a little girl. She learned to ride at ranches near here. Her husband, Jack, was a jockey before they were married.

"Now it would take two horses to carry either of us," Mrs. Whyte comments.

Mrs. Whyte, a grandmother now, hasn't been on a horse for 30 years, but she still recalls proudly that she retired a champion.

Bowling Loop Ex. Holds First Meeting

TWEED — The executive of the Ladies Bowling League held its first meeting at the home of Mrs. Bruce Price, Actinolite on Tuesday evening. The meeting was in charge of Mrs. Kay Allen, Marlbank, the new president.

Rules were drawn up for the coming year and the league is looking forward to another good year of bowling. It is hoped that there will be eight teams entered this season.

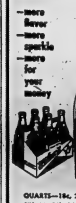
After the meeting Mrs. Price served refreshments.

Health League Investigates Effects of TV on Children

How is TV affecting children's health? Is it reducing their outdoor activities? Is it producing serious eyestrain and, last but not least, what effect is TV having on children's emotional and behavior problems?

According to the Health League of Canada, researches made on children's televiewing by the use of questionnaires in the early 1950's revealed that many parents thought their children's vision was suffering. They also reported that the children slept less, played less and were more nervous and disturbed. In more recent years, however, these complaints are voiced by a small percentage of parents. Parents are insisting that undue fatigue and eyestrain be avoided by having the TV picture properly focused, that children sit at the right distance and the room is properly lighted. Another important "must" is the encouragement of proper rest periods — away from the TV set.

T.V. AND EMOTIONS



Opinions differ greatly on the relationship of televiewing to emotional problems and undesirable attitudes and behavior. In a committee report to the American Medical Association it is stated that "reduction of creative activity and time spent in physical play tends to increase emotional problems among the children". In testimonials before a Senate Committee investigating Juvenile Delinquency, it was indicated that a relationship may exist between televiewing and juvenile delinquency. The well-adjusted child may be unaffected by seeing violence and crime on TV, while the less well-adjusted child may be affected seriously. The opinion was also expressed that repeated exposure to crime and violence may blunt children's sensitivity to human suffering."

This is a most disturbing commentary on TV programming. With increasing emphasis being placed on horror and crime movies such as "Twilight Zone," "Way Out," and Boris Karloff's "Thriller," to say nothing of the sagacious Westerns with their use of legalized murder, brutality and sadism, it may soon become necessary to label these TV programs "For Adults Only."

RED CHINA 'AHEAD'

PEKING (Reuters) — Li Fuchun, Chinese Communist vice-premier and a leading economic planner, said today that this year the Chinese people fulfilled "far ahead of schedule" major targets for industrial production set for the second five-year plan. He was speaking at the opening of a Polish trade fair.

A New World of Worth from Chevrolet-tomorrow!

You'd expect Chevrolet to do it — and it has! Traditionally Chevrolet has been the leader who so deftly pinpointed the needs of Canadian motorists — and then so aptly developed the right cars to fill those needs! Now Chevrolet has done it again! From its history of achievement in engineering perfection, mechanical durability and luxurious comfort, Chevrolet takes another significant step into the future. And now in 1962, Chevrolet invites you to enter a New World of Worth.

Within Chevrolet's New World of Worth you'll find the widest choice of automotive excellence. For here are cars to please everyone — without exception! You'll instantly recognize Chevrolet's traditional craftsmanship. You'll see it in the high-styled Jet-smooth Chevrolet, Corvair with sports car spirit and the Corvette, America's only true sports car. And it is again apparent in the unique engineering of the totally new Chevy II line — the line that rounds out Chevrolet's New World of Worth. Only Chevrolet could do it — and it has! Enter now this New World of Worth at your Chevrolet Dealer's!

CHEVROLET

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

'62 Chevrolet—Rich new styling with Jet-smooth ride

Chevrolet Bel Air Sport Coupe

Chevrolet Impala Convertible

Here's all the car anybody could want. Fresh-minted style that comes to a clean-sculptured climax in a new Impala Convertible. A road-gratting Jet-smooth ride. A new choice of V-8 skedaddle. New Body by Fisher interiors that give wide berth to feet, hats and elbows. Beauty that's built to stay beautiful — right down to new front fender under-skirts for extra rust resistance. And here's more than ever to please you from the make that pleases the most people, Impalas — that take the high price out of feeling luxurious; Bel Airs — that ride as smooth as they look; Biscaynes — that sacrifice not one iota of comfort as they go their thrifty way. See your Chevrolet dealer and talk over this newest version of Canada's traditional leader!

Chevrolet Biscayne 2-Door Sedan

CHEVY II — A NEW THRIFT CAR FROM CHEVROLET!

Chevy II Nova 400 Convertible

Chevy II 300 4-Door Sedan

Chevy II 100 4-Door Station Wagon

It's the car just about everybody's been trying to build. But it remained for Chevrolet to come through with it. Here are all the time-tested virtues you expect from Chevrolet plus surprises you've never seen. A full line of saucy new-size models built a new way for easier service and maintenance. Thrifty? Only four cylinders to feed, or six if you like extra scamper. Roomy? Sedans seat six solid citizens. Price? A most pleasant surprise (with the heater-defroster at no extra cost!). Chevy II doesn't stint on anything — except gasoline! Its power plants both have hydraulic valve lifters and an 8.5 to 1 compression ratio. There's Chevrolet's famous Powerglide automatic transmission available. And there's a suspension system that includes Mono-Plate Rear Springs — part of an advanced, road smoothing suspension. But high on Chevy II's list of virtues is the comfort and style that until now has been known only in cars costing much, much more! And it's yours to enjoy in all three series of Chevy II — in all nine models. There's the Chevy II 100 series — beauty built for every budget. The Chevy II 300 — function with a flair in a family car. And the Chevy II Nova 400 series — sensibility at its Sunday-best. Choose one — and you get everything you want in a car — including the dollars-lower price tag!

ALL THIS IS YOURS IN A CHEVY II

- Body by Fisher — solid strength and lasting value
- Choice of 2 Power Plants — a frugal four or almost-as-thrifty six
- Choice of 2 Transmissions — 3-speed Synchro-Mesh or Powerglide
- Industry-new Suspension System — Mono-Plate Rear Springs . . . Frictionless and squeak-free
- Power Features — Steering and brakes optional on all models
- Unique Unitized Construction — two box-like sections for extra strength
- Exclusive Interiors — Handsome upholstery in a choice of color combinations

Corvair-sports car spirit... family car function

You'll never find joyful excitement wrapped up so carefully with economy, elegance and sports car dash as it is with Corvair for '62. There's the sure-footed agility that stems from Corvair's rear-engine and weight distribution — complete with its gas-saving ways. There's the sport appeal of bucket seats* — and there's the kiddies' romping room that comes when the rear seat is folded down. Certainly, the nine models of Corvair for '62, including the new Monza Station Wagon, combine the best of family comfort with a sports car flair — and an eye on economy!

Corvair Monza Station Wagon

* Standard on the Monza Club Coupe, optional at extra cost on the Monza 4-Door Sedan and the Monza Station Wagon.
 Optional on 500 and 700 series coupes and sedans.

2nd Sidney

END OF SIDNEY—The Bay of Quinte Institute held its September meeting at the home of Mrs. Will Yeteman, on Wednesday evening with 23 members present.

The roll-call was answered by bringing an antique and telling its history. There were many interesting things shown such as a spear from the Spanish American War, some very old china from England, a pure wool paisley shawl worth $300 at the time this lady received it from Scotland, a dagger, the old family Bible of the Meyers family with a group picture of that family, a tin type of Mr. G. Clapps mother and father at Niagara Falls, on their wedding trip, a juice glass from Ireland given to a members mother, the Belleville Fair display and Mrs. Clayton Curtis for supplying the flowers for it.

It was decided to ask several branches of the W.I. if they would like to share in adopting a child overseas.

An invitation was received from Chatterton Branch asking to attend their meeting on October 12th at Stirling when they will have as speaker, Mr. Rowe of the Dept. of Transport, and also arranged that Mrs. J. Palmer and Mrs. Ross Stickle attend the Leaders Training School at Stirling on November 7 and 8.

Mrs. Dunn thanked the W.I. for a card they received on the death of an aunt. It was decided to enquire into going to the Ice Capades later on.

A series of card parties will be held this winter starting on December 1st with Mrs. J. Reid, Mrs. Clayton Curtis and Mrs. A. Dunn as convenors at Hardersen School.

Mrs. Clarence Holmes of Belleville, took charge of the Historical Research program, opening with an old song, "Silver Threads Among The Gold" followed by Mrs. Blind Micc with the ladies in three groups to sing this.

How interested are people in Historical Research and the new museum at Belleville? asked Mrs. Holmes. "If you have any antiques you would like to share with the public, they would be very glad to receive them at the museum, where they would be tagged and recorded.

Mrs. Holmes gave several items, one being that in 1874 was a recorded year of drought in Canada. She also gave a reading called, "The Lady on the Cow-catcher".

This lady was Lady Agnes MacDonald, the wife of the prime minister, Sir John A. MacDonald. In 1886 the C.P.R. put a line through the Rockies to the coast and Mr. and Mrs. MacDonald were asked to go on the first trip.

Lady Agnes looked the train over and she wanted to know what that "Big thing that stuck out in front of the engine was." They told her it was a cow-catcher. Well it sort of took her eye and she said that was where she was going to sit on her journey through the mountains to the coast. The rest were horrified and told her it was too dangerous but she got up and sat down and that is where she stayed to the end.

At one place the train was flagged to a halt because the track was washed out ahead of them but this didn't bother Lady Agnes, she thought this was a fine place to ride to see the country and she even coaxed Sir John to sit beside her for a short distance but he soon went back to the engine cab for a more comfortable seat.

Mrs. Holmes put on a contest with Mrs. Donald Sandercock winning the prize.

"Auld Lang Syne" was sung with the ladies joining hands after which a social half hour with lunch was enjoyed.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank White on October 11th.

Police Ground Six-Year-Old From Driving

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP)—Terry Appleby, who may be the only motorist ever to drive himself to kindergarten, has been grounded by city police.

This week they laid a charge against his father, George Appleby, of permitting a person under the age of 16 to be to be exact—to operate a motor vehicle.

Mr. Appleby, who appears in court Friday, isn't denying the charge. He proudly claims that young Terry has been piloting the family station wagon for six months, can drive in the heaviest downtown traffic and park better than many adults.

Terry is only average size for a six-year-old but big enough to see through the windshield and reach the accelerator and brake pedals on the station wagon, a compact model with automatic transmission.

It all began last spring when Terry, a kindergarten pupil at St. Albert School first indicated to his father that he would like to take up driving.

"We were at our camp at Kartagami at the time," Mr. Appleby recalls. "Before this he had sat on my lap and steered."

"I decided, because of his size, to let him try to operate the vehicle on the camp road and the first time he did pretty good job.

He started driving to kindergarten last spring with his father beside him and he continued when he started the first grade this fall.

For his driving experience, Terry's father is liable to a fine of $5 to $10 but worst of all, it appears Terry's driving days are over as he will be no other 10 years. He's now being driven to school.

The six-year-old brother has already got the driving habit. He sits on dad's knee and steers but Mr. Appleby admits: "He's not too good yet."

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Johnson and children have moved into the house owned by Mr. John Thompson.

WON'T DRINK — Twenty-two-month-old Craig Walt who hasn't tasted a drink in eight months, scornfully tosses aside a glass of milk. Doctors are not too concerned since he eats nine cans of custard daily, and these they say contain enough liquid to maintain a normal diet. Craig, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Walt of Red Deer, Alta., is the youngest of six children.—(CP Photo).

22-Month-Old Baby Has Not Had Drink for 8 Months

RED DEER, Alta. (CP)—Twenty - two - month - old Craig Walt hasn't had a drink for for eight months.

Yet the son of Mr. and Mrs A. J. Walt is in good health.

Last fall Craig threw a bottle from his crib and since then has refused to take any kind of fluid although his mother makes daily attempts.

For eight months the baby has lived solely on baby - food custard.

Craig eats nine tins of custard daily and physicians say the 43 ounces of custard give him 32 fluid ounces, normal liquid intake for the lad's age.

Craig, youngest of six children, is not walking yet but doctors hesitate to say there is any connection with this tardiness and his diet. They're not alarmed at the situation

His mother is only mildly alarmed.

"I'm weren't so darned confident, I'd worry more," she said.

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS:—My son is 17, well liked by both girls and boys at high school, and has a pretty good time.

He is doing poorly at his studies and I know he can do better because at public school he was at the head of his class. But June he failed in four subjects and was not in the least concerned. Says everybody fails sometimes! And simply expected to keep on going to school.

This is not easy for me, as I am a widow and work hard to support him and his two young sisters. Yet I hate to be mean to him or spoil his fun. What do you think?—VIERA.

DEAR VIERA:—Would you rather spoil his fun later? Life won't spare him like you do.

He must be jarred. If you can't do it, get an uncle, a school teacher or close friend, preferably male, whom he will respect. If he doesn't appreciate school, take him out and insist that he support himself. A year of work—heavy, unrelenting toil, can bring even a spoiled teen-ager (like yours) to his senses.

* * *

DEAR DORIS:—I read your column every day, and found the item on waitresses and tipping very amusing. I was a secretary for a big company before I was married and had to stay after five p.m. many nights, without tipping or a thank you. Sure I had a good salary and never said a word, because that was my job; but waitresses are very well paid also.

Tipping on this continent has gone too far, and if you don't tip just look at their faces! Abroad they must pool their tips and divide them amongst all the employees. That way those behind the scenes get their share.

What about tipping your mailman, breadman, milkman, etc.? Stop complaining or get another job behind the scenes—one that never tips, like mine!—MRS. A. K.

DEAR MRS. A. K.—Ourwaitress was not complaining but explaining. Perhaps you have a point, but we can't stage a one-man revolt against the Canadian custom of tipping, even if we would like to.

* * *

DEAR DORIS:—My problem is with girls. I don't have any trouble in getting them to go out with me, but the problem I have is getting them to stick.

I am 18. I don't go anything to hurt them, but I have had four steady girl friends and none of them seem to care now. I don't know what went wrong. I would do anything to get the last one back but I don't know how to go about it.—SAM.

* * *

DEAR SAM—If you are clueless, so am I. But I have my suspicions.

High school boys are disliked by the girls if they are careless and poorly groomed; if they are thoughtless and have poor manners; if they are disrespectful; if they are sex driven; if they are loud.

Take yourself in hand. Get your mother or a good friend to help you see what's wrong. You may not get the old steady back, but if you clean up, brush up on manners and smarten up, you can get in the running again for the next slick chick that comes along.

* * *

DEAR DORIS:—Your suggestion on how I could train myself in English is most interesting—I have already started putting it into practice.

As far as my accent is concerned, I think I will just forget about it. My friends usually say that I should not try to lose it, so it must not be so bad!

Thanks for your wonderful help.—MISS L. S.

* * *

DEAR MISS L. S.:—Tres bien! Your accent is a part of you now, and can be quite attractive, especially since you are so capable in English.

45 Marketing Yards Across Ontario Established by Hog Producers Successful

The Ontario Hog Producers' marketing scheme which has seen 45 marketing yards established across Ontario has met with an encouraging degree of success.

The idea of all hogs being sold by auction at one central point met with considerable opposition prior to its introduction a few years ago, but the move has been a success both from the standpoint of speedy delivery and in returns to the farmer producer.

Competitive bidding at the Hog Producers' auction in Toronto has resulted in farmers receiving better prices with the premium over the Chicago and Winnipeg markets having been increased by as much as 35 per cwt.

One example of the smooth operation of the producers' method of marketing is the Belleville Marketing Yard at the George Reed farm on the 4th concession of Sidney township.

SOON ON WAY

Here every Tuesday upwards of 300 hogs are delivered by area farmers and within a few hours the hogs have been sold at the Toronto auction and are on their way to the abattoir.

The bulk of the hogs raised in the Belleville area go to packing plants in Peterborough, Montreal, Toronto or Kitchener.

Delivery time by highway-transport from the Belleville yard to Montreal is approximately six hours with road time to other centres proportionately less.

The Belleville yard operates every Tuesday. However, depending on the volume of hogs handled, other yards in the province may operate two or three times a week with some operating every day. Manager of the Belleville marketing yard is George R. Reed.

About a third of the hogs raised in the Belleville area around at Picton and Newburgh.

brought to the marketing yard by the farmers themselves, but the bulk of deliveries are by farmers who are paid transportation fees.

HOGS TATOOED

On arrival at the loading station the hogs are passed over government tested scales for individual weighing. Each farmer's hogs are then tatooed for identification — the indelible ink of the tatoo mark assisting in the skin of the animal following slaughter and removal of hair at the abattoir.

After weighing the hogs go into waiting pens where they remain until time for transport to the packing plant.

When enough hogs for a transport load has been received at the marketing station the manager calls the producers' marketing headquarters in Toronto where they are put up for auction. The purchaser then directs where the hog save to be delivered.

Mr. Reed said most hogs from Belleville go to packing plants at Toronto, Kitchener, Peterborough or in Montreal.

Shipment to packing plants is by double decker highway transports holding up to about 150 hogs. The transport is divided into four different compartments to avoid undue crowding of the animals.

RETURNS BACK QUICKLY

However, all hogs sold for slaughter at abattoirs have to go through the Ontario Hog Producers.

Returns to the farmer come back quickly with payment for hogs delivered on Tuesday at the Belleville yard being received back generally by Friday. If the hogs have been sold to abattoirs outside Ontario, it could be Saturday or Monday before returns are received.

The Belleville yard went into operation in January, 1960. Other yards in the area are at Madoc, Stirling, Tweed, Producers in each county had the opportunity of voting on the marketing scheme before marketing yards were established.

Hogs are sold on a dressed weight basis with most hogs weighing in at about 200 pounds. They dress out at about 156 pounds.

Possibility of error in the identification of the hogs shipped is reduced to a minimum by the method of handling.

CAN HANDLE 1,000

Normal volume at the Belleville yard is between 400 and 500 hogs each Tuesday, but up to 1,000 hogs could be handled in one day.

The waiting pens will hold about 300 hogs but by early afternoon the big highway transports will start to arrive to load hogs for the abattoir—possibly at nearby Peterborough or maybe at more distant Montreal.

Hot summer weather can make things uncomfortable for market hogs but everything possible is done for their comfort.

In the waiting pens the hogs are watered down with a hose, and the parting salute as the transport leaves is another last minute watering through the slats of the livestock trick

Trip to Montreal packing plants takes about six and a half hours.

Market hogs are seen being delivered to Ontario Hog Producers marketing yard north of Belleville, enroute to packing plants in Ontario or Quebec.

About one-third of hogs are delivered to yard by farmers in small half-ton trucks.

Loaded into transport for delivery to abattoir, hogs are seen being watered down by hose before they leave. Double deck transports, divided into four compartments, transport up to 150 hogs at each trip.

Mr. George Read, manager of Belleville marketing yard, 4th concession of Sidney, weighs in a shipment of hogs.

Bitter Fight for Organized Labor on Great Lake Ships Continuing Before Board

OTTAWA (CP)—A bitter fight with far - reaching implications for organized labor on Great Lakes Ships continues today before the Canada Labor Relations Board.

The fight involves the Independent Seafarers' International Union of Canada and the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers (CLC).

The unions clashed several years ago over marine engineers on the west coast, a fight that led to the SIU being ousted from the Canadian Labor Congress. Now both unions claim the right to represent the crews of two freighters owned by Inland Shipping Limited.

The ships are the Northern Venture and the Wheat King.

The Northern Venture has been lying idle at Marquette, Mich. since Sept. 18. In Minneapolis Wednesday, a spokesman for the U.S. National Labor Relations Board said it investigating a charge of unfair labor practices lodged against pickets of the freighter.

The brotherhood a $5,000-member union has recently extended into new fields from its traditional railway jurisdiction. Its bid in the first and was an SS-to-0 vote of support from the crews of the two ships. The ballot was conducted by the Labor Relations Board.

In its counter-claim for certification as bargaining agent, the SIU has alleged fraud and misrepresentation in getting the company put up the money which crew members used to pay their brotherhood initiation fees.

The brotherhood and the company deny the allegation.

The board hearing started Wednesday with evidence of waterfront violence and clerical irregularity arising from the two-sided fight for the Northern Venture crew.

Two SIU witnesses, former Northern Venture crew members, testified that Captain Clyde Clattenburg gave them $30 out of which they paid their $5 initiation fee. Capt. Clattenburg testified that the money was a straight cash advance to new crew members, such as often is paid on lakes ships.

The brotherhood introduced three signed affidavits from Northern Venture crew members saying they have been under the threat of reprisals from the SIU for retaining brotherhood membership.

If the brotherhood wins formal certification as bargaining agent for the crews, it will be the first outright break in the SIU's monopoly hold on inland seamen.

Labor observers say this would set the stage for an all-out offensive against the SIU by a new marine workers union that has the tacit support of the Canadian Labor Congress.

The charge being investigated by the U.S. Labor Relations Board involves secondary boycott. It was filed by Thomas McCabe a Duluth, Minn., lawyer, for Upper Lakes Shipping Limited of Toronto, agents for Inland Shipping Limited.

The NLRB spokesman said the freighter certificate was registered in the Bahamas, but that last June two months changed to Canadian registry.

He said the charge alleges the picketing is designed to disrupt business relations between the Northern Venture and ore dock owners, the Lake Superior Jamming Railroad Company.

Sudbury Local Wins Victory Over Executive

TORONTO (CP) — Rebellious Local 598 in Sudbury won a new victory Wednesday over national officers of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.) in the union's effort to gain control of the affairs and assets of the local.

Mr. Justice G. T. Walsh of Ontario Supreme Court extended a previous injunction which prevented national president Kenneth Smith from holding a union trial of charges that officers of Local 598 promoted a secession movement.

The United Steelworkers of America (CLC) now is campaigning to sign up the 17,000 Sudbury members. The local half Mine - Mill's membership, largest in Canada, represents and at least $1,000,000 in assets.

Mr. Justice Walsh said he would seek to expedite a trial of the injunction but extended it until the trial.

REPLIES TO LAWYER

When national union counsel Aubrey Golden argued that the opposition was seeking to deprive Sudbury members of their constitutional rights, Mr. Justice told him:

"Don't get righteous — it's the assets. If they had nothing you wouldn't be after it."

Sydney Robins, counsel for Local 598, argued that national president Smith was not competent to hear the charges against local officers because he has already expressed a bias.

Mr. Golden, urging the earliest possible trial, said that every day the injunction is continued works in the interest of the local leaders and the steel union.

Health Commission Hears Objection From Quebec on Constitutionality of Board

OTTAWA (CP) — The royal commission on health services, having disposed of objections from Quebec as to its constitutionality — for the time being at least — today entered the second day of its preliminary sittings.

At Wednesday's opening, a letter from Quebec Premier Jean Lesage was read into the record by Chief Justice Emmett Hall of Saskatchewan, inquiry chairman. The letter, written to the jurist Aug. 25, firmly set out the Quebec government's position.

Noting that the inquiry was to deal "essentially with matters under the exclusive jurisdiction of the provinces," Premier Lesage wrote:

"We deny correctly the right of the federal government to set up such an inquiry."

Mr. Justice Hall made clear the commission's determination to press on with the study despite Quebec's misgivings. However, it would take fully into account the role of the provinces in the health field.

A lengthy statement from the powerful Canadian Medical Association envisaged the likelihood that public funds would have to be used in any expanded medical services program for Canadians. But personal financing by "well - supporting elements" should be exhausted first.

"In the case of persons in need of assistance by reason of inadequate income, age or state of health, it appears likely that public funds will be required."

The Canadian Pensioners Association said services for the mentally ill should be developed on the same basis as other health services, and be covered under the hospital insurance plan.

The Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society and treatment of chronic ailments should be integrated with general hospital treatment. Tens of thousands of Canadians were suffering from "lingering illnesses."

The Canadian Dental Association called for a program of prevention and control of tooth decay.

The commission was urged by the Canadian Pharmaceutical Association to study the cost of drugs and "whether a high proportion of drug costs are borne by a relatively small proportion of the population, and, if so, why?"

Emergency Broadcasting System Ordered by Govt. In Case of Nuclear Attack

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian government has ordered a crash program to set up the emergency broadcasting system for use in the event of nuclear attack.

The object is to dovetail the army's siren warning system with all possible radio and television stations so the public, hearing sirens, could get information quickly from radio or TV.

Reliable informants said Wednesday that by Saturday the army will have completed direct links to key CBC stations from the regional warning centres across the country.

In the event that any key radio station was destroyed in an attack, the government would use mobile transmitters to take up the broadcasting slack in that area.

Eight 1,000-watt portable transmitters have been built on trucks. Two of these already are parked at secret sites in the Ottawa area. The other six will be at other locations across Canada by mid-October.

The entire scheme labels the publicly-owned CBC as the agent of the government in any emergency. It will take its instructions from the army and only the CBC will do programming.

Private radio stations involved in a post-attack network would be under government control and the CBC programs would be fed into them. A 1958 order-in-council gives the government that power.

The emphasis would be on informational programs—the nature of the attack, what to do about fallout, and so on. Much of the programming would originate in studios being built into underground government centres.

Both CBC and privately-owned stations would broadcast on their normal frequencies.

Warner Brothers Want to Buy Movie Rights

NEW YORK (AP) — Warner Brothers has offered to buy movie rights to My Fair Lady for $5,000,000 cash outright plus royalties, the highest price in movie history, producer Herman Levin said Tuesday night. Levin said he has 30 days to try to get a better offer.

Levin, who recently was involved in a financial dispute with the Columbia Broadcasting System, which financed the musical, and Alan Jay Lerner and Frederick Loewe, writer and composer, said he had learned informally of the Warner offer.

He said he understood the movie company was offering, in addition to the cash, 67½ per cent of the distributors' gross. Another five per cent of the gross would go to the estate of George Bernard Shaw, whose play Pygmalion provided the story for My Fair Lady.

NEW 'COPTER COMPLETES INITIAL HOVER TESTS

PHILADELPHIA — America's most powerful production helicopter—the U.S. Army's HC-1B Chinook—has successfully completed the initial hover phase of its flight test program. In making this announcement today, Vertol Division of The Boeing Company said the new twin-turbine helicopter weighed 12½ tons during the hover test. According to Vertol's Chief Test Pilot Leonard LaVassar, the aircraft exhibited excellent handling characteristics during the initial 15-minute test at Philadelphia International Airport.

Indian, Eskimo Children Being Placed in Informal Family-Style Hostels

By AEON MacKENZIE

OTTAWA (CP) — Wanted: Eskimo widows or older couples to act as "house mums" for young northerners who have to go away to school.

Small, informal family-style hostels are being tried as a new twist in providing the three Rs for northern pupils, about 3,000 of whom actually get to school while another 1,400 have no facilities.

The target for getting everybody into school in northern Canada—and 80 per cent of today's pupils are in grades 1 to III—is 1968.

The normal big hostel, run by either the Roman Catholics or the Anglicans, is part and parcel of community life down the Mackenzie River valley. Can be going in at Frobisher Bay in the eastern Arctic.

This aged six and teen-agers over 16 are collected by airplane from points 1,000 miles or more away, ferried to hostels and attend either elementary, high or vocational schools. There aren't many of the students yet, at the last two institutions.

The impact of being away from home in a strange world—where a flush toilet is a scientific puzzle and canned green pear on a luncheon plate are a new experience—is reflected on the faces of Indian and Eskimo students.

No child goes away unless his parents so desire. This leaves a difficult decision with parents, many of whom are ill-equipped to make it. One result of the auburn mandarin was a roar that children were being kidnapped.

Northern affairs department officials denied this. But they started experimenting last term with the smaller hostel, accepting eight children from 30 to 100 miles away.

It is hoped to have about 14 more of the three-bedroom, prefabricated dwellings ready this year. Life inside will be at a higher standard than many Indian homes in the eastern Arctic, where most will be located. But it will be lower than life in the big hostels.

MORE LIKE HOME

More Eskimo will be spoken and that may be bad education-ally. But, social wickness aside, it will give the children, up to the age of 20 or 11 and covering grades 1 to VI, a more satisfactory home-style life. There may even be weekend visits home.

Transportation costs will be lower but some think the small-

AT NORTHERN HOSTEL — Eskimo children play in the snow outside a hostel at Fort Good Hope, N.W.T., where they attend school. Small family-size hostels are gradually replacing the larger ones in Canada's North where many children are transported by air for distances of more than 1,000 miles. The smaller education centres will serve a radius of from 50 to 100 miles. (CP Photo) ter hostels may eventually prove relatively as expensive to operate as those holding 200 children or more.

Right now about 35 per cent of all Eskimo school-age children are in school, 90 per cent or more of white students and about 75 per cent of Indians.

Mercury for 1962?

2 The new Mercury Meteor—the middle sized Mercury. This car is so new that its unveiling is two months away. But it is so exciting in the 1962 car lineup that you should know about it right now. Meteor carries on a famous Canadian name, but that's where past resemblance ends. This totally new automobile is tailored for the man who wants a bigger car than a compact—but not quite as big as a big car. Meteor is the heart of the new Mercury line. SPECIAL FEATURES: New 145 hp Bantam V-8 or 101 hp "8" engine. New 6,000 mile oil change cycle. Chassis-lubrication and coolant last up to 30,000 miles. Self-adjusting brakes. Luxurious 6-passenger interior. Cushion-Link suspension for smooth big-car ride.

3 The new Mercury Monterey —the big Mercury. If you think big, Monterey is sized for you. Monterey is big where it counts—in comfort, in performance, in value. Combine its sofa wide seats with its elegant interior decor—and 6 people stretch out in style. The 1962 Mercury Monterey has all it takes—to take you places in a big way. SPECIAL FEATURES: Engines—super economy "6" or V-8 choice that includes 300 hp Marauder. 120 inch wheelbase and Cushion-Link suspension. Self-servicing features include new 6,000 mile oil change cycle, chassis lubrication and coolant that last up to 30,000 miles, self-adjusting brakes. Big model choice of sedans, hardtops, wagons and convertible.

By BOB TRIMBEE

CHILLIWACK, B.C. (CP)—Skeptics said it couldn't be done, but a group of enthusiastic golfers here combined work and play in converting a rundown homestead into a picturesque 18-hole golf course.

"Three years ago a lot of people laughed when 45 fellows each paid out $25 so that we could establish a holding company and issue shares," says Roy Gleig, 41 - year - old club professional.

"But within a year we had about 100 guys ripping out miles of barbed-wire fences, pulling down old barns and farm buildings and levelling off and clearing land.

"By the first week of October, 1958, we had cleared the land, put in an irrigation system, seeded our greens, made a start on our clubhouse and completed nine temporary holes.

"The day we planted the permanent greens we had 125 out. It was a real show of community spirit and we had fun. We worked a little, played a few holes on the temporary course, washed down hot dogs with a bottle of beer and went back to work."

TOUGH WINTER

Despite a severe winter which killed most of the grass and many of the young trees planted along fairways, there was no loss in spirit the next spring, said Gleig, and the job was redone.

Gleig, the father of two teen-aged sons and a daughter, today oversees the operation of the $200,000 Chilliwack Golf and Country Club. So successful has the operation been that the club has cleared its debts, built its membership list to more than 300 players and hailed its share-selling campaign because more money is not needed.

Its deceptive 6,145-yard par 37-35-72 layout is toughened by a stiff west wind that sweeps the course almost like clockwork each day. The wind begins to build just past noon and dies about 6 p.m.

"It's almost like a Scottish course," says Gleig. "Over there the wind is the main hazard and that's the case here too."

GREENS ROLL

Basically the Chilliwack club fairways are flat and each green is visible from the tee. But the greens have a lot of roll which makes putting difficult.

"Many of our holes tease the golfer into mistakes," says Gleig, who holds the club record of 66.

The 310-yard par-four 13th is an example. A creek cuts across the fairway 240 yards from the tee, forcing golfers to play short on their drives. The hillside green, placed on a bank sloping down to the creek, pressures the golfer in that he must pin-point his approach. And when on the green, the slope makes the danger of overshooting the cup a tough hurdle.

The hole bothered many golfers during the recent B.C. Open. During the 54-hole tournament the 13th was birdied only 16 times and each round more than half the field slipped over par.

The Tracks

TORONTO (CP) — Flaming Page, a two - year - old filly owned by Mr. and Mrs. K. F. Taylor, won the sixth annual running of the $9,350 Shadrwell Stakes at Now Woodbine Wednesday. It was the first victory of her career.

Flaming Page, third choice in the wagering, paid $10.70. She ran the seven furlongs in the slow time of 1:27 3-5 over a sloppy track.

Apprentice jockey Jerry Harrison under contract to the Shafford stable, won three races. He won the 7th with Oaky Filly owned by B. H. Sleen, the fifth on Wonderwise, owned by Stafford and the eighth on Sharn Road also owned by Stafford.

Woodbine's first double feature wagering program of the autumn meeting is scheduled for Saturday when the $10,000 Autumn Stakes and the $7,500 Nelite Stakes are carded. A crowd of more than 20,000 is expected to watch Grey Monarch make an attempt to add to his total earnings of more than $200,000 when he runs in the Autumn Stakes. Anita's Son had been assigned top weight of 126 pounds for the race, to be run at 1¼ miles. Purple Bow, winner of the Duchess Stakes and the Nassau Stakes, will carry top weight of 123 pounds in the Nelite Stakes, a run of 1 1-16 miles for fillies and mares.

Ottawa Gets Caraway

TORONTO (CP)—Turncoat Argonauts have traded linebacker Don Caraway to Ottawa for the Rough Riders' first college draft choice.

Caraway came to Argos from New York Giants of the National Football League in 1958 but suffered a broken foot in an exhibition game and never regained a regular spot on the Eastern Football Conference club.

Argos have acquired Ken Beck, a defensive end from Minneapolis of the American Football League.

No decision had been made Wednesday night whether Chris Oliferuk, Toronto's top scorer, will be able to play Friday night when Calgary Stampeders visit the Argonauts in a Canadian Football League game. Oliferuk has a stretched Achilles tendon and strained ligaments in his ankle and knee.

CONDITION POOR

HAMILTON (CP)—Outfielder Hugh Olmstead of St. Thomas Tomcats unconscious since he was hit in the head by a pitched baseball Saturday, was in only "poor to fair" condition Wednesday. He was hurt in an Ontario junior championship game between Thorold and St. Thomas in Thorold.

Erskine, Chuvalo Monday

By PAUL WESTBEK

LONDON (CP)—Heavyweight Joe Erskine is in Toronto for a fight he hopes will help redeem British boxing in the eyes of the Canadian public.

Erskine fights George Chuvalo at Maple Leaf Gardens Monday. Last spring his countryman, Brian London, left a lot of fans disgusted by withdrawing from a bout with Chuvalo. The Canadian had asked for a postponement because of illness and London was unhappy about the financial arrangements.

A similar fiasco is unlikely this time. The 27-year-old Erskine is not given to London-style outbursts. He is taking his fight seriously and regards it as the first on his comeback trail.

The big Welshman hasn't fought since March when he was badly battered in an unsuccessful effort to lift Henry Cooper's British and Empire heavyweight titles. Eye cuts received in that contest and an attack of gout have kept him inactive.

Cardiff-born Erskine, ranked fourth in Britain, has been fighting as a professional for six years. He's a stylist and relies on his feet but lacks a knockout punch, a common failing of British fighters.

Between 1956 and 1958 he was British champion. He lost twice in 1958 he went 13 rounds with Sweden's Ingemar Johansson in a losing effort.

The Trots

OWEN SOUND (CP) — Most outstanding three - year - old trotters will compete at the Owen Sound fair Oct. 6 for the biggest purse in the history of the Superstreet Trotting Stake.

The nine will race for a total purse of $4,176.80. The largest previous purse was $3,780 in 1952 when Edward Yan, owned by W. L. Owen of Tilsonburg, won three straight heats in a field of nine.

Fastest time ever in the Superstreet trotting stake was 2:13.8 last year at the Owen Sound track by Happy Mac, owned by Robert Bolt of Kingston.

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Ambitious, nine - year - old pacing mare owned and driven by Gordon Gilbertson of Burford, came from behind in both heats to win the featured class B pace at the opening of the Delaware Western Fair raceway Wednesday night.

Ambitious took the divided purse of $1,000, Tami Herbert, driver for Jack Herbert of London, was second in the heats, with The McNab, driven by Neil McKinnon, third.

TEXAS VOTED BEST

MONTREAL (CP) — Tom Tresh, flashy 23-year-old shortstop with Richmond Virginians, is the International Baseball League's rookie of the year, it was announced today. He was chosen by the IL Baseball Writers Association.

Son of former Chicago White Sox catcher Mike Tresh, the Detroit - born infielder now is with the parent New York Yankees, American League pennant winners, who signed him to a bonus contract in 1958. He closed the IL season with a .305 batting average, third highest in the league.

Don Clendenon, Columbus first baseman, and John Powell, Rochester first sacker were tied for second in the balloting.

The Training Camps

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Three National Hockey League teams added victories to their exhibition record Wednesday night, with Chicago Black Hawks evening their series with Buffalo Bisons at a win and a tie apiece.

The Hawks, last season's Stanley Cup champions, scored a 5-2 win over the American Hockey League Bisons at St. Catharines.

Montreal Canadiens defeated Spokane Comets of the Western League 4-2 at Victoria and Detroit Red Wings beat the Western League Edmonton Flyers 7-1 at Edmonton.

At Whitby, Rochester Americans of the AHL downed Kingston Frontenacs of the Eastern Professional League 6-4.

The Hawk win gave them a record of four wins, two defeats and one tie in even exhibition games. Murray Hall scored a goal and two assists to lead the team's exhibition scoring with eight goals in seven games.

COUNTS TWICE

Bobby Hull scored twice for the Hawks, Ken Wharram and Pierre Pilote added singles. Buffalo marksmen were Larry Wilson and Don Ingram.

Montreal had a tough time beating Spokane goaltender Eddie Johnston, who last year played with Ottawa-Hull in the EPHL. Johnston stopped 40 shots against 18 by the Habs' Jacques Plante and Cesare Maniago.

The Comets took a 1-0 lead in the first period on Gerry Richson's goal. Bernie Geoffrion tied things in the second and Billy Hicke sent Canadiens in front 2-1 minutes later. Comets pulled even on a goal by Cordie Coleman before the end of the period. Phil Goyette and Jean Beliveau fired goals for Montreal in the third session.

Four goals in the final period wrapped up the Red Wings' victory over Edmonton after Detroit had had 3-0 and 5-1 period leads. Alex Delvecchio and Al Johnson each scored twice for Detroit, while Vic Stasiuk, Howie Glover and Parker MacDonald got singles. Edmonton's goal was scored by Eddie Joyal late in the third period.

Rochester and Kingston fought to a 4-4 tie going into the final period. Rochester moved ahead on a tie-breaker by Wally Boyer and an insurance goal by Jim Pappin. Other Rochester goals came from Stan Smrke, Ed Lawson, Bryan Draper and Dick Gamble. Kingston scorers were Randy Miller, Tim Williams, Don Blasdburn and Tom McCarthy.

New York Rangers went through two stiff workouts at their training camp in Guelph with the squad down to 21 players after cuts.

CUT TEAM

In Niagara Falls, the Bruins resumed training with 17 players after a three-game exhibition swing through Northern Ontario. Latest cuts included Dale Rolfe and goaltender Bruce Gamble who were shipped to Portland of the Western League.

Two Bruins are on the injury list. Winger Jerry Toppazzini hurt his knee during the northern tour and is not expected to play Friday. Defenceman Ted Green was forced to the sidelines earlier with a broken hand.

Lacrosse

RICHMOND HILL (CP)—Fergus Thistles won the Ontario Lacrosse Association Intermediate B. trophy Wednesday night with a 13-8 win over Richmond Hill Zeros, their fourth in a row in a best-of-seven final series.

OLA officials said a two-game play-off series is being arranged between Fergus and Whitchurch-Stouffville Spartans of the Western Ontario Lacrosse Association for the all-Ontario Intermediate B title.

ADMITS PAYMENTS

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York State Athletic Commission said fight manager Herman (Hymie) Wallman has pleaded guilty Wednesday to giving gratuities to a boxing judge following five New York fights between 1954 and 1958. The commission reserved decision. Chairman Gen. Melvin Krulwitch, in a statement, said Wallman pleaded guilty to giving gratuities of up to $100 to Bert Grant, a judge since suspended.

Maris Booed, Koufax Breaks Record

Ontario Intelligencer SPORTS

Slugger Takes Day Off

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Staff Writer

Sandy Koufax broke a 58-year-old record set by Rube Marquard when he struck out 18 batters as the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-3 in the opener of a doubleheader Wednesday.

Koufax fanned 15 batters in a row, one short of the major league record set by Carl Hubbell of the New York Giants in 1937. He struck out the last batter he faced in the second game, but the Pirates won that game 4-3 on Bill Mazeroski's two-run homer in the ninth inning.

Koufax's 18 strikeouts in the opener was the most by a Dodger pitcher since Don Drysdale struck out 18 Chicago Cubs in a 23-inning game on May 31, 1959.

Koufax, who had struck out 14 batters in his last start, a 2-1 victory over the Cincinnati Reds, fanned the first batter he faced in the opener, Dick Stuart, on a third strike. He struck out the next two batters, Bill Mazeroski and Dick Groat, on nine pitches.

Koufax struck out Roberto Clemente on a third strike for the second out in the second inning and then fanned Bob Skinner, Smoky Burgess and Bill Virdon in succession in the third.

He struck out Groat for the second time in the fourth inning and then fanned Stuart, Mazeroski and Clemente in succession in the fifth.

He struck out Skinner for the third time in the sixth inning and then fanned Burgess, Virdon and Don Hoak in succession in the seventh.

He struck out Clemente for the third time in the eighth inning and then fanned Skinner, Burgess and Virdon in succession in the ninth.

Koufax, who struck out 269 batters in 255 innings this season, struck out 382 batters in 311 innings last season.

Terry, Jay for Second

Ford, O'Toole First-Game Hurlers

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Barring a change in plans by Wednesday, the opening-game pitchers for the 1961 world series will be Whitey Ford (25-4) for New York Yankees and Jim O'Toole (19-9) for Cincinnati Reds.

Managers Ralph Houk of the Yankees and Fred Hutchinson of the Reds have indicated they will employ no more than four starters in the series, even if it goes the limit of seven games.

Righthander Ralph Terry (15-13) will pitch the second game for the Yankees, Joey Jay, another righthander with a 21-9 record, is expected to be the Reds' second game starter, barring a rainout or other choice. The first two games will be played at Yankee Stadium on Wednesday and Thursday.

Righthanders Bill Stafford (13-6) of New York and Bob Purkey (18-12) of Cincinnati will be the opposing pitchers in the third game at Cincinnati's Crosley Field Saturday, Oct. 7. After that, it will be Ford against Terry.

FAVOR YANKS

The American League Yankees have been installed 11-to-5 favorites to win the series. They are favored 23 to 5 to win the opening game against the National Leaguers.

"I see no reason why I can't go with three pitchers," Houk said. "With the days off after the second and fifth games, it means three pitchers can go all the way."

"I've been using my pitchers more or less that way anyway during the season and I see no reason why I should change my method, especially since it has proved successful all year."

Houk has a dual purpose in giving Ford the opening-day assignment. Whitey is the Yankees' best pitcher and Houk wants him available for three starts, if necessary.

YANKS' LOSS TRACHES

Stengel bypassed Whitey, leading off with righthander Art Ditmar, since departed. Ditmar started the first and fifth games and failed to go beyond the second inning in each.

Ford, held off until the third game, hurled two shutouts. His second triumph came in the sixth game, making him available for the seventh and deciding battle. The Pirates won it 10-9.

Experience gives the Yankees the edge in pitching.

No one has started more games in series history than Ford, who has started 14, compiled a 7-4 won-lost mark and holds the record for most strikeouts with 61. He also is tied for most victories with Allie Reynolds and Red Ruffing.

Terry, Stafford, Luis Arroyo, Jim Coates and Jim Bouton have seen series action.

None of the 19 Cincinnati pitchers eligible for the championships has any series experience.

FINAL REVIEW

CAMP PETAWAWA (CP) — More than 2,000 troops paraded Wednesday before Lt.-Gen. S. F. Clark in his final review before his retirement as chief of the general staff Saturday. The ceremonies marked the handing over of the command of the Canadian Army to Maj.-Gen. Geoffrey Walsh, who assumes his new duties Oct. 1 with the rank of lieutenant-general.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

He looked like a baseball player in his outfit. He talked like one. He had that swaggy walk like Casey Stengel striking to the second with three on and none out.

He carried a "cud" in his left cheek that would be the envy of a large-cowed Holstein. He hit the sports desk W. P. H. with unnerving aim and a resounding "thump" at a range of six feet.

"You have," he hissed through tobacco-stained molars, "been writing a lot about Mantle, Maris and the Babe. Sure, they're good, and cooley on the home-run story, but did you ever stop to think of a guy that was forced into the wings, a guy who should have been the Ruth record in 1927."

"You remember him. They called him Old Dependable. His name is Jimmy Foxx, one of the hardest sluggers that ever smashed a ball in the third tier of Yankee Stadium. Now he is broke, alone with his memories."

"Yankee critics, notably the Mantle-Maris fan clubs, recall with tears that the Double-X's were deprived of honors (Maris the record the-er) when games were washed out. Ruth lost one through the weather, Foxx's team had the flu. In 1932, Double-X-X hit 58 homers; and lost FIVE through games being washed out."

"That," the man said, "was just another sample of the Foxx luck. The 1929 market crash left him broke. He lost another big wad in a football, Florida real estate venture. In 1933 his wife was seriously ill in a Philly hospital. A lengthy home session of the Phils enabled Foxx to see her often."

"It pot him off the homer stride," the man said. "He hit only three in 28 days. His wife noticed he did not talk 'homers,' so she brought the matter up herself. Okay, honey, he promised, "I'll hit a few to make you happy."

"He kept his word. Jimmy went at on a terrific homer streak. He hit seven in the next eleven days, including his total to fifty-one early in September. That was well ahead of the Babe's record pace."

The old "chewer" leaned back in his chair. He said he was born in Baltimore. Foxx was known as the "Maryland Strong Boy." There was nostalgia here for the oldtimer.

A long thin stream of brown juice bounced neatly off and inside the W.P.H. He sat up and a look of realization came over his face. He said, "Jimmy one day got out of a drinking and fornicating orgy, pulled himself from a bed full. He sprained it and it bothered him at the plate. In the next 17 days he got only two homers."

"Not until the final five days did Jimmy get back into the homer groove. He had exactly one five to give him, ten for September. It left him two short of the Babe's record."

"Ruth, unlike Foxx, Mantle and Maris," he said, "did not suffer from pressure and tension periods. He was not bucking his own records. He had gone from 29 in 1919 to 54 in 1920, and then to 59 a year later. He hit 60 in 1927 and had he tried he could have gotten more. It seems the Babe was satisfied."

The man leaned forward in his chair and poked a knarled forefinger. "If Ruth is the King of Swat," he said, "then Jimmy Foxx is the Crown Prince. His total of 534 is second only to the Babe's all-time mark of 714."

"Double XX," he went on, "was the first man to hit one out of Comiskey Park in Chicago sending the ball over roof and into the parking lot outside. He topped Lefty Gomez in Yankee Stadium, breaking a pane three rows from the back of the upperstand deck in left field."

"They're having trouble trying to differentiate between records," he said. "Perhaps Maris should get the mod'ld he beats 60. Perhaps he should not. What he should do is be better sixty by one or more, and if the American League reverts back to the 154 schedule, he will have set a record that will last as long as baseball is played.

Western Division Has Nine Clubs

WEMDOR (CP) — Ontario Hockey Association president Lloyd Pollock announced here Wednesday that nine teams have officially entered the seven division of the OHA senior league.

Mr. Pollock said he received notification from club president Harold McCormick that St. Thomas Royals have made an official entry that has been accepted. They will operate out of Belmont near St. Thomas.

St. Thomas joins Windsor, Chatham, Sarnia, Strathroy, Stratford, Waterloo, Woodstock and defending Allan Cup champion Galt in one of the biggest senior groups in OHA history.

Mr. Pollock said C. G. Patterson of Brampton, league convenor, will work out a new schedule and release it by the end of this week.

For schedule purposes, the league will be split into three groups of three. Each team will play every other club in the league four times, plus an extra game with each of the other two teams in its particular group.

DISPUTE OVER SPLIT

The St. Thomas Royals dropped out of Senior B hockey last year when the directors of St. Thomas Arena turned down a bid for a new permanent lease of the gate.

The Royals will start training at Aylmer Oct. 8. An artificial ice surface in Belmont arena is expected to be ready for the opening home game Oct. 26. Belmont is nine miles northwest of St. Thomas.

The club had threatened to withdraw if Windsor Bulldogs were allowed in, on the ground that trips to Windsor would be too costly. Royals decided to remain in because of a reshuffled schedule that will send the Royals into Windsor only twice instead of four times.

Bisons Sweep Series 4-0

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Oh boy! Buffalo's baseball world series was begun 37 years ago, Buffalo won two straight. It wasn't until this year that the Bisons again had the title in their grasp.

Five times since that 1924 inaugural of the minor league world series Buffalo has knocked at the door, but this year the Bisons finally made it with a four - game sweep over Louisville.

An added slap by the International League representatives came when Buffalo's reliable right - hander Fred Besana followed Louisville only conscratchy hit in a 4-0 shutout took the title.

Buffalo's last pennant — and last shot at the junior world series—came in 1927 when Denver of the American Association bowed to the Bisons four games to one. Buffalo also appeared, as the host, in the 1932, 1933 and 1937 playoffs.

The lone Louisville hit came when Lee Tate ranged back to the mound and the ball deflected off Besana's glove.

Buffalo got three of the runs in the third inning when Bob Sadowski singled to right, Tony Curry walked, Felix Torres sacrificed in a run, Tate singled for his second safehit and a scratch hit by Jim Frey added the third. Singles in the fifth by Mincher, Frey and Cal Neeman posted another run.

Total attendance for the four games, three in Buffalo, was 37,402 with net receipts of $71,92. Buffalo players will split a pot of $22,357 while Louisville's share is $15,948.

Hockey Not Parlor Game Says Storey

MONTREAL (CP) — Red Storey, Toronto National Hockey League referee, says he disagrees with Senator Maitland Molson's charge that hockey is too rough.

In an interview, Storey said it is inevitable that players will be injured.

"Hockey is not a parlor game," he said. "A rink affords just so much space for skating and the skaters are always trying to meet and bump together from time to time.

"In NHL player's salary talks would be that the risks he is running and, if a player feels certain that the game is too rough, I would take his statement more seriously than that of somebody sitting on the other side of the boards."

Senator Molson, president of Montreal Canadiens, said he has bemoaned the current brand of big - time hockey is too rough on the players and fans. He must see to it that the rules are strictly enforced.

Storey said hockey fans would be satisfied with less rough hockey in Montreal, Toronto and Detroit, "where they know enough about the game to appreciate its fine points."

In Boston, New York and Chicago, he said, fans like only the kind of hockey that "offers more rough stuff."

Storey resigned during the 1958 Stanley Cup playoffs when league president Clarence Campbell publicly criticized his handling of the last game of the semi-finals in which the Canadiens defeated Chicago Black Hawks.

Italia Makes Soccer Finals

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Italia advanced into the finals of the Eastern Canada Professional Soccer League Wednesday night by defeating Toronto City twice—4-2 and 2-0—and winning a prolonged test - of - nerve semi-final 3-1 with one game tied.

A crowd of 2,700 fans saw the schedule of soccer. In a regulation 90-minute contest, Italia defeated City 4-2. Two 30-minute overtime periods ordered by league officials resulted in a 2-0 decision for Italia.

Italia meets Montreal Canadiens here Saturday night in the first game for the President Cup.

The semi-final series opened with a scoreless tie, and City won the second game 3-2. Italia's victory in the first game Wednesday left the teams tied in the series.

Borge, Benny and Allen Give Viewers Good Night

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Network television Wednesday night held the promise of a solid 3½ hours of comedy. Premiere of Steve Allen's Show and the debut of a new seasonal cartoon series on ABC at 7:30 p.m. Borge and a Jack Benny special on CBS.

Borge, aided by Hermione Gingold, pianist Leonid Hambro and some very witty music and dancing, was good as handsomely. Steven Allen was back in a familiar format but perhaps trying little too hard.

The animated cartoon, Top Cat, was disappointing. And the show, called Carnegie Hall Salutes Jack Benny, was an hour of fine classical music by great artists with only a few minutes devoted to Benny.

It is nice to have Steven Allen back in weekly television. His show seems better organized than the old one and more thoroughly rehearsed. The mixture Steve has not been watching much television during his years and a half away from it. Much of his sketch material was old hat, and the subjects have often been explored on other comedy shows.

Top Cat by the creators of Huckleberry Hound, concerns the adventures of a band of alley cats with New York accents who develop feline wits. The first show seemed neither witty nor unusual.

Recommended viewing:

Dr. Kildare, premiere, NBC, 9:30-10:30 EDT—new doctor series based on an old movie series. Richard Chamberlain and Vincent Edwards;

Hazel premiere, CBS, 8.30-9— Shirley Booth's comedy series in which she plays an indomitable maid;

Sing Along with Mitch, season premiere, NBC, 10 — return of the hit show of last season.

"Master of the World"

VERNE FORESEES EVIL OF AIRCRAFT

Jules Verne had an uncanny ability for peering into the future, predicting things to come and writing about them with amazing clarity and excitement. American International's "Master of the World", now playing at the Park Theatre is the first Belleville showing is the filmization of Verne's version of the aircraft of the future.

"That" says Vincent Price who stars in the film as Robur, the world-be master of the world, "Verne was not always happy at his own predictions. He was, for instance, apprehensive as to the future of the world and the potential evil of aircraft. When you consider how far ahead of time he was writing, his concern seems even the more amazing."

The character Robur was the center of two Verne stories: "Robur the Conqueror" published in 1886, and "Master of the World" published in 1904, the year before Verne died. Eighteen years had elapsed between the two and the Wright Brothers had just made their historic flight at Kitty Hawk. But Verne no longer welcomed such achievements with his old fire and enthusiasm, he was now only too well aware of their possibilities for evil. In Rob's appreciation he was joined by another great writer — H. G. Wells.

Extra-Sensory Perception Results on CBL

Results of a recent experiment in extra-sensory perception, involving more than 35,000 Canadians will be reported in a special one-hour CBC radio program on CBL October 1 at 5 p.m.

Included in the program, ESP Experiment, Criticism and Conclusion, will be discussions by experts in the field of parapsychology (the scientific term for ESP). These include Dr. J. B. Rhine of Duke University, who supervised the experiment; Professor H. H. Price and Dr. J. Thouless, both of Cambridge.

The experiment was the outcome of a recent CBC radio series, ESP, and was undertaken by the CBC in co-operation with Maclean's Magazine and International Business Machines.

Though the field of extra-sensory perception includes such phenomena as mind over matter and telepathy, the effort was confined to determining the powers of precognition (knowledge of future events) in a cross-section of Canadians.

The public participated by filling in special cards inserted in Maclean's magazine. On each card were two columns of 10 blank spaces. Readers were instructed to fill in one set of figures and return the cards. These numbers were later compared to randomly printed sets prepared by IBM machines.

Participants who guessed or predicted three or more correct numbers are to be retested. Already one card has been received with a seven out of 10 rating.

Discounting to laws of chance the odds against this happening are 10 million to one.

So far 50,000 cards already received some carry postmarks from such distant points as Britain, Rhodesia, Jordan and West Germany.

Originators of the radio series, writer Henry Comor and producer Jack Vance agree that they have only scratched the surface.

"We had no idea how much interest it, the experiment, would create. Perhaps it was a lack of preconception on our part", says Vance.

AT THE BELLEVILLE DRIVE-IN — The laughs are packed in as happily as the stars in "The Last Time I Saw Archie" comedy opening Friday at the Belleville Drive-In Theatre, through United Artists release. That's Jack Weish and Robert Mitchum in the front seat, and behind them are: Don Knotts, Harvey Lembeck, Robert Strauss, Frankie Nyro, Louis Nye, Martha Hyer and an assortment of limbs and lovelies in the whackiest movie ride you ever took. Rod Serling is "Partish", filmed in Technicolor and features Troy Donahue, Claudette Colbert, Earl Malden, Dean Jagger and Connie Stevens.

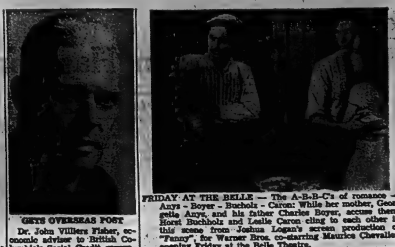
Rock Hudson Making First Big Money of His Career

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Rock Hudson is making the first big money of his career — but he doesn't want to talk about it.

Rock hit pay dirt with the first film for his own company, Comet-September. A sexy, saucy comedy laced with striking Italian scenery, including Gina Lollobrigida, it has been the No. 1 box office film in the United States for four weeks.



The movie has been outdrawing Rock's previous smash, Pillow Talk (domestic gross alone: $7,500,000). Because of the foreign angles, including Gina Lollobrigida, it is figured to have a greater potential abroad.

"Money?" he said. "I haven't seen any of it. And I won't for a long, long time. Besides, it's not all mine."

The reason for the latter is a peculiar line among the film's credits: "A Seven Pictures-Ravoul Walsh Enterprises production." Seven Pictures is the name of Rock's firm. But Walsh had nothing to do with the film. So what is he doing in there?

IT'S IN CLAUSE.

"At the start of my career, Walsh put me in a picture at Warner Brothers called Fighter Squadron, the actor explained.

GETS OVERSEAS POST

Dr. John Villiers Fisher, economic adviser to British Columbia's Social Credit government, will take over as B.C. agent-general in London, England, Oct. 1. A civil servant for 41 years, Dr. Fisher, 68, was deputy finance minister from 1946 to 1957.

—CP Photo

"Warners wanted no part of me. So Walsh got me under contract. As insurance, he put in a clause that I would do my first independent film with his company."

Fourteen years later Rock finally made his break—though he still releases through Universal and makes some films there as a salaried actor. When Rock announced his own company, Walsh sued for $1,000,000. Rather than go to court, Rock cut the veteran director in on Comet-September.

Astrological Forecast

BY CARROLL RIGHTER

Friday, September 29th

General Tendencies: Whatever happens that is beneficial and helpful can be quite unexpected since the desire that is yours to push your own work can meet with much opposition. You would be wise to defend your own work in as inventive and ingenious a manner as possible. And be prepared for some startling opportunity to drop into your lap.

Aries (March 21 to April 19)

Important you drive most carefully today, since there could be damage to arms and legs. A most satisfying romantic engagement with a charming partner can come up later, so be prepared for such an event socially. Have fun, dress nicely.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20)

— One of those days when all sorts of little annoyances come up with regard to your work, so be sure to take them in stride and also be co-operative with co-workers. In this way close tie has best ideas that bring benefits to you.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21)

— Important you speak wisely and diplomatically with close ties today. Be patient, though on pins and needles literally, since that call will come through, or message, for which you have been waiting for some time. Advance.

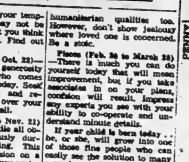
Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — The best way to rid yourself of some problem or social affairs is to confer with experts who know what they are doing and can best advise you. Also, discuss matters with him, who can also be very helpful. There is no need to worry.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — The right day to get those letters written and phone calls made, on which you have been procrastinating. However, don't try to conceal facts which others have a right to know. Be truly co-operative or you get in Dutch later. Grow.

Virgo (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) — Get property repaired today and see that you are not extravagant, with other concerns as well. Also, curb your temper though others may not be doing or acting what you think is proper and right. Find out underlying cause.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Be grateful for the generosity of a true friend who comes to your assistance today. Seek that individual out and remember that cripple over your worries helps not at all.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Important you handle all obligations conscientiously during day and evening. This makes a fine impression on a higher-up who takes you under his, or her, wing and makes the future much brighter and more successful for you.



Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Steer clear of that executive who has an axe to grind and wants to vent ire on you, and there is no reason why you should be victimized. Study your paper well for ideas which you can put into operation immediately. Grow.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Business or civic matter may seem just too much for you to handle today, so be sure you go to an expert who gives you the right ideas and knowhow. Get to work on them immediately and all is well. Don't lose hope.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — If you are dynamic and alert you will be able to get the assistance you want from higher-ups easily. Impress with your humanitarian qualities too. However, don't show jealousy where loved one is concerned. Be a sport.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — There is much you can do yourself today that will mean improvement, but if you take associates in on your plans, confusion will result. Impress your experts you see with your ability to co-operate and understand minute details.

If your child is born today . . he, or she, will grow into one of those fine people who can see the solution to many a vexing problem, whether of business or personal nature, and can also work along with a higher-up along the same lines. So, be sure you give as fine an education as you can, stressing the study of psychology, for the greatest success by far. The inspiration is great and emergencies can be handled quickly.

Sides Wonder When Next Blowup in Congo Will Come

By CARMAN CUMMING

Canadian Press Staff Writer

The worst of the best in The Congo's Katanga Baroup has subsided, leaving the opposing sides licking their wounds uneasily and wondering just how it all happened and when the next blowup will be.

Moise Tshombe, the erratic Katanga leader who beat off the United Nations attempt to break up his armies, is back in his private pretty. There are indications he has more status for control than he says he does.

The UN Congo force, staring bodily by the sight, is busy with Katanga's army, is taking steps—mainly in air strength—to ensure that it will have the force to back up its orders next time.

Cyrille Adoula's central Leopoldville regime is reported divided to some extent on how hard it dares to bear down on Katanga's secession. The breakaway province to beat. By an ironic twist, the incompetents of Orientale province, who had their chance flying at independence, are reported to be the central government's ob outright attack on Katanga.

CALLS FOR TALKS

Tshombe says he wants to meet at a neutral place with Adoula to find "a solution satisfactory to everyone." The solution Tshombe would, of course, would be for the UN to pull out and the central government to leave him alone with his copper mines.

But there are no number of reasons why Tshombe might be tempted to back off a little when and accept some form of loose federation with the Leopoldville regime.

There are several thousand UN troops in Katanga, which added air strength, they will constitute a force not easily pushed around.

The central government is making threatening moves toward the Katanga border, possibly aiming to bring pressure on Tshombe without actual shooting.

And Tshombe has little international support for his demands that the UN get out. The Communists and many neutrals consider him a stooge of Belgian industrialists — with some justification. The Soviet Union's only criticism of the UN action was it didn't go far enough.

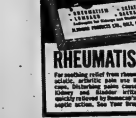
Among the big Western powers, the United States supported the UN move while Britain and France appear to have balked about after their first expressions of disgust. Belgium and Rhodesia, Tshombe's firmest backers, can do little without support of the big Western powers.

Whatever the outcome, the Katanga clash will be weighed for some time in connection with the UN's scope and powers in such police actions.

Still to be clarified is the question of which UN official actually issued the order for Katanga's military to be disarmed and expelled, in compliance with the Feb. 21 Security Council resolution.

Michel Tombelaine of France, second-ranking UN official in Katanga, indicated to reporters Monday that the order had been issued with the approval of the late Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold and had been cleared by UN headquarters in Leopoldville.

But Tombelaine added this strange comment:



"There were so many cables at the time that I could not say who signed the actual go ahead."

Considering the importance of his issue—it's the top of the heap stature as a policemaker—a fuller explanation seems to be indicated.

Income Tax Explained

Women and declared for the purpose of this Act, a person is deemed to be employed by the services of professional consultant or a "fee" is deemed to be an "office".

By C. A. MILLER

Income Tax Department

Although we have dealt with the various types of income that appear on the T-4 slips, a taxpayer may have other income that is taxable and should be shown.

It is a well-known fact that persons in such positions as writers, waitresses, bell boys, taxi drivers, doormen, etc., receive tips and gratuities that cover a period of 12 months amount to quite a sum. This is taxable income and should be reported.

When a taxpayer signs his return he certifies it is a true and complete report of all the income received in the year. If he deliberately omits certain income and signs the return, he has deliberately attempted to defraud the government and when this is proven, he is subject to severe penalties.

When a taxpayer is holding one of the positions listed above, the taxpayer should see that any tips are reported. If no tips are reported and the taxpayer is employed in a establishment where the tips would appear to be of a substantial nature, the taxpayer immediately becomes subject to investigation, if it is deemed advisable by the tax department.

If the taxpayer has failed to keep an accurate record of tips and gratuities received in the course of his employment, the tax department will accept a reasonable estimate, providing it is consistent with his type of work and the social standing of his place of employment in the community.

Never boast as to how much money you make for you will unknowingly be talking to a tax official.

Question 1: I am employed as a waitress in a large hotel. I receive a fair amount of tips. I am told I have to report these on my tax return. Is this correct?

Answer: Yes. There is a line on the return specially alloted for the reporting of tips.

* * *

Question 2: I was a personal maid to an invalid lady. When she died she left me $1000 for faithful service. Is this considered a tip and do I pay tax on it?

Answer: No. This is not a tip. It is a bequest and not taxable.

Sense of Partnership, Same Purpose Between Canada, U.S. Stronger Than Ever

By ROBIN MORLEW

NEW YORK (CP)—John W. Holmes, president of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs, says the sense of partnership and common purpose between the United States and Canada is stronger today than it has ever been.

"The two countries argue about a lot more than they used to but this is simply because there are more things to argue about, he wrote in an article in the current issue of Foreign Affairs, a quarterly magazine published here which reviews international relations.

The mediatory roles being assumed by Canada are a source of satisfaction to Canadians who feel they are performing services to the cause of peace and order for which they are peculiarly fitted, he said.

"It is a role which the great powers cannot play, but which it is in the interest of the great powers that some one should play."

VARIED PROBLEMS

Holmes, former assistant undersecretary of state in Canada's external affairs department, said the most acute differences between Canada and the U.S. are not those of principle about distant places — China, Cuba or Laos—as about tariffs and waterways.

The question Canada must solve was how, as a middle power, to be an ally of a much larger power with whose foreign policy she was generally in fact whose policies she could not control.

The way in which U.S.-Canadian relations can be bruised by differences on an international issue has been unpleasantly revealed by the Cuba question, he said.

It is important to bear in mind, he said, that countries can be united in a common purpose but differ over tactics. The Canadian government could not follow suit when the U.S. imposed an embargo on trade with Cuba because the diplomatic relations, Canada felt an embargo was an unwise tactic, Holmes said.

Canadians are, more than Americans, disposed to compromise, disinclined to see issues in black and white, he said. If a country was to establish a position qualifying it to perform the duties of a middle power it must "demonstrate that it is objective enough and strong-minded enough to differ, if necessary, with its great-power allies."

REBELS ANNOUNCE SYRIA SECESSION

Katanga Given Order To Expel 100 Mercenaries

UN Sets New Deadline For Ousting of Whites

ELISABETHVILLE (Reuters) Secessionist Katanga province today faced a new deadline for the expulsion of about 100 white mercenaries still serving in the Katanga army.

A senior United Nations official said Thursday night the UN had given Katanga's President Moise Tshombe 'a matter of days' to carry out the expulsion order.

White mercenaries were chiefly blamed for the bloody Baroe resistance that greeted the world body's attempt last month to end the province's secession from the Congo. Eight days of bloody fighting ended with a cease-fire 10 days ago and, with Katanga still including his breakaway status.

About 20 white officers also were have been deported by the UN, but others have been transferred to Katanga in recent weeks.

BEGIN INSPECTIONS

Chiefly targeted in the latest Katanga officers today began inspecting each others' military positions in Elisabethville.

The inspection was being carried out by the mixed commando units that ended the specific in cease-fire.

Clearing of the Indian army were busy Thursday digging up and setting up machine-guns on the perimeter of the UN HQ headquarters. Observers said the moves were part of an attempt by the UN to consolidate its positions in the city against April 1, if means business if he refuses to obey its terms.

Mahmoud Khiari of Tunisia, who is conducting negotiations with Tshombe, arrived today Thursday the president's deputy chief-of-staff of all UN troops from Katanga.

TRIBES IN FIGHT

Today, 150 troops and police reinforcements hurried to the town of Kipushi where at least 20 persons including six soldiers were killed in tribal fighting Wednesday and Thursday.

The fighting which started almost 24 hours, brought to an end a meeting at copper mines on the border of Katanga and Northern Rhodesia.

A Katanga official said the fighting was believed to have been started by a group of men in Kipushi of 50 Baluba tribesmen from a UN refugee camp in Chartsworth, 20 miles away. Katanga Interior Minister Godefroid Munongo ordered the town Thursday and ordered the immediate cease-fire by the army and police.

Angry Katangans roamed the streets in groups of about 20, brutally attacking any Baluba's within sight.

READY TO GIVE AID

In Johannesburg Thursday, Katanga Health Minister J. A. Minnaar said the breakaway province was prepared to negotiate a financial agreement with the Leopoldville central government.

"We are prepared to give economic aid to our brothers in the rest of The Congo," said the visiting Minister.

"I must emphasize, however, that Katanga is not prepared to enter any other agreement with the Leopoldville government, unless we are first prepared to budge one inch on the question of our independence."

Parliament At a Glance

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

THURSDAY, Sept. 28, 1961

The fourth session of the 24th Parliament, which opened Nov. 17, 1960, was prorogued in its 174th sitting day — the longest session in history.

Transport Minister Balcer announced the reappointment of Donald Gordon as a director and chairman of the board of directors of the CNR.

Lionel Chevrier, a former Liberal transport minister, charged the Conservative government is "out to destroy Trans-Canada Air Lines."

Transport Minister Balcer denied the charge and predicted TCA and Canadian Pacific Airlines will emerge strongly from the present jet changeover.

Finance Minister Fleming denied opposition suggestions that Canada led a Commonwealth "ganging up" on Britain at Accra at the Common Market question.

The Commons and Senate passed the new Federal-Provincial Fiscal Arrangements Act under which the provinces will levy their own income taxes starting April 1.

Health Minister Monteith announced a sharp increase in ineffective fallout readings in air sampling stations across Canada in the week Sept. 16-17.

White Slave Ring Sends Cleveland Girls to Toronto

CLEVELAND (CP)—The federal bureau of investigation and Cleveland police today were investigating what they said possibly was a "white slave" international white slavery ring using Cleveland as a source of girls. Two girls were sent to Canada, a police official said.

The girls, 18 and 19, were touched off the investigation when they told police that a woman had sent them to Toronto to engage in prostitution.

Sam Lisko, chief of the Cleveland police vice squad said the girls told police that arrangements were made Monday night for them to fly to Toronto to meet a man who would set them up in a "vice resort." The plane landed in London, Ont., en route.

Immigration authorities ordered them to return to Cleveland after they became suspicious of the girls' intentions.

Police were led by the girls to a woman identified as Miss Eileen Redden, 37, who has a previous police record, including prostitution. Sgt. Levy said she was held for investigation.

Police arrested the teen-agers Wednesday and after detectives recognized them as missing persons.

DONALD GORDON TO HEAD CNR ANOTHER 2 YEARS

Nine New Faces Added to Board

OTTAWA (CP) — Donald Gordon, got the government's go-ahead Thursday night to run the publicly - owned Canadian National Railways for another two years.

His reappointment as chairman of the CNR board was announced by Transport Minister Balcer in the final minutes of the last parliamentary session in Canadian history.

Mr. Balcer also announced the fall shake-up in the CNR's recently - expanded board of directors which will have present directors including Mr. Gordon and adding nine new faces.

The 31 - man board — if formerly had seven members — is to be cut to 15 when Mr. Gordon and confirm Mr. Gordon as president of the railway and chairman of directors, who get $5,000 a year, have the duty of selecting a president, subject to cabinet approval.

Mr. Gordon, 60, president and board chairman of Dominion Bank, received $75,000 a year—the highest - paid public servant in Canada.

LONG CLIMB UP

He moved into the presidency chair after a career that took him from a dollar - a - day factory job. Then he left the department of the Bank of Canada who a governmental appointment of a Conservative government, who appointed him chairman of the CNR board.

Mr. Gordon was reappointed for a full term of six years after his term of office as a CNR director expired. His new five - year term would be active to Sept. 30.

Under the CNR Act, Mr. Gordon has been attacked, criticized and praised in his CNR job. He has to agree on exactly whether he would be dismissed, demoted or re-appointed. An informed source told Canadian Press last Monday that Mr. Gordon would be reappointed after top rail union leaders had expressed confidence in him.

Lionel Chevrier, a former federal transport minister, criticized the year - long delay by the government in making up its mind.

NAMED DIRECTORS

Named to the CNR board with Mr. Gordon were two present directors — J. R. Griffith, 67, Montreal, and C. Gerald Bourne, 52, Moncton, N.B.

The other nine directors, whose terms also expire Sept. 30, 1964, are Walter Colquhoun, 60, Montreal; Dr. Louis Lesage, 50, Montreal; Guy Morrissette, 50, Montreal; Herbert Ayers, 45, Lachute Mills, Que.; Alex McDougall Halifax; J. Alex Walker, 49, Jasper Price, 64, Toronto; John Wesley Buckley, 57, Regina; Robert Arthur Brown, 47, Calgary; Walter Koerner, Vancouver.

Mr. Balcer also announced the appointment of Maxwell Haig, 47 - year - old Winnipeg lawyer, as director of Trans Canada Air Lines.

STUCK BY DECISION

ATLANTIA (AP) — The Georgia Supreme Court Thursday made final its Sept. 8 decision voiding the 1957 - 58 term of ousted millionaire Richard J. Reynolds last year from his Winston - Salem, North Carolina, holds, formerly-of Toronto. Reynolds married for a fourth time last year winning the divorce decree in the lower court. He is believed living in Germany.

Last Havana Gambling Hall Closes As Castro Opens Anti-Vice Drive

HAVANA (AP)—The last of Havana's gambling casinos closed down today within minutes after Fidel Castro had announced a big government drive cleaning up the city once wide open.

Addressing a huge rally at Havana's square of the revolution, the premier minister promised measures to rehabilitate Havana's prostitutes and drive out white slave racketeers.

He warned dealers in vice they have until midnight to pack and told them to "go to Miami if they please."

The scene at the gambling casinos was more sober. They were immediately started leaving the building in an order. Police licensen arrived to switch the lights, which proceeded with out incident.

In the days of the Fulgencio Batista dictatorship, Havana had about 25 gambling casinos. They were under the direction for both tourists and underworld figures who operated them—with a cut of the profits going to government officials.

Castro said he will even pay their plane tickets.

P.M. Calls for New East-West Disarmament and Other Cold War Negotiations With Reds

VERNON, B.C. (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker called again Thursday night for new East - West disarmament and other cold war negotiations despite Russia's rejection of the West's latest proposals.

Speaking of the disarmament plan put before the United Nations by President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev last week, Mr. Diefenbaker told an audience of about 2,000 here:

"Even though Gromyko has turned it down, I hope negotiations may continue in good faith. If they do, we have a chance of progress in the immediate future."

He said a decision reached at the Union of British Columbia Municipalities that even though the Soviet Union was pressed with words by Premier Khrushchev, "we must not be paralyzed by them—we must not react."—if formerly had seven members — is to be cut to 15 when Mr. Gordon and confirm Mr. Gordon as president of the railway and chairman of directors, who get $5,000 a year, have the duty of selecting a president, subject to cabinet approval.

Mr. Gordon, 60, president and board chairman of Dominion Bank, received $75,000 a year—the highest - paid public servant in Canada.

"There is no room for three persons in the vacant chair related to disarmament," he replied. The Soviet plan cannot be accepted by any nation which is loyal to the United Nations as the hope of mankind for peace."

Mr. Diefenbaker minister flew here Thursday and was to return to Ottawa today.

At Mr. Diefenbaker spoke, two placard - carrying groups—one urging that disposition of nuclear weapons and the other urging full employment — paraded around the auditorium.

Mr. Diefenbaker appeared to tailor his speech for the audience, saying that throughout Asia and Africa Communist literature is about all the people have to read to learn of the West.

Mr. Diefenbaker, in fighting election mood, said the Canadian economic picture is growing bright.

Canada can look forward to a period of continued and increased expansion, he said. He faces another seasonal unemployment problem this winter.

U.S. Rejects New Red Plan For 4-Man Board to Run UN

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Western and neutral diplomats today sought in efforts to agree on a compromise on a key point a temporary secretary-general rather than a U.S.-Soviet troika to run the United Nations day-to-day.

U.S. ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson and Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin met twice, Thursday and Friday. Zorin has said he have turned down the troika plan, but he has not submitted executive to run the UN.

Zorin said that the four would be willing to agree on a troika but would work as a team with the secretary-general. He also claimed, would eliminate the idea of a veto which had been the main stumbling block to Russia's old troika plan.

The United States was said to have turned down this proposal on the grounds the veto still would be present.

U.S. officials also are reported opposed to the plan because the four would be chosen from West, neutral and Communist blocs. Russia has demanded a separate nation from the UN administration.

The door was kept open for further negotiations, however. The United States is also expected to meet with the Russians in the near future.

Some diplomats believe that mounting opposition to the Soviet troika proposal will force Russians to drop the veto idea. Although this is unlikely, a Soviet-backed executive has angered many a neutral who favor it as a way to strengthen and minse the authority of the United Nations.

UN operations were virtually shut down today while key delegates in the administrative and budgetary committee attended the state funeral of Dag Hammarskjold, in Stockholm.

But the corridors hussed with activity.

Representatives of 32 countries hope to have a resolution ready Monday which would enable the assembly approve the naming of an interim candidate to supervise the running of the secretariat until a regular secretary - general can be agreed upon.

The group had intended to get in the resolution with the recess blank, but the Western powers are trying to persuade the Afro - Asian countries in the assembly would have a more secure picture of what it is working on.

The list of possibilities for the post remains: Mongi Slim, Tunisia, Chief Justice Dantes Bustamante, Costa Rica; Assembly president Frederick H. Boland of Ireland, and assistant Secretary - General Ralph Bunche of the United States.

Each of those approached are said to be apprehensive that when the assembly votes there will be a host of abstentions. This would place him in the top UN spot without general backing.

Slim has said that if he could be assured all delegates would vote for him except those of the Soviet bloc, he would consider this a strong enough mandate to accept the job.

LONGEST SESSION IN HISTORY ENDS EARLY TODAY

Acrid Remarks On Both Sides

OTTAWA (CP) — It ended at 1:12 a.m. today.

"It" was the fourth session of the 24th Parliament, the longest in Canadian history.

And its final sitting day—the 174th—was typical of the entire session. It was a day of acrid comment and bitter retort by the cabinet Conservatives and the Liberal opposition.

Such as Finance Minister Fleming flailing opposition critics for "wet blankets" and being accused him of an anti-British attitude at the Commonwealth talks in Ghana.

Or Liberal Lionel Chevrier charging that Transport Minister Balcer and the government "are out to destroy Trans-Canada Air Lines."

Mr. Balcer announced that Donald Gordon has been reappointed for another two years as chairman of the Canadian National Railways board of directors. The burly Scot has been getting $75,000 a year as chairman and president of the CNR.

Health Minister Monteith announced that fallout levels in Eastern Canada a bit record levels in the week Sept. 16-17 but cautioned that there is no immediate hazard to health.

SEPARATION OF POWERS

Both the Commons and the Senate gave final approval to the constitutional government-of bill setting up a new Dominion-provincial tax - sharing agreement. It was one of the bills given royal assent in the closing ceremony in the Senate chamber.

The bill's main feature involves the provinces levying their own income taxes, starting April 1 next year. Opposition has labelled it a return to the "tax jungle" of the 1930s.

The session began last Nov. 17, about two months ahead of the usual time, with the hope that it would finish its business before the summer heat arrived. That hope evaporated amid the steam of many mammoth all - night debates. The most move to fire James E. Coyne, governor of the Bank of Canada.

Mass Burial Will Be Held At Port Dover

PORT DOVER (CP)—Funeral directors have arranged a mass burial of six children and their parents who died together in their sleep early Thursday when their home burned.

A service for the eight members of the Roswell family will be held Saturday afternoon and they will be buried together at Port Dover cemetery.

Only 16-year-old Mary Roswell survived the fire engulfed the small rural home near here that killed Joseph Roswell, 51, his wife Shirley, 13, Joan, 11, Ella, 9, Tony, 4, and Terry, four months.

A married sister, Mrs. Murray Ashley, 21, lives in Simcoe, who discovered Mary, and was the only other member of the family to survive.

Mary, who received second degree burns to her arms, shoulders and one leg before she fled from the blazing bedroom and escaped, was reported in satisfactory condition in hospital today. The girl also is suffering from shock, but doctors expect her to recover from her burns.

2-Piece Firing Pin Substituted In Rifles

CAMP BORDEN (CP)—Brig. Herbert W. Love said Thursday the Canadian National rifles have exploded in the hands of soldiers on parade.

Brig. Love made the comment today when seven members of the Canadian Army Band will wear why the rifles require modification in the future.

Brig. Love, Canada's deputy quarter-master-general, said the 7.62-millimetre rifles are being modified at a cost of $1,040,000. A new firing pin will be substituted, although some of the Canadian models had developed broken pins. The pins were used by British troops exploded in 1959 because of broken firing pins.

The firing pin modification, with a slight change in design of the barrel, is intended to prevent broken pins from causing pressure forcing hot gases back through the breech mechanism into the fireman's face.

The cost of modification—$18 a rifle—will not burden taxpayers, the brigadier said. The original price of the rifle was $175 each. This dropped to $142 during the past four years because of improved production techniques.

U.S. and Russia May Join Forces To Build Mammoth Atom-Smasher

VIENNA (AP)—The chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission disclosed today that the United States and Russia are discussing plans to join forces in building the biggest atom-smasher accelerator—to produce the fantastic power of 500,000,000,000 to 1,000,000,000,000 electrovolts.

Glenn Seaborg, chief U.S. delegate to the conference of the International Atomic Energy agency, said that the cost would be borne by private talks with American scientists have indicated their interest in co-operating.

Claim 200 UAR Chutists Wiped Out In Landing

Pledged to Put Power In Civilian Hands

OF from AP-Reuters

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Syria's army rebels installed a new civilian government today and declared their independence of Cairo.

"The regime of tyranny has gone forever," said Damascus radio.

Accusing President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic of nursing Syria into a prison, the broadcast said: "We do not oppose Arab unity. We dispute your claim to Arab leadership."

Cairo radio today said Abdel Hamid Serraj, former Syrian Strongman and United Arab Republic vice - president, opened fire on Syrian rebel forces and escaped when they visited his home in Damascus.

Syrian broadcasts declared 200 Egyptian paratroopers sent to Syria by Nasser have been wiped out. Other broadcasts said 130 Egyptian commandos have been captured or lured without bloodshed.

The Syrian rebels' chief main clear whether they were giving different versions of the same action, or whether two Egyptian forces were involved.

GET RECOGNITION

Jordan's government of King Hussein, long an opponent of Nasser, quickly recognized the new revolutionary government, and wished it success.

Jordan's Arab News agency announced immediately after a cabinet meeting presided over by King Hussein.

(There was speculation in London that Jordan might follow up her gesture of political support by sending material aid to the Syrian rebels since the conflict with Nasser is quickly settled. There also was speculation that other Middle East opponents of Nasser might follow Hussein's lead and recognize the Syrian government.

He announced the appointment of a cabinet of technicians, engineers and lawyers with only one other known politician among them—Ivan Zamaria, a rightist and former minister in one of the 1955 government of Sabri Asali.

Kuabari is best known as a supporter of former dictator Adib Shishakli, who was ousted in a later leftist regime. He took the posts of foreign affairs and defence in the new cabinet.

Adnan Kuwatly—a 67-year-old member of the Baath party and Shukri Kuwatly, who took the front role in the merger with Nasser—was named president later.

Damascus radio, proclaiming the new government, assailed Nasser and accused him of seeking "to enslave the Arab nation in your empire."

Pointing out the aims of the revolution, the broadcast said:

"The Syrian army wants to restore to the Syrian people their freedom of speech and assembly, and to free them from the freedom which you choked off with your secret police and intelligence agents."

The rebel leaders said they were empowering the new cabinet to rule by legislative decrees during the transitional period, provided these would be submitted to the legislature after free elections.

The rebel radio marked the announcement of the secession from the U.A.R. by calling itself for the first time "Syrian radio."

It proclaimed that the population was solidly behind the revolt, and solidly against the rule of Nasser's "tyrannical autocracy."

The radio asserted that the Syrian army and people were ready to fight "if Gamal Abdel Nasser forces us to" and said that arms were being distributed to the public and "resistance units."

RELEASE PRISONERS

The rebel leaders were reported to have released many political prisoners, among those who had been jailed for opposition to "Nasserism and the Cairo regime."

Vowing to crush the revolt, Nasser ruled out any "negotiation or compromise" with the rebels, in a broadcast from Cairo, he declared:

"The United Arab Republic will not build on bargaining but rather on principle. I reject the logic of bargain and half solutions."

Damascus radio accused Nasser of sinister intrigue among Syrians "on behalf of his petty interests and dictatorship" and declared the revolt was spread to northern Syria.

The radio said Aleppo, big commercial and industrial centre only 35 miles from the Turkish border, was "released itself from the bonds of (U.A.R.) propaganda and declared its solidarity with the revolution."

Aleppo radio, loyal to Nasser before the revolt broke out, Thursday night began denouncing the Syrian rebels.

Baptists Will Turn Sod Sunday For $61,000 Church in East End

At a sod-turning ceremony six o'clock this Sunday afternoon, Victoria Avenue Baptist Church will observe a historic first step in the history of its work in Belleville. A Baptist church will be built on the new property on Victoria Avenue and Rollins Drive, construction to start immediately. Designed by Watson and Wiegand, architects, the church will be of contemporary design with laminated wood beams and exposed wood roof, supported on projecting stone buttresses. The walls will feature triangular dormer windows and stained cedar woodwork, and will be faced with Kingston lime sandstone. There will be ample Sunday School accommodation in the lower hall.

This new structure will embrace the Fairway Avenue Sunday School operated by Victoria Avenue Baptist Church for the past 13 years. Baptist families in East Belleville will compose the membership of the new congregation, to be known as Emmanuel Baptist Church. Rev. Eric Quirk, formerly missionary in India, will serve as pastor. The contract has been awarded the Hugh Murray Construction Company at an approximate cost of $61,000. The church is expected to be ready for use by February, 1962.

563 Enrolled In Night Classes At High Schools

With a total enrolment of 563, many of whom have registered in the night school classes of the local secondary schools have sufficient registration to begin regular sessions next week. In B.C.I. and V.S. the following courses will definitely be in operation beginning Tuesday, October 3rd at 7:30; advanced technical, engineering, auto mechanics, chemistry, advanced sewing, shorthand, art, air cooling arcsil engines, electricity, drafting, secretary typewriting, V.I.A. home construction, welding.

Mr. A. E. Orr, principal of B.C.I. & V.S., noted there has been insufficient registration to set up courses in these subjects but added on Friday for Belleville Canadian, stationery engineering.

He emphasized however, that if enough additional students register these courses will be given. Any night, it may be possible to begin the instruction. At least fifteen pupils must be enrolled in any course.

Miss Helen Secondary School, Principal, W. J. McGrove announced instruction will begin on Monday, Oct. 2 in the following courses: grade XIII Algebra, elementary bookkeeping composition, music & typewriting.

Insufficient registration in auto mechanics, advanced bookkeeping, grade XII chemistry, commercial arithmetic, drafting and machine shop means these courses more students enrol Monday when these courses will not be given this year.

VALUABLE INDUSTRY

The pulp and paper industry produces, directly and indirectly, one dollar in eight of the incomes of all Canadians.

Weekend Cruise For Sea Cadets From District

Local Sea Cadets from Belleville's Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps "Quinte" will be going on a weekend cruise aboard two harbor craft from HMCS "Cataraqui," Kingston, for special training in fleet manoevers and sig nalling exercises on Saturday and Sunday.

With them, as their guests will be a number of Sea Cadets from RCSC "Hallowell," Picton, and RCSC "Trent," Trenton.

The cruise, which actually starts this evening for the Picton Sea Cadets when they are picked up by the boats en route to Belleville from Kingston, gets underway first thing tomorrow morning when the cadets are introduced to the vessel they will be aboard for the next 44 hours barring stopover at Presqu'ile.

During the course of the overnight stopover at Presqu'ile there will be a shoreside supper, weather permitting, followed by a sports program on the beach and church services Sunday morning, following which a sailing regatta is planned.

On the Sunday afternoon the cruise will head back to Belleville harbor arriving about 4 p.m.

Branch Library At New School Being Opened

A new branch library at the Harry J. Clarke School is to be opening this afternoon by Belleville Public Library, bringing to six the number of branch libraries opened in city schools.

Next week another branch library will be opened at the Avondale school.

Librarian Miss Olive Delaney noted that one room at the Harry J. Clarke school's public library will be open Friday for library use.

At the Harry J. Clarke school only children's books will be available, but at the Avondale school there will also be a selection of adult books.

Other city schools at which there are branch libraries are Queen Elizabeth, Bayside, Prince of Wales, King George and Sir Winston Churchill.

Slight Damage In Collision

Police said a car driven by Keith Ellis, 20, of Albert St., was proceeding south on Front St. and in front of the Imperial Bank, he pulled into the curb and struck a parked vehicle owned by Charles Gordon Whitehead, of 136 Bernhardt St.

Damage to the Ely vehicle was estimated at $75, right door and right rear fender; and $15 damage to the left front fender of the Whitehead vehicle.

Police said no charges are being laid.

The Ontario Provincial Police reported no car crashes in the city last night. They said the car is a 1961 Ford coach, green, Ontario No. T5-30891. It has not been recovered as yet.

81 Love Letters Said Written By Surgeon

HAMILTON (CP) — A handwriting expert testified Thursday that 81 letters to Mary Steelworkers wife were written by Dr. John R. LaCroix, a Hamilton surgeon.

Otto Langer, 39, is suing Dr. LaCroix for $100,000 for alienation of his wife, Helen, 33, during the summer of 1960. The handwriting analyst, told the court the 81 letters written between June 15 and August 31, 1960 were, "beyond any reasonable doubt," written by the man who signed John Robert LaCroix on two more pages and one affidavit submitted as evidence.

Sydney Patkin, lawyer for Mr. LaCroix, said he would show that while Mrs. Langer was on her trip up the Lakes LaCroix produced her and urged her to go to the Bahamas with him.

Trenton Taxpayers to Get Assessment Notices Monday

TRENTON — Monday, October 2, is "D" day for Trenton taxpayers. On that day, postmen will be slipping assessment notices into the property owners' mail boxes. These notices will be mailed out by the assessment department on Saturday.

J. Allan Smith, Trenton's assessment commissioner, told a reporter yesterday that he and his assistant, Carl Charlton, had reviewed each assessment very thoroughly and that, if there were any further characteristics, he or she should enter an appeal against the assessment with the Court of Revision which will sit in late November or early in December. Written notice of appeal should be sent to the assessment department, Assessment Office.

At last night's meeting of the Trenton Lions Club, Mr. Smith told the members that sometimes the rights of appeal were abused. He said that "some people think that all of appealing their assessments every year."

Mr. Smith said that if the Court of Revision failed to lower an assessment, the ratepayer has the right to go before a county judge and, if he were dissatisfied with the county judge's decision, he could register an appeal with the Ontario Municipal Board by paying a $25 registration fee.

Mr. Smith said that the basic record which the assessment office was the assessment roll, which yielded such information as the number of all lots, land assessment, building assessment, ownership.

Such things as building costs, purchase cost information, sales of property, additions or additions to buildings, the materials used in building, the size of buildings, size, location, services, sidewalks and other personal information are taken when making up an assessment.

The assessment commissioner said that Trenton assessments are based at 85 per cent with 15 per cent valuation of the property. Each property was originally rated using other percentages to arrive at their assessments. He said that he has been to see all assessors in the province go to actual values in compiling assessments.

Mr. Smith said that Trenton's assessment is at 43.7 per cent of all residential property in town unless assessed for less than $2,000. He said that, instead of educating one child for one year's base, he would like to see said that the community at large subsidized many families with four or five children.

Mr. Smith said that the assessment office is willing to help erecting better homes would alleviate the situation somewhat. He also said that, because in by the town's proposed annexation would be assessed at full value, that increase would be made for the lack of services, paved roads and so on.

Mr. Smith said that it would be a costly process for the town to buy up whole sections of the town, tear down the buildings and rebuild. The provincial government subsidizes such a redevelopment program but the municipality of Sand Hills Billings in those areas could be difficult and costly.

Mr. Smith was senior assessor with the Belleville assessment department for 10 years and has headed the Trenton department for three years.

Pupils Given Certificates By Legion

Students from St. Mary's School who received the special awards were: Martin Mayne (Grade I); Karen O'Brien (Grade II); Debbie Curran, (Grade III); Rudy Schmidt (Grade IV); Ricky Reid, (Grade V); Helen Train (Grade VI); Michael Bessaire, (Grade VII); Randolph Reid, (Grade VIII).

Lions Donate $1000 for New Camp for Blind

TRENTON — Members of the Trenton Lions Club voted last night to donate $1,000 to the camp for the blind at Lake St. Joseph. The motion was proposed by Lion Wm Billet. The summer camp for the blind will be sponsored by the Lions Club throughout the province and death of the 100 clubs has been asked to give $1,000.

Preston Timmins and John Hamilton of the Canadian Institute for the Blind, were guests of the Trenton club last night.

Walter Wrightman proposed that the club donate $100 a year towards bursaries for deserving high school students. This matter will be left for a future meeting. A suggestion, advanced by Lion Thompson, that the club committee concerned with the conservation of eyesight investigate a vision testing apparatus, to be used locally, was approved by the membership.

Claude Rutman, club president, presented $100 a year certificate from Lions International, attesting to the fact that he has been a Lion for the past 30 years.

Swimming Pool Will Be Issue At Meeting

TRENTON — The Ontario Municipal Board has indicated to town council that it does not express opinions on such matters as the location of a swimming pool in the province. Board of Education proposal with plans to include a swimming pool in the proposed new wing to the town's high school.

However, O. W. Larry, Trenton's clerk-comptroller, said that members of the provincial body had suggested that council could ask the town solicitor (Roderick Campbell) for an interpretation of a section of the Education Section Act, which states, in effect, that a board may not levy for more than one mill a year for funds over and above those necessary for operating purposes. In order to pay for the pool, within a two-year period (it most likely would be the builder), the board would have to ask town for an additional two or three mills each year.

The matter will be brought up at next Monday night's council meeting.

TO STAGE SHOOT

Members of the Trenton Police Association will stage a turkey shoot on Saturday, September 30. The place is Bellyou's gravel pit off the Sand Dog Hill Road, Starting at 10 a.m.

Only 22 rifles with open sights will be permitted.

FEWER U.S. DEATHS

CHICAGO (AP)—The U.S. National Safety Council reported Thursday that traffic fatalities for the first eight months of 1961 were at a record low of 4.8 per 100,000,000 vehicle miles travelled. That is a drop of four per cent from last year.

Road Engineers Hold Golf Match

TRENTON — On Thursday, members of the County Engineers Association met at the Trenton Golf and Country Club to hold the annual election of officers and participate in one of the five golf tournaments which are held throughout the year.

President for the 1961-62 season is Glass French of the Department of Highways at Kingston. Mr. French was re-elected to this post.

Vice-president is John Smith of Toronto and secretary will be Jack Ferguson, who was also re-elected.

In the golf department, Mac Wade of Belleville came through a winner with a 75; R. Morland, Kingston, was second with 82 and Eric Aldersay of Trenton, third with 83.

In addition to the golf matches played during the year, association members also curl five times during the winter season.

Members from an area bounded by Montreal, Toronto and Peterborough were present on Thursday for the golf.

Following the golf match, the members enjoyed a buffet supper and social hour in the Country Club.

Officer Tells Of Korea Job In Keeping Peace

By DAVE McINTOSH

CAMP PETAWAWA (CP)—In the interests of peace in the Far East, Col. the Rev. C. (Bill) Little tramped the barren hills of central Korea for more than a year. He was the sole Canadian member of the advisory group to the United Nations military armistice commission in Korea.

Col. Little, of Toronto and Brampton helped investigate alleged violations of the armistice signed at Panmunjom July 27, 1953. He said in an interview here—he was recently appointed commander of the Fort Garry Horse, a tank regiment—there were between two and seven alleged violations a month during his tour of duty from May, 1960, to August this year.

He participated in the conferences between the UN command and the Korean and Chinese commists which officials said agreed at Panmunjom in the four-power armistice zone between the two sides.

NO RECESSES

He said the longest conference was seven hours and 45 minutes. There was no break. "We considered it a matter of pride not to have to leave the table before the other side did.

"For a lone Canadian officer he must have been the loneliest in the world, a reporter suggested.

"I didn't find it lonely though I had to leave my family in Canada," he said. "The Koreans were most hospitable and I enjoyed the job satisfying both professionally and personally."

In the winter, he helped rustle up some wood and sticks and to teach Korean children hockey on the frozen rice paddies near Seoul.

"The paddies make the best rinks in the world," he said.

Reds Put Girls To Work Along Berlin Border

BERLIN (AP) — East Germany put girls and women to work today at building sections of Berlin's East-West border into a No-Man's Land. West Berliner's call it "the death strip."

The women joined thousands of laborers clearing ground and razing houses under the supervision of armed guards along the 25-mile sector border.

Female workers were sighted along the Teltow Canal opposite the American zone. Fugitives have escaped by freedom by swimming the waterway.

Communist workers are striving to turn such areas in suburban sections of the border into "no-man's-land" to give the East German guards a clear view of escapees. The rest of the border has long been marked by a similar dead zone.

Despite the effort to seal the border ever tighter, East Germans continued to filter through to the West. Another 30 persons were reported to have made it across by midnight.

Secondary School Teachers Hear Address About Trade By British Commissioner

"I do not believe we can retain the present system intact and completely unchanged, but neither will we be willing to accept its abolition," said L. Lightman, British Trade Commissioner to Canada here yesterday evening. He was explaining Britain's current overtures towards membership in the European Economic Community (the present system and her obligations to the Commonwealth and the European Free Trade Association) to members of the Belleville Branch of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers Federation at their annual banquet held at the Club Canada.

"We could not accept any agreement which did not fully safeguard the interests of the Commonwealth and the Commonwealth (ie; two) take account of our obligations to our European Free Trade Area partners . . . (and) of the interests of British agriculture," he stated.

The Commonwealth is a great source of stability and strength both to Western Europe and the world as a whole, and I am sure that its value is fully appreciated by the member governments of the European Economic Community. I do not think that Britain's collaboration in the Commonwealth will be reduced if Britain joins the Six, on the contrary, I think its value will be enhanced," the speaker quoted the British Prime Minister, Harold Macmillan as saying.

Lightman offered as influencing Britain's decision to enter into negotiations with the members of the European Economic Community, First, was the feeling of these members that Britain either had to join the Market, and accept all of its major obligations or not join at all. Second, a political factor, that Britain believed she could more effectively use her influence on policy in the Common Market, which is evolving into a unified group representing one-fifth of the free economic policies amongst themselves. A lack of unity "would be a major weakness in the free world's defence effort," said. The third reason, which is economic, was the feeling of these trend is definitely towards large trading groups whose members own great economic advantages and with it their ability to compete vigorously in overseas markets.

It is Britain's feeling, Mr. Lightman explained, that "we also remained outside (the Common market) her relative economic position might decline to her own detriment and to that of the Commonwealth."

Britain has not offered to join the Common Market unconditionally, he emphasized. "We could not accept any agreement which did not help safeguard the interests of the Commonwealth," he said.

In discussing the Canadian viewpoint, Mr. Lightman summarized it as follows. First, the Canadian government does not accept the United Kingdom viewpoint that the "balance of advantage for Britain itself is politically and economically better in joining the Six (the Common Market)."

Second, the Canadian government fears that the result of such action would be a decline in the cohesion of the Commonwealth and its voice in world affairs and that this might lead to an increasing Canadian dependence on the USA."

Third, the Canadian government is afraid that if Britain joins the Common Market it will lead "to the end of the Commonwealth preference system and more particularly to a partial loss of the U.K. market for Canadian exports."

Commenting on these views, the speaker agreed that the first two are quite long term political judgments based upon the individual assessment of certain intangibles and impondorables and that Britain prefers her own assessment of these to that of Canada's.

The third point, the economic factor, Mr. Lightman expressed his feeling that Canada would not lose much of her present trade with Britain, certainly nowhere near the 70 per cent figure which the Canadian government suggests. There would be a definitely be a period of readjustment during which some industries might find trade hurt but others would find "unparalleled opportunities for expansion."

In the long run, the speaker suggested, the proposed move would provide far more opportunities for Canadian industry than it would restrictions.

In concluding he expressed his feeling that it does little justice "to the enterprise and initiative of Canadians in every walk of life to argue that the basic status quo [maintained can Canada sell successfully in Britain and continental Europe . . . I am fully confident of the ability of Canadians to adapt to this challenge and to emerge successful."

Some one hundred persons were present to hear Mr. Lightman's address.

Former Toronto Car Dealer Held in Italy

TORONTO (CP) — David Pleasor, former Toronto car dealer who vanished from the city in 1958, was arrested in Milan, a Reby, Thursday on a charge of taking a false passport.

He was arrested by Milan police on instructions from Interpol, the international police agency, on a warrant issued in 1959 by Israeli authorities.

Pleasor and his family disappeared from Toronto in February, 1958, leaving behind a $6,000 car dealership, a $45,000 home, a $25,000 mortgage and an $18,000 launch.

His disappearance occurred 10 days after he was arrested by Toronto police and charged with criminal negligence.

Step up Hunt For Gen. Salan In Algeria

ALGIERS (Reuters) — Louis Joxe, France's Algerian affairs minister, headed here today to step up the hunt for fugitive former Gen. Raoul Salan and other leaders of the outlawed European Army or Secret Army Organization (OAS).

The government is intensifying its search for the anti-Gaullist OAS in face of fears of another attempt by Salan and his followers to seize power here and declare Algeria an "independent French republic."

The OAS, violently opposed to President Charles de Gaulle's self - determination policies for Algeria, has made repeated appeals for European demonstrations.

There has been talk in government circles in Paris of putting a big price on Salan's head. There is known to be OAS men somewhere in Algeria although it is the consensus that the failure of the four-day Algeria putsch in April in which he took a leading part.

De Gaulle is reported highly disturbed over the "general slackness" with which anti-OAS measures have been carried out.

Troops using tear gas and supported by armor and cars broke up crowds in central Algiers Thursday night after new Algerie Francaise demonstrations organized by the OAS. Police said several persons were hurt.

OAS orders to cause traffic jams in leading Algerian towns were described by French officials as a failure.

Three Moslems died Thursday night in a grenade attack at a village midway between Algiers and Oran, western Algeria. Four persons were injured in other attacks in Oran and Algiers.

2 'Marauders' Were Killed

JERUSALEM (Reuters)—Two "marauders" were killed Thursday night in a clash with an Israeli border patrol while crossing the border from the Gaza Strip, an Israeli army spokesman said today.

On the bodies were arms, ammunition and explosives, the Israeli said. The United Nations command in Gaza has been informed of the incident.

Dr. Mamoun Kuzbari Forms All-Civilian Syrian Cabinet

This is the first dispatch received direct from Damascus since the uprising by Syrian army officers Thursday against the United Arab Republic.

By FAROUK NASSAR

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Dr. Mamoun Kuzbari, veteran Syrian politician, today formed an 11-man all-civilian cabinet after Thursday's revolutionary movement by the Syrian army.

Damascus radio announced formation of Syria's first civilian cabinet shortly after 11 a.m. local time.

Kuzbari is president of the Bar Association of Syria. He served as minister and house speaker before Syria's union with Egypt in the United Arab Republic. He has also been professor of civil rights at Damascus University.

His new cabinet included seven with doctor's degrees, two engineers, and one lawyer.

The revolutionary command eventually agreed to the public to cease this "massive expression of support and remain quiet for fear that saboteurs and dirtiers might sneak into their ranks."

The new cabinet will rule during a transitional period until new legislators are elected.

Its formation came in fulfillment of the revolutionary command's promise to hand over "safe and honest civilian hands."

The revolutionary command here gained more power when the Aleppo army forces Thursday night staged a similar movement and announced over Aleppo radio their "allegiance to the blessed revolutionary movement in Damascus."

Kuzbari was earlier given by the army revolutionary command the power of issuing decrees naming his ministers.

The command also authorized the newly formed cabinet to issue legislative decrees during the transitional period provided these decrees would be presented to any "legislative authority which will rise from and by the legislature," Damascus radio said.

U.N. Gets New Leader

The choice of Daniel Johnson as leader of the Union Nationale party in Quebec is of national interest. While Premier Jean Lesage and his Liberals are firmly in the saddle in that province, and are pursuing a vigorous policy which is likely to transform many facets of Quebec life, in spicy well-ruled democratic region it is imperative that there should be an acceptable alternative to the party in power.

We are still too near to the days when Maurice Duplessis ruled with a somewhat cynical paternalism for his party, however much its leadership may have been reorganized, to be considered an acceptable alternative to the Liberals. But, now that it has finally selected a new leader after the confusion resulting from the deaths of Duplessis, and his successor, Paul Sauve, and the defeat at the polls of the party under Antonio Barrette, one may hope that the Union Nationale will start putting its house in order and prepare itself for the future.

Barring some unusual and unexpected development, like the establishment in Quebec of a provincial branch of the Progressive Conservatives under that name, the rise of the fortunes of the Union des Electeurs or Social Creditors, or a sudden and unlikely enthusiasm for the New Democratic Party, the Union Nationale will one day be called upon to replace the Liberals as the government of Quebec. It is in the interests of that province, and of the country as a whole, that when that day dawns the Union Nationale shall be well led, with a clear-cut political philosophy.

Mr. Johnson appears to us to have taken a modest but essential step towards achieving this desired goal by his rejection of separatism, his insistence that Quebec's desires to safeguard its French-Canadian culture can be achieved within the framework of the Canadian constitution. This does not guarantee that he will lead the party with wisdom and rid it of the stains left by its record when Duplessis was at its head, but it preserves hope that this may to be so.

The Rugged Canadian

For those who thought that the ruggedness of the Canadian was well assured by the story of the Grey Cup enthusiasts who watched the game on television in their own livingroom, with doors and windows open and bundled up with all the paraphernalia which it behooves an avid football spectator to pack into a stadium with him, a disturbing incident rears its ugly head.

In London there is being built an enclosed and heated grandstand from which local racing enthusiasts may watch the ponies circulate. While this will allow racing in almost any kind of weather and will undoubtedly preserve, perchance enhance, the health and stamina of the horses we fail to see where the ruggedness of the spectator is going to be maintained.

Next we are liable to be faced with heated grandstands at football games or air conditioned bleachers in the ball parks. Surely all sensible persons realize that sport is supposed to produce healthy and rugged citizens?

Decisions, Decisions

Leslie E. Pearson, leader of the Liberal party, told the Canadian Young Liberal Federation on Saturday that the present Conservative government's record is "unparalleled in our history, is one of ducking decisions, delay, indecision, fumbling and appointing royal commissions."

The criticism, not without some corroboration from the record, would have seemed more impressive had we not just been reading Thornton Wilder's "The Ides of March," in which he has Cicero say of Julius Caesar that he is addicted to instantaneous decisions and that men of this type, under the disguise of weighing facts quickly, actually avoid any necessity of thought, being able to present a picture of a series of crises demanding instant action, so that no time is ever provided to wonder whether, at some stage in the chain of events, a different decision might not have brought a different result.

Underwater Archaeology

BBC London Letter

There are some 200 known wrecks lying off the Turkish coast, under the seabed, though doubtless there are many more on remote stretches of the lonely, holiday-makers, sponge divers and others who have occasionally found treasure in their hitherto relics. Until recently underwater archaeology in Turkey had to be that carried out on land sites—has tended to be more of a treasure hunting than a scientific undertaking. But today special techniques enable divers to bring to lift the cargos of long ago and often to excavate the ships themselves. Much has been learnt about the old trade routes, the type of cargo carried, and the build of the vessels. Recently four underwater explorers (Frederic Dumas, Henri Delauze, Philippe Cruer and Joseph Piat Taylor) discussed with the distinguished British archaeologist Dr. Kenyon their work last year on a wreck over 2,000 years old off the coast of Turkey.

Monsieur Dumas said that up to a depth of 30 metres divers were easy to excavate; from 30 to 40 metres the task was longer, more difficult and more dangerous, and deeper than that he thought underwater intervention was out of the question, but it was still possible to salvage the cargo. The wrecks they were in sand; for those on rock were either scattered or destroyed by marine life.

Miss Frost, who worked on plotting tombs in Miss Kenyon's excavations at Jericho, described a technique which was very like architectural surveying on land. She said that the work by this technique was entirely different, and diving imposed three main problems. Firstly, the first section was distorted by the diver's mask which enlarged everything about 25 per cent, and also reduced the angle of vision to about 90 degrees. Secondly, when working at depth —and all "decent" wrecks lay at over 30 feet—the mind has become dulled and tended to work like an automaton; and third, there was no horizon under water, whereas surveying was based on a system of horizontal and vertical measurements. Furthermore, the diver was limited to about two hours of submarines a day. With experience the diver learned to compensate for some of these handicaps, but all efforts led to the planned carefully in advance, like herself always wrote down a complete list" in advance of every dive, and her objectives as she secured. Miss Frost then went on to say that a rigid metal tablet and pencil were the most useful aids of plastic. Every day the record of the work done was done and took the tracing down the following day in pencil.

Miss Frost said that, as in surveying on land, the method where each things as found was recorded in relation to two definitely fixed points, the position of important objects was determined by reference to two points. For example, the way the cargo was stowed and therefore the underdeck of the ship, if preserved for time, it was often found that the cargo had been found individual objects than to attempt an arrangement survey of an underwater site. Of course the archaeologist had to have enough plan of the area at the outset in order to direct divers to their place of work. The various techniques for plotting were discussed including many of which had to be used in these special problems and every wreck was different. In all cases the work of divers had to be checked and cross-checked by varying techniques.

"Some ancient wrecks look as though matchwood first, wire jars held together by concussion," Monsieur Dumas said, "and the major part is undamaged. In the wreck which one layer of cargo was pressed down upon another, layer upon to be lowered, so that the weaker points and raised intact, methods were adopted to remove the objects under water. Objects could be lifted in large nets, while others were dealt in small baskets, and very fragile things, such as glass, in rubber, had to be placed in rigid containers. In some cases double bags could be used, the inner heavy but delicate objects could be floated to the surface by plastic balloons filled underwater with compressed air. Miss Frost described how little sensible delicate objects to be transported for the Bodrum Museum needed for proper treatment in well-controlled circumstances.

Grievances To Be Probed

Montreal Gazette

New Zealand is the first nation of the Commonwealth to adopt a very useful idea that has been established for years in Scandinavian countries. This is the idea of having some official to look after the citizen who may go has a grievance against the Government.

As everyone knows it may prove extremely unsatisfactory in case of a dispute, to go to the Government itself for redress. The exasperation that may result is well expressed in the old New York saying: "Go right City Hall."

But New Zealand, following the example of Scandinavia, has instituted a bill to appoint an official to act as a public investigator. The official will be appointed by Parliament, as the Auditor-General is in Ottawa.

Citizens must make their complaints to him in writing. They must pay a small fee of one pound. The public investigator will then have the duty to act if the case is obviously frivolous. He can also act if the aggrieved citizen has the right of appeal through any normal channels, and has not yet sought a hearing of his case.

But if a citizen has exhausted his normal means of seeking redress, and feels himself frustrated by official red tape, or official indifference, or simply ill-will, the public investigator will look into the matter himself. If he believes that a wrong has been done, he will report directly to the responsible minister of the department involved. If the minister fails to take action, he can report it to Parliament.

If there is still no action, he can report it to the electorate. There the minister, faced with something that has now become public knowledge, will have to make his public defence. Unless he is able to defend his ground, this is something any minister would prefer to avoid.

The New Zealand Government made a promise in the last election, in 1960, on this very point such a public investigator. As the plan is breaking new ground, it is drawing several constructive suggestions from the public.

In Scandinavia the system has worked well. In Denmark, for example, the office is known as Public Affairs Commissioner. Anyone may make a complaint to him about the administrative actions of "ministers, civil servants and all other persons acting in the services of the state" (with the exception of judges). He, too, has the power to report his findings to Parliament, to the responsible ally or in his annual report.

There is this idea something that may be necessary to the good working of any government. It gives the citizen some recourse from the frustration that might otherwise be his. And it could put any government in a more attentive frame of mind to the needs of it more careful in its ways.

Now that Denmark, Sweden, Finland and New Zealand have all set up such an office, the idea can scarcely be regarded as unrealistic or merely theoretical. It may become an essential part of sound government, especially as government extend the range of their activities.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

LAW AND LIBERTY

Is there a conflict between law and liberty?

Many would insist there is. Law, they say, means restraint. When we operate under a by law to fix a traffic regulation or one of the great commandments of God Himself, we operate under restraint. Law, therefore, means restraint; liberty means that we are free to do.

Such a position is wholly and tragically mistaken. Law and liberty are complementary terms. There can be no bonaful law which does not involve liberty and merge into a wise use of liberty. Traffic regulations are not made to annoy us but to protect us. Laws against crime are designed to keep the general public from being imposed upon and enslaved by the actions of a criminal minority. Good parents require their children to do certain things. They do not, however, require or want their homes to be peaceable, and second, because they want the children's good, their behavior to fit into the requirements of a law abiding society.

Remember that if you accept law or any binding regulation as a restraint and instead of a means to freedom and expression you become selfish and repressive.

Law and liberty work together. The one balances the other. They are not fulfilled the other. They are both necessary to the living of a full and significant life.

Approach Emotional Illness Through Family Physician

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I read your article on emotional illness with great interest. I have a brother who seems to be living in a world of imagination, saying voices that do not exist, seeing things that are not there. At times he is extremely nervous.

"How should I go about getting him to see a doctor? How do I approach him? I do not want to cause him pain.

"This is a most important question, for emotional illness is a common affliction.

You are quite right in not wanting to alarm your brother. When such cases turn to drugs and are noticed by relatives, the first approach is through the family physician. Talk to the doctor privately in advance. The emotional condition of which may not be apparent to him in a single interview.

If the doctor, having advance warning to look for significant signs, decides that a more or less psychiatric examination is called for, he can guide you in arranging it.

"Dear Dr. Molner: My husband objects very strongly when I use cottage cheese. He says that it works and he insists that if it could be made to taste like it has the texture of meat, it must surely be harmful to the stomach. What is your opinion?

— Mrs. C. N.

Cheese is a good answer your husband's worries. Muscle tissue contains more protein and undertaker pre-digests the muscle tissue. It does in advance what the digestive juices processes would do later anyway. Furthermore, the action of the digestive juices stops with heat of cooking. All the many tons of undertakers' meat I have eaten given no indication of harming anyone. Undertakers are safe.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have been taking gelatin for my fingernails. Two people have told me it also keeps cholesterol from forming. I have thought doubt to my mind. Has suffer when that sugar adds weight. Of course, there may be something about the case the Saviour? — H. F."

The flavoring is of scant consequences. Plain gelatin is a form of protein. The desserts, called salads, of which gelatin is a bit of sugar, in high blood pressure. I don't see what difference it makes whether the gelatin is plain or flavored. Where

Immorality Act, Cornerstone Of Apartheid Policy, Has No Place in Multi-Racial State

Brian Barrow is a South African journalist busy experimenting in theories on the problems of his country. In this story he discusses the consequences of the Immorality Act.

By BRIAN BARROW

CAPE TOWN (CP) —At least one apartheid chicken — the Immorality Act—has come home to roost for South Africa's Nationalist government.

Judging by the correspondence columns of newspapers that support the government, there is a deep stirring of conscience among Nationalists over the morality of the Immorality Act.

It has destroyed the lives of thousands of whites and non-whites alike and broken hundreds of homes.

The Immorality Act was passed soon after the Nationalist government assumed power in 1948. It has since been amended to cover the various degrees of immorality. And yet its main purpose is not to prevent immorality as such, but to stop miscegenation.

It says love between two consenting adults is a crime if they happen to be people of a different race. Read with the Mixed Marriages Act, it makes love and marriage between a man and woman of different skin colors illegal.

HISTORICAL CONFLICT

Historically it has no place in a multi-racial state such as South Africa where for 300 years people of different colors have lived side by side, inter-married and committed miscegenation on a vast scale.

The Colored, people of mixed blood, who today number 1,500,000, are the children of white fathers or mothers.

Although the act has been enforced for nearly 12 years in the most thorough and often heartless manner it has failed to achieve its objective.

Every day men and women are sent to jail for periods ranging from one to nine months for contravention of the act. Yet sexual relations across the color line have increased. Each year there are more prosecutions. There have been more than 4,000 convictions since 1950. And police chiefs have said that for every couple caught, about 100 get away with it.

Ironically, at least 90 per cent of the white offenders have been people with Afrikaans names and it is safe to say that of those the great majority have been Nationalist supporters.

SOME POLICE POWERS

Among the convicted have been socially prominent people, Dutch Reformed Church clergyman, the private secretary of Johannes Strydom who was Nationalist prime minister before Hendrik Verwoerd, government officials, house servants, immigrants, visiting seamen and farmers.

Police were given wide powers in their interpretation of the act. Men and women of different color who were legally married before the Nationalists came to power have been dragged out of their beds in the middle of the night and brought before the courts.

There have been several cases of policemen peeping through bedroom windows of private homes. There have been reports of corruption on the part of policemen and officials who have delegated instead of blind eye on offenders in return for the favor of the woman concerned.

In a few cases white men have committed suicide rather than face the ruinous publicity of a trial.

KISS NO CRIME

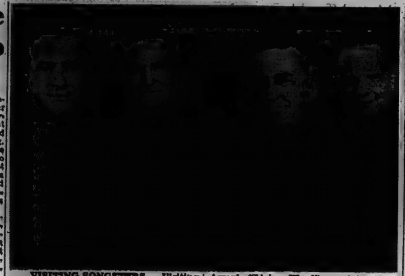
Now the stage has been reached when respectable citizens are afraid to drive their Colored maids home at night for fear of arrest.

An Afrikaner wrote to the Nationalist newspaper Die Burger and said that even in the days time he was afraid to stay at home with his Colored maid while his wife was out shopping.

A Cape Town magistrate brought some relief not long ago when he ruled that it was not an offence under the act for a white man to kiss a Colored woman. This threw the legislators into a dither. For weeks lawyers debated the matter.

Meanwhile, the number of convictions increased and the government was eventually compelled to instruct policemen not to arrest anyone under the act unless they were certain immorality had either been intended or actually committed. Still the government is worried because the measure is causing it increasing embarrassment.

PROTESTS HEARD



And the Nationalist party membership is beginning to protest. Seldom has any act been given such generous space in the correspondence columns of Die Burger.

There have been scores of letters from Nationalist supporters. Most of them want the act repealed. Others want it extended to cover homosexuality between men and women of the same race. A few want it applied even more harshly. One Broederbond even suggested that offenders should be marked with branding irons.

Undoubtedly the conscience of the whole country has been jogged. But it's unlikely anything will come of it. The government would lose prestige and the Immorality Act is, after all, one of the cornerstones of its apartheid —segregation— policy.

NKRUMAH CLEANS HOUSE

ACCRA (Reuters) — President Kwame Nkrumah announced Thursday dismissal of six prominent government officials including two cabinet ministers because their business interests clashed with the government's program of socialism. The dismissed ministers, K. A. Gbedemah, 48, and Kojo Botsio, 45, were considered long-standing personal friends of Nkrumah.

Three Witnesses Tell How Men Were Arrested

BRANDON (CP)—Three witnesses told an Assize Court jury Thursday how Toronto businessmen Hugh Paton and D. Hubert Cox were arrested last Jan. 13 on a charge of conspiring to steal $400,000 from Brandon Packers Limited.

RCMP Sergeant Nels Stavenford said he arrested Mr. Cox in the office of Great West Saddlery Limited in Toronto last Jan. 13. Paton was brought from his home to the office and placed under arrest.

Earlier in the day, the fourth of the trial, the court head evidence from Norman Cox, chief investigator of the Ontario Securities Commission, who seized documents from Paton and Cox offices in Toronto last fall. He identified many of them in court.

The men are charged with conspiring to steal $400,000 from Brandon Packers Limited, with conspiring to defraud Brandon Packers of $400,000, with stealing and defrauding the company of $448,000 and with issuing false prospectus in regard to a Brandon Packers bond issue.

Never Repaid $4,500 Loan Says Witness

WHITBY (CP)—Tadeusz Niemiec, 38, of Oshawa testified before a Supreme Court of Ontario jury Thursday that Roman Wiatrowski, 48, suing him for alienating the affections of Mrs. Wiatrowski, never repaid $4,500 loaned him to build a house.

Niemiec said he asked Wiatrowski for the money, without receipt. He became a boarder in the new house.

Niemiec said he and Wiatrowski were good friends until Wiatrowski saw his wife Sophia, 36, kissing him in a chesterfield in July, 1960. He did not know why the women kissed him, and had tried to push her away, Niemiec said.

Niemiec said he moved out the next day, but has been keeping company with Mrs. Wiatrowski since.

Mrs. Wiatrowski testified her marriage in Germany in 1946 was not a happy one.

Mrs. Jack Cook of Collingwood, Niemiec's sister, testified Mrs. Wiatrowski had said she was a Roman Catholic and thought she would not receive absolution at confession unless she did not have a church wedding.

Gladys Gwronska, 19, told the court she heard Mr. Wiatrowski say last year he would buy a bottle of whisky to anyone who would take his wife away.

Evidence Shows Men Posed As 'Highway Inspectors'

The preliminary hearing of John Box of Toronto, charged with breaking and entering the county magistrate's court Thursday morning by Magistrate T. J. Wills. Box is also charged with theft.

The accused elected trial before a judge and jury.

The case was enlarged to Thursday, October 19, for judgment.

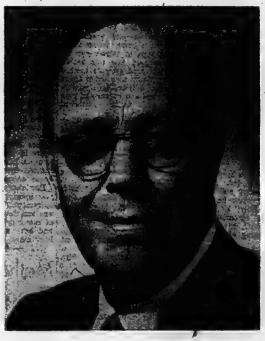
Evidence of Mrs. Annie White of Marysville, whose home was alleged to have been entered, was that two men came to her door on June 8, 1960, and said they were "highway inspectors" and that they would have to inspect every room in her home. She said she believed them and let them in.

"I went upstairs with one of the men, to open a door up there for him while the other men remained downstairs. Mrs. Box, Jack of Collingwood, Niemiec's sister, testified Mrs. Wiatrowski had said she was a Roman Catholic and thought she would not receive absolution at confession unless she did not have a church wedding.

Gladys Gwronska, 19, told the court she heard Mr. Wiatrowski say last year he would buy a bottle of whisky to anyone who would take his wife away.

second man came upstairs and said something to him. One of them then said they had to go outside and measure all the way around the house. They said it would be about half an hour and told me to sit down on the steps and wait until they came back. She testified that as soon as the two men had left the house, she came downstairs and found the drawer where she had placed her tax money in a wallet, was opened. She stated there was $283 in the wallet. She said she tried to find the wallet but couldn't.

When asked how old she was, Mrs. White said she was 83 on her last birthday.



Corp. Routing of the Ontario Provincial police office here, who is in charge of the identification branch said the checked the flashlight and battery for fingerprints. He said he had occasion at a later date to fingerprint the accused men, and found the fingerprints to be the same.

Neighbors of Mrs. White also testified they had seen two men at the door of Mrs. White's home on the evening of June 8, 1960.

Bail for the accused was set at $1,000 each and the charge of theft was also laid over to October 12.

MACDONALD — COLDEN

In Bridge Street United Church, Belleville, on Saturday, September 16 at 3.30 in the afternoon, the Rev. Harry M. Davis officiated at a lovely early fall wedding when Patricia Esther Colden, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Colden of Belleville, Ontario, became the bride of Archibald Daniel MacDonald, youngest son of Mrs. Kenneth A. MacDonald, Pourchu, Nova Scotia, and the late Mr. MacDonald.

The church was decorated with lighted candles in tall candelabra and white shasta daisies mingled with mums, commercial 'mums tinted pale yellow.

Mr. S. Alec Gordon, church organist played for the process sional "Hymn" by Purcell, and for the recessional "Trumpet Tune and Air," also by Purcell. He accompanied Mr. Robert Reid, choir director and soloist of the church, when he sang, in "O Lord Most Holy" by Frank, preceding the ceremony and "Wedding March" from Handel, during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father the bride chose a floor gown of chalk white mirramist taffeta, fashioned with a simple bodice, V neckline, short length sleeves, long bodice terminating in three interlolding pleats forming a V in the front and back, from which fell a bouffant skirt of impressed pleats ending in a slight sweep. Her berdrdress was a small corset of iridescent sequins holding a short, full veil of illusion tulle falling to a V at the waistline in the back. She carried a small deadle cascade bouquet of white feathered carnations, yellow sweetheart roses and trailing ivy.

Miss Margaret Pennell of Belleville was maid of honor, and Miss Louise Knowles of St. Anne de Bellevue, Quebec, was bridesmaid. They were gowned alike in street-length dresses of Mediterranean-blue peau de soie, fashioned with scoop necklines, short sleeves and bell skirts with unpressed pleats and waistline bows in the front. Their hats were shaded velvet petals matching their gowns with short veils. They wore matching shoes and short white gloves and carried crescent bouquets of feathered carnations, tinted mauve, intertwined with blue velvet ribbon.

Mr. Malcolm MacDonald of Pourchu, Nova Scotia, was best man for his brother, and the ushers were Mr. David Colden of Belleville, brother of the bride and Mr. William MacLeod of Fourchu, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Club Room at the Hotel Quinte where the bride's mother received wearing a sheath dress of gold colored brocade with short matching jacket, small hat of brown mink bands with brown satin bows, brown shoes and corsage of brown cymbidium orchids. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother wearing dusty rose beige nylon lace over taffeta, with matching felt hat and corsage of pink roses and white feathered plumes.

For travelling to New York City the bride wore a beige and brown wool jersey sheath dress with matching jacket, beige brown hat, brown accessories, and corsage of yellow

SPEAKING of MANNERS

PRISCILLA LEWIS

WHAT'S YOUR E.Q.?

Do you know how and when to make an introduction correctly, and how to acknowledge one correctly? See how many of the following questions you can answer correctly:

1. When a man and woman are talking together, who is presented to whom?

2. When is a hand first, the man or woman?

3. Should a woman stand when being introduced to another woman?

4. Is it necessary to introduce a companion to someone you happen to meet on the street?

5. If you have forgotten a person's name when introducing him to a stranger?

6. When a woman introduces herself, should she clarify her status with Miss or Mrs.?

7. Is it necessary at a party to introduce a stranger to everyone in the room?

ANSWERS:

1. The man is presented to the woman, unless, of course, he's the president of another big business. Then everyone, regardless of age or sex, is presented to him.

2. A woman offers her hand first, and should not be expected to bow or nod the gentleman down the nose.

3. Yes, if the other woman is obviously older or an important personage. Otherwise, she may remain seated.

4. Not if you just say "hello" in passing, or if you stop to talk to you.

5. He should refer to her "my wife," not as "Mrs. Doe."

6. You can say either "Hello" or "How do you do?" She's not considered good taste to say "Delighted," or to gush over the person.

7. No. A person should be introduced fully by his first and last names.

8. Not necessarily. Introductions should be remembered.

9. No, she should give only her first and last names.

10. A stranger usually is presented to a few people, after which he may circulate at will.

Congregation Honors Couple With Shower

FRANKFORD — Frankford Hall Community Centre was the organization and friends gathered on the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hilliard on Friday night of September 22 to honor the bride and Mrs. Bob Dennis (nee Connie Elliot).

The Rev. Fred Spring was chairman for the evening. Miss Gordon Smith was pianist. Miss Connie Elliot gave a reading "To Live Together." A vocal trio, "Whispering Hope", was rendered by Misses Meg Elliot, Mrs. Keith Helm and Mrs. Dave McVicker. Two readings, "The Door is Always Opened and "Life's Harvest of Joy" were given by Joanne Sheppard sang "A Crown of Thorns". Mrs. Dorothy Forbes gave a reading "The Size of Your Heart." Mrs. Helen Elliot and Mrs. Hilda Bailey rendered the vocal duet "Hilda's Bailey to Heaven".

Mrs. Fred Spring conducted a quiz on well known hymns and the ladies obtained the most 13-10. Miss Gloria Bailey gave a reading "Good Memory Bailey". A vocal duet, "Mansion Over the Hill Top" was sung by Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Smith. Mrs. Reg Elliott gave a reading.

Mrs. Austin Watson read an address composed by Mrs. Lee Reilly, which wished the couple much happiness for the future, both in married life and in the work in the church.

Mr. Fred Wood, Mr. Keith Helm and Mr. Austin Watson on behalf of the congregation presented Bob and Connie with a pair of table lamps and a white chenille bedspread.

They both responded with appreciative thanks to the congregation for their generosity and prayers.

Mr. Spring closed with prayer and a time of fellowship was enjoyed by all.

Rev. F. F. Downing Inducted At Impressive Ceremony

By Rev. PEGGY MACMILLEN

STIRLING—On Tuesday evening, September 26th, an institution and induction service was held in St. Andrew's Anglican Church, Stirling, in honor of the rector of the parish, Rev. Frederick Percival and Glen Miller with representatives from all parishes in attendance. The church and adjoining hall were filled to capacity with folk from many centres and it was an outstanding service, which will long serve as recorded in St. John's Church in previous years.

The Rt. Reverend K. C. Evans D.D. Ph.D., Lord Bishop of Ontario, accompanied by his chaplain Canon J. Anderson, both of Kingston was in charge of the induction service of the Reverend Frederick Fuller Downing L. Th. as rector of the parish. Mr. Downing came to Stirling in July of this year from Athens.

Miss Helen Morrow was organist for the service and the combined choirs of St. John's and St. Andrew's, S. U. I. ing; Trinity Anglican, Frankford, and Christ Anglican Church, Stirling, were in charge of the special selections, under the direction of Mr. E. C. Hayden.

The service opened with "Christ is made the sure foundation" and a special response, which was rendered Mr. D. C. Hay-Ellis M.A. as a lay reader of this parish in a special capacity. This was dedicated to new public address system' installed in the church by Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Rathbun in thankful offering of 36 years of married life.

Mr. Albert Cadwy, senior warden of the parish presented the keys of the three churches to the new incumbent and Mr. Downing was then accompanied to his accustomed seat by diplomated clergy and church officers.

The admonitions followed centred around the Epistle, "Love the Place O God Wherein Thine Honor Dwells." Venerable Archdeacon of Ontario, the Rev. J. B. Creegan participated in the service and was assisted by the Rural Dean of Hastings County, the Rev. K. P. Blackford. The choir and congregation rendered "Great Is Thy Love, Great Is Thy Glory, Praise Father of Light".

The Venerable N. R. Stout, Archdeacon of Frontenac County was chosen to give the sermon and he presented a most inspirational message. Following this the large congregation joined in the hymn, O Father Bless Our Parish, That All May Live in Grace."

A large number of clergy were in attendance at this auspicious service and included: Rev. Reverends, A. E. Page, Rural Dean of Prince Edward County; Canon A. S. McConnell, Belleville; M. Gooderham, Ernestic; K. F. Burns, Bath; Elmer Brown, Milford; A. Wakeling, Carrying Place; F. Tebbutt, Parham; J. G. Findlater, Adolphustown; R. Fleming, Marmora; H. G. Phillips, Lyndhurst; E. O. Johnston, Killey; O. Barrow, Campbellford; W. J. Roney, Brighton; R. B. Wright, Picton; R. P. Smith, Belleville; J. Hart, Cataraqui. Other guests included Mr. Robert Pringle, Q.C. Belleville Chancellor of the Diocese of Ontario; Mr. W. D. Johnston, Kingston, Registrar of Ontario, and also visiting clergy from the village, the Rev. R. J. Rooney, minister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church and the Rev. Francis A. Crook, both of Stirling; the Rev. W. C. Pascoe, pastor of Rawdon United Church and the Rev. David Potter, minister of Keenaville United Church.

The recessional hymn was rendered as the theme "The Hand, O God Has Guided, Thy Flock from Age to Age".

This inspirational and outstanding service centred around the words, "One Church, One Faith, One Lord".

A reception followed in the Parish Hall when the Guilds of the three churches served light refreshments and the large gathering enjoyed a period of fellowship.

P.S. Sponsors Successful Fun Fair

DESERONTO — It was advertised as a Fun Fair at the public school for last Wednesday afternoon and the efforts of the Home and School Association were not in vain. Really they were games of all kinds, races, afternoon tea, and other forms of entertainment for the young and old. The children swarmed from one spot to another, vied to enter the races and generally acted as crowds of children who are enjoying themselves, will act. The parents who attended also enjoyed the fun as much as the children.

The general atmosphere was of an event well conceived, satisfactorily all and the financial results showed it was worth the effort.

Mrs. Ross Bell, chairman, was Mrs. M. Knobnan and her committee was composed of: Mrs. Sweetman, Mrs. Mott and Mrs. E. Hawley.

Conveners for the tea was Mrs. J. Graham; for the races, Mrs. J. Samwell; Mrs. W. Hawley and another big attraction, the baking contest; Mrs. G. Lott, Mrs. Hawley, Mrs. J. Wylie, Mrs. S. Wesman had the bingo concession; William Schell, J. Wylie, Mrs. Wylie, Mrs. Keech, S. Brown, F. Vick, F. Hawley, Mrs. McGregor, Gray and J. Graham were the bingo calling committee. The booth managers were Mrs. Lord, Mrs. A. Fraser, Mrs. E. Hawley, Mrs. Gray, Mrs. P. Valentette, Mrs. R. Cork, Mrs. J. Gillin, Mrs W. Schell and L. Gilligan.

The dances were under the supervision of Mrs. McTavish.

Tea was served in the school during the afternoon in an atmosphere of cordiality and freshness created by an abundance of garden blooms of the season. There were also booths for soft drinks, handbags, popcorn, potted plants, white elephant booth, a ring toss and a fish pond.

The results of the races were: Grade 1, David Blewett, Lorna Knobnan; Grade 2, Mitch and Cathy McGregor; grade 3, Penny Read, 2 Hawley, Susan Knobnan; Boobbrad grade 3, Rick Hill, Larry Hawley; grade 4, Sandra Bell, Wesley Conklyn; Marcella Hawley, Sandra Vanderpool; grade 5, Donna Church, Sharon Jean Hill, Judy Graham; grade 6, Kathy Lowery, Norman Woodcock, Shirley Tinney, Carolyn Woods; grade 7, Allan Hawley, Dennis Wells, Ruth Keith, Barbara Woodward; grade 8, Sandra Read, Paul Conklin, Theresa Valiquette, Jill Thompson and Valerie Clifford Hilliard G. Fleming and Lerry Hesmer, Jimmy Sherwood, Linda Topping and Betty Wales.

The baking contest was open on in all the women's events and Mrs. Gordon Smith was planist. Miss Connie Elliot gave a reading "To Live Together." A vocal trio, "Whispering Hope", was rendered by Misses Meg Elliot, Mrs. Keith Helm and Mrs. Dave McVicker. Two readings, "The Door is Always Opened and "Life's Harvest of Joy" were given by Joanne Sheppard sang "A Crown of Thorns". Mrs. Dorothy Forbes gave a reading "The Size of Your Heart." Mrs. Helen Elliot and Mrs. Hilda Bailey rendered the vocal duet "Hilda's Bailey to Heaven".

Fire Dept., Families Enjoy Picnic

DESERONTO — Leaving a skeleton staff on duty in the town in case of an alarm, the rest of the Fire Department, wives and children travelled to the Adolphustown Park on Sunday for a picnic.

The men erected a large canvas over the tables to make a shady spot for the lunch. Before lunch was served a ball game was enjoyed by the children and a refreshing swim in the cool clear water. One feature of the day was a corn roast and fireman Don Kimmett presided over the husband of corn that were cooked.

After eating to the utmost, and a short rest to recuperate, the races were held for the children and the interest amongst was so high that the adults joined in.

Rounding out the afternoon was a ball game between the ladies and their husbands with the ladies giving a very good account of themselves. The group returned to town in the early evening with carloads of tired children and parents.

In charge of the arrangements for the event were firemen Don Hobbie, Albert Fraser and Percy Knight with Don Kimmett as chief cook.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Dear Penny — Is your garden more important than my future?

• • •

Penny L. — A woman married for a home, but after moving five times in ten years of marriage, it seems the only home I've ever had is the one I got unmarried. Carl has just asked me to pack again! I'm fed up and ready to take a firm stand. Either he refuses the job offer, he moves without me and the children, even if it has to be a legal separation. I'll be really loved or, he wouldn't make us go through "settling down" any more. Our son, Allen is a timid kid and it was hard enough to get him into the Cub Scouts here. I'm tired of trying to fit old curtains to new windows and planting things I can never watch grow.

I like this town. Last week when Carl left my name posted at the shoemaker said, "It's O.K. We're not expecting a stay." Well I'm not. At last I have a home and friends. Carl shouldn't make me go.

• • •

Carl L. — Is Penny with me or against me? She talks more like a Chamber of Commerce than a wife. I've been offered the assistant manager's berth and a new factory in Arkansas, while here I'm only a foreman. She should be jumping for joy.

It's true we've moved a lot. But the first times were to save money. Now it's for the children. We never let the state until two years ago and I started to work for this company. They have branches all over and you have to circulate about 15 years before they assign you to one where you can put down stakes.

Penny knows this. It's my job hard to have to dig up new roots every few years, but I'll play along with the company line forward with some. She'll be the wife of a resident executive.

Whatever is good for me is good for Penny and the children.

• • •

The Council — Before making decisions she may regret Penny must be reminded of the true meaning of the word "home." Penny calls it "the abiding place of the affection" and echoes a wandering Roman named Pliny who, 2000 years ago said, "Home is where the heart is."

In staying behind, therefore, Penny may find herself with a shelter but no "home." In this ultra-mobile era, where opportunity can spring up in any section of the land, a man on the way up must be free to settle. It, instead of fretting discernable pity about being uprooted, Penny might meet the trust and hope in her husband's eyes squarely and then take a deep breath, shrug and grin, "Here we go again!"

Of course the mechanics of moving are hard. And the wrenching of old bonds is painful. But, as Carl promises, a stay-put period will come. Meanwhile there's the compensation of seeing the world to make up for the temporary rootlessness, especially for the kids

We advise Penny to straighten out her scale of values. At present she attaches undue importance to curtains, rosebushes and goldfish. Even if these are not duplicable, they're replaceable. What a tragedy to give up the irreplaceable — Carl's love for her, a united family life for her children — for such transient items!

No, Penny, Home is wherever the family is. Everything else rest are "trimmings" and can always be reassembled.

ST. ANDREW'S W.M.S.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church W.M.S. held its September meeting in the church parlor with a good number in attendance. The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. M. Barlow, who welcomed the members.

The business meeting followed. Donations were asked for and received for the bale to be sent to Grenfell, Jeffrey Indian School at Kenora, Ont. A letter was received from Hastings County Home inviting W.M.S. members to visit the Home in November. The devotional period followed and Mrs. D. Shier read the Scripture.

Mrs. Ross Williamson spoke on the topic, "The impact of the Church, yesterday and today, in British Guiana." She presented her talk by showing a map of the location of British Guiana, which is between Venezuela and Dutch Guiana and is about the size of Great Britain. It was developed years ago and has a population to-day of half a million people, all of whom live on the shore line, the rest of the country is jungle and undeveloped.

One of the early missionaries was a Presbyterian minister who had visited Belleville 25 years ago. British Guiana has to have its independence this year when education and religion will play an important part in the development of this country. They are grateful for the work of missionaries. She also gave highlights of the work done by these missionaries and statistics showing how the church yesterday and today is playing a most important part in the de-

As conducted by Mary Moore

LETTER:

Read your column, noticed Olive C. looking for Jam Recipes for strawberry using epsom salts. I gladly enclose this and these proportions can be used for all fruits, except pineapple, is grand for black currants, blueberries, peaches etc.

FRIDAY

Dinner Menu

Flounder Fillets Tartare; Oven French Fries; Grilled Crumbed Tomatoes or Baked Stuffed Tomatoes; Shredded Carrot Salad on Lettuce; Layered Angel Cake with Lemon Filling; Coffee.

FRUIT JAM (with Epsom Salts) (Courtesy Mildred R.):

To each four cups fruit, add a little better than 1 cup of cold water. Put on and let boil about ten minutes. Then to each cup of fruit add 1 cup sugar. Let boil again with sugar for ten minutes. Remove from fire, and to each four cups fruit, add 1 teaspoon epsom salts. Stir constantly for five minutes (not over fire). Then bottle. For a jelly: As soon as epsom salts are added it gives the fruit "specks" and you'll find as you stir, how hard it will be to move the spoon, but remember not to pull it over the fire.)

It has been a pleasure to send this along and hope I can help someone else. Thank you, Mary Moore, for interesting column. Read it. always . . . Mildred R.

LETTER:

. . . I've tried making jam with epsom salts, in the war years when sugar rationing was hard to get I used it several times in my jelly and jam. And just today when I was making pear jelly from the pear parings I was too busy to go to the store, so looked up my old recipe and tried the ep-

LONGEST

In July it knocked off for a seven-week summer recess, resuming Sept. 7 with hopes of quick cleanup. But a host of late - session issues dragged the sittings long past the previous record of 135 sittings days set in 1903.

LEADERS AWAY

The principal adversaries were not around when the weary Commons, on a six-day week since May, finally wrapped up its business. Prime Minister Diefenbaker was at Vernon, B.C., and Opposition Leader Pearson at Yorkton, Sask., both on speaking engagements.

The Commons wound up its session after a series of verbal tilts between Mr. Balcer and Mr. Chevrier.

Highest of the series came when Mr. Balcer listed the four main reasons why the government approved a transatlantic route to London for the privately-owned Canadian Pacific Airlines, breaking a TCA monopoly.

Mr. Chevrier immediately fired his charge that Mr. Balcer and the government were out to ruin TCA.

"Nothing is further from the truth," Mr. Balcer shot back. "Shocking and untrue," Mr. Fleming shouted.

DEBATE ON ACCRA

The main joust concerned what Mr. Fleming and Trade Minister Hees said, or didn't say, at the Accra Commonwealth economic conference.

The Liberals had accused the two cabinet ministers of leading a "ganging up" on Britain at the conference.

Mr. Fleming stoutly denied this several times. He asserted he wouldn't serve in any government which adopted an anti-British policy.

There wasn't "the slightest shred of proof" to charges he and Mr. Hees had taken an anti-British line. He labelled such reports as "downright falsehood," "false in all particulars" and a "blatant lie."

He said the government seeks only to preserve Commonwealth trading preferences for Canadian producers.

"NEGATIVE" POSITION

The Liberals said this position was purely "negative."

George McIlraith (L—Ottawa West) said the government should be seeking to expand trade instead of trying to maintain identical trade patterns.

He said he hoped that at the next conference Mr. Fleming would use language plain enough so that all the world's English-language and European press didn't misunderstand him again.

Mr. Hees said Canada would come out "second best" in any free trade competition with Europe's lower-cost manufacturing industries.

Mr. Fleming said there was no doubt the British proposal to join the Common Market had caused deep concern among the other Commonwealth nations. But the Accra talks had been conducted in an atmosphere of restraint and seriousness.

But the last word in the session went to neither a senator nor an MP.

It was spoken by Chief Justice Patrick Kerwin, deputy governor-general, who read the speech from the throne in the Senate chamber to end the session — 75 minutes after midnight.

Successful Living

By Doris Clark

(A Canadian Social Worker Helps with Human Problems)

An Average Student

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS:—At the request of my parents, last September I was placed in a class where all the pupils had obtained very high marks. Mine were what the average pupil would obtain. During the first term I worked very hard and obtained an 85% average, only to learn that I was last in the class.

During the terms which followed, I still worked very hard but I always "came in" last.

On top of all this, all my friends had been put in other classes, and they began to look on me as a square because I had to study so much. Now I have no really close friends. I spent all my time at home this summer and my parents thought I was having a wonderful time.

Just in case I am put with this group again (and I hope I am not), will you please give me a few tips on how to win back the friendships of my "used-to-be" friends? And on how to do well at school and have fun at the same time?—A. K.—FOURTEEN

DEAR A. K.—FOURTEEN:—All work and no play—you know the rest.

—If for some reason you are in a class where the level of achievement is beyond you, talk to your guidance counsellor, your teacher or your principal. These are years when you should be learning to grow in social graces as well as intellectually.

If the time devoted to the various phases of development is out of balance, so will you be. Your parents are too ambitious for, you, in one area; not sufficiently alert to your needs in another.

How come your mother thought you were having a wonderful summer? Don't you ever speak to each other?

* * *

DEAR DORIS:—My problem is a girl friend. She is pleasant to talk to, and she has a good sense of humor. The thing is that she not only talks back to her parents, and very rudely; but she is also loud and imperitent.

I have never quarrelled with my parents. We always talk matters over and decide what is best. Recently I have found myself quarrelsome. Her influence is rubbing off on me.

Could you please help me in telling her off without hurting her feelings too much? I expect to be in the same class with her right through the remaining years of high school. —HELPLESS.

DEAR HELPLESS—You are the lucky girl, with parents who will talk things over.

Her rudeness is between her and her parents! What you think counts—some, but the best thing you can do is set a good example. What you do will then rub off on her.

* * *

DEAR DORIS:—My girl friend is only 13 but boy does she have problems. Her mother leaves in the morning for work and while she is gone this is what my girl friend has to do: 1. Make the beds. 2. Make breakfast for three brothers, her father, and herself. 3. Clean the house. 4. Wash the floor. 5. Make the lunch. 6. Do the dishes. 7. Sew on a dress. 8. Make supper. 9 Do the dishes. 10. Sew on her dress.

When her mother comes home she raises the roof and says her daughter didn't do enough work. How can I help her?—J. W.

* * *

DEAR J. W.—You can't. This is between your friend and her mother. Not knowing both sides, I can't judge either.

If it's as bad as you say, your friend may not be able to change it, but she can resolve to treat her own daughters more fairly. Surely the boys are men enough to do their part. Can't sister help? Is this a year-round routine, or is it over with the summer?

Housework can be an interesting challenge if it is shared, and if there is time left for homework and for play. All three are important.

HOME OF THE WEEK

A refreshing design with a lot of eye "appeal," this home has much to recommend it. Planned for comfortable living, each room is generously proportioned, the living-dining "L" has a book built-in near front door, a natural fireplace and a planter 30 inches high which serves as a partial dividing wall between the living and dining areas . . . a nice decorator touch. The kitchen contains another custom type built-in eating area, which makes it handy for silver, dishes, etc. The lavatory, which is located off kitchen - leading near - basement stairs also has direct entrance from rear bedroom. The inconspicuous access to full bath makes it especially convenient to the other two bedrooms. Consider also the abundant closet space in this plan. The laundry and heating facilities are located in the full basement.

Standard Builders' blueprints costing $0.35 a set are obtainable in Canada for this Design No. 477 (Ontario residents add 3 percent Sales Tax.)

Now available at this newspaper office, a new Design Book entitled "Home Planning Guide," price 25c. This book contains over 38 selected designs, including 1 storey, 1½ storey, 2 storey and split level, plus useful information on building, interior decorating and landscaping. Order your copy today. Also included in this Design Book is complete price list, order form, and full information on how to order blueprints. Apply Ontario Intelligencer, Box 190, Belleville, Ontario, giving design number and enclosing 25 cents.

IMPORTANT HELP

Thursday night, Aleppo radio announced that the large garrison there, which commands one of the biggest military airfields in the Middle East, had joined the rebellion, bringing with it tank and armored units.

Marshal Abdel Hakim Amer, Nasser's personal envoy to Syria and a U.A.R. vice-president and war minister, returned to Cairo Thursday night from Damascus, where he was reported to have been held briefly by the rebels.

Accompanying Amer, chief opponent of Serraj in the U.A.R. government, was Gen. Gamal Feisal, commander of the Damascus-based 14th Army which comprises all U.A.R. troops — Syrian and Egyptian — in Syria.

ATTACK NASSER

The rebel radio in Damascus broadcast a bitter attack on the U.A.R. president and told Nasser that his security and intelligence men forced Syrians to "live in the shade of terror, prison cells and torture."

"What we want is an Arab socialism which gives the poor from the rich more than what has already been given," it said.

"We believe that socialism is not a socialism in money only but in happiness and opinion."

The Damascus broadcast pledged that "responsibility will be transferred by us into the faithful hands of the people, which trusts its army and revolutionary command."

Cairo radio announced that Nasser had ordered the dismissal of six army officers implicated in the revolt.

The U.A.R. president denied Thursday night that Amer had made any concessions to rebel demands while he was in Damascus.

NARCOTICS CASE

MONTREAL (CP)—Jazz musician Don Menza of Buffalo, N.Y., was sent Thursday to voluntary statement Oct. 5 on a charge of possession of small quantities of narcotics. Menza is one of six members of Maynard Ferguson's band arrested in 9 police raid last Saturday on their cars and rooms at the suburban hotel. One was freed for lack of evidence and preliminary hearings on the others continued.

Rising Exports Trim Canada's Trade Deficit

OTTAWA (CP) — Rising exports, paced by big new wheat sales, trimmed Canada's deficit on international payments to $325,000,000 in the second quarter of the year — lowest for the period since 1955.

The deficit on merchandising trade — excess of imports over exports — shrank to $62,000,000 during April - June from $127,000,000 a year earlier, the bureau of statistics reported today.

But the nation's international deficit on "invisible" items such as tourist spending and dividend payments to foreign investors showed no signs of declining, in this field of non-merchandise transactions, the second - quarter deficit was $281,000,000 compared with $283,000,000 a year earlier.

The total balance of payments deficit of $323,000,000 for the quarter compared with a $470,000,000 deficit a year earlier.

This brought the total deficit for the first half of the year to $670,000,000, compared with $791,000,000 a year earlier.

CAPITAL INFLOWS

The deficit was financed by inflows of foreign capital, with long - term capital inflows covering 78 per cent of the second-quarter deficit.

The bureau reported a major increase in foreign purchases of Canadian stocks and bonds to $248,000,000 compared with $185,000,000 a year earlier. Of this, $182,000,000 was for new securities issues, including $140,000,000 in bonds to United States investors.

Another $140,000,000 in foreign capital entered Canada in the second quarter for direct investment in foreign - controlled businesses. This compares with $155,000,000 a year earlier.

Focus on Health

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Twice this week: Danger at home for unrelated children, marrying cousins in Japan, and an issue of prevention.

DANGER AT HOME

Mother, if you're holding down a job and have young children at home, beware!

A study shows children of working mothers are more likely to become accidentally poisoned by household cosmetics, insecticides or other dangerous household chemicals. In more than 60 cases, 80 per cent involved children of working mothers.

Other findings: Peak age of danger was 20 months. Boys were more often the victims than girls. Drugs were the poison agents in two-thirds of the cases. Peak danger hours were between 10 a.m. and noon, between 2 and 5 p.m. Danger areas were the kitchen, bedroom and bathroom.

KISSING COUSINS

Is there danger for offspring of marriages between first or second cousins?

University of Michigan geneticists have made a study of such blood line marriages in Japan. They say "... while we are not recommending that you marry your second cousin, in Japan, at least, the results are not as bad as people thought."

The study, growing out of earlier work with atomic bomb victims in Hiroshima and Nagasaki, traced the death rates of children from blood line marriages.

OUNCE OF PREVENTION

With fall and cold weather coming on, public health experts advise you to have your heating unit checked to minimize the danger of leaking carbon monoxide.

Carbon monoxide, which smothers from within by taking the place of needed oxygen in your blood, is also produced by automobile engines or say fuel-burning devices. For safety, the Connecticut state department of health warns:

Always keep a car window open if your engine is running. Don't run your auto engine in the garage with the garage door closed. Have the exhaust system checked for leaks.

CANCER DEFENCE

The human body seems to have some natural defences against cancer, veterans administration researchers report.

They've put their fingers on parts of the human cells which appear to trigger the body's resistance to at least two strains of cancer. These triggers may explain why volunteer patients show a boost in protective antibodies when injected with a material containing their own tumor cells.

Mrs. Will Shaw spent Sunday afternoon and tea with her sister Mrs. Hilda Ketcheson.

Several from here attended the Thomasburg United Church anniversary service on Sunday.

Mrs. Charlotte Vandenwater returned home on Thursday from Toronto where she has been visiting this past week.

Wife Gets Order For Hubby to Give up Ticket

DENVER, Colo. (AP)— Mrs. Gertrude Hunter, 47, obtained a court order Wednesday directing her estranged husband, M. Lakin Hunter, 49, to relinquish her season ticket to University of Colorado football games.

Hunter filed suit for divorce Sept. 21 charging his wife with mental cruelty. The couple, married June 3, 1939, has two children.

Mrs. Hunter said she was seeking a reconciliation and that attendance at football games with her husband had been "a traditional happy experience."

She said she wanted to attend this year's games so "maybe we can study Lakin's behaviour! Get your October Reader's Digest — now on sale!

Kill Eleven Rebels

PUEBLA, Mex. (AP)—Mexican military authorities reported today army forces had clashed with rebel remnants of the Sept. 15 uprising, killing 11.

Among them was 63-year-old Ubaldino Gallegos, leader of the group. The fighting occurred in the High Sierras bordering the states of Veracruz and Puebla.

Pigeon Fancier Stands Ground Against Protest

TORONTO (CP) — Pigeon fancier Donald Graham stood his ground Wednesday when angry neighbors protested about both television aerials and disfigured rooftops to the city's building and development committee.

"Some people raise their sons to be doctors or lawyers and feel pretty proud about it," Graham told the committee. "But I raise pigeons."

He also has six children, he said later.

The neighbors claimed he kept up to 350 pigeons at one time in his backyard coop. Mr. Graham said he has 62 birds at present, adding that half of his pigeons have been poisoned.

The committee decided to ask for an investigation of the degree of nuisance caused by the birds, the legality of their coop and possible health hazards.

FALLOUT AT SEA

The dusty, radioactive debris of atomic tests falls to sea at a much higher rate than it falls to land.

So report oceanographers in Oceanus, a journal of the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institute. They found that a column of ocean water contains more strontium 90 than does a comparable land surface at the same latitude.

These findings have been confirmed by U.S. Weather bureau experts who found higher fallout on coasts than at inland areas, and even higher fallout for islands. So far there is no full explanation of this phenomenon.

THE WHOLE TOOTH

Saliva can actually pass into the inner pulp of the tooth, say Emory University researchers.

In fact, saliva may help prevent cavities. It appears to do so in laboratory animals.

Dr. John Hahl reports that the saliva has an alkalizing or buffering effect which helps neutralize the acids from foods. It also apparently has a cleansing ability and may even help re-mineralize the tooth.

LOTS OF ROCK

In some 10,000 feet of South African rock some 200,000,000 years old is probably the world's strangest zoo. Here the fossils is a succession of early animal life from cold-blooded reptiles to warm-blooded animals.

Dr. Nicholas Hotton III, a geologist for the Smithsonian Institution, found some 200 specimens—remains of both plant and flesh — eating animals.

Some were as small as a mouse, some as big as a bison. Plant eaters were generally the largest, with huge triangular heads, beaked, turtle-like jaws and bulky bodies. Meat eaters were marked by the development of enormous teeth.

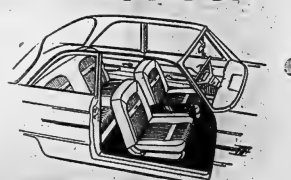
POOR DANDELIONS

Most North American dandelions just don't have sex. And that may be one reason why your lawn has so many dandelions every summer.



Most of these dandelions can reproduce without benefit of mating or cross-fertilization, explains Dr. John H. Beaman of Michigan State University.

Early Decision Expected On SIU-Brotherhood Row Over Crew Certification

By ROBERT RICE

OTTAWA (CP)—An early decision if expected from the Canada labor relations board on a certification battle between two unions over the crews of two ships operating on the Great Lakes.

The battle involves the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers (CLC) and the Independent Seafarers' International Union of Canada.

The brotherhood won a 35-to-0 vote of support from the crews of the two ships—the Harbour Venture and the Wheat King, both owned by Inland Shipping Limited, a subsidiary of Upper Lakes Shipping Company of Toronto.

The northern vessels is tied up in Marquette, Mich., by a labor dispute that threatens to become an international incident.

Earlier this summer the Soo Locks at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and Duluth, Minn. It was finally loaded by supervisory dock workers after the brotherhood threatened to boycott the St. Lawrence Seaway against all American ships.

KEEPING WATCH

Meanwhile, external affairs department and the U.S. state department are understood to be keeping a close watch of the Northern Venture, which is loaded with Canadian grain and is registered in Canada.

The vote on the brotherhood's application for certification as agent for Inland Shipping employees was announced by the labor relations board after the SIU filed a counter-application. The board is to hold separate investigations of fraud and misrepresentation against the brotherhood and the company, both of which denied the charges.

The SIU claims that they have far - reaching effects on the Great Lakes shipping industry. If the brotherhood wins certification rights it will have pulled an end run into the SIU's jurisdiction over seamen on Canadian Great Lakes ships.

A rival marine workers' union is being formed to carry on the brotherhood fight against the SIU.

Have Difficulty Learning Reds Berlin Plans

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Western foreign ministers were reported today to be making slow progress in obtaining information from Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko on Soviet plans for negotiating on the Berlin crisis.

U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk and Foreign Secretary Earl Home of Britain have spent a total of more than 10 hours conferring with the Soviet foreign minister in the last eight days, and their main question about Soviet intentions are said to be still unanswered.

Rusk and Gromyko reported the talks have yielded some slight indication that Russia and other members of the Soviet bloc may be prepared to begin arranging a Big Four foreign ministers conference, but obviously it is in no haste to do so.

Some Western officials think Gromyko probably will not be ready to start off a conference before a Soviet Communist party meeting in Moscow next month. There is speculation that he may confer with Communist East Germany or announce definite plans for signing it at that time. He may not want to get into negotiations until he has acted.

Home and Gromyko spent 80 minutes together late Thursday in their second meeting, a session previously had held two long conferences with Gromyko and is scheduled to meet him again Saturday.

GOES HOME SUNDAY

Rusk then will hold a final talk with Home, who expects to fly to London Sunday. Gromyko may go to Washington next week for another meeting with Rusk.

Gromyko is understood to have emphasized to Home all over again that the Soviet government wants to make a Berlin settlement only in the framework of an East German peace treaty.

By this approach the Russians seek to get one of their main points which is that eventually the stationing of Western troops in West Berlin must come to an end.

Rusk has said many times that the United States has no intention of weakening the position of the West Berlin garrison by any arrangement which implies that the troops are there through agreement with either Russia or East Germany.

REVOLT IN SYRIA — Syrian officers claimed they were fully in control of all parts of Syria (shaded) in a military revolt against the United Arab Republic. Nasser's Ambitions Badly Hit by Syrian Revolt

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Gamal Abdel Nasser's ambitions to become the strongman of the Arab world may be badly hit by the sudden revolt in Syria.

It may take some time for the president of the United Arab Republic to convince the rest of the Arab nations that the U.A.R. can promote strength, unity and stability in the Middle East.

The three-year Egyptian-Syrian marriage, under the republic is seen at least in the eyes of some disappointed Syrians as a shotgun affair by the promotion of Nasser's personal ambitions to rule the Arab world.

To get Syria to join the republic, Nasser rewarded his chief Syrian supporter, Col. Abdel Hamid Serraj, with an influential political position in the new central government.

Meanwhile, Nasser's own military chief, Field Marshal Abdel Hakim Amer, was given increasing power in Syria. Amer worked with the Syrian peasants against entrenched interests and increased his own popularity in Syria through land reform and low tariff rates.

BY RESIGNATION

Last month, Nasser suddenly reshuffled his cabinet, creating seven vice - presidents. Amer was at the top of the list; Serraj somewhere near the bottom. Syrian interests were submerged under Cairo domination. Serraj recently quit.

Syrian military tempers boiled under a display of new Egyptian power. But, some Syrians would like to see an end to the republic, but this is unlikely to happen. There is evidence of division among the Syrians on this issue and Amer's army forces are so spread among the Syrian that a successful counter-revolution may be impossible.

Nasser himself has made clear he would never tolerate dissolution of the republic. Armed with MIG jet fighters and other Soviet military equipment. Egypt is in a strong position to back Nasser's words with guns. Egypt has a population of about 9,000,000 compared with Syria's 4,000,000.

But the outburst in Syria undoubtedly adds to Nasser's worries. Other Arab states may show reluctance in the future to join the republic. This may affect Nasser's ability to convince the West and Moscow that he is truly the top man in the Middle East.

New Dwellings In Urban Centres Up 42 PerCent

OTTAWA (CP)—Construction starts for new dwellings in urban centres leaped 42 per cent in August to 9,467 units from 6,678 in August of 1960, the bureau of statistics reported today.

Dwelling starts in the January-August period increased 28 per cent to 58,346 units from 45,190 in the corresponding period last year.

Completions totalled 7,784 dwelling units in August, a rise of 31.2 per cent over the corresponding figure of 6,963 a year ago. Completions in the January-August period fell to 48,583 units from 56,970.

Senator Roebuck Calls Sales Tax A 'Disaster'

OTTAWA (CP)—Ontario residents regard the recently - imposed provincial sales tax of three per cent as a "financial disaster," Senator Arthur Roebuck (L Ontario) said today.

The tax represents the price paid by the Ontario government when it decided to "follow John" (Diefenbaker) in his successful bid in 1957 for federal power, the senator declared.

He spoke during debate in the senate chamber on the government bill ending the tax-rental system in federal-provincial fiscal relations and letting provinces after next March 31 collect their own taxes. The bill received third and final reading.

Senator Roebuck said Mr. Diefenbaker let it be understood in 1957 that he would increase Ontario subsidies by amounts that finally settled at around $150,000,000 annually. The revised proposals left Ontario and its provincial fiscal matters wouldn't be as the tabs he followed to "make possible the spending proclivities of the (Ontario) government."

The sales tax is the worst kind of tax because it falls most heavily on the poor, he said. Ontario residents now felt the "financial disaster."

Senator Roebuck said federal-provincial tax negotiations reached the "lowest ebb in our history under Mr. Diefenbaker.

"The prime minister had done more to "intensify the evil" in the system of federal subsidies to provinces than any previous measure, using the worst features as his model. The new government must face the voters on this issue—and it may not be very long either, and the next time Ontario cabinet minister.

Senator Roebuck said, the federal and Ontario governments "take the prize as the widest spenders of our time."

Reuther Sets Strike Deadline Against Ford

DETROIT (AP)—United Auto Workers president Walter Reuther Thursday set a strike deadline of 6 p.m. Monday against Ford Motor Company in a move to break a deadlock in contract negotiations on national economic issues.

Reuther announced the strike deadline at a press conference shortly after he returned to the bargaining table.

A strike at Ford would make leave idle more than 140,000 hourly workers and halt 1962-model car production.

Ford and the UAW have been working on a day-to-day extension of their old agreement. The extension is subject to cancellation by either party on 48 hours notice.

The UAW is reported seeking a package of improvements in General Motors in negotiations covering Ford hourly workers.

White Mercenaries Mainstay Of Tshombe's Katanga Army And Feared by UN Troops

NDOLA, Northern Rhodesia (AP)—Some people call them les Affreux—the Dreadful Ones. They are white mercenaries—soldiers for pay—and the mainstay of President Moise Tshombe's Katanga army.

They are a mixture of disgusted French paratroop officers, foreign legionnaires, adventure-seeking South Africans and Rhodesians, Belgians who say they want to save Katanga from Communism, and other Europeans.

Some were driven to Katanga by the passion for adventure, others by an unexplained, mystic search for something they have been unable to find elsewhere.

Many cannot explain why they are in Katanga.

This correspondent talked to a number of these men. They said the world does not understand them and the press pre-sents them as criminals.

No one knows exactly how many of them still are in the Katanga army. Some left when the United Nations ordered their departure earlier this year.

According to best estimates there are 400 mercenary field officers in the Katanga army and about the same number, ranging from a former French colonel to a South African bush pilot.

Despite their swashbuckling attitude, many live in fear of being shot in the back by their Negro troops.

It cannot be said that the mercenaries command Katanga troops. They are more properly attached as instructors or advisers to newly promoted Negro officers.

Only the parsecommando balaklava, the elite unit of Tshombe's army, is led by tough white officers, most of them French veterans of Indochina and Algeria.

During the recent fighting in Katanga, the mercenaries imbued roads, fired mortars into UN positions and did most of the sniping. To them, the United Nations was trying to ruin their haven.

They screamed it with rage when Negro Katanga troops preferred to stay in their camps rather than fight.

To talk with them the correspondent had to promise not to write their names, although some already have been reported.

There was the French colonel who dreamed was to make the Katanga army the model army of the world.

"Real fighters," he said, "the government ruined our chances. And here the United Nations is trying to do it. Everything seems to be working in favor of international communism."

There were other, less idealistic mercenaries. A young lieutenant said he was in Katanga was to "kill those UN bastards."

He did not explain why.

"This is the place where you can get rid of your complexes," said a South African.

A white instructor used to get the basic pay of $3,000 a month, francs a month—$200 according to the official exchange rate. Officers get higher salaries. But it seemed that money was not the main reason. Many of the mercenaries told the correspondent they were in some way an escape from the organized, safe, civilization of Europe, to some a kind of thrilling life, to others simply a way of killing unpunished.

Two Paper Mills Recognize Union as Bargaining Agent

GRAND FALLS, Nfld. (CP) The United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, last year union to woo Newfoundland's 14,000 loggers, sent one of its organizers into the woods today after announcing it had been certified as bargaining agent for two paper mills in the province.

The union announced that the provincial paper mills had agreed to recognize it and that it was now negotiating what would be asked to complete an application form so that a meeting of loggers can be held.

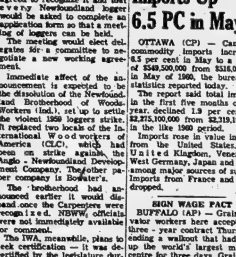
The meeting would elect delegates for a committee to negotiate a new working agreement.

Immediate effect of the announcement is expected to be felt at Stephenville, where Abitibi Land Brotherhood of Woodsworkers (ind.), set up to settle the violent 1959 logger strike. It replaced two locals of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers of America (CLC), which had been on strike against the Anglo-Newfoundland Development Company. Together paper company is Bowater's.

The brotherhood had announced earlier it would disband once the Carpenters were recognized. NBWW, officials were not immediately available for comment.

The IWA, meanwhile, plans to seek certification — it was decertified by the legislature during the 1959 strike — before the twelve Employees Local 1288 Newfoundland Labor Relations Board. It charges the Carpen-hourly wage increases of seven cents and six cents with regard to the two unions and the two years. Still unsettled is a parent CLC is expected later strike by 1,200 grain millers.

Imports Up 6.5 PC in May



OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's imports increased 6.5 per cent in May to a value of $549,500,000 from $516,000,000 in May 1960, the bureau of statistics reported today.

The total value of imports in the first five months of the year, declined 1.9 per cent to $2,715,000,000 from $2,768,000,000 in the like 1960 period.

Imports rose in value in May from the United States, United Kingdom, Venezuela, West Germany and Japan, among major sources of supply. Imports from France and Italy dropped.

Boys' Club Turns Out Whizzes

By JACK HUTTON

A 14-year-old Grade 7 student in Halifax was having so much trouble with studies three years ago that he seriously thought about getting out of school.

Last year he finished Grade 10 in a greatly improved student.

What's the change?

Harold Walsh, now 17, and his teachers both credit the change to a 10-year-old institution in North Halifax—the Halifax Police Boys' Club.

Harold became interested in ham radio through the club. And before he'd finished building his first 81.6 transmitter, he found concentrating on Ohm's law and super heterodyne receivers had "rubbed off" on his school-work.

This week I visited the club in its reconverted army hut to find out how and why the club has been able to carve out such a reputation for outstanding boys and athletes in just 10 years.

The boys try wrestling simply as an interesting sideline, but one of their wrestlers recently placed third in Dominion wrestling competition. Several in the club took up ham radio in a casual way, but eventually wrote examinations far tougher than the Department of Transport standard.

The unbelievable side to the Club, I found, is that it started in 1950 as an attempt to provide activities for 60 handpicked boys whom police described as among "the roughest and toughest in the city."

The first attraction was sports. But other interests gradually developed. Every week, Model railroading buffs from all over North America drop in to marvel at the club's track (which includes a hand-made drawbridge.)

Sports are still important (witness the wrestling, soccer, swimming and other championships), but the club also offers woodworking, leatherwork, electronics, ham radio and publishes its own little magazine.

SUMMER CAMP

A summer camp at nearby Lake Charlotte was started a couple of years ago and now tries to offer each of the 300 boys in the club one week each summer at the lake. It's the club's largest single project.

The ham radio section, which had a neat lieutenant-commander as instructor for some time, is understandably proud of the other station it had contacted. They talked one night to a Russian scientist who had helped to build the first sputnik.

Sergeant Bill MacDonald, director of the club, puts in a regular shift, with the police force and returns each night to be with his boys. But other instructors also donate their time as well, I found.

Said Sergeant MacDonald: "Our reward is watching the kids develop. Several of them have got into trouble but been brought back by the other kids. And all over the city kids are working at jobs they first started to learn here."

I asked Ken Cochrane, the 19-year-old president of the club's Senior Council, what he figured the club had done for him and others.

"I believe," he said, "that the best thing the club does is to make kids feel part of a community. First you get into one thing, then another—and there's no time left to get into trouble."

"Maybe the term 'good citizen' sounds wishy-washy," he added. "But that's what I figure the club is turning out in more ways than one."

BACK AS HELP

Well, I've got a confession to make. You recall that some weeks ago I invited you to take a whirl at figuring the average speed of, Yuri Gagarin while he was in orbit and promised to present the then correct solution.

I can't figure which of you was right.

A grand total of 185 math fans tried the question (all correctly, I might add.) And most of you, although you worked out the problem in different ways, mailed in the answer on the same first day.

Since many of you asked for another question, here's another science-math problem, enthusiastically tackled by Grade 9 maths text. (This time just work it out and I'll supply the answer in the next column.)

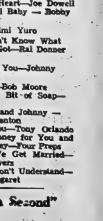
His Mercury capsule, named Freedom 7, reached a maximum height of approximately 115 miles five minutes after take-off.



The distance between the two points was about 11 times the craft travelled 115 miles measured horizontally. Find the average speed of descent measured vertically. (Good luck and don't see how you did next week.)

The Training Camps

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Most National Hockey League clubs took a breather last night from the rigors of exhibition games.

Only one big - league team was back into action — New York Rangers, who defeated Kitchener - Waterloo Beavers, their Western Pro Hockey League farmhands, 8-4 at Guelph.

Meanwhile, Rochester Americans of the American League suffered a 6-3 defeat by Hull-Ottawa Canadiens of the EHSL at Peterborough.

The Rangers rocketed to a 5-1 lead in the first period against the Beavers, Jean Ratelle, the Rangers' first scorer, got his only a penalty shot called by referee Frank Udvari. The ex-Niagara York goals were by Ezrl Ingarfield, Ken Schinkel, Johnny Wilson, playing-coach Doug Harvey, Irv Spencer, Andy Bathgate and Camille Henry.

Beavers' scorers were playing - coach Red Sullivan, Jim Neilson, Sandy MacGregor and Mel Pearson.

Rangers manager - coach Muzz Patrick announced Bryan Hextall Jr., son of a former Rangers star, had been signed. He was assigned to the Beavers. The only New York holdovers un-

Willie O'Ree spanked Hull-Ottawa's attack with three goals. Wayne Connelly, Stan Mazerolle and John Annable got single tons. Rochester scorers were Bill Wilson, Dick Gamble and Stan Smrke.

The NHL Boston Bruins regarded the signing of rookie defenceman Ed Westfall. The 21-year-old defender was an all-star last season with Niagara Falls Flyers of the OHA Junior A series.

General manager Lynn Patrick of the Bruins said Westfall will start the season with Boston, but may be sent out later for minor pro seasoning.

LEAFS IN WEST

Toronto Maple Leafs arrived in Edmonton Thursday night for a five - day exhibition safari. Missing from the squad was goaltender Doc Simmons, earlier named by coach Punch Imlach as alternate netminder to veteran Johnny Bower.

Imlach said recently rookie Jerry Cheevers will help Bower. He said Simmons was told he was being assigned to Rochester and asked to practise with the AHL team in Peterborough.

Say 30,000 Will Watch Grand Prix

By HARRY CALNEK

ORONO (CP) — The fastest sports racing cars in the world howled around nearby Mosport Track today as drivers sought key starting positions for Canada's first Grand Prix.

Some of the 26 drivers seeking $12,000 prize money in Saturday's 200-mile grind covered the 2.5-mile twisting road course in the early morning mist on foot.

"I want to know every inch of this track," said John Fulp of New York, who'll drive a 268 Dino Ferrari.

Two of the earliest arrivals at the track 80 miles east of Toronto were Mexican brothers Pedro and Ricardo Rodriguez.

Pedro, 21, and Ricardo, 19, each hardly more than five feet tall and looking like high school boys, captured the imagination of Sam Scrimont was building up for them to beat the favorite—Britain's Stirling Moss, motor racing's maestro.

Ricardo, who like his brother started racing before he was 13, was considered to have the best chance in a Dino 246 Ferrari.

Some 30,000 are expected to watch the race.

Moss was as calm, cool and methodical as ever. He'll race a Lotus 18, a car he started eight races with this year. He won all eight.

He also took a 300-mile Mosport race in June without extending himself or the car—it has five gears and he only used four.

Few people had considered Olivier Gendebien as a threat but the experts were looking at the famed Belgian ace to come up with surprises. In two previous appearances in Canada he's been in under - powered cars. Saturday he'll be in the cockpit of a car identical to Moss'.

Pedro, in a three-litre Ferrari, and Pete Ryan of Mont Tremblant, Que., in a lotus 19, were also expected to put up a stiff challenge.

TORONTO (CP)—Airco War, a two - year - old colt owned and trained by Les Lear of Calgary, won the featured Fairbanks Claiming Purse at New Woodbine Park Thursday.

Airco War defeated Dahema by 3½ lengths in the one-mile run. Marchena finished third.

Paying with the crowd of 4,233, Airco War paid $6.70 to win.

The daily double paid only $12.30. Two heavily - backed favorites, Ribels and Hashby, won the first two races.

Hashby's was the 11th winner of the meeting for $5-pound apprentice jockey Jerry Johnston, leading rider at New Woodbine.

Quinte Wins Over Picton

By BILL BURLEY

Quinte Secondary School swept over Picton by top-sided scores here yesterday in a Bay of Quinte COSSA twin-bill.

Quinte Seniors dumped Picton 34-1 while the Juniors downed their Prince Edward counterparts by a 22-6 score, keeping their undefeated record intact with the win.

SENIOR GAME

Picton kicked off to Quinte and held them on their 15-yard line. Quarterback Skinner sent Gilroy and Wardle through a series of off-centre ground plays to push towards centre field before Chatland of Quinte pulled in 30 yards before being grounded. A quick pass to Davis put Quinte in close and Gilroy took a handoff to romp over for the touchdown. The convert attempt was wide.

Both defences tightened at this point but Quinte finally took over with Skinner going 6 the air on a 35-yard pass to McLaughlin for his team's second major. Hall kicked the extra point.

Picton's rushing defence held Quinte on the Picton 30 to force a third down. Mike Chatland faked a punt and fired the ball into the arms of Skinner in the end zone. Hall added the extra point.

The visitors scored their lone point when Lee tackled Quinte's Gilroy in the end zone after a 25-yard punt but Chatland booted a 34-yard shot to get the point back for Quinte.

McLaughlin and Onderdonk accept later Quinte majors, the former's on a pass play and the latter's on a fumble recover in the Picton end zone. Hall added another convert.

Both teams' defence stood out while Mike Chatland of Quinte and Rick Lee of Picton were top individual performers.

JUNIOR GAME

Picton's strong defence hampered Quinte's ground attack but Eves took to the air to lead to the winners' first touchdown. Leach pulled in a pass and crossed the line and Leslie added the extra point.

Leslie burst through a hole in the Picton line from 20 yards out to score the second major. He also converted.

The teams, battled evenly until late in the third quarter when Beach ran across for Quinte's third major score. Leslie registered another extra point.

A long punt led to a Quinte safety point to complete the scoring.

City Works Win Title And Trophy

Last night the munk-ball matadors from the ballcomsnowplow department turned the hose on the Smoulderng Smokies of the Fire Department and doused them with a 20-11 soaking.

The Works took the series, championship and Mel Barriage trophy by a 3-1 count. They will be feted and presented with the cup and miniatures at a league get-together at the Club Cedars next Friday night.

Clean-up Pottay wore a grin this morning that would get him plenty from a toothpaste commercial.

At the end of the fifth with the score 14-8 against his Hosers, "Wargy" O'Brien was seen heading for points west.

The Works won the battle with three separate explosions. They zipped for a five-run burst in the second; dynamited a seven-run jackpot in the third and battered the Smokies with a six-run eruption in the last frame.

The Smokies scored twice in the first, second and fourth innings. They added one in the third and fifth and three in the seventh.

Umpires Al Kelleher and Austin Watkis handled the behind-cost chores.

Stan Fiskin hurled for the winners with Ray Reid taking the defeat.

The league has been a credit to the teams and the departments they represent. They had a lot of fun, proved themselves fine sportsmen and hope to have it bigger, and better, loop next season.

The teams: Firemen — Westbrook, Diamond, Parks, Reid, Vance, Smith, Christopher, Dalzard, Stephenson and Rose.

Paret Wants Title Back

NEW YORK (AP) — Benny (Kid) Paret, 24, who held the world welter weight boxing championship 11 months before losing it to ravaging Emile Griffith, gets a return title crack at Griffith in a 15-rounder Saturday night.

"I'd sure like to get the title back," the Cuban said through an interpreter. "You don't know what being champion means until you're no longer champion."

The odds are 3 to 1, however, that the muscular, aggressive Kid won't dethrone Griffith.

Griffith, 23, a native of the Virgin Islands who now lives in New York, has won eight straight fights over strong opponents and has shown improvements — especially in power — with each fight. His record is 25-2, including nine knockouts. He never has been stopped.

Paret's record is 23-10-3, including nine knockouts. He has been stopped twice and hasn't fought since losing the title to Griffith.

Each fighter figures to make around 250,000 Saturday from television and gate receipts.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

That likeable, lovable cuss, Douglas (Coyne) Patterson, c/o general delivery, Stirling, has come up with the annual billet doux anent the upcoming activities of the Ontario Minor Hockey Association.

The versatility of this family raising punk extraordinaire is amazing. A lord of the family dawn chaser patrol he changes three-cornered pants when the hen-nest is pinky and at nine a.m. he is selling two-legged suns to his pants-furnishing customers.

Douglas became the proud poppa of a future "Miss Canada" a little while ago. As of now there are two Patterson cuties in the family dressing room.

It could be a coincidence but every time Mr. Patterson moves up the OMHA executive ladder, he celebrates with the production of a bouncing fun-inine bundle of joy.

Lemme see. This year he moves up to the second vice-presidency. At the present rate of promotion there should be an even half dozen Misses Patterson gracing the family menage by the time they put the presidential crown on the paternal noggin.

It seems a bit ironical for a guy who for the past decade has been devoting his fall, winter and spring time for the hockey betterment of boys cannot produce one of his own. However he probably will use his own advice to young Richard potentials, "Keep trying."

Perseverance, mo bucks, is a wonderful trait. Who knows, by the time you rap the OMHA presidential gavel the first time you'll have a nice pair of jacks around home. Those with the fore boughtful quems already off the assembly line should make the Patterson homestead a pretty full house.

So much for the P.P.P. (Patterson Production Program).

The boys of the OMHA brass brigade, says Douglas, fraternized in the shade of the Elms (a Tree Grows in Gall) the other day. The popular Ted is first-iven and steps into the presidential shoes of that Thermid bachelor, likeable Frank Doherty this November.

The consensus was the upcoming season will be the brightest gem in the crown of the association. The secretary predicted a record 625 teams will engage in playoff action.

Apropos of that the Belleville Minor Hockey Association sounded a highly optimistic note at its annual meeting the other night. President Bill Hewland prophesied that this season would be the largest and best in the history of the organization with the number of participating moppets greatly exceeding that of a year ago.

Of keen interest to attitute leagues, associations and teams is the item that the OMHA will, this season, feature additional insurance coverage for medical costs for injured players. Benefits in the past amounted to $500. This season, Mr. Patterson points out the covering insurance company will pay an additional amount of eighty per cent of the balance up to $1,000. As he remarks, "Fortunately we don't have many claims over $500—but it is nice to know the protection is there."

Life is stirring in the OMHA "Upper Canada" district. From Peterborough to Gananoque ripples of interest are weatherding the placid ponds of hockey. Says Mr. Sweeney: "We are already receiving inquiries from many places. All indications points to more teams and in several cases teams with good chances of making the Ontario finals."

The OMHA executive noted with justifiable pride the news from Ottawa concerning the $5 million grant to amateur athletics. Suppose they did "put a few shirt buttons" tossing out their bosons. Wasn't it a former OMHA president and now federal member of parliament, "Mike" Weichel of Elmira, who was one of the chief proponents of the action?

Mantle Goes To Hospital

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Staff Writer

Home run c. 61 is the target tonight as Roger Maris, physically and mentally revitalized by a two-day rest, starts in pursuit of the circuit shot that will make him the only player in major league history to hit more homers in one season than Babe Ruth.

The New York Yankee outfielder has only the three-game set beginning tonight at Yankee Stadium against Boston Red Sox in which to hit No. 61 and surpass the total of 60 compiled by the Bambino in 1927 when he established baseball's most revered record.

Maris cannot officially break the Babe's record because commissioner Ford Frick set a 154-game limit on the season during the mark. He'll also be playing without boomer-hitting partner Mickey Mantle.

Mantle, who has hit 54 homers this season, was rushed to hospital Thursday with a hip infection and will miss the final games of the American League's expanded 162 - game schedule.

MISSES PRACTICE

Maris, who took a day off Wednesday at the urging of his played Baltimore Orioles, didn't work out Thursday as the Yanks used the open date for a hitting drill.

Maris, who hit No. 60 against Baltimore's Jack Fisher Tuesday night they provoked comment by sitting out the game against the Orioles Thursday because he was "pushed," will play all three engagements against the Red Sox facing Bill Monbouquette (14-13) in the opener.

"He'll be in the lineup and he'll hit as many homers as he can," said Yankee manager Ralph Houk. "He'll be a refreshed player as a result of his rest. I think he did the right thing passing up Wednesday's game. The pressure really was building up on him."

On Thursday's light program, Los Angeles Dodgers clinched second place in the National League as Don Drysdale beat Philadelphia Phillies 10-6 with a six - hitter. Willie Mays-led San Francisco Giants defeated Pittsburgh 4-2 and, in the American League, Cleveland Indians belted Minnesota Twins 13-6 and Los Angeles Angels beat Washington Senators 13-4.

Drysdale (13-13) beating the Phils for the 26th consecutive time, gained his third shutout of the year, walked only two men and struck out seven for a career total of 1,004. He also hit a homer while Daryl Spencer connected for a three - run shot as the Phils contributed six unearned runs with four errors. Christ Short (6-13) lost.

BROTHERS DECIDE

The Alou brothers, Matty and Felipe, had a field day for the Giants after the Pirates had moved ahead in the second inning against Jim Duffalo (4-1) on a solo homer by Dick Stuart and a two - run blast by Smoky Burgess. Matty had two doubles and two singles, scored twice and drove in a run. Felipe hit three singles for two runs batted in and scored twice. Earl Francis (2-2) was the loser.

Weadie Reid was the offensive power for the Indians, driving in five runs with a solo and two homers. Willie Kirkland also homered for the Indians, who tagged Pedro Ramos with his 20th loss of the season against 11 wins.

Wynn Hawkins, touched for Harmon Killebrew's 46th homer, won in relief of starter Jim Grant.

The Angels spotted Washington a three - run lead, then came from behind to trounce Senators. Leon Wagner drove in eight runs with a grand - slam homer, two doubles and a sacrifice fly. Eli Grba went the route for the Angels for his 11th victory of the year. Starter Dick Donovan suffered his 19th pitching defeat.

MANTLE IN HOSPITAL

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Mantle of New York Yankees entered hospital Thursday for treatment of an abcess in the upper right hip region and will miss the remaining games of the season. He is expected to be ready for the world series.

Dr. Sydney S. Gaynor, club physician, reported that the injury was not affected.

Mantle has been bothered by a recurrence of a virus infection. He has been ill the last 10 days and has played only slight innings in the last nine games.

Goliaths Fear Davids?

Well, It Should Be Good Fan Bait

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Goliaths of the Western Football Conference dust with a couple of relative Davids Saturday night. To hear the big guns talk, they're afraid the little fellow will have their slingshots loaded.

The league - leading Edmonton Eskimos say they aren't at all sure they'll push over the winless British Columbia Lions at Vancouver. The second-place Winnipeg Blue Bombers are afraid everything will go right for Saskatchewan Roughriders when they meet at Winnipeg.

The Riders are tied with Calgary Stampeders for third place with six points after playing two more games than the Stamps. Calgary plays two interlocking games in the east, tonight at Toronto and Monday at Montreal.

Eskimo coach Eagle Keys keeps reminding his players that despite the last - place Lions' record of only one tie in 10 games this season, it's only a late single by rookie Bobby Walden that gave Edmonton a 21-20 victory in their last battle with B.C.

FRACAS MISSING

Keys will be without defensive captain Gino Fracas and tackle Jack Lamb.

Coach Bud Grant of the Bombers fears a team like Saskatchewan more than he does Edmonton.

"I know what Edmonton can do and how it can do it, so I'm ready for them that way. But you never know what to expect from a team like Regina."

Jack Delveaux will be an interior linebacker for Winnipeg, replace Dave Burkholder, who suffered a knee injury.

The Lions have injury problems. Halfback Willie Fleming can't run because of a severely bruised toe. Guards Tom Hinton and Tom Brown may be in action against Eskimos despite groin injuries.

CHOOSE HOSSE TEAM

TORONTO (CP) — Gail Rost, 18, of Edmonton Thursday night became the first person from Western Canada to be chosen for the Canadian equestrian team. She will compete in international events this winter along with other team members — Douglas Cudney, 29, Winona; Jimmy Elder, 27, Aurora; and Tom Gaylord, 32, Melville Stone, 27, and Moffat Dunlap, 30, all of Toronto.

Liston Found Not Guilty

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Charles (Sonny) Liston was found not guilty Thursday of a charge of fleeing arrest by turning off his car lights.

Liston, ranked top heavyweight contender by the National Boxing Association until his suspension by the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission following the charge, was cleared by common pleas Judge Joseph Gold, who heard the case without a jury.

Liston specifically was accused of driving away without lights when a Fairmount Park guard ordered him to pull over and show identification after a woman motorist complained he tailgated her to halt in a secluded, wooded area.

The hoaxer, now being taught to read and write by a Denver, Colo., Roman Catholic priest, took the witness stand and denied the charge. He said he may have accidentally shut off the headlights but the parking lights remained on.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League, crippled by injuries in their backfield, asked waivers Thursday on fullback Mal Hammack in order to place him on the injured reserve list. He will be idle at least a month, with a partially torn ligament in the left knee. Halfback John David Crow and Joe Childress also have left - leg injuries.

Con Slags Police Chief, It Was Legal

MOUNDSVILLE, W.Va. (AP)—The strong arm of the law didn't have a chance Thursday night in West Virginia State Penitentiary.

Prison heavyweight boxing champion Thomas Dejarnette scored a technical knockout over Tunney Hunsaker, former Fayetteville, W.Va. police chief, in the eighth and final round of a fight behind prison walls.

Hunsaker has been fighting professionally for several years. He was slugged in the ninth round of a scheduled 10-rounder in Boston last April by Tom McNeely, who has signed to meet Floyd Patterson in a heavyweight title bout.

Dejarnette knocked Hunsaker down twice in the final round before referee Jimmy Colombo stopped it with 30 seconds gone.

Hunsaker never had a chance. The crowd included an estimated 400 paid and another 450 of the prison's 1,600 inhabitants who were for Dejarnette all the way.

Dejarnette is serving a life term for murder.

7 Gridders Fined $50

WINNIPEG (CP) — Seven players who drew match penalties in Canadian Football League games were fined $50 each Thursday by commissioner Syd Halter.

Six of the players were tossed out of the Sept. 16 game between Calgary and Hamilton for fighting. The seventh Sue was to end Don Pacquette of Montreal, thrown out of the Sept. 23 game in Hamilton for kicking another player.

Fined for the Calgary brawl were Al Robinson, Ed O'Bradovich, Wayne Harris and John McHarthy, all of Calgary and Gerry McDougall and Don Sutherin of Hamilton.

Argos, Stamps Meet Tonight

Tigers, Ottawa Tangle Tomorrow

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto Argonauts tonight battle Calgary Stampeders in an effort to stave off the onrushing Montreal Alouettes.

A loss by Toronto and a victory Monday night for Alouettes when Stampeders visit Montreal could reverse the bottom two spots of the Eastern Football Conference. Two points separate the rejuvenated Als and the faltering Argos.

In the only other game in the East this weekend, Hamilton Tiger-Cats meet the Rough Riders in Ottawa Saturday. A Rider victory would boost their point total to 10, only two behind the league-leading Ticats.

The East has 10 wins, six losses and two ties so far in the 36-game interlocking schedule with the Western Conference.

An import shuffle problem faces Calgary coach Bobby Dobbs caused by the sprained ankle of defensive end Ed Organ-dovich. He has to decide whether to move Bill McKenna from the corner or to take Ron Old Beaty, a recent cut from Los Angeles Rams, off the negotiation list.

COOKIE STILL OUT

Argos' top scorer, Cookie Gilchrist, is expected to remain on the sidelines for the second game in a row with an ankle injury. Bobby Kuntz will likely take his place in the backfield.

Ron Stewart, picked up from the NFL Minnesota Vikings, is expected to make his first start for Argos at defensive end.

A ruling by commissioner G. Sydney Halter Thursday cut short a Toronto attempt to trade linebacker Don Carraway to Ottawa and dropped him into the Ticats' waiting hands.

The former New York Giants lineman was put on waivers last June, but Argos recalled him when Montreal entered a claim. Last week the process was reversed. When Hamilton claimed Caraway, Argos withdrew their waiver call again.

Halter invoked a Canadian Football League rule prohibiting a team from recalling waivers on a player more than once. As a result, Argos were left with a $350 cheque from Ticats rather than Ottawa's first college draft choice which they were to have received for Caraway.

Coach Jim Trimble of Ticats made room for Caraway by placing import end Ron Miller on Waivers.

Ottawa coach Frank Clair said he is planning no lineup changes for Saturday's game. The Ticats will strengthen their line by using rookie tackle and defensive end Bob Minahane instead of defensive back Garney Henley.

Montreal obtained linebacker Bob Sawyer from Calgary Stampeders for their first Canadian college draft choice next season.

Gananoque to Peterborough

Form 8-Club Junior Loop

The OHA Eastern Ontario Junior Hockey League will open its 1961-62 season with eight clubs in the fold on Monday, November 13th, when the Belleville McFarlands visit the Kingston Frontenacs.

Representatives from eight centres attended the league meeting here last night and all announced definite entries for the fast approaching season.

The loop will consist of three "B" teams, the Belleville Macs, Peterborough and the Kingston Frontenacs, plus five "C" teams Picton, Cobourg, Trenton, Gananoque and Napanee.

Gananoque, Trenton and Napanee are all entering this season while shifting from last year if the Whitby club.

Napanee representative Walt Gerow said last night that his team would "be in," sponsored by the Napanee Arena Commission. Trenton, a little doubtful at first, finally decided to enter it by rounding out the eight-team grouping.

The teams will play a 22-game schedule, but their "B" clubs will play three home and three away games with each other team and one home and one away with each of the "C" clubs.

The "C" teams will play each other twice at home and twice away, as well as one and one with the "B" teams to fill out their 22-game schedule.

Gananoque, Kingston and Peterborough will play a round-robin semi-final playoff series while the three "C" teams will also compete in regular playoff series. The team finishing highest in the "C" standings will be allowed to pick its opponent for the semi-finals.

Each team will post a $200 performance bond with the OHA. This will be returned to the clubs once they have fulfilled all commitments at the end of the season.

Belleville will play home games on Friday nights, with a few Tuesdays tossed in. Picton chose Thursday for home games and will also play four Saturday games. Cobourg's home night is Friday, with Monday second choice. Gananoque has Thursday and Monday nights, Kingston and Peterborough both took Mondays.

The Trenton team will play its home games on Sunday afternoons at 3.15 p.m. Napanee will announce its home night dates following an Arena Commission meeting this weekend.

All games will start at 8.30 sharp, except for Trenton's Sunday afternoon fixtures and Belleville's Friday night games, scheduled to commence at nine o'clock.

Following the opening game, Belleville at Kingston on Monday, November 13, the other teams will swing into action as follows, Thursday 16, Napanee at Gananoque; Friday 17, Peterborough at Belleville and Picton at Cobourg; Sunday 19, Cobourg at Trenton; Monday 20, Kingston at Peterborough; Thursday 23, Gananoque at Picton Napanee's home opener has not been set as yet.

The complete schedule will be drawn up by league convenor Jack Devine and sent out to all clubs. The teams will have a week to check the schedule and ask for any changes they wish made before it will be finalized.

The Belleville McFarlands were represented last night by coach Gordie Ball, manager Keith MacDonald and assistant manager Mel Richards.

Ball said he expected the team training camp to open about October 15. It is hoped some players from the St. Catharines Junior "A" camp will be sent down shortly after that date, he said.

BCI, Trenton Share Wins

By PETER CARVER

The Belleville Collegiate Institute football teams played host to squads from Trenton High yesterday in a Bay of Quinte C.O.S.S.A. doubleheader.

The Belleville Seniors won their second game in as many starts by overpowering the visiting "Tigers" 20-0. Trenton handed the BCI Juniors, defending C.O.S.S.A. champions, an 8-2 defeat in a tight battle. The loss was BCI's second in two games.

SCORELESS HALF

Both teams battled through a scoreless first quarter. Trenton showed a good defence as they intercepted several BCI passes, but couldn't convert them into scoring opportunities. BCI penalties shortened the chances of penetrating the Tigers' end zone.

The Tigers came to life in the second quarter as they got running by Watrick moved the ball into BCI territory. The winners were forced to punt but their kicker, after fumbling the pass from centre, ran the ball for a first down to the BCI 20 yard line. Watrick promptly swept around right end for the Tigers only major. The convert attempt was no good.

BCI's Allan Mott after pulling in a deflected pass from quarterback Mike Mallory scampered into the Trenton end zone only to have the touchdown called back by an interference penalty on the BCI line. Both teams played good defensive ball during the third quarter.

The Tigers moved into an 8-0 lead as their kicker, McAlpine, rouged BCI twice. He got only a 45 yard punt into a stiff wind on one occasion.

BCI got on the scoresheet in the final quarter as McAlpine was tackled in his end zone while attempting to punt. Bellville moved to Trenton's 10 yard line several times in the first five minutes but they could not click on their pass plays.

LINEUPS

TRENTON — Dowell, Reynolds, Hill, Burnham, Wenick, Davis, McAlpine, D. Davis, Mallory, Good, J. Wilson, Gauthier, Duncan, Fleming, Dunfield, Blain, Sharpe, Dow, Johnson, Macsherry, Lewis, Shouldice, Vermeulen, Gritzfeller, Bailey, Whitely.

BCIVS — Anderson, Swan, Dolan, Mountney, Holland, Carver, Babcock, McKibbon, Mallory, McIlmoyl, Fisher, Mott, Williamson, Mairs, Schwindt, Asgrove, Jones, Nicholls, Cooper, Ridder, Soule.

SENIOR GAME

BCI's Bob Ridley got his team off to a good start as he returned a punt to the Trenton 10-yard line. Big Doug Billingsley slanted off tackle for the winners' first major. Pete Weston kicked the point after. Touchdown number two came when Richard Hall intercepted a BCI rouge for the final score.

Belleville reached the Trenton 10-yard line on a penalty in the second stanza but they couldn't advance. At this point in the game both teams played rugged and-tumble football as piling on and jumpers frayed frequently.

Trenton's Harvey Quantrill ran back a BCI punt 45 yards but Trenton couldn't go over when BCI set up a stiff goal-line stand.

Lineups:

Trenton: Hess, Gorman, Clark, Ruckstuhl, McDonald, Kitpirs, Campney, Wannamaker, Hall, Bowman, Dowell, Thompson, Lang, Lonsgran, Quantrill, Good, Price, Champagne, Shessel, Watts, Greer, Craig, Thompson, Covey, Fraser, Ar.

Bright Sets Rush Record

League statistics show Bright picked up 141 yards by 17 carries during Monday's 46-11 victory over Saskatchewan Roughriders.

This gave Bright a rushing total this season of 1,010 yards, making him the first player ever to pick up more than 1,000 yards rushing each season for five straight years and surpassed 1,878 yards in 1958, 1,722 in 1957, 1,465 in 1956 and 1,206 last season.

Calgary Stampeders retained his hold on second place with 805 yards.

Quarterback Jackie Parker of Edmonton leads passers with 46 completions in 117 attempts for 1,053 yards and eight touchdowns. Joe Kapp of B.C. Lions is second with 1,009 yards on 54 completions in 130 attempts.

End Ernie Pitts of Winnipeg and halfback Ray Purdin of the Roughriders are the top pass receivers with 35-per-cent completion mark. Pitts has caught 23 of 34 passes thrown his way for 366 yards. Purdin has grabbed 20 of 21 for 215 yards.

Chuvalo Erskine Said Fit

TORONTO (CP)—George Chuvalo and Joe Erskine were pronounced fit to join Heavyweight by Dr. Tom Flommerfelt for their 10-round heavyweight bout Monday.

Erskine, former British Empire titlist from Cardiff, Wales, expects to weigh 200 pounds. Chuvalo, from Toronto, will weigh as much as 10 pounds more.

First Dr. Kildare Episode In New Series Enjoyed

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—A big hospital dealing with life and death, joy and tragedy is a perfect setting for a television series. And if the first episode of NBC's Dr. Kildare series is typical of shows to come, they ought to become popular entertainment.

Thursday night we met Dr. Kildare—so first name that I could catch—as a young, cocky interne trying to win appointment as a resident under famous Dr. Gillespie. Of course; he does everything wrong, particularly his brusque, unfeeling treatment of a woman alcoholic.

It all works out nicely in the end, with the sococholic patient smugly giving him a second chance by trying suicide. At the conclusion of the crowded hour Kildare was learning that being a doctor isn't all diagnosis and writing prescriptions, while the lady drunk seemed reconciled to live on a bit.

Let no one think the series will remind him of all those old movies with Lew Ayres and Lionel Barrymore. Richard Chamberlain in the title role is a rather, brisk, confident young professional man. Toronto - born Raymond Massey, as Dr. Gillespie is a stern and dedicated man, but not the lusty eccentric Barrymore played.

Apparently the love interest will centre around a young woman doctor, played by Carol Rossen. She appeared briefly in the first show.

QUEBEC (CP)—The Quebec game and fisheries department says it expects encouraging results from its new game warden school in Quebec City.

A spokesman said it is too early to enumerate the advantages already brought by the school "but we'll have better men who know more about their work and are conscientious game wardens."

About 70 men have already graduated from the school and by winter the department expects to have about 300 who have passed strict civil service tests.

The figure is about the same as last year, the difference being that all game wardens now will be fully trained.

When the Liberal government decided to overhaul the province's corps of game wardens, many men were dismissed.

MORE CONVICTIONS

The department says there were about 150 to 175 dismissals last year alone.

An increase in convictions has resulted from the new program, she added, although figures are not yet available.

The spokesman said the ban on fine-sharing is looked upon favorably by both the government and most game wardens. Previously, wardens received half the amount of fines levied.

"Most of our men know what they are doing is for everybody's benefit and such incentives are not needed to have them do a better job."

The government has also ordered the provincial police to revive an old regulation making members of the force ex-officio game wardens.

Police do not, as a rule, operate in forests but give game wardens a hand in tracking down law-breakers on highways and also check vehicles going in and out of hunting and fishing areas.

FIGHT POACHERS

"Although more and better trained men are patrolling the forests and lakes of the province, there has been no decrease in the number of poachers."

As many as 5,000 poachers a year were prosecuted.

Regulations governing the use of minnows as bait were put into effect at the beginning of the summer but few tangible results have been shown as yet.

Live or dead minnows may now be used in the entire eastern area of the province from Bellechasse county eastward on the St. Lawrence South Shore and from Portneuf County west on the North shore.

The lakes in the area are free of undesirable fish and the aim is to keep them clean.

In other parts of the province, minnows may be used in already - infested lakes and streams but not in lakes comparatively free of undesirable minnows.

Frank Fay Carried Torch 36 Years for Miss Stanwyck

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood (AP) — His old-time pals are burying Frank Fay today, but they won't forget the legend he left behind.

Fay was one of the great comedians of his time, a droll man whose wry grin an audience has never been surpassed. Many of today's top comics borrowed liberally from his technique, especially Jack Benny.

Along with his comic genius, Fay had a knack for making himself and others unhappy. He was constantly in and out of debt, and he alienated large numbers of friends and fellow workers by his slashing remarks.

No one knows what caused this dark side of his nature. Whether a cause or effect, intimates say that his longtime love for Barbara Stanwyck helped make his later years miserable.

"Frank carried a torch for her for 36 years, right up until he died," said Charlie Foy, who visited Fay four days before his death Monday night.

He was always saying, 'she'll be back; she'll be knocking on my door,' said Bryan Foy, another member of the famed theatrical family.

WAS ON TOP

Fay married Miss Stanwyck in 1passed her first success in the play Burlesque. They both came to Hollywood in the talkie period. Then it was the old story of her career booming while his went downhill.

"Barbara did everything she could to save the marriage work," a friend remarked. "She adopted a boy. But when she came home from a hard day's work at the studio, she'd find him drunk, sitting around the dinner table with a bunch of old Vaudeville pals."

The end came in 1935 when she divorced him after testifying that he slugged her on learning she had attended a burlesque show.

The divorce sobered Fay. It is said that he never drank afterward.

Fay's success in Harvey didn't rid him of the phantoms that haunted his life. Inactive in the last few years, he moved to Santa Barbara, Calif. Living in New York this summer, he got on a train to Chicago with his fox terrier and no luggage. He was found wandering aimlessly in the Chicago station with no knowledge of how he got there.

During his final days he was unable to comprehend what was going on around him.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Saturday, September 30, 1961

General Tendencies: Until 3 p.m. you have every sort of a chance to accomplish a great deal because of the quick wit and the resourcefulness that is yours until that time. Full speed ahead. Then the rest of the weekend brings you a chance to study the ways and means by which you can put your ideas or your products across most readily.

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — Be sure you handle all important business matters, shopping, conferences, etc., during the day hours. Then bring home little presents for family and do your utmost to increase harmony within that sphere of your life.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — A fine free day to handle all property and monetary matters for which you do not have time during work week. Get advice from experts if you want best results. P.M. you can have a wonderful time socially with good friends.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — Think pretty much in terms of self until 4 p.m. and do whatever is necessary to ameliorate your own lot in life. Improve your appearance, too. Evening fine for getting new plans in order and making projects workable through study.

Those Children (June 22 to July 21) — Think out what you truly want in the future, then discuss your aims with experts and take initial steps in that direction. Get out socially in crowds and meet the people who can also be helpful to you in the near future.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Contact loyal friends now and meet interesting people through them who will play an important role in your life soon. Evening should be spent quietly enjoying radio or television, cards, the theatre, or what you will.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21) — This is one of those fine days when you can make most worthwhile contacts in the business world. Get your credit higher, too. Relax with good comrades in p.m. at some nice social affair or do a bit of entertaining yourself.

Libra (Sept. 22 to Oct. 22) — You can bind new allies in some mutually profitable venture now and also open up a whole new vista for the future, if you are active, think constructively. P.M. get assistance from the influential set.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Use that ingenuity now to handle all monetary and insurance affairs wisely. Then be equally clever in cementing better relations with the one you love. Evening is good for making new contacts socially. Be entertaining, folks.

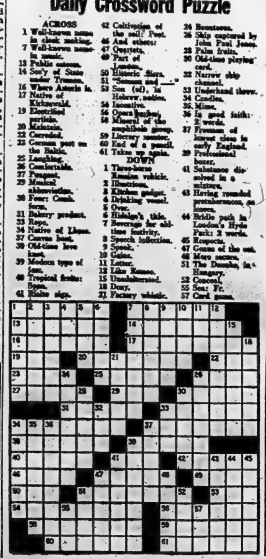
Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — It would be well to devote this day with associates and informally discussing with them a better system under which to operate in the future. Get into specific details, if it takes all night, and decide on matters of policy.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — A good day to get next week's order, work furnished so that it goes off smoothly, with the assistance of willing co-workers. An informal get-together with associates in the evening is also worthwhile for complete understanding.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Ride those hobbies for all they are worth today, and have a marvellous time. Get together with those you truly admire and enjoy. P.M. sit down and plan your coming week's activities wisely. Devise a better plan of operation, too.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — Attuned properly astrologically, you find that you are devoted to family today and give much time to increasing security. Evening is ideal for getting out to alluring spot where you can have a wonderful time. Be charming.

If your child is born today, he, or she, will be one of those rather rare persons who can work well both with hands and mind. So be sure you give as fine an education as possible to this brilliant youngster who is ever mentally alert. Business is the forte here and at maturity tremendous strides can be made in this field, bringing added ingenuity and inventiveness to the trade. Success can be very great, if you also give spiritual training.



PERMIT DRIVE-IN BINGO

BRISTOL, England (AP) — The city council gave its okay Wednesday night for the operation of a drive-in bingo parlor. Players will sit inside their cars in a large garage. Those who get a winning line in their cards will sound their horns. The promoters said their candid scenes accommodate up to 400 cars at a time.

NOW!
JUST YOU READ THIS

Stop around — as you have always meant to do — and see how easy it is for you to be financially secure. If you can be spending money, it just must be saved.

NOTE THIS!
$11,450.

What for? Believe it or not, this is the first time in years that a home with almost one thousand square feet of living space, has been available in every detail and under $12,000. Situated on a quiet street, with a beautiful view of the ocean, full basement, a big half lot, with garage, oil furnace, oil heating, air conditioned.

You might wonder how this can be done — at the modest price of $11,450. Oh yes, the land is included — and the house is ready for occupancy. Just bring your family and come to see us about it. Don't wait — for this home will be sold three already. So you must hurry. If you are looking for real value, you will be flabbergasted at the low down payment and the low two mortgage, but only ONE NBA mortgage to be concerned with.

THE LAST WORD

in modern comfort and appearance is the new 4-level bungalow. Centre hall split-level design, with 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, family room, and finished rec room in basement. The kitchen will have the latest in built-in features and will keep them out of mother's way. Let the children play in the finished rec room. This home features a separate dining room, and has all the modern kitchen. Almost ready for occupancy.

HYDE PARK

is a beautiful street — and beautiful it is the house we are offering on this street. The setting is professionally landscaped showing the home to its full advantage. There is a finished, decorated rec room on ground level and there will serve as a fourth bedroom if required. The kitchen is modern and has a dining area on the ground level. Still plenty of room for the children to play or create a very well-kept house. You should definitely see it before you buy.

REC ROOM ELEGANCE

will be yours when you buy this split level bungalow. Set on a large lot, it offers you all the latest features in modern living. Why not let us show it to you? It is ready for occupancy now. Call us today for your gain. This is a fully decorated home, completely ready to serve every member of the family.

Sunday School Lesson

Jesus Learned by Asking

By ROY L. SMITH

It is a matter of regret that no one living in Jesus' time undertook to set down in any detail at least some few of the facts concerning his childhood and youth. It would make such fascinating reading today. But biography, as a literary art, did not put in an appearance until several hundred years after His death. Therefore, we do not have anything resembling a modern "life" of any of the greats of the ancient times.

CITY OF NAZARETH

It is interesting to note that every time Nazareth is referred to in the New Testament (the name nowhere appears in the Old Testament) it is called a city (a boh the King James and the Revised Standard Versions of the Bible. Perhaps this is stretching a point, for it is doubtful whether any community outside of Jerusalem, numbered its inhabitants any more than about 10,000 souls. Of such "cities" there were about three in Galilee (Tiberias, Capernaum and Nazareth), and perhaps two (Caesarea and Jericho) in Judea. But even so, Jesus grew up in one of the cities of the land.

BOY IN NAZARETH

As a boy in Nazareth, Jesus must have had unusual opportunities to observe life. Joseph, the head of the household, was known as "the carpenter." It is not meant that he was the builder in the community. As such he was responsible for going to the woods; cutting the logs, and shaping them for the building. Then, in addition, it became his responsibility to draw the plans, doing all the simple engineering, cutting the stones, and providing for the sloping roofs and the drains. In a word, he was the builder or construction engineer — not merely the woodworker.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for October 1: "How Jesus Grew," Deuteronomy 6:4-9; Luke 2:39-52.

As a boy, assisting Joseph, Jesus must have grown up and been educated by the conversation of the men of Nazareth. At the age of 12 He was entitled, according to the law, to be enrolled as a legal man in Israel, and it was for the purpose of this enrollment that He was taken by His parents to Jerusalem.

LISTENING TO DOCTORS

As a boy, working alongside Joseph, Jesus had become accustomed to listening to the discussions and arguments that went on among the men of Nazareth. The town as a "priest centre" (a community to which the priests of Galilee assembled, in preparation for their regular journeys to Jerusalem where they were to officiate at the Temple), as a result of which a good part of the common conversation revolved about the matter of religion.

It must have been a thrilling experience for such a boy to have mingled with the great scholars and the doctors of the Law, in the Jerusalem Temple, and to have listened to them debating some of the same questions that had engaged the minds of Joseph and his hired help in Nazareth.

ASKING QUESTIONS

It is just a bit unfortunate that the artists have left us with the impression that Jesus, in the Temple at the age of 12, was instructing the scholars and doctors of the Law. Actually, He was learning from them — not teaching them.

And He was doing at least one very wise thing. He was asking them such weighty questions that they were amazed at His knowledge.

A rather famous clergyman was being shown about one of the highly strategic military installations of the land, and his escort was endeavoring to explain everything. Finally, in an effort to get the preacher to talk the guide said, "I would be glad to have you ask any questions. If I can't answer them, I will know who to ask." To which the preacher replied, "My trouble is that I do not know enough even to ask intelligent questions."

One of the tests of a truly educated man is his ability to ask questions that go to the heart of a matter. It sometimes calls for more intelligence to ask a difficult question, than it does to give an intelligent answer. Certainly this is true in the field of religion.

WRITERS' FAVORITE

Vaschal Gerdens, once a well-known London entertainment place, was popular with 17th-century writers such as Samuel Pepys."

'SYRIAN ARAB REPUBLIC' FLAG RAISED

PARLIAMENT CLOSING — Commons Speaker Roland Michener relaxes in his office shortly after the final sitting of the fourth session of the 24th Parliament. The session lasted 174 days, the longest in Canadian history. (CP Wirephoto).

At Least 10 Top National Issues Raised in Session

OTTAWA (CP) — At least 10 top national issues were born or revived during the marathon parliamentary session that ended early Friday.

Any one of them probably could stand as a single election issue.

A brief summary:

1. Trade — Pegged to the British negotiations with the European Common Market, with Liberal charges of a government "anti - British" attitude stoutly denied and flat Conservative opposition announced Liberal pleas for Atlantic free - trade area.

2. Unemployment — Still major political sounding-board; Liberal - Labor charges of inaction stacked against government recital of measures to pump money into housing, boost special winter works, stimulate skills training and encourage productivity gains.

3. Dominion - Provincial Fiscal Arrangements — Government claims of unsurpassed generosity and fairness to the constitutional rights to the provinces, countered by opposition statements that the dominion ways existed, forecasts of "a real battle" and complaints of unilateral federal action that ignored provincial arguments.

4. Tariffs — The Liberals protesting arbitrary ministerial powers under the dominion's "class-or-kind" legislation, and Minister Fleming's (Conservative) claim that the Senate Liberal majority killed "thousands" of jobs by amending the bill, which died.

5. The budget — record spending of $7,613,000,000 with four tax measures affecting the average man, but action to reduce capital inflow in opposition decision of five straight federal deficits — the latest $850,000,000 forecast for the current year.

6. The Pacific Railway — Government provision of a subsidy of up to $90,500,000 to the CNR to build the Great Slave Lake line as "a calculated risk," opposition claims that there is no guarantee of return in a deal that mainly benefits the privately - owned CPR.

7. Defence — Disagreement among all three parties over NORAD and NATO roles; Opposition attempts to get a government policy statement on acquisition of nuclear arms, while the government says it does not want to do anything to impede disarmament talks and the Arrow - versus - Voodoo jet interceptor dispute.

8. Foreign Ownership — Opposition charges that the government is procrastinating on the 1959 Gordon report and a controversy over national pension scheme, with the government reply that it is studying the whole question.

9. Health — Appointment by the government of a royal commission to study existing health services — medical care

BROTHERHOOD WINS VICTORY OVER SEAFARERS

Named Bargaining Agent for Seamen

OTTAWA (CP)—The hold of the Independent Seafarers International Union of Canada on Great Lakes seamen was broken Friday by the Canada Labor Relations Board.

The board certified the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers (CLC) as bargaining agent for crews on two Canadian ships, the Northern Venture and the Wheat King.

The decision gave the 15,000-member brotherhood a resounding victory in the opening round of what may develop into a bitter — perhaps bloody — waterfront battle for exclusive representation on Canada's lakes and seaboard.

The brotherhood is declared foe of the SIU and its president, Hal C. Banks of Montreal.

It fought the SIU on the west coast over marine engineers and succeeded in getting the Seafarers union ousted from the Canadian Labor Congress — thus labelling it as a maverick union on the ranks of organized labor.

MAY EXPAND FIELD

The brotherhood's certification victory is expected to spark an all-out effort by a new marine workers union to sign up SIU members.

The new union is being formed by Michael J. Sheehan, former SIU organizer, who was ejected last year, with the help of the 7,150,000-member Canadian Labor Congress and the cooperation of the brotherhood.

The CLC pledged its support to the organizers of new union in their attempts to round up support for the labor-first step by step award creation of a boss fide Canadian union within the parent body of Canadian labor.

The SIU is expected to mount a counter-offensive against its rivals, mainly calling for support from Longshoremen and Teamsters Unions with which it is a part of mutual assistance.

The possibilities of open interunion strife were indicated earlier this week by brotherhood lawyer Maurice Wright in a speech before the CLC-AFL-CIO federal investigation of union organized crime in the shipping industry.

He warned the board that an "intensely dangerous" situation may develop in the shipping business.

TO TRIBE KHRUSHCHEV

LONDON (AP) — Earl Attlee, 78 - year - old former premier minister, said Friday he will go to Moscow next month to "make a great move forward toward world government. He expects to meet Premier Khrushchev.

Military Group That Freed Syria Is Dissolved

Constitutional Rule, Elections Promised

CP from AP-Reuters

BEIRUT—Syria's new civilian regime raised the flag of the Syrian Arab Republic over government buildings today and ordered the revision of Egyptians in quick sequel to the revolt against Cairo's rule.

All Egyptians, civil and military, were instructed to present themselves at military headquarters Sunday for shipment home. The order, signed by "the commander of the Syrian Arab army," was broadcast by Radio Damascus.

This broadcast and another announcing the flag - raisings were monitored in Beirut, capital of neighboring Lebanon.

Premier Maamoun Kuzbari had announced dissolution of the military group that boosted him to power. He promised democracy and constitutional rule.

Kuzbari has said he proclaimed Syria's independence from Egypt's President Nasser's United Arab Republic, in which it joined Egypt in February, 1958, but the new flag-raising over government offices indicated this was just a technicality.

AFFECTS THOUSANDS

Number of Egyptians in Syria not known, but there are several thousands. In addition to the hundreds of government officials who served the United Arab Republic in Damascus and other cities, there were large numbers of Egyptian soldiers and pilots in the Syrian army. There were several mass meetings composed entirely of Egyptian soldiers.

Egyptian women were asked to stay in their homes today "for their own safety."

This, and a previous communique asking Syrians to stop staging demonstrations in support of the revolution, indicated leaders may have been worried about disorders.

The Damascus newspaper Nasr Al Hal reported the new government, which was named only Friday, freed all political prisoners in Damascus. There was confirmation in Beirut of the report.

The government waited less than two days after Saturday's virtually bloodless coup to ask for diplomatic recognition and to seek recognition for their

Nixon Denies Trying to Make Secret Deal

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Richard Nixon denies he sought a secret deal to get former governor Goodwin Knight out of the 1962 race for California's Republican nomination for governor.

"False and libellous on its face," the former vice-president said Friday of Knight's charge — that Nixon sent an emissary to offer Knight any state job he wanted if Knight withdrew.

"No person representing me or authorized by me has made such a promise," Nixon said.

Knight refused to tell his dilemma over the name of Nixon's pressure emissary and present my proof and witnesses at a public press conference . . . within a very few days."

Friday night Knight said he accepted an offer from Los Angeles TV station KTTV for a television debate with Nixon. But station officials said a Nixon spokesman advised them Nixon would not debate with Knight, PEND BOMB

These were the latest developments in a dispute between Californian's two leading Republicans—a long-simmering feud that has come to a boil since Nixon announced his candidacy for governor Wednesday night.

Today both men are private citizens. Nixon has been associated with a prominent law firm in Los Angeles since his defeat in the 1960 presidential election. Knight, independently wealthy, is up-to-do, and also has a well-paying job as a Los Angeles TV commentator. He defeated Nixon, engineered the Republican maneuvering that forced him to withdraw as governor in 1958 to allow then U.S. senator William Knowland to run for that office. Knight ran for Knowland's Senate seat, but lost to Kuchel.

Knight claims—and Nixon denies—that Nixon, then vice-president, promised him a federal job so he could have unquestioned support for California's Republican party.

United Church General Council Supports Backing UN, Even at Cost to Sovereignty

TORONTO (CP) — United Church General Council Friday voted that Canada give greater support to a United Nations police force, the Observer reported. The United Church Observer described such support as a questionable dream.

In a resolution forwarded Friday to External Affairs Minister Green, the executive of the United Church of Canada's general council listed among the "Christian imperatives" that the UN "be strengthened even at the cost of a further reduction of the national sovereignty."

A statement issued by the church listed, among "major steps toward peace" — making, the "even stronger support by Canada of the United Nations and the enlargement of its police force."

It contrasted with an editorial in the twice-monthly Observer which said that Christians have not agreed on how to achieve peace.

"Support for a great UN police force," the Observer said, "suggests pleasant and perhaps questionable dreams for the future, but not wide-awake thinking for the present."

SAYS UNREALISTIC

The Observer criticized as "unrealistic" the attitude of church members who urge the government to cut military spending, turn down nuclear weapons and go on the UN to keep the peace.

The church's general council executive urged, on the other hand, an end to nuclear testing and to the "present suicidal arms race" and stepped-up aid to underdeveloped nations.

The Oct. 1 issue of the Observer, published Friday, suggests Canadians would be shirking responsibility by supporting "the proposal for Canada to disarm unilaterally, or refuse to accept modern weapons" in favor of a non-existent United Nations force.

"It's a serious thing for churchman to counsel a gov-

Press Manhunt After Attempt On Nehru's Life

NEW DELHI (Reuers)—Police today discounted the possibility that a bomb which exploded in a street here Friday night five minutes after Jawaharlal Nehru passed through was aimed at the prime minister.

They said the bomb was only a small explosive and that six persons in the vicinity had received only minor injuries.

Senior police officials attributed the incident to "mischief mongers" and said streetlights had failed a few seconds before the explosion took place.

Nehru, 72, was returning home after opening a fair at which he had appealed to Sikh patriarch Tara Singh to call off his 47-day fast aimed at securing a

NEW SESSION OF PARLIAMENT LIKELY IN DEC.

Move Rules Out Early Election

OTTAWA (CP) — A legislative program with vote - getting appeal as its foremost feature is likely to be put before a new session of Parliament in December.

An informed source said Friday night Prime Minister Diefenbaker is planning to put the current Parliament back to work before Christmas — ruling out virtually all possibility of a general election this fall or winter.

The object would be to unveil an attractive legislative program in the throne speech, have it adopted in principle before Christmas and then resume the

Lawyer, Politician, Soldier, Actor, Nova Scotia's Jim Maddin Is Dead

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP)—James W. (Jim) Maddin, whose legal brilliance and unorthodox approach to life made him a living Nova Scotia legend, died Friday at 87.

His activities as a lawyer, journalist, politician, soldier, movie actor and practical joker made him one of the most colorful characters in the province

When Mr. Maddin ended his legal career in 1954 he had taken part in 80 murder trials. Of the 60 men he defended, only two were hanged. He once defended four men on murder charges in a single week.

His flair for the dramatic and unusual in the courtroom did as much as his legal success to build up his reputation.

He stubbornly went on until he was 69 refusing to wear socks and underwear. A daughter finally persuaded him to wear them. He wore shoes with holes cut in the toes to let water or melting snow run out before he entered the house. He called them his "self-bailers."

He became a lawyer after hiring another brother who was charged with murder following a shooting incident in his native town of Westville, N.S. The charge was dismissed, but it prompted Mr. Maddin to give up a mechanic's career for the law.

He played bit parts in movies being filmed in Cape Breton, and gave it up.

Mr. Maddin had been a teetotaller since 1920, but it wasn't always so. Once in a bawdy-house case he argued that one offence didn't prove the house was bawdy.

The judge said "in other words one swallow doesn't make a whole summer." Mr. Maddin got the case by his point, and sat down. But somebody had cut his hair. Getting back to his feet, he added: "But, my lord, too many swallows often precipitate an early fall."

On another occasion, he emptied a courtroom water jug and filled it with gin.

He was elected to the House of Commons as a Conservative at the age of 35, but was defeated in the next election.

He once ran for mayor of Sydney promising to provide free beer in street-corner drinking fountains.

Controversial Cancer Drug To Be Tested by U.S. Govt.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Developers of the controversial cancer drug Krebiozen have agreed to the government Friday a sample of the drug, its chemical formula and all it is in use as a step toward possible tests of its merit.

This was the first time the chemical formula had been revealed to the National Cancer Institute.

There were indications, however, that it will be the principal trials of the drug in human would have to await results of its chemical and material furnished, including data on 4,000 cases treated with Krebiozen.

This information came out following a meeting between representatives of the Krebiozen Foundation, including Dr. Andrew C Ivy of the University of Illinois, Dr. Stanley Dorovic, inventor of the drug, and Dr. Harold Rick, secretary of the foundation.

The journal of the American Medical Association has labelled Krebiozen worthless as a cancer treatment. Individual physicians have made widely varying reports on it.

The meeting apparently was an outgrowth of skilled that was brought by Ivy against Dr. George V. Le Sledden, former president of the University of Illinois and chancellor of New York University.

Ivy asks $250,000 damages he said he suffered as a result of a book, Krebiozen: The Great Mystery written by Sledden in 1955. Ivy contends the book was written with intent to destroy his professional prestige. Sledden had maintains he wrote the book in the best of the controversy about the drug.

In Chicago, when the case was filed, Federal Judge Julius Miner ruled that Sledden's medical advice is the centre of the case and asked for a test of it by the National Cancer Institute. Meanwhile, Ivy declared a mistrial — tantamount to postponement pending such a test.

Russia's Wooing of Morocco May Backfire Against China

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Persistent reports of a secret Russian commitment to block a new African state from joining the United Nations could boost Nationalist China's chances of keeping its UN seat.

Diplomatic sources said today that Russia has promised Morocco to veto Mauritania as a UN member when its application comes up in the security council. Observers regarded whether the Nationalists use this to gain support Communist Outer Mongolia.

This could touch off a chain had been reported that Russia is going to cash in on Morocco's anti-Red Chinese attitude in return for keeping out the African state, they apparently expect Morocco to back the drive for admission of Outer Mongolia.

$25,000 FOR RAT BITE

DETROIT (CP) — A Detroit showgirl was awarded $25,000 in damages Friday in Circuit Court for a rat bite her finger while she was a hotel guest here in 1958. Virginia DeLaCy of Weston, Mass., told the court she still hasn't recovered from the shock of the injury. She had asked $150,000 damages, claiming that since the incident she has been so tense and distraught that she has had difficulty finding employment.

Tammany Hall, 150-Year-Old Political Institution, Closed Up

NEW YORK (AP)—A handful of furniture movers Friday dismantled and carted away the furnishings of New York's political institution—Tammany Hall.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner—principal architect of a primary election consultant which smashed Tammany leadership—ordered the club out of existence.

From now on, Wagner said, the organization shall be known by its official title — the New York County Democratic Committee.

Absent from the scene as the desks, filing cabinets, an auction, safe and other assets of the club were moved from Tammany Hall headquarters were Carmine DeSapio, who led Tammany Hall for 16 years, stalked his political fate in fight-to-the-finish fervor in the recent primary election. DeSapio soundly defeated DeSapio's candidate — State Comptroller Arthur J. Levitt.

The famous Tammany Tiger emerged before the Revolutionary War as a county move against American backing the British. The name was a corruption of Tammend, a Delaware Indian chief known for his wisdom, benevolence and love of freedom.

After the war the Tammany clubs were disbanded and the name was not used again until 1789, when the Society of Tammany was formed as the planned core of a national movement native to the theory and democratic in principle and scope.

For more than three decades Tammany represented middle class opposition to the rule of an aristocratic party. It took national character and became intimately identified with New York politics.

As early as 1806 revelations of corruption of Tammany chiefs were published in revenue of Alderman Marinus Willett, superintendent of the almshouse, the inspector of bread and others.

Martin Van Buren, grand sachem of Tammany, was elected president of the United States in 1836 and the club's prestige began to rise.

Probably the most famous of the Tammany leaders was William M. (Boss) Tweed—credited with initiating complete Tammany boss control in 1863.

Corruption hit a peak in the Tweed years. Tweed's enemies and records set the city loss at $200,000,000. Tweed died in jail.

Tammany became known as a synonym for corruption.

CITY AND DISTRICT NEWS

PARKED VEHICLE IS SIDESWIPED BY UNKNOWN CAR

Police are looking for a car this morning which sideswiped a parked vehicle on Bleecker Ave. around nine o'clock last night.

The vehicle, owned by Edward Walbridge, was parked across the street from his home at 306 Bleecker Ave.

Police said the vehicle proceeding south on Bleecker, scrubbed the side of the parked car. They said there was no witness and the car may thing left behind by the unknown vehicle was a bit of grey paint which had rubbed off on the chrome of the parked car and that pieces of chrome had been scattered behind indicating the car had been proceeding south.

Damage to Mr. Walbridge's car was estimated at $30.

Appointments Create Problems For Councils

TORONTO (CP) — Alfred H. Cowling, Progressive Conservative member of the legislature for Wentworth, told Ontario's select committee on municipal law Friday that appointments to local boards are being made for political reasons.

Mr. Cowling said too many persons who do not have a genuine interest in planning are appointed to planning boards. Boards for political reasons and they create problems for local councils.

"I have a serious doubt in my mind as to whether they do the job they are supposed to do," he said. "Planning boards are advisory boards and should not have gone beyond their advisory capacity."

Lorne R. Cumming, deputy minister of municipal affairs, told the committee the planning boards had never been heard of until after the Second World War and they should never be in complete control.

"There is hardly no problem if everyone believed in planning, but a lot of people now elected to council don't," Mr. Cumming said.

THE GOLDEN YEARS

Can Retire on $200 Per Month But There'll Be Little Gravy

By THOMAS COLLINS

"Please explain to us how you can live in retirement on $200 a month. We live in a nice apartment town and are paying $80 a month for a two bedroom apartment with kitchen and bath.

"We pay $30 a month for food, and we buy the cheapest meat we can get. Insurance, clothing, toothpaste, utilities (lightbulbs and the many other things that would be in a family budget) penetrated heck. We haven't a penny a couple can't live on $200 a month."

Thus come many complaints from people who won't making it in retirement. With the complaints come things like this:

"My mother is a widow and her income is $75 a month. She spends it thusly — $45 a month for a one-bedroom duplex with kitchen and bath (this including the water bill); $10 a month for gas and electricity; $5 a month for a two-party phone; and $35 a month for food.

"This leaves $14 a month for clothing, medicine and incidentals of the $14 mother actually saves a little. If Dad were still living, with his pension and income, the rent would be the same, but food and clothing hardly be doubled. They could be living high. And the secret would be my mother's motto: no waste".

WON'T BELIEVE IT

The management of the window is no good to the suburban wife. For one thing, she won't believe it. For another, it is with people. They have difficulty understanding how to live conditionally to different standards of living and saving, have always been spenders. They have ways on saving and spending; they really don't know how the other half lives. Also some people can adapt to change — such as the transition to retirement — better than others.

Still a couple can live on $200 a month. They can do it, but they have to be prepared to get or anybody's budget, but by a new approach to their spending and economics. In this way:

—Food is normally the biggest dent in retirement income. You cut your food cost by acquiring a taste for eating and loading up on foods when they can be cheapest; by not eating foods in season; and by going in seriously for vegetable gardening.

—Housing normally takes the second biggest bite. Here come. And it's all mixed up with food costs. Housing on a lot large enough to have a vegetable garden will cut food costs. Housing in the country by the lake, where meat and produce for the freezer can be bought directly from farmers will also further reduce food costs. Such a locale would be conducive to canning. Also to wine. Also to chickens.

Housing, even when not used to cut food costs, has a large role in a fifty - a - month retirement budget. You can't spend one-fourth of your net income for housing and keep on eating the mortgage companies. This, on $200 a month, would be $250. Rent, of course, is a big item to this figure, unless you want to give up the idea of owning (where you could keep a cow) might be less embarrassing on $20 a month rent than $50 a month. If you own your own home the $50 is spent shoveling and care of clothing and incidentals.

ALL TIED IN

—Every other cost of retirement is tied in one way or another with housing. Food, clothing is needed in some neighborhoods, more outlay for entertaining and transportation, large contributions to causes. You, the reader who may already be housing they had while the husband worked finds that neighbors expect more than cards. It's painful not to live up to them.

—Diners and quarters become important if you are to live on $200 a month. You husband may have to stop smoking. Certainly he can't afford to drink. Dry-cleaning, pressing, movies, beauty shops, pictures from trees to telephone become suspect items in a budget.

There's little gravy on a $200 budget. Nobody ever said so. Yet by the hundreds you can find couples in the sunshine states who are trying to pull over all the things they can't buy on their $200 a month.

BEST LAID PLANS

LONDON (AP) — Four paygrab bandits were foiled Friday by the big city traffic problem — parking. They snatched $3,800 ($10,640) in two briefcases from a man in the Elephant and Castle district and dashed to their parked getaway car. It was jammed between two other vehicles. They dropped the money and made a run for it.

Gromyko Is Told West Won't Talk With E. Germans

NEW YORK (AP)—The West has presented new demands to Premier Khrushchev to have told Russia in diplomatic talks that it will not negotiate with Communist East Germany over the future of West Berlin, Russian Premier Nikita Khrushchev was told by Western diplomats.

The future status of the U.S., British, and French garrisons is one of several critical issues Khrushchev has given to Gromyko separately by U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk, West German Secretary Kost Mons of Britain with Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko of Russia.

The New York talks, which Rusk described as the start of formal negotiations over a compromise settlement, have dealt with three broad aspects of the Berlin crisis.

J. Rusk and Heme have tried to impress upon Gromyko that the Western powers will fight if necessary to defend West Berlin and its access routes against Communist encroachment. Some of the two Western ministers think Soviet Premier Khrushchev may be bluffing and he he runs a grave risk of plunging the world into war if he overplays his hand.

2. Rusk has tried to discover from Gromyko whether Russia is to agree to a broad basis for formal negotiations on Berlin and related questions such as Germany's future and European security. The U.S. Secretary of Foreign ministers conference in November and December could be held. But Gromyko up to now has shed little light on Soviet intentions, diplomats in close respect.

3. By raising questions about Russia's Berlin policy, Rusk and Home have sought to explore the possibilities for success of a foreign ministers conference. In essence, they want to find out whether Khrushchev is willing to compromise or whether he insists on dictate the terms of a settlement.

Labor Party Meets Monday At Blackpc l

By DAVE DANCIA

LONDON (CP)—Britain's Labor party supporters assemble in the seaside resort of Blackpool next Monday assured that their annual conference will produce a united front more effective and cohesive than they have held in years.

Predictions are that their annual gathering will be more harmonious than they have been and since they lost power to the Conservatives 10 years ago. Even the left wing has retired with the past. In recent years it has been the right wing that its foundations by sharp divisions over basic issues such as defense and nationalization.

These battles pitched leader Hugh Gaitskell, a moderate right-winger, into open hostility and most difficult days of his career.

SWINGS PARTY

Most are agreed now that Gaitskell has won and swung the party around to his way of thinking. Observers are agreed that the movement's "primary task in the months ahead is to win the confidence of the middle class, and therefore feel they are "above" voting Labor.

Gaitskell's opponents have been lavish in their praise of Gaitskell.

"Labor's comeback is astonishing—and due more than anyone to Gaitskell's courage, courageous and unequivocating behavior" says Robert Carvel of the London Evening Standard.

"A year ago the party was tearing itself to pieces over Clause 4, it was riddled with dissension and hate."

At that time, Gaitskell's defence policy was tossed out and a policy of unilateral nuclear disarmament was adopted. The leader refused to accept this as party policy on parliamentary party.

His campaign, mobilized to ensure a repudiation of last year's decision, now appears to have been successful. The majority of the powerful trades union congress votes were lined up solidly behind a policy stressing the need for Western collective security to counter Communist pressures.

Love Letters Of Surgeon Read in Court

HAMILTON (CP)—A love letter alleged to have been written by Dr. John R. LaCroix of Hamilton to Mrs. Margaret Lee said it was with a "strange feeling of sacrilege" that he opened the pretty beautiful letter of the married woman whose affections he is charged with alienating.

The 50-year-old Hamilton doctor was cross-examined by John Langer, 29, for alienation of affections and criminal conversation over an affair the doctor is alleged to have had with Helen Langer.

The letter was one of 91 introduced in court and signed by Helen but was written by Dr. LaCroix to Mrs. Langer while she was visiting her husband in Australia. The letters covered a period from early 1960 to early 1961.

The suit claims Mrs. Langer went to Dr. LaCroix for surgery in 1956, 1957 and 1958 and on her return from hospital in 1958 on separate bedrooms.

A jury of three men and seven women heard Mr. Langer's lawyer, Sydney Paikin, read the letters in court.

One letter dated July 17, 1956, described how the writer often walked naked in his private office threw thinking of Mrs. Langer.

Crews Busy On Storm Sewer Construction

During the week the public works department crews of the city have been busy on storm sewer construction on Lambert Drive and Crestview Ave. Although work on the latter is almost completed operations on the former were halted recently initiated is about 10 per cent along the way.

If conditions are favorable the paving of Crestview Ave. is expected to begin early in the next two weeks, assistant city engineer Ronald Kraft said yesterday afternoon.

Crews were also working on the Sanitary sanitation treatment of Byron Street and this project was completed this week.

Elsewhere in the department the initial planning for some of the winter activities have been getting underway.

Woman Held In Alleged Slavery Ring

CLEVELAND (AP) — Elsie Curry, 37, of Cleveland, was charged Friday with conspiring to send two teen - age girls to Toronto for prostitution and immoral purposes.

She appeared before U.S. Commissioner H. A. Horn and waived hearing. She was held for arraignment in U.S. district court next week.

Edward E. Hargett, FBI agent in charge here, issued the warrant. He said Miss Curry made arrangements to send two girls, 16 and 18, to Toronto Sept. 14.

Hargett said the girls bought airline tickets to Toronto but were ordered to return to the U.S. by immigration authorities when the plane stopped in London, Ont.

Earlier the FBI and Cleveland police said they were investigating a possible international white slave traffic ring using Cleveland as a source of girls.

Miss Curry was named as alias of Emmon Reddon, Hargett said, was held for investigation Monday after police picked her up in her by the teen-agers.

The girls were arrested Wednesday night after detectives recognized them as missing persons.

Suit Against Old Friend Is Dismissed

WHITBY (CP) — An all-male jury Friday dismissed an Oshawa man's suit against a longtime friend for alienation of his wife's affections.

Roman Wiatrowski, 45 was suing Gustave Skinner, 36, for alienating the affections of his wife Sophia, 38.

Mr. Justice W. D. Parker, in his address to the jury, said: "You are not here to judge the morals of anyone."

Niemiec told the jury it was Mrs. Wiatrowski who made the advances in their affair, and claimed Mr. Wiatrowski still owned him $4,500 for a 1953 loan.

Niemiec was at one time a boarder in the Wiatrowski home but left after Mrs. Wiatrowski saw him kissing his wife in July of last year.

Toronto Man Is Released As Suspect

TORONTO (CP) — Metropolitan Toronto police have released Frederick G. Harrington, 63, of Toronto, arrested Wednesday on a charge of conspiracy in connection with a $34,000 bank robbery in Galt, Ont., on Aug. 8.

Harrington's arrest was connected with the arrest in Saint John, Wednesday of two Ontario men. He was picked up after police learned that a car one of the men had with them at the motel where they were arrested had been rented in Toronto.

Saint John police released the two men, then picked them up again. When they released them for the second time Thursday night they were satisfied the two were not involved in the holdup Toronto police released Harrington.

Collapse of Arab Unity May Lead to Power Vacuum

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The collapse of Arab unity that Gamal Abdel Nasser tried to build through the United Arab Republic may lead to a dangerous power vacuum in the Middle East.

While the West often looked with suspicion or dislike at the Egyptian leader, they credited him at least with bringing a measure of stability to the shaky Arab world.

Stability was associated with peace and strength against communist-inflation into the Middle East. Even with large-scale military and economic aid to Nasser, the Kremlin made little headway in the Arab world. Nasser accepted aid from East and West and sometimes played one against the other.

AIMED FOR POWER

All his moves seem to have been designed to add to his prestature and to make himself the strong man of the Arab League. Not all of his Arab colleagues backed him, but his power was feared and respected.

Now Nasser is being challenged by right-wing insurgents in Damascus to submit that his republic uniting Egypt and Syria was only a house of cards.

Nasser has pointed to the U.A.R. as the beginning of an Arabian structure of unity. With the Syrian rebellion he has lost his strong point.

MOVES CAUTIOUSLY

But Nasser has already avoided an immediate military showdown with the insurgents. Although his forces in Syria probably were sufficient to crush the rebellion, he pulled them back, awaiting developments that would have hardened the split.

For the moment, Syria appears to have gained her independence. But Nasser may be bidding his time, allowing Syrians to cool.

His socialistic policies seem to have been more popular with the Syrian peasants than with the wealthier classes. It is possible that in any free-Syrian election a pro-Nasser influence could re-emerge.

governments of the new Syrian regime.

GET RECOGNITION

Turkey and Jordan already have accorded recognition. Iran was reported considering recognition, and Iraq came to Syria's defence. All four countries long have been wary of Nasser's ambitions for a united Arab state dominated by Egypt.

Premier Abdel Karim Kassem of Iraq, Nasser's major counterweight in the continuing Middle East struggle for power, said in a speech in Baghdad that the new Syrian government is ready in the face of any foreign danger, if he tried to interfere in any brother country Syria."

"We are calling on our brothers in Syria and Egypt to stretch their hands [illegible] and Nasser," he said.

The only Arab leader with sympathetic word for Nasser Friday as big dream of a single Arab nation" crumbled was Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba. He read Nasser a friendly letter expressing regret at the revolt in Syria.

Messages on the Syrian radio indicated Syria's new leaders feared demonstrations might get out of hand—or be turned against the new government by agents from Cairo.

The Lebanese-Syrian border was still closed, but life appeared moving back toward normal in the country.

Telephone communications, shut off when the revolt started, were reopened.

Kuzbari said that in the meantime "we have had to stop the foundations of true Arab unity, Syria must be strong and sought no material gain."

Without mentioning Nasser, he said the leaders of the union went astray and "reduced to illusion to the appeals of Syria to rectify the situation and establish equality between the two countries . . . They led to the Arab revolutionary movement."

Dictatorial rule led to a deterioration of the economic situation, he said, but the new government will try to strengthen Syria's sagging currency and improve the country's financial position.

The 47-year-old premier, who said he had been authorized to issue decrees pending free elections for a new legislature, announced a five-point reform program:

1. Restoration of cardinal freedoms and immediate abrogation to emergency laws; 2. "Perfection" of the army; 3. Freedom for labor unions and a share for workers in profits and administration; 4. Prosperity through stabilized currency and higher living standards, increased productivity and respect for legitimate profit; 5. Measures to provide conditions for an efficient civil service system.

EDIFICE CRUMBLES

Thus what Nasser had built up in less than four years as the first step toward his dream of a single "Arab nation" under Egyptian leadership crumbled in about 48 hours and left the capitalists of the Middle East manoeuvring for position.

Turkey and Jordan — always wary of the ambitious Nasser — recognized Kuzbari's new government. Tunisia's President Habib Bourguiba sent a friendly telegram to Nasser expressing regret at the revolution and hope that the dispute could be settled peacefully.

Kuzbari, with a reputation as a brilliant lawyer and a political history of support for Syria's right wing of merchants and landowners, announced that the revolutionary command "has finished its mission at this historic moment" and turned over functions of defending the country.

He promised "a true and democratic life for Syria" and said he would "lead the country within four months to a constitutional rage." He did not elaborate.

OFFERS PLEDGE

Kuzbari also touched on what appeared to be the prime impediments behind the precipitous increasing Egyptian domination of Syria. He complained that Egypt had made Syria a junior partner in the U.A.R. and "the Egyptian [Syrian] national interest elements, especially in the army."

Nasser predicted the Syrian populace would not back the secessionists.

He said recognition of the new government by Jordan is "significant" and support by capitalist imperialists also indicates the true nature of the revolt.

In his speech, Kuzbari did not say that Syria is withdrawing from the U.A.R. or proclaiming itself independent, although his actions indicated that.

WILL STRENGTHEN

He spoke of strengthening the Arab League "with other member states" and broadcasting on the air he called in members of the foreign affairs corps in Damascus to tell them that Syria wants to establish diplomatic relations with all friendly countries. Syria relinquished its independent diplomatic status and its seat in the United Nations — to the U.A.R. when the union in 1958 began.

He told reporters his government would set up a special ministry for the press and news. Damascus Radio said.

Meanwhile, an overnight curfew was clamped down in the Syrian capital and the country. Friday night was ringed by a security barrier.

Reporters attempted to drive into Syria Friday night, but were turned back within a few yards of the frontier by combat-equipped troops with fixed bayonets. The soldiers said no one, including Syrians, was being allowed in.

35 Sea Cadets Leave City for Two-Day Cruise

Some 35 Sea Cadets left Belleville harbor this morning aboard two harbor craft from HMCS "Cataraqui", Kingston, and the recently re-outfitted power launch of the local Sea Cadet Corps. They were on their way to Presqu'ile Point, the locus operation for two days of manoeuvres, cruising and communications exercise, via the Bay of Quinte and the Murray Canal.

Prior to embarkation the cadets were given a lecture on the various operations they would be indulging in by Lt. Michael Landowne RCN(R) and Commissioned Officer Earl Stack RCN(R), the captains of the two harbor craft, as well as a briefing on the ports and operations of ships they would be in by Lt. Neil O'Brien, RCN (R), the engineering officer in charge of the ships. The cadets were also put to work cleaning up the ships to give them a better knowledge of their design.

The cadets will be staying overnight at Presqu'ile where during today's operations and with be taking part in church services, sailing and sports as well as further naval training on Sunday.

Power Squadron To Open Classes On Safe Boating

A meeting of the Bay of Quinte Power Squadron was held at the Bay Quinte Yacht Club, Belleville on Wednesday evening for the introduction of Commander A. Elliot, who gave a summary of the history of the Canadian Power Squadron, and welcomed the excellent turnout of interested students who attended to register for this winter's program.

A presentation was made by Squadronette Commander Mrs. R. B. McCutcheon to Jack Tatham and Will Stevens, awards for their outstanding boats during the International Rendezvous held here during August.

Registration for the winter classes on Monday, Oct. 2, under the able and watchful eye of Reg Hamilton are arranged for instructors and classrooms for this winter's program on safe and sane boating.

NEW SESSION

hard work of the 1962 session in January.

The only change that might be made in this schedule, informants said, would be brought about by the international situation, if it worsened sufficiently for the government to feel an immediate election was needed.

The record - length fourth session of the present Parliament wound up Friday on its 174th sitting day and the government has been under pressure from many of its back - bench supporters, particularly from Western Canada, to call a general election now.

The Prairie Conservative MPs feel that times now are prosperous for the farmer and therefore propitious politically for the government.

ONTARIO TAX HURTS

A cautionary note, however, has been taken in the advice given the government by its Ontario supporters. The new three-per - cent provincial - sales tax in Ontario, which went into effect Sept. 1, has resulted in a drastic drop in clothwar ruling off on the federal consumer.

Mr. Diefenbaker is believed by many observers here to have chosen those words revealing his election thinking when he addressed the Union of Nova Scotia Municipalities Thursday night in Vernon, B.C.

He expressed pride that Canada's economy is rolling again but said the country faced another unemployment problem this winter. The prime minister added, however, that there were good prospects of the economic situation becoming even brighter next year after the seasonal slump.

Observers interpreted this to mean that the prime minister thinks next summer or fall will be a much better time than the autumn for the Conservatives to test a renewed mandate.

MAY OPEN DEC. 4

The fifth session of the current Parliament, the 26th Parliament since 1867, probably will open Dec. 4 or 11 and adjourn after a three-week period for debate for a Christmas - New Year's recess. One or two major government measures possibly be introduced and parliamentary observers believe.

Exact date for the opening probably will be decided in the next few weeks. It also has been reported to have set itself a busy schedule of meetings starting next Monday.

Hastings County Will Have Three Tents at Show

One of the features of the International Plowing Match's "Tented City" will be Hastings County's own three-tent exhibit, which has been organized by Warden Ralph Graham and Clarence Bird.

Each of the three 40 by 80 foot tents will be a display of the county's major industrial and agricultural activities. In the industrial tent will be a representation of all of the major industries of Hastings.

Under the canvas of the agricultural tent will be displayed by the cheese producers, the milk producers, the Federation of Agriculture, the vegetable growers' association, the apple growers' association, the 4-H Clubs, the Junior Farmers, the Ontario Horticultural Society and the farmitrad implements organization.

The third tent will house a fine selection of cattle with their top quality. Herefords, Guernseys, Ayrshires, five each of Jerseys and Holsteins and a special display of George Goodfellow's quadruplet calves and their mother.

C. Baker, Boer War Vet, Honored by Trenton Legion

TRENTON — Friday night was "Charlie Baker Night" at the Trenton Legion Hall.

Gathered together to do honor or to the grand old veteran of the Boer War", were Legionnaires from Front Bay, Colbourg, Brighton, Trenton and some points in the district.

Charlie, who admits to 84 years, has recently been discharged from the hospital and last night's special ceremonies were to be a saying "welcome home" to this staunch supporter of Trenton Branch No. 110 of the Royal Canadian Legion.

Charlie took up his usual post at the door to the upstairs auditorium to receive tickets, unaware that anything unusual had been planned for the evening. Of course, he was more than glad to see Boer War veterans Fred Pound and George Gaunt down from Brighton, but he didn't give the matter too much thought. Charlie was busy collecting tickets for the regular Friday night dart sing. He was ably assisted by Comrade Bill Luscombe, a World War I buddy.

When Kenneth Craddock, president of the Trenton branch, grabbed his arm and escorted him to the front of the auditorium, to the stirring strains of a Scottish march, played by members of the Port Hope Pipe Band, Charlie began to "catch on".

President Ken read a telegram of congratulations from Frank "Dude" Hills, Port Hope, regional veterans president. Messages from Ben Thompson, M.P. for Northumberland and others were received. Charlie was also the recipient of a bouquet from the branch which will be used to defray hospital costs.

Charlie fought in the 1st Battalion of the Suffolk Regiment in the Boer War in South Africa from 1900 to 1902. He is justly proud of the fact that members of his regiment, during the days of the War of the Roses, are entitled to wear red roses in the presence of Royalty, and on special dates.

IN 38TH BATTALION

During the War of the Roses, the reigning monarch presented each man in the Suffolk Regiment with a red rose and from that date the members of this famous regiment wear the red rose, proudly on such occasions as the monarch's birthday and so on. When Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip drove through Trenton on the Royal Tour, Charlie was in the Legion Guard of Honor, with a red rose in his buttonhole.

In the First World War, Charlie fought overseas with Bill Luscombe and Harry Woodcock out of Trenton in the 39th Battalion.

Charlie is known as "the champion ticket seller" in the local Legion branch. Give Charlie a pile of tickets for any charitable affair, and he'll sell them or bust in the attempt.

Charlie also lays claim to being the fanciest step-dancer at the Trenton branch and so far his claim has gone unchanged. He is a life member of the Trenton branch.

Fred Pound, 90, from Brighton, fought in the 36th Company, Imperial Yeomanry, in the Boer War. He was a lance-corporal.

George Gaunt, 77, a member of the Brighton Legion branch, fought with the Royal Horse Artillery in the Boer War and with the Durham Light Infantry in the First World War.

Members of the Port Hope Pipe Band participating in the special ceremonies were: Lt. L. Cannon, J. B. McFarlane, C. E. McAuris and C. G. Dow. They wear the Red Dress Fraser Plaid with pride. In 1959 the band won first prize at the International Goodwill Day ceremonies at Niagara Falls in 1960, second prize at the Prince of Wales Own Regimental contest also at Kingston.

Jerry Simpson, zone chairmanship of Brighton was in charge at last night's ceremony.

The explosion injured a policeman and five pedestrians.

Amid growing Sikh agitation, police have recently tightened security around Nehru. Detectives have revealed his rooms immediately above and below his office in New Delhi and the number of plainclothes guards at functions attended by the prime minister has been increased.

Several plots and apparent attempts to kill or injure Nehru have been uncovered since he took office in 1947.

Last January, four men were jailed at Ambala, in the Punjab, for plotting to kill Nehru and other Indian leaders.

Negro Woman Carries Gun To Police Station

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Mary Jameson, who co fined against a 26 - year - old Negro, was charged Friday night with wounding with intent to cause bodily harm after a woman carrying a loaded and cocked 16-gauge shotgun surrendered at a police station here.

Police said at about the same time the woman walked into the station, they received a call that a man had received a similar gunshot wound in the head.

Arthur Fairbrich, 25, of London, was hit by a single bullet. He is in satisfactory condition in hospital.

Police said a hole had been blown through a wall at Korbisch's apartment.

Home Changed His Speech

We all know that what a man leaves unsaid can be as significant as what he says.

But judgements based on things unsaid can be wholly misleading. Failure to say them may mean no more than that the speaker took agreement on these points for granted.

When, however, a man intends to use certain words, and then does not, we are on much firmer ground if we regard the thing unsaid as significant.

Wednesday afternoon Lord Home, British Foreign Secretary, addressed the United Nations General Assembly. The text of his speech contained a reference to an "honorable deal" as the goal of East-West talks. The sentence read as follows: "Negotiators must not seek victory over each other but an honorable deal." In some newspapers, including The Ontario Intelligencer, he was so reported. But a later despatch carried the information that Home had made several changes in the prepared text of his speech, deleting this reference to an "honorable deal," as well as a charge that the Soviet Union was "playing with nuclear fire" in trying to set man against his neighbor.

There is a simple explanation for the elimination of the charge against the Soviet Union. Lord Home presumably decided that it was a harsh phrase which could do no good and might do harm.

There is no equivalent simple explanation for the elimination of the reference to an honorable deal. The sentence, as quoted above, is admirable for its brevity and for its clarity in defining the proper spirit of negotiating the solution of any dispute. Moreover, it seems to us that stating this principle would have served a useful purpose. Too often negotiations are not undertaken in this spirit.

Why, then, did Lord Home delete this phrase from his speech?

To be able to answer that with certainty, we should have to be privy to his thoughts. It is unlikely that we shall ever know for sure what prompted the change. But it is relatively simple to suggest some possible reasons.

Take, for instance, on the same day that Lord Home spoke, Reuters carried a despatch regarding bitter criticism of President Kennedy's address to the UN by a West German newspaper, Bild Zeitung. Kennedy had referred to the "historic and legitimate rights of others." "Does Kennedy mean the right to split up Germany which the Russians have been claiming since 1954?" demanded Bild Zeitung. "We view this in a different way. Our rights and obligations are fixed in the treaties which our allies concluded with us in 1952, 1954 and afterwards. These rights and obligations include the rights of Western politics. We are bound by these treaties—and our allies are bound by these treaties."

The reference to treaties was particularly awkward, for Lord Home. He listed in his speech "those treaties in respect of the treaties already freely signed" as one of three ways to peaceful co-existence. Moreover, he made this reference immediately prior to the sentence in which he originally intended to refer to an "honorable deal." His reference to treaties was in the same spirit, though not the same words, as that of Bild Zeitung when it declared "One cannot wipe a treaty off the table, because it has suddenly become bothersome." How, then, could any "honorable deal" include recognition of the existing two Germanys? Yet it is practically certain that this is what President Kennedy had in mind when he referred to the "historic and legitimate rights of others."

In this connection it is worth noting that President Kennedy declared in his speech to the UN on Monday that no peace treaty between the Soviet Union and East Germany "can affect either our rights or our responsibilities." By the same token, no treaties signed in 1952 and 1954 between West Germany and the Western allies can affect either the rights or responsibilities of Russia or her satellites. They are no more bound by the West's pledges to seek reunification of Germany than the West would be bound by an Soviet treaty giving East Germany control of West Berlin.

There is growing evidence that the West, under Washington's leadership, is considering a deal involving the recognition of the existence of two Germanys. This is not an unreasonable deal—we think a strong case can be made for the contention that it is an honorable one. But, perhaps, the word stuck in Lord Home's throat after the German newspaper's reminder of treaties pledging the West to seek reunification of Germany. Or, in the alternative, perhaps he feared that the Russians might interpret the use of the word "honorable" as ruling out any deal involving the renunciation of any effort to reunite the two Germanys.

Assails Irrigation Dams

By Harold Heaton in TORONTO Feature Service

By refusing large areas to the knowledge of irrigation, man is making a number of serious mistakes in his efforts, often subconsciously, to add to the world's total of arid lands of no productive use.

This warning is brought out in "A Big Step Forward in Arid Regions" by the seventeenth title to be published by the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, in the series of books it is sponsored to promote research. Here, in some 200 pages, is presented the whole story of the factors which have determined land use in desert or near-desert areas for the past 10,000 years.

Today, nearly all other "arid" areas are overwhelmed by man himself. This is the gist of a series of conclusions drawn by the editor of this history of arid lands, a leading geographer, L. Dudley Stamp, honorary emeritus of social geography at the London School of Economics.

• • •

For example, the most common method employed the world over to "make the desert bloom" is a gigantic masonry dam, backing up waters into an artificial lake which then supplies irrigation canals. But, as the land itself, and its geological and historical survey, Prof. Stamp writes: "Evidence is growing that such a system may be fundamentally wrong."

Such evidence, he points out, is additionally, as in the Nile Valley, arid lands were irrigated by rivers in the mountains flowing silt from their mountain sources and thus providing it as a priceless layer of soil. Under modern methods, only clear water from a dam or reservoir is used. The silt is replaced by farmlands by artificial fertilizer and is now only a nuisance. It collects behind the dam and clogs the reservoir. Prof. Stamp cites already has examples of reservoirs which "will be filled completely in a few years," Prof. Stamp states.

Secondly, the present-day systems of reservoirs and canals lead to a high rate of evaporation in sunny arid lands. Evaporation from a free surface of water, he points, may be as much as 50 inches a year, a high percentage of available water in some cases. While water-evaporates, its dissolved salts do not, and the result is a factual increase in soil salinity, one of the major threats to arid land development.

• • •

On the basis of data supplied in this Unesco history of land use, Prof. Stamp suggests that other practices might be adopted. He would be underground storage of water, rather than in open water by pipes, an up-to-date method now in use in Israel and lands ranging from Australia to North Africa to Shaanxi in China.

Another is now used in northern Africa, where the Atlas Mountains river waters laden with silt are allowed to spread in a valley below a low dam. Above the dam, they deposit rich silt in which crops will sown; below it, they release clear water for irrigation.

Prof. Stamp also shoots some holes in widespread theories concerning erosion. While erosion must be controlled," he states, "it would seem that the problem is not one that should be given to the control of the engineer." Rather, he says, it would be no fertile Nile Valley in Egypt were there not erosion in the mountains of Ethiopa." Nor is man necessarily dependent upon the age-long processes of Nature to replace soil which has been destroyed by erosion. In Australia and in the USSR, experiments described in this book "have already shown that soil can be regenerated in a matter of months." He also, Prof. Stamp points out, we can merely dispense with it by

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS,
CHURCH UNION

Should we have church union? Yes, if that unity is spiritual unity. No, if that unity is merely organizational in character. We often have quoted that statement of John from the 17th chapter of the Gospel of John: "That they all may be one; as thou Father art one in me and I in thee, that they also may be one in us—that they may be one even as we are one."

How are Christ and the Father one? They are one in spirit. The church's method of it is to be effective, and after the pattern which Christ has given—it must be a spiritual church union it cannot be expected that everyone will be of the same ideas. Neither will all fusty the same form of church government. What Jesus longed for was the union of his followers into one church in which there would be a complete unity of spirit. The members of the different branches of that society would be united spiritually.

In this day when so much is being said about the necessity of church union, let us do a little heads thinking about the matter of what Christ thought and taught about church union.

Merely getting us together under one ecclesiastical organization will do no good unless the individual members of that union are united spiritually. We cannot be one with other Christian believers as Christ said he and the Father were one — that is, spiritually.

"True church union must be spiritual in character."

Independence ?

The law was made in a 50 mouth for democracy and independence is one of the new, by independent states."

20 YEARS AGO

September 20th, 1941.

Soaring in from the southwest at a velocity of between fifty and sixty miles per hour, the first of the equinoctial storms in Belleville's history visited this district early yesterday afternoon. The gale smashed at Hydro-electric system lines, at telephone service as branches, limbs and in blasted canes, trees were blown across the service lines. Approximately one-half of the standing apple crop was destroyed by the gale, Department of Agriculture fruit inspectors here said today. Orchard grounds of the district were literally covered with fruit in some cases to a depth of six inches. One Ameliasburg orchardist lost five hundred bushels of choice McIntoshs, picking of which had been scheduled to start today.

Cow Mattress Is Advocated

Ottawa Journal

The Quebeyonais has been crusading for electric pest warmers for hens in cold weather but now comes the suggestion of his pearly has not dimmed his enthusiasm.

It is cheaper, however, to have a reserve crusade, and he feels that the thing is a rubber mattresses for cows in a practical and humanitarian project. At a Farmers' Week conference at Michigan State University, an Ohio firm displayed such a mattress under the name of "Dairy Queen-Cow Mattress."

It is claimed that the foam rubber mattress is a time saver for a farmer, and that it eliminates the daily straw or sawdust for bedding. Before taking an additional cow in a cowshed, a man would want to know the economies involved; the cost of the mattress, the time presumably climbed along with the cost for himself.

We feel there is definite merit in the idea and that the Ohio firm may like straw or rich vein. Naturalists tell us that man cousin undertrained the instinctive reactions of his fellow animals; but we are certain that if we, as one of the world prefer a foam rubber mattress to cement or planks covered with the usual bedding materials.

Venereal Disease Shc An Alarming Increase

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

The U. S. Public Health Service is very much alarmed because, although we have the drugs and the knowledge for treatment, syphilis and gonorrhea are disappointingly increasing. In short, we aren't preventing these diseases as much as we could, and obviously aren't treating new cases as fast as we should.

The best figures indicate that 2,000,000 people in the U.S. have syphilis; that 1,000,000 a new cases of gonorrhea occur each year.

Most cases are between the ages of 15 and 30, and 30 per cent are teen-agers and young adults under 20. there is a new case of venereal disease among teen-agers every 15 minutes.

Immediate treatment of every case — if we could accomplish it — would help a lot. But this isn't enough. Education concerning the sources of these infections, and their terrible consequences of the diseases, is frighteningly necessary.

It is a massively difficult task to trace down all the "contacts" related to a discovered case. And sometimes it is down, and it shows that one person, given the disease to another, and more usually to a number of others, starts an endless spread of infection.

Yet sobe victims are so stupid that they are afraid to see a doctor. Or they argue idiotically that "somebody gave it to me;" "I'll give it to somebody else." How miserable!

For the symptoms: Syphilis shows itself first as a stubborn but usually painless "sore" on the sex organs. Called "a chancre." The painlessness may well be one reason why girls don't detect it sooner. Or maybe they do — but won't admit it.

The germ itself can be found in these sores before the disease. If not treated, the sores tend to heal — but then the germ spreads to the blood stream.

The next manifestation is usually fever and skin rash — of about any variety, about 30 days after the original infection. By that time the germ has spread to most parts of the body — the brain, kidneys, spinal cord, heart, etc., will show its presence.

From there on the disease may "progress" for a half dozen years will show it; It is a disease that never "cures itself," and if not treated, whether soon or late will cause all sorts of damage. It has been called "the great mimic" because it can seem to be so many other things. In the end, however, there's brain damage and heart damage, and loss of mobility. Can a mother give the disease to a new baby? Yes — but treatment before the fifth month of pregnancy can save the baby from it.

Next to gonorrhea, many prefer than syphilis, a genital discharge, within a week of exposure, is the warning sign. Identifying the germ in the discharge is the proof. Like syphilis, it is a nasty spot: Ion in its causes, in time, a form of arthritis. Sometimes long after that it causes prostate disease in men, pelvic disease in women. In both it can cause the kind of blindness (especially blinding babies at birth). So a discharge a few days or a week after contact, should send boy or girl, at once to a doctor.

Ignorance? Adequate doses of antibiotics, chiefly penicillin, but others are effective, can be counted on to be continued long enough to be sure. That's not much difficulty. A doctor's part is to convince victims to stop tidding themselves, and of the fact that they need help—immediately. An awareness of the problem is important.

"Dear Dr. Molner: My son is eight months old and weighs 20 pounds. He is short in every way, but I am worried because he can't sit up by himself. Is it something to worry about?"

— Mrs. M. S. F.—

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

The old salutation used to be: "What's new and exciting?" I heard a new, up-to-date variation of it today.

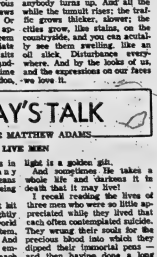
"Well, what's new and disturbing?"

We are in the midst of the age of disturbance. And, though I believe that the world's most terrible prejudiced, it seems to me we live in. Nobody seems to be excited about the monstrous possibilities with which the new science is presenting us. Even I should say, those few who appear to be excited can't seem to get their minds immediately to neighbors. Old Lord Russell sits in London and writes letters full of others in that sublime sweet pandemonium of London, millions of 'em; and all the rest go home for tea and crumpets. The people who sold hula hoops after rushing in with fallout shelters. But from what I can make out, they're still there.

Deep thinkers are holding conferences to face the ruinous problems of the future, with almicious movies, teen-age gangs, the rotting traffic and hardly anybody turns up. And all the while the tumult rises; the traffic grows denser, thoever the cities grow, like stains, on the countryside, and we are actually no better than swelling, like an oil slick. Disturbance everywhere. And we're full of us. and the expressions on our faces — we love it.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS.



LIVE MEN

The worth of the body is in its action. A mere so many pounds of flesh and bones means nothing. It is the power to use being and you get this.

Each body is like a neat bit of human machinery for use. Rightly applied you show to the world the value of your brain, heart, lungs, brain, hands, legs, heart. And the more intelligence you employ in the using of your body tool you possess, the finer does your work will be.

What a simple, trivial thing a mere body is anyway. But let it be a Cromwell body, a Lincoln body, a Churchill, or that of an Edison, and behold the achievements of ordinary possessions made unique, reshaped and given new standards.

Often many of the lights of life have to be snuffed by the watching God so that folks may awake to the fact that light is a golden gift.

And sometimes He takes a whole life and darkness it to make it shine forever.

I recall reading the lives of three men who were born blind but appreciated while they lived that each often contemplated suicide. Each turned their voices to the precious blood into which they dipped their pens and pencils and then having done a long day's work, closed their eyes and slept like babes. I am sure they never awake in the morning to find themselves either famous or apprehended.

How alive they are today, though they left their voices forever in the very atmosphere of our days and make each new task exciting to us. They attempted to better heart and with more courage.

There is nothing so immortal as a great thought — executed.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

JAYS OF CANADA
By WINIFRED WILSON

How many kinds of Jays do you know? If more than two you must have crossed the Rockies, because of the three to be found in Canada only one occurs on both sides of that mountain range. We who live on the east side are familiar with the eastern type, the Blue Jay, but few of us have come in contact with the Canada Jay which lives almost exclusively in coniferous forests from the northern limit of trees right across the continent. It is not a migrant. However, certain years large flocks of Canada jays wander down in autumn as far as Pennsylvania and Nebraska. When this happens, bird watchers are all on the alert, as so many stories have been told by loggers about these "camp robbers" that everyone wants to see the birds that make off with baked beans, butter or, indeed, any food left available by the men.

QUITE DIFFERENT

Canada jays, though similar in size to our beautiful blue jays, are otherwise quite different in appearance. With their small, dark bills, mostly, grey plumage, black caps, and white about the face, they remind us of the little chickadees. They have no crest, no interesting plaid pattern, and no vivid color like the blue jays. But their repertoire, though quite different, is just as amusing. Blue jays shout "jay, jay," squeak like door hinges that need oiling, ""toot-toot" like a trumpet, scream like red-shouldered hawks, call like flickers, twitter and coo softly. The voice inflections of Canada jays make them sound as if they were actually talking to one another. Some notes, as "whee-ah" are soft and almost purring, but the tone in which they hail one another is a loud "ka-whee" or "ka-we-ah."

A TIRED SPECIES

The third species, stellar's jay, is found only on the west coast. This bird is an inch or more longer than the others and dressed in two solid colors with a very marked separation line. Head, high crest, back, and chest are perfectly black, while the underparts, wings, and, tail are bright blue. We think of the blue jay as being very noisy, but the voice of stellar's jay is exceptionally loud. Its "shook-shook-shook" or "wheck-wheck-wheck" carries a long way. If you look it up in a book on western birds you will read that, like the Canada jay, it is found in coniferous forests. But given a few cone bearing trees, it will come and shout right beside a dwelling.

QUINTE 4-H CLUB

The first meeting of Quinte 4-H Club was held last Wednesday at the home of the leader, Mrs. Manley Mitchell.

The business consisted of the election of officers as follows: Marlene Mitchell, president; Jone Dafoe, treasurer; and Donna Lazarkiw, press reporter.

The topics discussed during the session were 'points to consider in choosing bedroom accessories, with emphasis on color.

Departing Members Honored by Picton Assembly

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith were invited to the Ferrontal parsonage, Picton, last Friday evening where they were guests of the Picton assembly.

Mr. E. York read the address and Mr. Teddy Algar presented them with a "Sunburst" electric clock and framed wall mirror.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith both expressed their regrets at leaving and their thanks for the lovely gifts, inviting all to visit them in their new home.

A delicious lunch was served by the young people.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith, formerly of R.R. 2, Picton, have sold their farm and at present are staying at the Bay of Quinte motor court. They will be moving into their new apartment with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Elmy, in the near future.

Pr. Wales New Mothers' Tea Successful

Fall roses and pink tapers graced the tea table at Prince of Wales School, Thursday afternoon for the Annual "New Mothers' Tea", presented by the executives of the Home and Sch ol Association.

The ladies were welcomed by the president, Mrs. E. Bushell, and members of the teaching staff were introduced by the principal, Mrs. O. Slack.

The guest speakers were Mrs. R. Roulet, school librarian, and Miss N. Hoare, kindergarten teacher, who spoke to the guests briefly using their own interests as topics.

Presiding at the tea table were: Mrs. Slack, Mrs. Hodgins and Mrs. Cooper.

Servers were: Mrs. E. Ferguson, Mrs. C. S. Stanton, Mrs. George Bongard and Mrs. J. Fox.

The tea was convened by Mrs. Robert Melbourne and Mrs. G. S. Stanton.

Cannifton W.A. Holds Dinner Meet

The regular dinner meeting of Cannifton United Church W.A. was held in the Sunday School rooms in charge of Mrs. Roy Pound and Mrs. Day, with many assisting.

The long tables with their white clothes centred with vases of autumn flowers looked attractive with silverware and jellies. A delicious roast was served to a large number to usher in the fall and winter activities.

At 1.30 the president, Mrs. A. Boyd called the business meeting to order. Cards of thanks received from shut-ins and bereaved members were read. Twelve members were still ill, the card secretary, Mrs. F. Pulman, was asked to send cards to them. It was reported that the Rev. W. Merrick is very ill in the hospital and Mrs. Merrick is in a nursing home.

The president asked the members to remember these dear friends. As Mr. Merrick was a beloved pastor of the church for a number of years. Mrs. W. J. Cole thanked the members for gifts and kindnesses shown her while she was ill. Mrs. Roy Pound asked for a donation of money to give the planning committee as the W.A. is catering at the plowing match this was granted.

Mrs. T. Howard and Mrs. Day were appointed to furnish the front doors of the church; the W.A. paying the cost.

The president answered the meeting at Gilead last night to finish laying plans for the ploughing match when all the circuit ladies will meet.

Mrs. Cora Sleeth spoke of the need of new serve troughs on the church. The president appointed a committee to meet with the church board, as the W.A. would pay the cost.

Mrs. D. Brenton and Mrs. Roy Pound were appointed to bring in a slate of officers for the new Women's organization. The president announced the regular dinner will be dispensed with for October and a pot-luck dinner and quilting meeting will be held. This was discussed also and plans for the annual bazaar to be held in November.

Mrs. Roy Pound asked the members to bring material for aprons as soon as possible.

The minister's wife, Mrs. Dawson, closed with prayer and singing was the order of the day in charge of Mrs. W. J. Cole and Mrs. H. Empson. Lunch was served. There were 16 members, and one visitor present.

Popular Alpine Spas Satisfy The Germans' Love of Bathing

By SHIRLEY and BOB SLOANE

Bad Reichenhall, Germany — Two items in the news, unrelated and from different sides of the Iron Curtain, probably bespeak more of the German personality than all the ponderous political developments.

One is that East Berlin police use a water cannon as a weapon. The other is that a new German ocean liner under construction, will feature not a gambling casino or teenage night club as some of its competitors will, but steam and massage rooms. Just good, clean fun.

What a stiff upper lip is to the Englishman, a glass of wine to the Frenchman and a bed to the Swede, water — especially a bath — is to the German. Its powers, as witness the casinos, are considered almost mystical.

When a German doesn't feel well, he takes a bath. When he feels good, he takes a bath. When he wants a carefree vacation, or when he's sick, or he's afraid he may get sick, he goes to where he can take the waters.

The first place the visitor to Germany sees this reverence reflected is in his hotel bathroom, a place which is likely to make you ashamed of the way you enter — if you wear your hat in the bath.

WORKS OF ART

Even in the most modest inns, they are works of art, symphonies in brass and tile. The polish on the plumbing is worthy of a battleship. Sinks are of solid marble. Chrome is used with an abandon reserved for American automobiles. Tubs are so deep and long you think it will take two men and a boy to haul you out. Towels, like bed sheets and thick red carpets, are kept warm on a hot-water-heated towel rack. Even the smallest pension hotels, the plumbing works admirably, eternal hot water gushing forth mightily at the twist of a wrist.

All this, of course, is for informal bathing only. The serious business takes place at spas, or health resorts, such as Bad Reichenhall, set deep in the lovely heart of the Bavarian Alps.

There are more than 80 spa towns in West Germany alone, all those places you've heard of beginning with "Bad", which means bath, plus a lesser known slate-owned. They were built around mineral springs and often, as in the case of Bad Reichenhall the site was chosen for its salubrious climate.

If the well-owned mountain air and the glorious mountain scenery alone don't send you home a new man, there is always the cure. Actually there is no such thing as one cure, for no two patients breathe, drink or bathe in the mineral waters alike. According to an ecstatic booklet published by the Kur-und Verkehrsverein, of Bad Reichenhall, "the cure is like a delicately tuned instrument that can be played only by those who understand it."

For those who understand it, what The Cure is supposed to cure ranges modestly over nearly all the afflictions of man and woman, including respiratory ailments, heart disturbances, female trouble, rheumatism and allergy, among others. Treatments, some of them embracing the use of frightening looking apparatus, include drinking and irrigations, inhalations, pneumatic chambers and, of course, baths — brine, bubble, oxygen, carbon dioxide, pine, pressure and mud.

Bad Reichenhall has been sprouting mineral springs for 150 years now so quite an establishment has grown up in the valley among these hills. There are six state-owned remedial and bathing establishments, plus a spate of nursing homes, boarding houses and hotels, ranging from the plushest to the most modest.

LOVELY TO VISIT

For those who don't feel any worse than usual, a visit to Bad Reichenhall offers one of the most lovely spots in Europe, just to visit. It nestles deep in the green meadows of the Saalach River valley, surrounded by snow-capped peaks, pine forests and glass-still lakes. For those who feel up to it, there are winter sports and mountain climbing.

In the spa tradition, the hotels are old-worldly and elegant, with broad verandahs, high-ceilinged rooms and stately Victorian airs. Some, like the Axelmannstein, have their own pools and sprawling grounds, and there are always mountain pastures, forests and hikes country to restore the most jaded nerves and souls.

There are also conventional social activities including concerts, fashion shows, beauty contests and a kind of rambling summer social evening as an "open-air" inhalatorium."

You eyes get the sure when you're just trying to sit and enjoy the fresh air.

The only activity out of keeping with all this glowing health is the gambling casino, which like all gambling casinos is dark and stuffy, and keeps you up all hours of the night.

It probably drums up more trade among the frayed-nerve set than all the cure houses cure. That is known as one hand bathing the other.

Women's Institutes

PINE GROVE W. I.

The September meeting of Pine Grove Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Alda Turner with 16 members present.

Mrs. Charles Ross, president opened the meeting by reading a poem, "September".

The members of Pine Grove branch were willing to join with two other branches in the "Foster Parent" plan.

Mrs. C. Ross and Mrs. C. Mayell volunteered to attend the "Meal Leaders Training school" and the course will be "743 Pounds of Meat".

The standing committees reported and the historical convener read a letter from the Historic Society, which told special rates could be offered to groups visiting the museum.

The C.A.C. bulletins were distributed. Mrs. Bastindale gave the current events. Several members volunteered to call on the blind and the material was handed out.

Mrs. Allyn Flakle, convener for historical research opened her program by reading a poem, "The Rocker," following which Mrs. Flakle sang the song "Home Sweet Home". Mrs. Flakle read "Times Have Changed" and "Take a Hint From Grandma". Mrs. Farley Hubbard read "Scenes and Pages of the Past".

The historic topic chosen was "The History of Belleville". Mrs. Flakle said Champlain was the first white man to land in the district during the year 1615, Assukkonet (meaning where roads end) was the name of the bay where the Moira and Trent Rivers empty. For 50 years the religion was known as Kanty Mission and services were held at Meyers Creek, which in 1816 was named Belleville. During the years 1797 and 1798 there was a terrible famine. In 1831 the first newspaper was printed in Belleville. The city was inaugurated during the year 1878. In the year 1907 the first school was held in Kingston.

Mrs. Flakle quizzed her program with two contests, on the places of business in Belleville and the streets named.

Mrs. Tanner and her assistants, Mrs. Dayle Little served refreshments and all enjoyed a social hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Clare, Mr. and Mrs. David Hollinger and Mrs. Leslie Flakle attended the session of Grand Chapter of O.E.S. on Thursday in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Rousebom, Ann and Allan of Queensboro were guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Breese.

The executive of the Belleville East Section of the W.I. met at the home of Mrs. Leslie Flakle on Monday to plan rally which is to be held Thursday, October 26 at Shannonville.

Mr., Mrs. Donald Gunn Mark Fifty Years of Married Life

Last Wednesday wedding bells rang again for Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gunn, of Belleville, R.R. No. 2, but this time they were 'golden' in commemoration of their 50th wedding anniversary which was held at the home of their niece, Mrs. John Forter, of Oshawa.

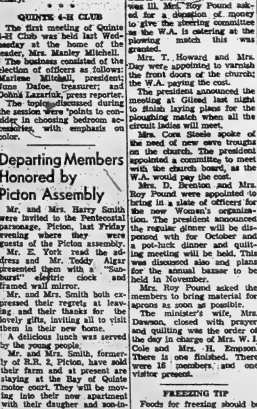
Mr. and Mrs. Gunn, nee Julia Fitzpatrick, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Fitzpatrick, of Belleville, and Mr. Gunn, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gunn, also of Belleville, were married in St. Thomas' Anglican Church, Belleville, by the Reverend G. M. Beamish, rector of the church. Their attendants were Miss Catherine McCauley, and Mr. William Fitzpatrick, brother of the bride, who married the bridesmaid. Mr. Fitzpatrick is now deceased.

Mrs. Gunn says that their wedding day was ideal with lovely September weather much the same as they spent their honeymoon at Niagara Falls, Ontario, later returning to the homestead, where they have farmed for nearly 50 years.

They were the parents of one child, Helen, who died in her young girlhood.

Both are enjoying good health, and are still busily engaged in the farmwork.

They were the happy recipients of many fine gifts, anniversary telegrams, and flowers. They are regular attendants of Wesley Church, Bayside.



Community citizens join with their many friends to extending best wishes for their good health in the years that lie ahead.

White Cane Club Reports On Activities

The White Cane Club met at the "Y" on Thursday evening, September 28th with the president, Miss Pat Batchelor, in the chair. There were 20 members and escorts present.

The president extended a friendly welcome to the Belleville members and to those who arrived from Trenton. "Happy Birthday" was sung for Clarence Morris who was the only member having a birthday in September.

Mr. Arlie Scott gave a report on the progress of those who went to the C-N-I-B-O-Dene on Saturday afternoon. Eight blind members and friends have turned out on each of the two Saturdays since the bowling began. They are to be congratulated on their scores. They will also welcome any other persons, registered as blind, who wish to join them in this fine type of recreation. A special guide-rail for totally blind is on order and expected in the near future.

Mr. Arlie Scott was appointed entertainment director, convener for the program section of the monthly business meeting.

Mrs. Rollins read a clipping from Toronto news regarding a delegation of the blind going to Ottawa, Mr. Bill Millet presided a letter to the government, reading in braille, asking for a "Cost of Blindness Allowance" of $25. monthly. Mrs. Rollins also read some other items.

A hilarious hat game was played by the men, followed by the presentation of a tape recording of a speech by Carl Halstead entitled "Funny Thing".

Mrs. O'Shea thanked the Kiwanies for the splendid lunch they served.

Before adjournment the president announced that the October recreational meeting will be held the first Monday, October 2nd due to the Thanksgiving holiday.

TEACHING TABLE MANNERS TO CHILDREN REQUIRES PATIENCE

One of the most charming sights is a child or group of children dining in a restaurant completely at ease with themselves and their environment.

And an equally thrilling one is the monkeyishness that go on at her own dinner table. It is hoped to wonder how this miracle ever came to pass.

Well, it's a safe bet that the children didn't develop such lovely table manners overnight. It's a long, slow process teaching youngsters how to sit and use their spoons and forks correctly. And it's an even longer one getting them to tone down their clumsiness and exuberance at table.

The family dining table is the natural training ground, and, even though the children may be fed first, it's wise for mother to sit with them and supervise the proceedings. This doesn't mean she has to act like a top sergeant, but she should be around to offer instruction when needed and plenty of approval when youngsters carry off the meal in fine fashion.

Table manners also seem to perk up considerably when children are allowed to invite their friends to stay for lunch or dinner occasionally. Visitors usually are a little more subdued and it does have a calming effect on the members of the home team, who usually love to act the part of gracious hosts and hostesses.

When a child gets older, say around six, he may be allowed to sit in on early company dinners in broadside. Or, soon, he may even be taken to a friend's house for a meal, providing the circumstances are right and there will be other juniors present.

Even children of four and five are thrilled to go out occasionally, and we know one young mother who makes a practice of taking her three young preschoolers to a local hamburger place for lunch at least once a week, so they'll get used to eating in public. She reports it's had a stimulating effect on both their appetites and table manners.

So you see, it takes a long time to produce a table full of mannerly youngsters conducting themselves with grace in a restaurant. They were probably a good four or five years in the molding.

Question — A cousin, whom I haven't seen in years, was married a short time ago, and I've just received an announcement. Since she is a relative, must I send a gift even though I was not invited to the wedding? — M. B., Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Answer — Only those invited to the wedding reception are obliged to send a wedding gift. So even though the bride is a relative, it's not necessary to send a present in response to the announcement.

ask Henry

The writer of this weekly advice column is an 11-year-old boy. The advice he gives is strictly his own. It has not been changed by his parents or the editor. He welcomes letters from parents. If you want him to discuss your problem write to ASK HENRY, in care of this newspaper.

Dear Henry:—My nephew, who is 8, is a very bright boy and does well at school.

However, he has no talent for sports such as horse baseball and football.

He would rather climb a tree, or look at the moon through his telescope, or go fishing with his grandfather. Do you think that it is important to him that he learns sports and joins other boys in play? Or should he go his own way? — CONCERNED UNCLE.

Dear Concerned Uncle—Get your nephew to join a boys' club or Cubs. Arrange ball games with your boys and play games with him if you know how. In later life a lot of things are done in groups and he can't be a group forever.—HENRY.

Dear Henry—As a young boy yourself what do you think of your own generation? We are always hearing that the young generation is going to the dogs. What do you think of your own generation as compared to your parents? Do you think that when you schoolmates grow up that you and they will be able to run the world any better than us oldsters are doing?—OLDSTER.

Dear Oldster—Oh, no. We are not going to the dogs. Parents say we are spoiled because we have too many toys, games and TV. In one game we learn real estate, in another we learn how to read in a hurry we challenge the clock market. From TV we learn more stuff in one hour than our parents learned at school in three hours. That's why we will grow up a little smarter. But adults are making us in our own image and we will be only a little bit different from them when we will grow up.—HENRY.

Dear Henry:—What do you think of a six-year-old boy who spends most of his time catching cats and tormenting them by hooking them with the lake.—DON'T HOPPY CATS.

Dear Don't Drown Cats—Buy him a cute little kitten and his soft side will take over.—HENRY.

Dear Henry—I am a boy your age who has a brother 4. He is very much spoiled by mother and I can't hold back my temper. What should I do?—TEMPERED BOY.

Dear Tempered Boy:—Your brother is jealous of the new baby. Teach him to like the dog. Let him help you to walk and feed the dog and make him feel that it belongs to him too.—HENRY.

Dear Henry:—You are always giving advice. I think some of it is good and some not so good. Do you ever get second letters from people you have advised? Any unsatisfied customers?—CURIOUSER AND CURIOUSER.

Dear Curiouser and Curiouser:
Curiosity flattens the three
Satisfaction pumps them again.
No, I have no grumpy buyers
They don't bother to complain.

QUESTION:

The prairie cooker which I bought 20 years ago, has been a great help all through the years. It makes a fine job of canning tomatoes and corn, of cooking potatoes and carrots for daily dinners, oatmeal cereal and especially round steak. Mine is getting pretty old and I'm afraid the element will burn out. Is there any way I can get another? — Mrs. L. McE.

ANSWER:

I suspect that you know you are doing a chef's trick when you boil down the beef juices after the meat is cooked. I hope our readers try this step for a delicious rich brown broth in a rare treat.

Celery: In one pound there are 98 calories, 4.7 grams protein; 10.6 grams fat; 3000 International Units Vitamin A and traces of Vitamins B and C.

It is during the open bottle step of making tomato juice that it loses some of its vitamins. Avoid exposure to air when possible in canning.

The second step, processing sealed jars, is strongly recommended, to insure sterilization.

Thank you for the Lemon Pudding.

B. Westlake Heads New 4-H Club

UNIONDALE — The first meeting of the 4-H Girls Club was held at the home of Mrs. Grills on September 23rd.

There are ten members in the club and the project for this year is, "Cotton Accessories for the Cloth Girls Bedroom". The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Edmon Ellis on Saturday, September 30 at 2 p.m.

The following officers were elected: president, Brenda Westlake, and secretary and press reporter, Noelee Ellis.

The requirements in the club members were discussed and it was decided that each member is to have a choice of making a bedspread, dresser, scarf, throw cushion, a chair pad or a waste paper basket.

The name chosen by the club was "The Unlondale Cotton Cuties".

Club Activities

EGGLETON M.B.

MADOC JUNCTION — The September meeting of the Eggleton Mission Band was held recently at the church with 38 children and three adults in attendance.

The president, Dianne Prest opened the meeting with the hymn "He Leadeth Me" with the teacher, Mrs. Reide at the piano.

All the pupils repeated in Unison, the Mission Band Purpose.

The Scripture lesson, St. Matthew, 7,24-29 was read by Mrs. Reide.

Judy Johnson gathered the mission band offering, dedicated with a lovely prayer read by Gerald Stapley.

Lois Danford gave an interesting reading and following this there was a business period.

Proposed convenors appointed for October were — Mary Jones, Gerald Stapley and Lois Danford.

Mrs. Reide offered to bring lunch.

The Mission Band leader, Mrs. Maurice Clancy brought her guitar and led in the singing of choruses, with all the school joining in.

The Mission Band papers "World Friendship" were distributed by Carol Danford, Mary Jones and Judy McMillan.

Mrs. Clancy had the pupils take part in the choral reading of the 23rd Psalm.

The boys were asked to memorize Psalm one and bring them to the November meeting.

Mrs. Clancy presented the chapter from the Study Book "Children Love". This described an imaginary plane trip to visit five places pointed out on the globe, where missionaries were at work teaching the reading of the Bible and handing out Testaments to those who could read.

COURT CLERK ARRESTED

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Doris F.—I want to call for her another before Mr. M. breaks down.

Miss K — Don't bust in. Maybe she'll whimper then you think.

* * *

Doris F. — Miss and I are neighbors and we're concerned about a young widow Mrs. M. down the block. She's trying to raise five children alone. She has some income from the top floor of their home, which Miss rents out. And she also takes in sewing which keeps her up in the wee hours of the night.

Three of the kids are still not in school. She works so hard with them and the others and the house and grounds that she certainly needs her night's sleep instead of using it to earn money. Miss and I have been wishing her go downhill this past year, losing weight (and ages) fast.

We know she has a well-to-do mother in another city. She's too proud to ask her for help. I'd like her mother to know that the kids are here for they get worse.

* * *

Miss K. — I've learned not to butt in. It's true our neighbor seems completely alone. No one visits her or seems to take any interest. The pleasant exception is Doris, myself and a few acquaintances she met through the children's school, the church and the supermarket.

Doris and I are closest to her, however. We bring food over or else mind the babies while she delivers her work to customers. I don't know how she keeps going or what she lives for "food."

I know I couldn't cover the ground she does without a car and she has a bank account.

But the fact remains she hasn't complained. Nor has she made things easier. She can call her mother herself. Why should Doris?

* * *

The Council — Like many of us outsiders, Doris fears she'll be guilty of a sin of omission while Miss dreads a sin of commission. In the face of the obvious difficulties confronting their neighbor, is not butting in worse than butting in? Doris thinks so. But Miss votes for hands off.

From the facts, we're inclined to agree with Miss. It's the friends of Mrs. M. are disturbed by what they see, but obviously there's a fine line separating which they don't see, namely Mrs. M.'s inner strength. Others we're confounded by the hidden resources which make what's down-and-outer rise from the depths, while others with the same handicaps are doomed.

Whether a person "goes under" or steps above depends upon the delicate balance of three forces: his problems, the help he gets from others and the power he carries within himself. Doris and Miss are "up" on the first two regarding Mrs. M., but it's the third that no one can guess at or predict. It's this which, along with physical health, carries Mrs. M.'s "strug" level." Some call it "spirit."

* * *

Perhaps the most valuable service these neighbors can offer Mrs. M. at this stage is persuading her to see a physician and get a physical health checked. Weight factor might be the "presenting symptom," the excuse. From the doctor's findings and advice, Mrs. M. herself may decide what "outside" aid to enlist and accept.

Otherwise, this wonder-working woman seems slate to jeopardize her hoar of pressurer against any supply of "fate." Good mental health has been defined as the "ability to meet and handle one's problems, without avoiding them or pushing them onto others." Check for Mrs. M.!

So, while needed help is Mrs. M.'s burden in small ways, these neighbors last or may help prepare her and wonder at the mysterious "things" which sustains Mrs. M. in her struggle.

Women's Institutes

MADOC W. I.

MADOC — Mrs. George Allen was hostess for the September meeting of the Madoc Women's Institute. The meeting was opened in the usual manner by the vice-president, Mrs. Warren Hill. There were 26 members and three visitors present.

The president, Mrs. George McCrimmon took over for the business part of the meeting. It was decided that Mrs. Bailey would go as leader to the training school for the meat course and Mrs. W. Forestell as assistant. A donation was given in the name of Children's hospital. It was also decided that the institute would adopt a child under the Foster Parent plan. Some ladies were realistic, but it is a sprons for the Institute entry for Madoc Fair. The institute will also have their booth in the fair this year and all members are reminded to bring their pie and sandwiches on October 7.

Mrs. S. R. Beatty had charge of the program on health. Mrs. Kinkaid gave a report on some money making ideas. Mrs. A. Bailey gave the motto which was "Horse is eager and a dainty hunch was served by the hostess and her assistants, Mrs. W. Forestell, Mrs. A. Bailey and Mrs. W. Hill.

One day I paid a visit to an old friend who is a collector of antiques and a restorer of historic American shrines. As I walked with him among the large collection of rare objects, I was aware that I was missing so much of what he was seeing through long association and knowledge of his materials; he was viewing out fine points of distinction in design and craftsmanship which I had not noticed. Values invisible to me were clear to him.

I have walked through gardens with members of garden clubs. They have seen subtle distinctions of species and nice ideas of cultivation which I missed entirely. I have visited art museums with artists. And while I paused to look at the pictures I liked, they stopped before the canvases which were worth studying. They noted the depths of perspective and shadow, the meaning which escaped my eye.

Such experiences serve to increase the how many values I am missing. And I realize, too, how many values I miss even when the visibility is low and I do not see things which at other times I can see. And such times my perspective is shortened by foggy thinking and I take low views of others' motives.

REJECTING VIEW

One morning I flew from Chicago to New York. The weather was lovely over Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania. The warm sun streamed into the cabin, I kept saying to myself in "Oklahoma" fashion, "Oh what a beautiful morning." Then the plane began to descend. We dropped into such a dense layer of cloud that the plane became dark as night and wrote his autobiography under the title "An Astronomer's Life." In it he said: "I believe that the more we look at matters from the cosmic point of view, the more will the great things of God become greater and the small things of life become smaller." A reviewer of the autobiography commented "Perhaps it was in this philosophy that Mr. Frost found the grace to endure so equably the affliction of blindness that came upon him."

None of us wants to miss anything. A man of 80 once said to me, "I never want the go to bed if there's anything else to do."

If we wake up to God when we wake up in the morning, we shall see more before we go to bed.

Meany and Hoffa May Go To Mat on Labor Issues

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP)—A battle between AFL-CIO chieftain George Meany and Teamsters boss James Hoffa may be in the making.

The 67-year-old Meany, up for reelection at the AFL-CIO convention in December, has called an executive council meeting in New York Oct. 10 to discuss the Hoffa issue.

Any action the 12,000,000-member labor body takes to reduce Hoffa's power may have some impact on the Teamsters' organization drive in Canada.

Ever since Hoffa and the 1,500,000-member Teamsters were booted out of the AFL-CIO four years ago on corruption charges, Meany has kept his hands off the Teamsters, maintaining that if he attempted to set up rival unions and crack Hoffa's leadership, truck drivers might suffer through Hoffa retaliation.

WARNS WILL FIGHT

The plot - sized Hoffa has warned he would fight any attempt to invade his membership. But despite the fear of Hoffa's power that prevades the Teamsters rank-and-file, a group of locals in Cincinnati rebelled.

The pattern of the Cincinnati rebellion is suggested by informants as the kind Meany would like to see expanded. Meany has long maintained that truck drivers who make pickups and deliveries only in their own communities may be able to rebel, but that "over-the-road" drivers who have good local discontent from their hometown would be subjected to threats and injuries from Hoffa headquarters.

The Cincinnati group that broke away from Hoffa is composed of local drivers. Over-the-road drivers remained loyal to the Teamster boss.

MAY WEAN AWAY

Meany's associates suggest local drivers in other Teamsters locals be weaned away and encouraged to remain independent or to join a rival union which may eventually be set up by the AFL-CIO headquarters.

If this kind of split is successful, Hoffa might be left with only 500,000 members out of his present 1,500,000. But it isn't likely Hoffa would allow that to happen without a scrap. This could bring on one of the biggest labor wars in American history. Congress has accused Hoffa of having underworld associates to back up personal power.

Meany first pushed into a showdown by major AFL-CIO elements which maintain that expulsion from the AFL-CIO has done Hoffa no harm. Instead, Hoffa seemed to be planning big new labor ventures, warning that unless he and his union were reinstated, he might eventually consider setting up a rival labor body to reduce the stature of the AFL-CIO.

Plowing Match Tented City Close to 50 Per Cent 'Built'

With only a few more days to go before the 1961 edition of the International Plowing Match gets officially underway next Wednesday, the 40-acre "Tented City" site is rapidly filling in with tents and exhibition buildings for housing of the hundreds of exhibits and demonstrations.

One of the first buildings to go up was the headquarters building of the Ontario Plowman's Association, which each year tends to be the focus part of the match operation.

Here, from the headquarters building, the official announcements of class winners and other information pertaining to the match will be given out.

Headquarters for the Hastings County Plowing Match Committee will also be in the same building as well as headquarters for press and radio.

Today (Saturday) close to 50 per cent of the tents for the famous "Tented City" have been erected, including one of the food caterers' tent where for the past few days dozens of men working on the installation have been getting their meals.

PLATFORM UP

Also erected at the south end of the area is the official platform, from which the plowing match will be officially opened early Wednesday afternoon by Hon. Alvin Hamilton, Federal Minister of Agriculture.

A crowd estimated at upwards of 125,000 is expected to attend the four-day event.

Services installations for the "Tented City" included the provision of hydro power for the hundreds of different booths, for the mechanical demonstrations and other exhibits sponsored by the big machinery companies and other dealers.

For the past two weeks hydro crews have been engaged in installing services with more than fifty big hydro poles and dozens of transformers installed. Water lines and other facilities have also been installed.

All the work is purely for the four-day plowing match event. After the final sod is turned on October 7th, dismantling crews will go to work tearing down the installations now being erected.

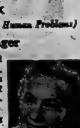
MURDER SPECIFIED

Murder was classified for the first time as capital murder with the gallows as the penalty, and non - capital murder which carries a mandatory life sentence.

Narcotics legislation was stiffened, with smuggling created an offence with a possible life sentence on conviction and provision made for treatment - in - custody of addicts. There also was a legislative crackdown on illegal "goofball" trafficking.

Provision was made for a national sports advisory council, backed by $3,000,000 a year in federal funds.



Major amendments were made to the law on sexual offenders, the Penitentiaries Act, the Civil Service Act and the Fisheries Act.

Successful Living

(A Canadian Social Worker Helps with Human Problems)

Bewildered Teenager

DEAR DORIS:—I am a 13-year-old girl and have a problem. To begin with, my mother, whom I love very dearly, has never told me anything about the facts of life. I have had to find it out all by myself.

Now it bothers me that I can't bring myself to talk to her about my own physical changes. Please tell me what I should do.—BEWILDERED.

DEAR BEWILDERED — Write again, sending your name and address, and I will give you the names of two very inexpensive books to read, which will help your own understanding of the facts.

Your mother probably avoids the subject because of the false modesty and secrecy with which her own mother treated it. This can be a private topic between mother and daughter—but should not be something which separates you.

Since you have been able to write to me about it, write to her, leaving your note, with one of the books I am suggesting, in a spot where she'll find it, and saying something like this:

"Dear Mother:—I bought this book so that I would learn the real facts about life. I am very shy about talking about it and I wish you would help me by bringing up the subject yourself sometime when we are alone.—Your Loving Daughter."

DORIS CLARK

* * *

DEAR DORIS:—My boy friend and I broke up five months ago, but he still comes around once in a while. I still love him and he knows it. He asks me why I don't try to get him back.

The funny part is he's never around to give me a chance to at least try to get him back. I know he still likes me a lot because when he sees me with another guy he gets mad. Should I go with other boys or should I work on him?—MIND TWISTED.

DEAR MIND TWISTED:—Now you've got my mind twisted too. If he's never around, how does he ask you anything? How does he see you with anybody?

The way to work on him is to let him see you with other boys. Other than that, when he fails to come around and be mad at you, don't be there.

How Fast Do Game Birds Fly?

For many years upland gunners have been debating that vital question: How fast does a game bird fly? To be sure, there are many variables to be considered. The speed, for example, of a ringneck pheasant or a bob-white quail, in full flight and going down wind, is not easy to determine. The bird may or may not be scared — that would make a difference. It may be flying straight away, in level flight. Again it may be flying slightly down-grade, there giving gravity a chance to help speed things up. There are a lot of "maybes".

But the critical speed, one which can be clocked accurately, is that of a flushed bird — one which takes off in front of the gun and wings its way toward safe cover. The speed of such a bird is critical to the gunner within a fair distance of 30 yards or so. Most flushing birds, as you very well know, are killed within the 30-yard range.

Out in Ohio there is a wildlife photographer named Albert Dixon Simmons. One day Al came up with a great idea. He mounted his motion picture camera on a gunstock, and, with the aid of a friend and a good bird dog, set out to find some game birds, in this case, grouse and woodcock.

During the course of the day they found quite a few birds. The dog would point. Al would take his position with his camera set in slow motion. Then as his friend would go in and flush the bird.

Al would follow the bird in his finder until it was out of normal range. Then, marking the point of flush, he would take measurements to convenient marks that would show in the film. This done, and with copious notes he returned home to develop the film and do some figuring.

Some interesting things developed in that film. Always I have felt that a flushing bird gets into high gear in an incredibly short time. The film proved that this is true. But strangely enough, this first burst of speed is not maintained. As the bird clears the source of danger and arrives at what it considers to be comparative safety, it slows down a bit into normal flying speed.

And here's another interesting item. The flushing speeds of woodcock and grouse are identical. Al couldn't believe this, but he checked the film carefully and it proved out. Maybe, because a grouse is larger and much noisier on his flush, we get the idea that he is faster than a woodcock. Take out word for it — the woodcock is just as fast.

How did Al figure out these speeds to the exact foot a second? Well, it was fairly easy. He knew, of course, exactly how many frames of film go through his camera per second when the camera is set for slow motion. Having measured the distances to prominent landmarks, all he had to do was to find the frame that marked one second of flight. This of course, would show the exact position of the bird, the number of feet from the point of flush. Then all he had to do was some simple arithmetic and there was the answer. Now we know.

THIRTY MPH

As has been estimated before he did this experiment, the flying speed of a flushing grouse or woodcock is almost exactly 30 miles per hour. This speed holds good for both the first second and the next two second, three seconds in all.

In actual footage, the bird moves during the first second of flight 47.3 feet. During the three seconds it goes three times as far or 142 yards.

Just how these speeds would apply to bob-white quail, Hungarian partridge, ringneck pheasant, etc., is problematical, but my bet is that they would check out just about the same, with the possibility of the ringneck being a trifle slower during the first second because of his tendency to lower on the take-off. However, being faster than grouse when in full flight, he probably would make up for lost time during the next two seconds, after which he would be out of ordinary shotgun range.

Of course, the matter of flying speeds of birds automatically raises the question of leads. How far ahead of a quartering bird must you point your gun in order to have bird and shot meet? Well, you now know that the bird is moving at 47.3 feet per second. The shot charge moves at approximately 900 feet per second. Arithmetic will tell you that the correct lead at 30 yards would be a little more than three and one half feet.

With all this exact information now there is little or no excuse for missing any birds this fall. Trouble is, there are too many "ifs" in the problem. If the bird continues to fly in a straight line; if your point your gun correctly; if the wind isn't blowing; if you don't stop your swing — these and many more make the sport of wing shooting what it is. After all, if you could kill unfailingly, every bird at which you shoot, upland gunning would lose much of its appeal. But I don't do that and I doubt that you do. Uncertainty makes the sport I like it the way it is.

Progress in the Tulip Field

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

From various parts of the world the botanist has brought tulips to Europe. For some years the Dutch growers have always been ahead in the growing of tulips and in hybridizing them.

While tulip growers are increasing in numbers in our own country we still depend upon the Holland growers for most of our tulip bulbs. Due to the Dutch hybridizers over the past thirty years these bulbs have been greatly improved in grow bigger flowers, and stronger, taller stems, greater substance has been bred into the plants and the color array, flower form and markings are astonishing. Add to this the fact that tulips will come up year after year for many years and many of the species will increase rapidly, tulips are truly a good investment in outdoor decorations.

LOVELIEST TULIPS

Among the new Darwin hybrids, produced by crossing Darwins with Fosterians, you will find some of the largest flower and loveliest tulips. There is Apeldoorn in orange scarlet with yellow border and black base, immense size and beautiful ones. Franklin D. Roosevelt, bright orange scarlet black base and yellow edge. Stately and imposing. Holland's Glory is a brilliant scarlet with a hint of orange, huge flowers, strong stems broad spreading foliage. Good rose red, fragrant creamy white and buttercup yellow. Very large distinctive flowers and unique coloring.

With the introduction of so many fine new cottage tulips they are becoming better understood and planted in bold groups for real garden effect. Some of the new Cottage tulips like Artist, this is a gay mixture, salmon and green inside, outside it purple and salmon. Greenland is lovelier in rose and green edge. Joan Cruickshank is a lovely deep rose with deep base and white. Maureen is an extra large white on long stem. Fantasina is a beautiful salmon pink.

CONTINUE TO IMPROVE

The lily flowered tulips too continue to improve with hybridizing. They are most graceful with their reflexed petals. These are especially good for cutting and arranging with white base. Large flowers and quite striking. The Clown (Court Jester) has very long pointed petals, most unusual, soft pure yellow. Tall strong stems and long lasting. White Triumphator is the best white lily flowered tulips, tall stems one of the best in any class.

This is a small sample of the modern. Buy them by the dozen or half dozen and make a small trial garden, or mix them by the hundred and plant in big bold half circles that emerge as outstanding groups each other as the Dutch gardeners do.

Tweed

TWEED — Mr. ad Mrs. Fred Rivers spent the weekend in Buffalo visiting Mr. Rivers' brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rivers.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bagley and family, of Belleville spent the weekend at their summer cottage at Sugar Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Whitfield and Lenny spent the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rashotte, of Marmilla.

Mr. Paddy Lett entertained a number of his friends on Friday evening on the occasion of his 13th birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Crawford and Gail have returned home after spending the summer months in western Canada.

Fifteen members of the Tweed Branch of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion No. 428 enjoyed their annual outing on Monday evening. They went by coach to Havelock where Mr. and Mrs. Guy Quinn served a lovely dinner at Havelock Hotel. The evening was spent playing cards and dancing.

Messrs Guy Hughes, Bob Hunter and Don Lounge are serving a social gathering for Kapuskasing for their annual goose hunt.

Mr. Ronald Cassidy who is on the staff of the Bank of Montreal, in Napanee, spent the weekend at the home of his mother, Mrs. Ernest Cassidy.

Moments in History

In 1851, the packet "Atlantic" brought to the City of Belleville, Ont., the first wheat ever sown in Canada. Its seed had been taken to Chicago in 1838 on the packet boat for the Provincial Exhibition at Toronto, and by her and Kingston packets to Prescott and Picton Cap. Later, the packet "Atlantic" was wrecked on the Lake Ontario shore, near Toronto, in a fleet of Bateaux sent to rescue the officers and troops of the Fisher Cup. This all happened since Canada became a dominion and since the proclamation of the Toronto Exhibition, which was held in Toronto until 1878, when it moved to Hamilton, where it remained until 1891, when it moved to London where it remained for 10 years. In 1902 the show returned to Toronto where it has been permanently ever since. Belleville has had a number of fairs, but the most successful effort by far was the Bicentennial Exhibition in 1934, a social gathering "par excellence" in a town at Bonnette and between the Bicentennial and Jubilee of the Fisher Cup. Live Better Electrically

SIGN OF THE TIMES!

The Medallion Symbol of Electrical Excellence

You will see this sign springing up in communities all over Ontario. It's a sign to watch for when you go house hunting. It tells you that progressive builders are providing for extra comfort and convenience through a new high standard of electrical living . . . even in modestly priced homes. The Hydro-approved Medallion is a reliable guidepost for everyone who is planning to buy or build. It will help to protect your new home investment in these important ways:

POWER CONDITIONING. A 100 ampere service entrance and a "full housepower" distribution panel provide the capacity needed to operate your household services efficiently, economically, and safely . . . now and in the future.

APPLIANCE CONDITIONING. Circuits and outlets for those work-saving, time-saving appliances are plentiful. Every Medallion Home anticipates your future needs. And at your immediate service is a new fast-recovery, two-element, flameless water heater . . . ready to keep an abundance of hot water "on tap" at the lowest possible cost.

LIGHT CONDITIONING. Another important "extra" you will enjoy in your Medallion Electric Home is the planned lighting which adds charm and beauty both inside and out . . . makes work and play areas brighter and safer.

A "Gold Medallion" Home is all-electric, including heating.

Information about the Medallion Electric Homes in your community can be obtained from your electrical contractor or your local Hydro office.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVEN, Sports Editor

The note said: "You are invited to the Old Boys' Reunion of the 1953 Glen Roy all-Ontario junior "A" softball champions . . ."

Well, these "old greybeards" can't be a day over 30 at the least. It was back in 1953 that Don McNevin sugar-daddied one of the best beardless teams ever to don a crown. He took them straight through on North Bay where they defeated the Algonquins of that city in two straight games to cop the pennant, "the blankets" and the bauble.

Coached by Bill Spafford, the Glen Roys of that year were not given much chance against a formidable array of playdown foemen. But they hit their stride in the first series and never looked backwards. They were still breathing fire when the last out was made on the snow-flurried North Bay diamond that cold October afternoon.

They swept aside the tough eastern Ontario clubs from Brockville and Oshawa and clashed with the powerful Windsor team in the southern Ontario finals. When Border City supremacy maintained a seasonal unbeaten skein with a 8-1 victory here, but in the two-game series in Windsor it was a different story.

They unleashed their batting power and behind the superb hurling of Bobby Hunter, the second hero of both finals series, whipped the Windsor nine decisively by 12-6 and 8-4 scores. That gave them an entree to the all-provincial championships against North Bay.

Hunter's sensational work on the mound was easily the feature of the Windsor and North Bay series. Bobby whipped Windsor 12-6 in the first game and went in the second clash to save the game and win the series with a sparkling relief job.

He savored the "iron man" role again in the series with the northern Algonquins. He held the North Bay youngsters to a one-hitter in the first tilt, winning it easily 7-1 as his mates' bats staccatoed 'ell outside. Hunter blasted two of the thirteen hits safely, batting in two runs.

Actually Hunter deserved a no-hitter in this game. In the second inning a Bay batter drove a hot grounder back to the mound. It struck Hunter's foot and rolled away. Clancie Carr whipped the ball to first but the runner beat him by a butterfly's breath.

But Bobby came up with his pepper effort in the second tilt. Bobby Green, bolstered with a save arm, went to relieve him and as many a game has died lonesome. The Belleville brass did not hesitate. They sent Hunter back in there and the youngster hurled seven and one-third innings of near perfect softball, but that one hit and one run over his route.

The "Glen Roys trotted off the field the winners by an 8-4 score and the first all-Ontario softball champions in wear a Belleville uniform. They nearly smashed Hunter under and removed the roof of their hotel with their celebrating.

The morning of the day broke clear and warmish, but later cold winds swept in from the Arctic Circle. Snow was falling gently on the diamond as Hunter threw the third game past the batter. It was 1:30 p.m.

Earlier in the day I ran into "Red" Carson, up there on an umpire assignment. "Red" was carrying a set of golf clubs and of all things, a shotgun. I wondered how he could stick a hole-in-one with that double-barrelled smashing cold so.

"Red" laughed. "Up here they mix golf with hunting," he said. "You are just as liable as not to notice a brace of partridges hobnobbing on a green. You can't see the forest for the golf balls, so this birdshot thunderbum does the trick."

I learned later he fired 49 golf shots and eight-teen shotgun shells. He came home with a score of 54 for nine holes, two sparrows, one pheasant, a skunk, and a homecoming pair of workers plus rabbits.

Then to top a very pleasant softball junket came my first ride in a wingless aircraft. Don McNevin with myself, Red Doran, Peter Green and Frank Donovan as passengers, hedge-hopped to Belleville via Algonquin Park in his Cub 150. We "touched down" a couple of times in the park, to make sure we were following the right highway. Don "set her down" somewhere near Madoc, I think, and we zoomed in the rest of the way. My "innards" were wrapped around my tonsils and it was two days before I could drink coffee without the stuff leaking out through my ears.

No small credit goes to Don McNevin for his club's eventual success. He was generous, kind and big-hearted. He took care of his club in a wonderful way—and it is no wonder his Glen Roys went all out and gave their best for one of the finest sportsmen the city has ever known.

One Down Two To Go

By MIKE RATHEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

It's one down and two to go for Roger Maris, strengthened by a two - day rest but unable to hit a ball more than 90 feet in his first crucks at bonus run No 61 since he matched Babe Ruth's 60 - homer total of 1927.

Maris, playing for the first time since he hammered No. 60 Tuesday night, walked twice and popped out twice Friday night a g a i n s t Boston right-hander Bill Monbouquette while New York Yankees were beating the Red Sox 3-1.

Maris has the final two games of the regular American League season, against Boston today and Sunday, in which to record his 61st circuit clout and become the most productive one-season homer hitter in major league baseball history.

Maris walked in the first inning, popped to short in the fourth, grounded to first base in the sixth and walked in the ninth, scoring the winning run against Monbouquette on John Blanchard's single after the Red Sox pitcher had retired on Rollie Sheldon's sacrifice.

FIFTH 21ST HOMER

Blanchard hit number of the year, in the fourth inning, had given the Yanks a 1-0 lead that Whitey Ford protected until he finished a six - inning stint in a final tuneup for the world series tussle in New York Wednesday against Cincinnati Reds of the National League.

Detroit Tigers edged Minnesota Twins 6-4 in 10 innings, Baltimore Orioles defeated Chicago White Sox 3-2 in 10 innings, Washington Senators blanked Kansas City Athletics 3-0 on Pete Burnside's two-hitter and Los Angeles Angels came from behind to beat Cleveland Indians 6-4.

Monbouquette (14-14) gave up only five hits, but his mates were able to score only against reliever Luis Arroyo in the seventh inning on Pumpsie Green's single and Maris' run - scoring single by Chuck Schilling. Rollie Sheldon (11-9), who succeeded Arroyo, picked up the win when Maris raced home with the clincher.

Jake Wood, who earlier struck out for the 161st time to surpass the league record held by Minnesota's Jim Lemon, stroked a two-run single in the 10th inning as the Tigers beat Camilo Pascual (15-16). Norm Cash hit his 40th homer of the season for Detroit while Terry Fox (9-6) was the loser.

Hank Foiles' home run off Warren Hacker (11-5) in the 10th gave the Orioles and starter Chuck Estrada (15-6) their victory over the White Sox. Jim Gentile drove in his 141st run batted in Tuesday, tying him for the league lead with Maris.

The only hits off Burnside (4-9) were singles by Frank Cipriani in the fifth and by Dick Howser in the ninth. Kansas City starter Jim Archer (8-15) shocked the Senators the six hits, but belted home Marty Keough in the fourth inning with the only Washington runs needed.

A grand - slam homer by rookie catcher Bob Rodgers, his first in the majors, gave the Angels the night's victory over the Indians.

Cleveland scored its four runs in the first inning on six singles. The Angels got two back in their half on Leon Wagner's 26th homer of the season and added another in the fourth inning with the aid of Washington errors.

The British ace captured the 20th position in the 20-mile race at nearby Monport Friday by qualifying in 1:35.7 in his L. Cheviot.

Should Name Commercial Champs Sunday

Lightfoot Construction and Trudeau Motors will supply the action at the CNRA Park to-morrow (Sunday) afternoon in the Belleville Commercial softball league finals.

Lightfoots lead the best-of-seven ultular series three games to two and can wrap up the title with a win tomorrow at 2.00 p.m. Should Trudeaus win this game a second will be necessary on Wednesday after on the same field.

Both clubs are expected to field their strongest lineups in a bid to prove all - important game(s). Lightfoots will have Jim Jones, Percy Long and Don Smith ready for pitching duties while Trudeaus will employ Junior Day, Harry Powers or Lorry Hull.

A large crowd is expected to attend this windup of the softball season in this immediate area.

Yanks Over India in Net Play

NEW DELHI (AP)—What has been called America's weakest Davis Cup tennis team is yours to beat Ramanathan Krishnan — in the tiniermost final starting today.

Despite the admitted prowess of Krishnan, twice Wimbledon semi-finalist, the Americans are favored.

The Indians virtually are conceding two singles matches and it is expected to be too large a load for Krishnan to win both his singles and also pull the doubles team through.

The matches are backed on the husky, quick Chuck Mc-Kinley and Neale Fraser Australian Whitney Reed, 20, of Oakland, Calif., oldest of the four-man American squad.

The U.S. doubles team is not picked but is likely to be McKinley and landy Doon Dell, 23, of Bethesda, Md.

The reversed order of the series meets Italy Oct. 13-15 with the winner meeting the defending champion Australia in December.

Favor Moss In Prix

By HARRY CALDICK

ORONO (CP) — The magic driving of Britain's Stirling Moss could make him the favorite today to take the winner's share of $10,000 from Canada's first sports car grand prix.

The British ace captured the 20th position in the 20-mile race at nearby Monport Friday by qualifying in 1:35.7 in his L.

The time is the best recorded at 1:34.5 — an average speed of 81.5 miles an hour for the 2.5-mile road course.

Moss faces two cars identical to his own on the front row of the starting grid—Belgium's Olivier Gendebien, who lapped at 1:36.8, and Peter Ryan of Mont Tremblant, Que., who had 1:37.

The track record, which can be set only in a race, is 1:36 and that by Toronto's straight-laced Dan Shaw in a Sadler Formula 1/2ire.

In the second row were three formidable red Italian Ferraris with Gendebien, who lapped at M., and Ricardo Rodriguez, 20, to Velx and V-12 models and Colin Cunningham of Bethlehem, Conn., in the V-12 Testa Rossa Model.

Pitching—Pete Burnside, Senators, batted two-hitter for 3-0 victory over Kansas City, blanking Athletics for second time this year.

Hitting — Johnny Blanchard, Yankees, drove in both runs in 3-1 victory over Red Sox with 21st homer in fourth innings and single in ninth inning.

Redlegs May Lose Star Catcher

By MIKE RATHEY

Jim O'Toole, Cincinnati's southpaw ace scheduled to face New York Yankees in the opening game of the world series Wednesday is well primed but the Reds' may be in trouble if an injury to batterymate Darrell Johnson is serious.

Johnson strained a muscle in his left side while taking batting practice before O'Toole hurled five innings of four-hit ball in his final tuneup for the series while the Reds clobbered Pittsburgh Pirates 8-2.

It was the eighth straight victory and the 19th in 26 decisions for the 24-year-old O'Toole, who hasn't lost since Aug. 11. Manager Fred Hutchinson was pleased but showed concern over the injury that leaves Johnson in a doubtful status for the series.

SPARKS WINS

Meanwhile, Milwaukee Braves retained a chance to tie San Francisco for third place in the National League by whipping the Giants 4-1 behind Warren Spahn in a five - inning game halted by rain. The other clubs were idle.

Spahn (21-13) stopped the Giants on four hits, winning 21 games for the 11th time in his career. Eddie Mathews provided the necessary runs with his 32nd homer; a two-run shot off loser Jack Sanford (13-9) in the third. Sanford scored, the San Francisco run on Willie Mays' sacrifice fly.

The Pirates reached O'Toole for their only run in the fifth inning on a two-out triple by Don Clendenon and Dick Stuart's single. The Reds scored three runs off Larry Foss (1-1) in the first inning, two on Gordon Coleman's 30th homer.

According to Dr. Richard Rhode, catcher Johnson strained a muscle in the vicinity on his floating ribs during practice and aggravated it when he batted in the second inning. Asked if he is injured might keep Johnson out of the series, the trainer said:

"It could be if he can't swing."

Johnson, a veteran who started the season as a coach with St. Louis Cardinals, is the Reds' lone experienced receiver and was hitting .270. Rookies Jerry Edwards, hitting .188, and Jerry Zimmerman, batting .202, are the other catchers.

Can Thank Blocked Kick

Argos Squeak Past Stamps

By WILF GRUSON

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Argonauts should move a vote of thanks to middle guard Marty Martinello for the part he played in Canadian Football League victory over Calgary Stampeders here Saturday. He made the key play that ignited an Argonaut 13-point fourth-quarter scoring splurge.

The 230-pound Martinello, a boy man on defensive backfield team all year, barged through to block a Calgary kick on the Stamps' 35 - yard line and then got them a touchdown and from that point on Argonauts took command.

Dave Mann scored both Toronto touchdowns on passes from quarterback Tobin Rote in nine minutes after Martinello's big defensive manoeuvre. And the crowd of 22,346 that had booed Argonauts for most of the game stayed around to cheer.

The 3 - 1 win puts Argonauts' chances for playoffs, with three games to go, on the line. They have to win all three to their fourth victory in nine starts, But Martinello and Mann shouted all their chances.

The Westerners, led by fullback Earl Lunsford who gained 199 yards in 37 carries, got 15 of their points following two interceptions of Rote passes and a fumble by safety man Lynn Bottoms. Lunsford scored two touchdowns — his first in the opening quarter after picking up a Bottom fumble on the Toronto one. He got his other in the third quarter from three yards out after Harry Wylie had intercepted a pass at Toronto 23 and raced to the 13.

KICKS FIELD GOALS

Bill Mitchell converted one touchdown from Lunsford and kicked 24-and 14 - yard field goals. Mann added a single for his 13-point night and Jim Andreotti, another bear on the defensive unit defensive unit, gave quarterback Eagle Day in the Calgary end zone for a safety touch.

George Hansen converted both Calgary touchdowns, kicked a consecutive 33-yard field goal and a single on an attempted 39 - yard placement that went wide. Larry Robinson booted a single in the second quarter.

Griffith Favored Over Paret

NEW YORK (AP) — Emile Griffith, dapper Virgin Islands boxer who has held the world welterweight title only six months, makes his second defense tonight.

Griffith is a 3-to-1 or better favorite to turn back the bid of Cuba's Benny (Kid) Paret, the man he won the title from in Miami Beach April 1. That one was close until the 13th, when Griffith knocked out Paret.

Thanks to a hefty $60,000 payment for television rights, each fighter will get about $25,000 for his efforts. Madison Square Garden officials expect about 6,000 people to pay about $20,000. Each fighter gets 30 per cent of the live gate and TV money.

Will Manage New Mets

Casey Back, Leaves Bank For Ball

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Casey Stengel is back in baseball, a year after New York Yankees fired him because he was too old. At the age of 71 the grizzled baseball veteran has agreed to a one-year contract with New York Mets.

Thus George Weiss and Stengel are reunited with the new National League team that will compete with the Yankees for the fans' favor in 1962. Weiss also was put out to pasture by the Yanks last fall, at the age of 65, but later accepted a job as president of the Mets.

First item on the program of the Weiss-Stengel team will be to select the players made available by the other National League teams. This selection will be made by New York and Houston on alternate picks the first after the world series ends.

Lists of the players will be made available to the Mets Monday, when Weiss expects Stengel to arrive from his Glendale, Calif., home for a meeting with the scouting staff. Weiss wouldn't even hint about Casey's salary.

DOESN'T CHANGE

When reporters reached Stengel at the bank of which he is vice-president, he was asked why he was coming back. "I'm a sucker — was unfulfilled Stengalese:

"Why did I decide to go back into baseball? I'd say the enthusiasm of Mr. Weiss and the owners and they are really interested in baseball which was also the fact with (Gene) Autry and (Tod) Reynolds who are a real inspiration to baseball." (Autry and Reynolds own Los Angeles Angels of the American League.)

As for the National League, Stengel said he thought he knew enough about it to protect himself.

"We played them 10 times (in the world series) and in the all-star games so I think I know them pretty well myself. Everybody thinks this may be a losing ball club, but I'm going to tell myself after we lose a game that, well, like a swami we'll win the next one."

"I hope," he declared, "the city of New York where there are so many people there that when you have two ball clubs the people when they come out the Yankees are out of town will come up to the Polo Grounds and see the Knickerbockers."

A listener inquired whether the name was Mets, not Knickerbockers, and Casey joined in the laugh.

"Say, you're right," he said sheepishly.

Stengel said the verbal agreement was not finished with Weiss until Thursday night. He admitted he was offered a term contract but asked for just the one-year deal.

Stengel's decision to return to baseball surprised, among others, his wife, Edna.

"I had a silent thought that maybe he wouldn't," she said, indicating that she is reluctant to leave California.

Canada's A.A.U

Condemns Rumored Plans

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Officials of Canada's Amateur Athletic Union have condemned reported plans of professional coaches in the United States to take over the American AAU.

Jack Davies of Montreal, vice - president of the Canadian AAU and only Canadian member of the International Amateur Athletic Federation, said Friday such a takeover would probably be illegal under IAAF rules.

Earlier Friday, N. J. Barack of Columbus, Ohio, president of the American AAU, described as "unfortunate and rather tragic" efforts to create a new federation to replace the AAU in track and field.

Barack said a small group of coaches is trying to replace the AAU to gain control of U.S. track and field for national and international competition.

Davies said the present IAAF rules, control of amateur sport must be by amateurs and "coaches are nearly always professionals by definition."

MAKES RULES

The IAAF sets the rules and controls international amateur sport, including the Olympic Games.

In Toronto, Fred Harding, president of the Ontario branch of the Canadian AAU, said there is no cleavage in the ranks of the Canadian group and no professionals are trying for a takeover.

"If anything, the swing is the other way in Canada," he said. "People who broke away from the AAU some time ago are thinking of coming back."

Harding said the Canadian AAU track and field chairman, Jim Daly, said he strongly doubted that a situation would develop in which professionals would be able to compete in amateur sports or that expense funds would be dropped.

POSTS TWO MARKS

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Impish, owned by Blue Spruce Farms of Norwich, N.Y., set two world trotting records Friday.

The brown, two-year-old filly led all the way in the first heat of the $18,155 Hanover Shoe Stake and was timed at 1:58 3-5 for a new single heat mark for her age and sex.

Then she came from behind in the second heat to hit the wire at 1:59 3-5. The combined time of 3:58 1-5 was a new two-heat mark for trotters of any age or sex. The previous mark of 3:58 4-5 was posted here last year by Elaine Rodney.

The Training Camps

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

The exhibition hockey circuit was at its liveliest Friday night with 24 teams in action.

Topping the bill was the first clash of the season between the National Hockey League Chicago Black Hawks and Boston Bruins. The Hawks, defending Stanley Cup champions, beat the Bruins 4-1 at Niagara Falls, Ont.

Montreal Canadiens of the NHL piled up the biggest margin with a 9-3 victory over the Western Hockey League Seattle Totems at Seattle, Wash.

In other games involving NHL teams, Toronto Maple Leafs defeated the WHL's Edmonton Flyers 3-1 at Edmonton, Detroit Red Wings beat Vancouver Canucks of the WHL 3-1 at Vancouver and New York Rangers scored a 5-4 win over Spokane's field Indians, last season's American League champions, at Guelph.

AHL battles saw Cleveland Barons trounce Hershey Bears 6-1 at St. Thomas and Buffalo Bisons beating Pittsburgh Hornets 9-4 at Welland.

Charlie Burns of Boston scored the only three-goal performance in the game against Chicago. Ken Wharram tied Bingo for the Hawks in the second period, and in the third Chico Maki scored two goals for the winners and set up Bobby Hull to give the final marker.

The exhibition season ended with a 4-3 lead by the Redmen in the first period, but Rangers shined in the second with three goals in less than three minutes. Each team scored once in the third period. Veteran Johnny Wilson scored three goals for Rangers.

The Leafs took a 3-0 first-period lead over Edmonton, but the second frame ended tied 3-3. George Armstrong tied it up for Toronto with 26 seconds remaining in the final period. Other Leaf scorers were Dick Duff and Bob Nevin. Roger Bourbonnais scored for the Flyers.

Chuvalo-Patterson Fight?

TORONTO (CP) — The manager of Toronto heavyweight George Chuvalo said Friday his fighter may get a crack at world heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson if Chuvalo looks good Monday night against Joe, Erskine of Britain.

Jack (Deacon) Allen made the comment after a visit here Friday by Tom Bolan, president of Championship Sports Incorporated of New York.

Bolan conferred with Allen as well as Ontario Athletic Commissioner Merv McKenzie, promoter Frank Tunney and Henry Bolton, attractions manager of Maple Leafs Gardens, before flying back to New York.

Bolan arrived amid speculation that he would discuss switching the Patterson - Tom McNeeley bout to Toronto from Boston after the Massachusetts Boxing Commission refused to approve an out-of-town referee, as demanded by Patterson, for the fight.

"Bolan came here to talk about a fight between Chuvalo and Sonny Liston as part of the Tele-Prompter (closed - circuit television) two-night show for which Patterson is supposed to

Dallas Meets Browns

NEW YORK (AP) — The champion Philadelphia Eagles, the scrappy Dallas Cowboys and the defending — proud Detroit Lions all place spotless records on the line Sunday when all 14 clubs in the National Football League will be busy.

Philadelphia hosts the crippled St. Louis Cardinals (1-1), Dallas, boasting the league's most potent offence to date, meets the Browns at Cleveland (1-1), Detroit (1-0) is idle and crossed only twice, entertains San Francisco 49ers (1-0) in Detroit. All three undefeated teams have won two games.

The rest of the week line up like this: Minnesota (1-1) at Baltimore (1-1); New York (1-1) at Washington (0-2); Chicago (1-1) at Green Bay (1-1) and Pittsburgh (0-2) at Los Angeles (0-2).

Of Sunday's games, the Dallas - Cleveland tilt may be the big thriller. The Cowboys have accumulated the most total yards in the league and have double-barrelled passing in Don Meredith and Eddie LeBaron, whose combined aerial yardage also leads the circuit.

Rosburg Leads Tourney

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) Former PGA champion Bob Rosburg birdied three of the last four holes Friday to tie Dick Stranahan for the 36-hole lead in the $25,000 Bakersfield open golf tournament.

Rosburg shot a 66 for a nine-under-par 135 total. Stranahan shot a 67.

Tying Rosburg for low round of the tournament was George Bayer, whose 88 gave him third place at 136.

fight McNeeley for the title," Allen said in an interview.

"But he left with the impression that he would move Chuvalo in against Patterson if George beats Erskine and looks good doing it," Allen said, adding that Bolan will be back here for the Monday night fight.

Mick Ready for Series

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Mantle, who has October health problems every year, is feeling much better today following an surgery late Thursday for an abcess on his right upper hip.

There were indications he would be in his usual centre field position for New York Yankees when they meet Cincinnati Reds in the world series, starting Wednesday.

Dr. Sidney Gaynor, club physician, predicted that Mantle will work out Tuesday but that he will remain in the hospital until late today and probably will miss the final three-game series in Cincinnati.

Mantle, who has 54 home runs, has played in only eight of the last nine games because drainage from a leg infection.

In 1951, his first year with the club, Mantle stepped into a game against New York Giants in the second world series and spent the rest of the series in the hospital.

He missed four games of the 1953 series against Brooklyn Dodgers because of a leg injury and was in and out of the 1957 series against Milwaukee because of a sore shoulder.

With it virtually certain that he will not play this weekend, Mantle will end the season with a .317 batting average and 163 hits. He walked 126 times and struck out 114 times.

CWAC Will Be Reunion Guests In Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian Corps Association here will host veterans of the Canadian Women's Army Corps at a reunion Saturday marking the CWAC's 20th anniversary.

Some 200 former CWACs from across Canada and the United States have registered for the afternoon reunion tea and evening festivities featuring a banquet, dance and entertainment by former stars of the wartime Canadian army shows, George (Pop) Morton, a comedian with the first of the shows, will lead the reunion show.

Judy La Marsh, Liberal member of Parliament for Niagara Falls and a former CWAC sergeant, has been chosen woman of the year by her fellow veterans. She was in the army 1943-46, serving as a draftsman in Halifax and later as a translator of Japanese in the allied intelligence centre at Camp Bradshaw, Md.

A total of about 23,000 women served as CWACs during the Second World War and 3,400 of them went to overseas posts in Britain, continental Europe, the Mediterranean and India. Awards for exceptional service ranging from Orders of the British Empire to mentions in dispatches went to 344 army women.

The regular corps has been reduced to six CWAC officers with the army, but about 2,700 CWAC reservists are serving with militia units. Saturday's reunion also marks the 10th anniversary of the founding of the CWAC militia.

Sport Snapshots

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

Three years ago an Australian stumbled through the roster of Canada's British Empire Games team at Cardiff, Wales, and exclaimed: "What are all these people doing here?"

The lineup showed 32 officials and 96 athletes compared with the six-officials who looked after 102 Australian competitors.

The speaker was Bill Young, bouncy general manager of the Australian team. If he is around at the Nov. 29-Dec. 1 Games at Perth, Australia, in 1962, his comments should be priceless.

Up-to-date figures show that Canada hopes to take 65 competitors and 15 officials. That means one at one official for every 4.3 athletes.

Young's comments in 1958 are worth repeating.

"Look," he told this reporter, "if those athletes of yours need someone around to tell them what to do and when to do it, they don't belong here or in any international competition. They're supposed to be in top shape, which they probably are, so why all the officials? There's practically nothing for them to do except to act as ice cocktails at silly receptions."

12 GOLD MEDALS

The Australian team was loaded with world champions. "They reached the top by the simple method of exercise. It's a pleasure for hard work and they know what to do to stay there. My staff is here to help them and easier for them by arranging transportation to and from training grounds and so forth.

"We aren't here to tell them how or when to train. They know all this."

The records prove that. The Australians won 85 medals—37 gold, 22 second-place silver and 27 third - place bronze—against Canada's 27 medals, including seven gold by the University of British Columbia rowing eight.

The Australians, for instance, do not send coaches with their various teams—track and field, swimming, cycling, boxing, wrestling and so on—although coaches of individual athletes go along at their own expense.

"We have nothing whatsoever to do with these coaches," Young said at the time. "They are not members of our team in any respect and we don't allow them to stay at the athletes' village. They're on their own."

SEVEN COACHES

Canadian officials aren't inclined to agree entirely with Young and the tentative lineup for the 1962 Games shows this. Here is the latest list:

Track and field: 15 competitors, one coach, one manager.

Boxing: Six competitors, one coach, one manager.

Rowing: 13 competitors, one coach, one manager.

Cycling: Four competitors, one coach.

Weightlifting: Four competitors, one coach.

Wrestling: Five competitors, one coach.

Fencing: Four competitors, no officials.

Lawn bowling: Four competitors, no officials.

Headquarters staff: One general manager, two assistants.

Chaperones: One, possibly two, depending on the number of women athletes.

Some Canadian officials say that managers and coaches are necessary for the morale of athletes. "Coaches can't be expected to make radical changes in style of track and field athletes in the week or so before British Empire or Olympic Games but they can give hints and also a psychological uplift," one official said.

All of this could be true and it is something officials should consider seriously before the 1963 Pan - American Games scheduled for Brazil and the 1964 Olympic Games at Tokyo. They've preached for years that Canadians need more international competition. Possibly, they might reach the conclusion that it would be better to cut down on the number of officials and add a few more athletes.

Annette Funicello Is Last Member of Mouseketeers

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — You may be wondering what has happened to the intrepid Mouseketeers of yesteryear's Mickey Mouse club on TV.

Annette (last name Funicello)—"but it's too hard to pronounce"—is the sole mouseketeer to remain prominently in the public eye. She brought me up to date on her fellow clubbers.

"We had a party recently that was a sort of reunion," she reported. "My, how we've all grown.

"Doreen Tracy is the only one married so far, but Mary Lynn Jarlori is getting married in January. Sharon Baird is teaching at a dancing school while going to Valley Junior College. Cheryl Holdridge has a role in a new TV series, Archie. Cubby O'Brien and Bobby Burgess have been working with Lawrence Welk.

"The rest of the Mouseketeers are still in school."

And what about Annette? She is a well-formed young lady who will be 18 this month. Already she's thinking about her career.

APPEARS IN TWO-PARTER

She's a busy 19. She's appearing in a two-parter, The Horse Hunters, filmed in England and released on Walt Disney's Wonderful World of Color over NBC. The first chapter appears Sunday.

This Christmas she'll be appearing in her first big movie role, also by Disney—Babes In Toyland. She's also busy in the record field with three albums and a run of singles.

Annette is aiming for more grown-up roles — but not too grown-up. She's enjoying the last of her teens and wants to stretch them out.

A revival of the Mickey Mouse club?

"I asked Mr. Disney about that," she said. "He said no, that was a closed chapter."

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Sunday, October 1, 1961

General Tendencies: This is a very fine day to make and to keep a well-rounded plan and use under which to operate the future. Be sure that you do study the best manner in which you can bring your principles, worship, services, wares, merchandise, ideas to the attention of those able to bring prosperous results. Be emotionally happy also. Get supplies.

Aries (March 21 to April 19) It behooves you to heed the suggestions of close ties, since the power of the planets is with them today and in p.m. Make this a home night and enjoy quiet pleasures with kin and close friends. Be charming, thoughtful, relaxed.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) A good day to get routine affairs better organized. Get in touch with key people and have an informal meeting for an exchange of views and ideas. Improve your points. Devote evenings to just having a good, jolly time.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) This leisure day is fine for concentrating upon a more practical way of operating in the future so that you may increase income appreciably. Get surroundings better organized Then set up a more workable budget. Retire early.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 23) — A particularly fine day to act in a positive fashion to acquire whatever is desired and right for you. Be sure you dress nicely and have taken any health treatments you need first. Evening is ideal for any social affairs you like.

Leo (July 24 to Aug. 21) — It is better you consult with those who have the right answers to any problems you may be at this time and leave outside affairs for another and more propitious time. Get out in the evening to some cultural affair or the theatre.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Morning is the best time to make important calls and go after any persons aims quietly. Then the remainder of the day and evening are good for being with good friends for enjoyment and making new contacts. Be happy, charming.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Day hours are ideal after services for gaining the good will of higher-ups informally but it is so vital to your welfare right now. Be sure you think and act in a patriotic fashion.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Be alert to any new situations or individuals that come within your orbit today or this evening. You will have a fine insight of their motives and can gain great benefits thereby. Attend services of your choice without fail.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Concentrate upon a more simple and effective system of bookkeeping during this free day so that you get your affairs in better order. Evening is fine for relaxing with the person who means most to you in personal life.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get together leisurely and informally with all associates today and discuss the most practical and efficient ways in which to have greater profits all around in the future. Have dinner together amicably and enjoy sports, fun.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) All those accumulated small but important tasks can be put behind you very quickly, if you roll up your sleeves early and work enthusiastically. This can include gardening and other outside matters as well as home and household affairs.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) A day for real happiness if you early take plans to be with the one you like and show appreciation for that friendship and favors in the past. Get out to the recreational pleasures that will be enjoyed by all. Be generous.

If your child is born today — he, or she, will be one of those remarkable people who will possess great tact and can promote ideas wonderfully well, but there is need for greater physical stamina, which you as parents can insure through proper diet and rest. Also, teach your fine youngster to use that bright smile more often for greater success. Be sure she gets as fine an education as you can afford.

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Monday, October 2, 1961

General Tendencies: Start the week right by refusing to show that petulant, discontented mood that is now yours because you feel you are not getting ahead fast enough, in pushing your points, articles across. Instead realize that steady, slow and sure is right and steady adding a smile to all companions for good measure turns the tide in your favor.

Aries (March 21 to April 19) Get an early start right away from home today, since there are wonderful opportunities available to you in the outside world of activity and business. P.M. be loyal to kin, though they may appear to be troubled and not thinking straight.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) Important you go over your financial records carefully today and see that they are in order. Also, be sure you are more than cautious in all driving and that you think before you speak. A good word can save an important situation.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) It behooves you to analyze carefully whatever progress you have made in the recent past toward your most cherished goals. See where it is necessary to economize but be sure you make any repairs to real estate that are needed.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 23) — This can be a very unhappy day if you nurse any grudges or feel imposed upon. Keep busy getting things in better order about you and show more understanding and helpful you can be to others. Then all works out fine. Grow.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Don't permit that private trouble to spoil your day, but carry on with whatever you have planned to do and meet with success in your activities. Also, be a source of comfort and inspiration to fellow workers as well. Grow.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Steer clear of those individuals who are prone to criticism and gossip and would get you involved unnecessarily. Go about your own affairs quietly and you can accomplish a very great deal. Ride your favorite hobby, too.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Don't do anything that will take away from your good name or you lose much prestige so laboriously built up in the past. Get credit higher and make a good impression on higher-ups.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — You would like to leave all duty behind and explore new interests, but this would be a most unfortunate day in which to do so. Remain steadfast to obligations and loyal friends and this brings greater success soon. Expend.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Make a good impression upon tax authorities by having your books in good order, as well as higher-ups who may want an accounting. P.M. surprise your loved one with a nice box of candy or other thoughtful gift.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Be sure you come through with any promise you have made and gain good will, prestige, for future happy alliance. If you welch on your promise, there can be dire results that will be regretted far into the future.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Important you carry on through with today's work in a most efficient and thoughtful manner. Also, be thoughtful of partners and show good will, appreciation for past favors. P.M. Get clothing in order and improve health, too.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) Take care you do not fall for any of the schemes others have to make you spend or lose a great deal of money unnecessarily. Be loyal to associates and kin and help those who are worthy instead. P.M. have fun inexpensively.

If your child is born today— there will early be evident a decided petulancy over every minor thing that occurs, and it is up to you as parents to curb this tendency early or your progeny could get into considerable trouble throughout the lifetime. See that the diet is good and then chart becomes quite successful, especially in the selling field, particularly where apparel and designs are concerned.

NOW ! JUST YOU READ THIS

Step around — and then you tell if this can be equalled anywhere. It just has to be SOLD.

NOTE THIS ! $11,450.

What for ? Believe it or not this is an all brick 1½ storey detached home with 3 bedrooms, separate fuel and built of brick and complete in every detail and under NHA specifications. It contains three very handsome, a living room, full basement, a big big kitchen with lots of cupboard, oil heating.

Right under how this can be done — it is no mistake — only $11,450. Oh yes, the land is included (a complete unit). The reason for all of this is that the owner has come to us and advised that he has what he offers. The land sold four already. So you must hurry. If you are looking for a home you will be delighted with this one. Come and see it. Phone WO 5-6-2-1 and ask for MIKE NEA mortgage for the balance.

FULL DOWN PAYMENT $700.

Monthly payment — including taxes — about $60.
